

Our Billion 1571

Chapter 1571-“Yes! They bear a striking resemblance to each other, especially in their mouth and nose. It’s almost as if they were sculpted from the same mold, leaving no doubt that they are father and daughter.”

The next morning.

Joanne slowly opened her eyes.

The faint morning light poured into the bedroom through the light-colored curtains. She was stunned for a long time before realizing that she was lying in Edwin’s arms. Edwin was still in a sound sleep, without any trace of brutality and wickedness. His handsome face had even gained a touch of tenderness, and the firm lines of his face had been softened by the light.

She hadn’t gotten used to sleeping next to someone yet. As she tried to quietly climb out of bed with one hand on the mattress, Edwin’s arm suddenly fell towards her slender waist.

In a daze, Joanne was pushed back onto the bed. His slightly warm lips pressed onto hers and he whispered in an unclear voice, “Good morning, Mrs. Atherton.”

Joanne let out a low murmuring sound, with her nose filled with Edwin’s distinct masculine scent.

She quickly took the opportunity to roll over and get out of bed, running into the bathroom.

She could still hear Edwin’s gnashing teeth and resentful voice behind her.

“Joanne, you’ll make me impotent sooner or later.”

After a quick wash, Joanne emerged from the bathroom to find Edwin still lying in bed playing on his phone. Wearing his pajamas casually, he showed no signs of getting up. She raised an eyebrow and asked, “Aren’t you going to work today?”

“No, I’m staying at home to accompany you and Tail.” Edwin pulled the blanket over himself, and he could still smell the faint fragrance left by her.

It would be even more perfect if Tail were with him at this moment.

But the little girl was probably still not awake yet.

“You seem to have been slacking off at work recently. Aren’t your employees protesting?” Joanne asked.

“I don’t care about it at all. Even if they go on strike, I can still afford to support you and Tail.” He propped his head up with one hand and said with confidence.

Joanne rolled her eyes and walked over to pull the blanket off him. “Get up now.

Later, I’m going to take Tail out to buy daily necessities. If you want to gain a good impression from her, I’ll give you a chance to be our driver.”

As Edwin listened to her slightly coquettish tone, a hint of surprise flashed across his handsome face.

“Honey, you allow me to get close to Tail now?”

He had thought that Joanne was still holding a grudge against him for mistreating Tail before.

Of course, Joanne wouldn’t forgive his past actions so easily.

“You said before that although Tail has parents, she still lives in a single-parent family. The reason why I give you this chance is that I don’t want her to have any regrets in the future. But this doesn’t mean that all the wrong things you did in the past can be easily forgiven,” Joanne said.

“I will treat you two even better than before.” Edwin smiled with a gentle expression.

He got out of bed swiftly and headed to the bathroom to take a shower. Joanne tied her hair into a ponytail and went to the closet to pick out clothes.

She pulled open the large closet door and saw that it was neatly filled with the clothes he had bought for her last time. Now there were significantly more of her clothes than Edwin’s suits and pants.

This took her by great surprise. When she had just moved here, there were barely any of her clothes in the closet, but now it was crammed full...

With her fingertips brushing over those clothes, she was lost in thought.

She really didn’t know whether she had forgiven him or not.

Chapter 1572-Joanne took a casual outfit and stood in front of the mirror to change clothes.

Upon entering the bathroom, Edwin realized that he had forgotten to bring his underwear. He went to the dressing room and happened to see Joanne putting on a comfortable sports bra. She usually wore this type of clothing at home, and as she bent over, her charming figure was revealed.

An impulse surged within Edwin, and he couldn’t help but say in a hoarse voice, “I prefer it when you wear the black one.”

“Ah!” Joanne thought Edwin had gone to take a shower and never expected him to suddenly appear behind her.

She was startled and quickly put on the bra. Through the dressing mirror, she saw the teasing glint in Edwin’s eyes. Blushing, she turned her head and gave him a resentful glare. “When did you become a peeping tom?”

“Since you didn’t close the door, I thought you need some fashion advice from me,” Edwin replied.

How shameless he was!

Overwhelmed with infuriation, Joanne wanted to close the door. Edwin also knew that she was angry out of embarrassment. Before leaving, he gave her an ambiguous smile. Then he casually picked up his boxers, hummed an off-tune tune and went into the bathroom.

The sound of rushing water echoed. Joanne patted her flushed face and went to make breakfast for Tail.

On the first day of serving Miss Tail, Jadyn and the chefs were all extremely attentive.

The scene in the kitchen was quite exaggerated.

Eight top chefs were trying their best to make specialties.

Although the kitchen of East Imperial was large, accommodating so many chefs, caterers and maids made it seem a little cramped.

“Miss Tail just came back, and Mr. Atherton said whoever makes breakfast to her satisfaction will receive a 20% salary increase.”

“Miss Tail’s health is not good, so the breakfast must have a balanced nutritional mix.”

“The food should be easily digestible and absorbed.”

Joanne had finished changing her clothes, and before reaching the kitchen, she heard Jadyn’s serious but trembling reminder.

‘Is it necessary to go through so much trouble for just one breakfast?’ she thought.

It wasn't until she stood outside the kitchen that she realized the situation was far more exaggerated than she had expected.

Inside the kitchen stood a group of people, all prepared to show off their best cooking skills and specialties.

"Madam, why are you here?" Jadyn was the first to notice Joanne outside the frosted glass door, and she ran over with a smile.

Joanne gestured towards the room full of chefs, eyes widened in surprise. "Isn't it usually a rotation? Why are there so many chefs here today?"

"Mr. Atherton was not entirely sure of Miss Tail's preferences, so he asked everyone to come and try their best to satisfy her." Jadyn tried to speak well of Edwin. "Mr. Atherton did behave like a playboy before, but once he makes up his mind to treat someone well, he will do so wholeheartedly. He's treating you and Miss Tail so well now."

Joanne was rendered speechless.

That wasn't the point. The point was...

"Tell everyone to leave. There's no need for such a labor-intensive process."

"Well..." Jadyn looked hesitant. "But Mr. Atherton..."

"When Tail and I lived together, she wasn't used to eating food made by others,"

Joanne explained.

Jadyn suddenly realized that if Joanne cooked breakfast for Miss Tail, she could make it for Mr. Atherton at the same time. This was like killing two birds with one stone.

Jadyn decisively asked all chefs to stop, and then she quickly cleaned up the kitchen.

Chapter 1573-Jadyn tidied up very quickly, and in just a few minutes, the kitchen looked brand new.

Seeing the dishes and menus that the chefs had prepared, Joanne thought about the modest breakfast she was about to make and felt a little ashamed.

But since she had already agreed to cook it, she would brace herself and go ahead with it anyway.

After all, it was all just for Tail.

When Edwin found out that Joanne was going to “specially” make breakfast for him, he was overjoyed.

“Master Edwin, Miss Tail is awake...” At this time, a maid knocked on the study’s door in a hurry.

Seeing the maid’s anxious expression, Edwin no longer cared about the documents anymore and quickly ran to Tail’s bedroom.

Tail had just opened her eyes and found herself in a completely unfamiliar environment. There was a rail at the edge of the bed, which made it difficult for her to climb down despite her efforts. She pouted and kept calling out “Mama”.

The maid responsible for taking care of Tail tried to calm her down.

However, Tail just recognized her as a stranger. She wanted to see Joanne so desperately, and no matter what the maid said, she just ignored it.

Tail’s eyelashes trembled slightly. With her eyes filled with tears, she was about to cry out...

At this moment, Edwin arrived.

Edwin almost ran to the little girl's bed.

When Tail caught sight of Edwin, her expression stiffened. She inched her small bottom backward slowly, while her fluttering eyelashes betrayed a heightened sense of agitation.

How could it be that bad guy?

"Where's Mama?" Tail asked in a soft, tearful voice.

"She's in the kitchen making breakfast for us. Let me take you to wash up, and you'll see her soon."

Edwin extended his broad arms towards his daughter, as if he possessed the ability to shoulder the burdens of the entire world, and he never forgot to emphasize their "father and daughter" relationship.

However, Tail looked at him like she saw a monster with jaws wide open.

And this monster had sharp teeth and a fierce appearance!

A few seconds later, Tail, who had been trembling with fear, suddenly erupted.

"I don't want you to hold me! Mama, Uncle Jack, where are you?" Tail lifted one of her legs and climbed onto the rail at the edge of the bed. She held her breath and was about to jump down by herself. In her clear eyes, tears welled up like a breached dam, cascading down her fair and tender cheeks.

She didn't believe the bad guy's words!

Mama also disliked him, so it was impossible for her to cook breakfast for him.

Edwin couldn't believe that Tail actually disliked him so much.

He quickly went to the other side of Tail's bed and grabbed her tiny leg.

"Be careful not to fall. I won't hold you, so please retract your leg first."

"Don't touch me! Mama, where are you? Please come and save me! I will be kidnapped by this bad guy..." Since Tail's leg was caught by Edwin, she screamed, and her pitch was so piercing and full of penetrating power. Even Jady, who was waiting in the living room, couldn't help but peek in with a smile.

Edwin's originally gentle and amiable face suddenly turned black as the bottom of a pot. He quickly let go of Tail's leg.

Why did he lock up Tail in the first place?

It was too difficult to change his image in his daughter's heart now...

Chapter 1574-Tail was determined to stay away from Edwin. Seeing Edwin's dark complexion, she felt a little scared, but her stubbornness kicked in. She quickly retreated to the bedside and grabbed onto the railing, shouting at the door, "Mama, help!

That bad guy is hitting me! Mama, why did you leave me here all alone? Do you not want me anymore?"

Tears streamed down her face as she imagined countless scenarios.

All the servants, including Jady, burst into laughter.

Tail was a bit mischievous, but she was really adorable.

For the first time, Edwin deeply understood the difficulties of taking care of children. Seeing Tail's red and swollen eyes, he couldn't help but feel heartbroken.

He reached out to wipe away her tears, but fearing that she would resist him, he hesitated and withdrew his hand, softly coaxing her, "Good baby, stop crying."

Joanne is really making breakfast in the kitchen. She doesn't want to abandon you. If you cry like this, she will think I'm mistreating you again..."

The softer Edwin's attitude became, the redder Tail's eyes grew.

'How could this bad guy, who used to be so fierce, suddenly become so gentle? He must have done something wrong and felt guilty!' Thinking of this, Tail sobbed even harder, crying uncontrollably.

"You bad guy! What did you do to Mama?"

"Tail?" As soon as Tail asked this, Joanne's anxious voice came from outside the door.

The servants who were blocking the corridor quickly stepped aside, and as soon as Joanne entered the bedroom, she saw the little girl cornered by Edwin, crying desperately, almost out of breath.

This scene really broke her heart.

When Tail heard the familiar voice, she immediately straightened up her little body and reached out her chubby hands towards Joanne.

"Mama, Mama..."

Pouting her small mouth, she cried loudly, as if she had suffered a great injustice.

Joanne quickly picked up Tail. The little girl buried her face in Joanne's neck, dirtying her clothes with snot and saliva." Baby, don't cry. Tell me what happened. Did Edwin mistreat you again? I am here with you now..."

Edwin said in an extremely gentle tone to defend himself, "I'm innocent. I really didn't mistreat her. I've been trying to comfort her..."

"If you tried to comfort her, why is she crying now? Tail never screams like this."

Joanne gently patted Tail's back, trying to calm her down. She felt that the little girl was about to pass out from crying.

With a helpless expression, Edwin said in a jealous tone, "It's because she wanted you instead of me."

"Madam, it really can't be blamed on Master Edwin. Miss Tail wanted to see you as soon as she woke up. She cried so hard without your company, so Master Edwin promised to take her to the kitchen. However, Miss Tail didn't believe Master Edwin's words and refused to let him touch her..."

Suppressing her laughter, Jadyn stepped forward and vividly recounted what had just happened to Joanne.

Joanne was dumbfounded after hearing this.

Was this still her well-behaved and cute little baby?

"I didn't even scold her," Edwin said after a moment of silence, his voice sounding even more aggrieved. "And I even prepared a big box of toys specifically to bond with her. I know I went too far and didn't know how to control my temper before, but that's because I mistook her for Patrick's daughter. How could I mistreat my own daughter?"

Joanne finally understood that the little girl was throwing a tantrum.

She had just changed into a new environment and it was inevitable for her to feel uncomfortable when seeing Edwin again.

At this moment, she had to be united with Tail.

Otherwise, the little girl might become more and more insecure...

Chapter 1576-The maid opened the door. Outside was the person in charge of the kids' clothing branch of the Atherton Group.

He was holding a big box with a warm smile, followed by some other employees who also carried boxes.

The person said, "These are the toys and clothes Mr.

Atherton prepared for Miss Tail..."

Hearing about the toys and clothes, Tail pressed her pink lips. She thought of something and reluctantly stretched out her hands toward Edwin.

Excited and overjoyed, Edwin took the cute girl into his arms.

Although he had held Puffy many times, Puffy was not his daughter. It was wonderful to hold his own daughter!

He noticed that Tail was glued to the toys and clothes outside the door, so he took her there at once.

A whole box of toys and countless sparkling princess dresses instantly attracted Tail's attention.

While preparing breakfast, Joanne heard Edwin please Tail time from time.

'Well, Edwin seems to get along well with Tail,' she thought with a smile.

Having made breakfast, Joanne walked out of the kitchen and saw Tail still lying on the sofa and playing with the toy car. Edwin was teaching her how to drive the car farther.

“Darling, it’s time to have breakfast. Let us play later.” Joanne reminded them.

Tail tried the last time, and she made the car drive farthest. At the sight of it, Edwin picked Tail up excitedly, raised her above his head, and praised, “Tail, you’re excellent. You can drive a car so far the first time you play it. After breakfast, I’ll take you to drive a real car.”

Tail didn’t expect him to raise her high suddenly, and she couldn’t help exclaiming in joy. She grabbed his short hair with both hands, giving him a sweet and shy smile.

Seeing Tail’s smile, Edwin was floating on air. “Joanne, do you see it? Tail is smiling at me!”

Joanne fell speechless. ‘Why is Edwin so excited?’ Although the breakfast was not as sumptuous as the one prepared by a chef, it was the most satisfying breakfast Edwin had eaten, because Joanne made it with love.

Unlike other kids, Tail was quiet while eating.

As long as Joanne was with her, she wouldn’t move.

Tail spooned oatmeal into her mouth and munched happily.

Satisfied, Edwin turned to peck Joanne on her lips. “Honey, thank you. You gave me such a lovely and well-mannered daughter.”

Being pecked suddenly, Joanne flushed. “Have your breakfast!”

The TV in the living room was broadcasting the morning news, followed by an entertainment program.

Several minutes later, Joanne saw Noah being interviewed in the entertainment.

On the sparkling red carpet, the host stared at Noah, who was dressed up delicately. “Miss Sinclair, it is said that you are Eclipse Worldwide Entertainment Co.’s excellent agent. Within just a few years, you have cultivated several superstars, but you rarely show up in public. Why are you willing to participate in this activity?”

Noah smiled, whose flaming red dress set off her fine figure. “Well, I used to keep a low profile, but now, I... I cherish the glory our company brings me.”

“Oh?” The host exhibited a confused expression. “So, the news is true?”

Noah became puzzled now, blinking. “What’s the news?”

“Haha, you keep it quiet. I mean the romance between you and the top executive in your company.”

Although Noah was just an agent, she was very popular because she had participated in two variety shows.

Especially in a fashionable variety show selecting potential female stars, she, as a judge, dressed exquisitely and always made incisive comments.

Due to her superb performance, the crew gave her a lot of shots, and she got many loyal fans.

Chapter 1575-“Are you blaming me for causing you to misunderstand?” she retorted.

Edwin’s inner response was an affirmative one.

However, at this very moment, he had no alternative but to comfort her. He said ingratiatingly, “Darling, you are the most significant person to me, and it is absolutely unjust to blame you. The one deserving of blame is none other than myself.”

Edwin's soft attitude was an uncommon sight for Joanne. Biting her lower lip, she asked curiously, "Blame you for what?"

Edwin immediately realized that he must answer this question properly. After a thoughtful pause, he let out a gentle sigh.

"Blame me for not being perceptive enough four years ago, blame me for my irascible temperament four years later, blame me for my obstinacy, and blame me for failing our daughter and betraying your genuine intentions."

Joanne's expression soured upon hearing the mention of "four years ago".

However, when she caught sight of Edwin's sincere gaze, her anger swiftly transformed into embarrassment.

His genuine admission of fault was truly a rarity. Once proud and aloof, he habitually looked down upon others. However, at present, he had cast aside all his arrogance and was willing to accommodate them. Even if she desired to blame him, the words couldn't find their way out.

"Darling, are you still angry with me?" Sensing Joanne's reluctance to sulk, Edwin finally relaxed.

Joanne bit her lower lip and complained, "It won't solve the problem at all. Look at how terrified Tail has become because of you."

Nestling in Joanne's arms, Tail sobbed and trembled, with her tears flowing ceaselessly.

"I was wrong, but I lack the experience to comfort our daughter..."

For the first time, Edwin felt a deep sense of defeat in his interactions with the little girl.

Joanne lowered her gaze, fixating on Tail's adorable face that resembled that of a kitten.

"I was cooking in the kitchen just now, not leaving you alone. Be a good girl and stop crying."

Tail raised her head, meeting her mother's gaze. With tears still streaming down her face, she tightly wrapped her short arms around Joanne's neck. Although she still pouted, the tears had ceased.

Joanne brought Tail into the kitchen. The porridge was almost done, and she only needed to prepare two side dishes.

However, at this very moment, Tail clung tightly to Joanne, refusing to let go of her.

"Tail, I need to cook now. You can't keep holding onto me..." Joanne attempted to negotiate with Tail. Then she nodded towards Edwin by her side and suggested, "Why not let him hold you?"

"No," Tail asserted adamantly, her eyes brimming with plea.

Joanne felt a headache coming on. Such an attachment from the little girl was entirely foreign to her.

"If you don't let him hold you, I won't be able to cook for you. Is your little tummy growling with hunger or not?"

Tail's chest, which had just stopped heaving, sank dejectedly. With a resigned expression, she nodded. "Yes, I am hungry."

"Honey, let Daddy hold you..." Edwin extended his hands just in time. He knew that Joanne had deliberately created an opportunity for him to draw closer to Tail.

His eyes were now overflowing with tenderness and anticipation, as if they were about to radiate brilliance.

Joanne continued to whisper into Tail's ear, "Actually, he is not a bad person."

During the time you were kidnapped, he was the one who rescued you, wasn't he? We should learn to be grateful to those who have helped us. Since he longs to hold you so much, why don't you give him a chance?"

Tail's gaze fell upon Edwin. In truth, she did not harbor such a strong dislike for him.

But this man wanted to take Mama away from her!

Mama hadn't even slept with her last night...

At that very moment, the doorbell rang.

Chapter 1577-Noah's fans were loyal. They gossiped about Noah's background and found out that she and Edwin had studied abroad together. On the international student forum, they could see intimate photos of the two feeding each other ice cream.

Besides, Edwin was the boss of Eclipse Worldwide Entertainment. And Noah was the top agent of Eclipse Worldwide Entertainment...

Fans were excitedly saying that Edwin announced on Twitter that he had nothing to do with Sharon to pave the way for Noah.

Noah was stunned, dropped her head slightly, and said shyly, "You guys are really well-informed..."

At these words, the host also got excited.

"Ms. Sinclair, so what they said about you and Mr. Atherton is true? Are you guys getting married soon?"

"Jadyn, turn off the TV!" Edwin was keenly aware that Joanne's hand was trembling slightly as she held the fork. He commanded with a sullen face.

Jadyn agreed and was about to turn off the TV, but Joanne stopped her. “Jadyn, don’t bother. I want to know what else this woman can say.”

Jadyn glanced nervously at Edwin and Joanne. Joanne now had the final say in this family, so Jadyn had to back off.

The next thing they heard was Noah’s gentle, expectant voice on the TV. “If we’re getting married, I’ll share the news with everyone on Twitter...”

The image switched to a picture of Noah and Edwin feeding each other on an international student forum, and then the camera tracked away.

Edwin wished that he could go into the TV and blur that intimate photo.

“Honey, let me explain it. That photo was taken from a special angle. It was not like what you saw in it...”

Joanne expressionlessly forked a piece of cucumber.” That’s all in the past. You don’t have to explain it.”

“I take my marriage very seriously. You are the woman I have decided to spend my life with. I won’t marry anyone else. Noah said that in the interview to get attention...”

“That’s right. You’re very popular in showbiz. Once actresses and agents hook up with you, they can instantly get ahead.”

Edwin was speechless, thinking, ‘She said she was not angry. She lied.’ Why did he feel the air stifling?

Edwin lowered his eyes, took out his cell phone, and called Lucas. “Inform the organizers of the gala immediately. I don’t like the interview session today. Tell them to settle things properly.”

After that, Edwin looked at Joanne nervously. “Honey...”

"I'm full. I'll take Tail to change first. Take your time." Joanne didn't even give him a look and went directly to the bedroom with Tail, who had just finished eating.

Edwin stared at the LCD screen of the TV, his stern eyes blazing with anger.

'Damn Noah!' Meanwhile, backstage at the gala.

Noah was full of joy, thinking that this would provoke the biggest conflict between Harry and Joanne. Yet she didn't expect it to be a catalyst for Edwin and Tail to know their relationship.

Noah heard from the private detective that Edwin had taken Joanne and Tail into East Imperial. Noah gritted her teeth with hatred and unwillingness in her eyes.

What was worse, Edwin had Harry under house arrest and captured a kidnapper alive.

Although Noah used an anonymous phone number to tell the kidnappers to act, perhaps with Edwin's keen mind, he would find out something...

She had to find a way to protect herself as soon as possible. At that moment, Noah's cell phone rang.

Chapter 1578-Noah frowned when she saw that it was an unfamiliar number.

She picked up the phone and realized it was Harry.

Harry's voice was low like he was hiding from someone...

"Was it you?" Harry questioned straightforwardly.

Noah bit the tip of her tongue. The pain made her voice sound innocent. "What, Mr. Atherton? What are you talking about?"

“Don’t play dumb with me. Besides me, you and Sharon are the only ones who have been targeting Joanne. Sharon is a stupid woman. She couldn’t come up with such a ploy, so it must be you.” Harry analyzed. He growled in anger, “Noah, how dare you try to kill my granddaughter and frame me!”

Noah had been in showbiz for years. She could remain calm no matter what the situation was.

Even though Harry was so explicit, she didn’t panic but said in a pitiful voice, “Your granddaughter? I don’t understand! What ploy? Forgive me. I’ve been too busy lately. It’s the company’s mid-year extravaganza soon. I am really...”

Harry couldn’t think of anyone else. Even if he had no proof, he believed it was Noah.

“Edwin has grounded me. I’m telling you: even if I can’t get myself clear, I won’t let you off the hook.”

Noah exclaimed in a surprised voice, “Edwin has grounded you? Mr. Atherton, how are you now? Can I pay you a visit?”

“Are you out of your mind? I told you I was grounded. I borrowed this phone to call you.”

Noah’s eyes dimmed. She didn’t expect Edwin would be so cruel that he grounded his father. She supposed she couldn’t keep quiet anymore. She bit her lower lip and said in an apathetic voice, “Edwin will find out what happened four years ago. If we don’t meet, how can we make a plan together?”

After a few seconds of silence, Harry said, “I’ll find a way to meet you tonight at 7 pm. I’ll send you the address. Wait for me there.”

Noah showed a winning smile. She responded, “Okay, Mr. Atherton.”

To avoid what she had done in the past being exposed, she had to work with Harry.

Just before that, she still didn’t want to give up on Edwin.

Meanwhile, at East Imperial, Edwin received a message from the bodyguard in charge of guarding Harry.

“Mr. Atherton took his girlfriend’s cell phone and called Noah. He went into the bathroom and kept the tap on, so I couldn’t hear what he said...”

Edwin had found out who kidnapped Tail, but he still grounded Harry because he wanted to see who Harry would contact.

Four years ago, Harry sent killers to go after Joanne...

Edwin was determined that he would not spare anyone involved.

When Edwin learned that Harry had called Noah, he was not surprised.

Years ago, Edwin had found out that Noah had bribed the doctor to falsify a report that Joanne’s fallopian tubes were born blocked, which annoyed Edwin’s grandmother. And the Atherton family all thought Joanne had shady intentions.

She knew she couldn’t get pregnant, but she still wanted to marry Edwin.

Edwin was devastated when he learned Joanne left him for Patrick, so he didn’t investigate the matter at that time.

Chapter 1579-‘By now...

‘It doesn’t matter. I’ll settle scores with them.’ “Keep an eye on my father and see what he and Noah are up to.” Edwin coldly gave orders, his voice full of hostility on the phone.

However, the next moment, Edwin, who was sitting in the living room, saw Joanne coming out of the bedroom with the cute Tail. Both of them wore light pink outfits. Edwin’s face softened instantly. There was only tenderness on it.

'Tail is so adorable!

My daughter is an angel on earth...' "Honey, are you ready to go out? Wait for me to change my clothes. I'll be right back."

"No need. I'll just ask Sonia to protect Tail and me," Joanne said. Without giving Edwin a chance to react, she carried Tail with one arm and went away.

Edwin was stunned.

'She just allowed me to be Tail's driver, didn't she?' When the door to the living room was closed and Joanne went away, Jadyn nudged Edwin, "Mr. Atherton, Mrs.

Atherton seems angry."

Edwin gave Jadyn an impatient look.

Seeing this, Jadyn quickly corrected herself. "With my experience, Mrs. Atherton is actually not just angry. To be precise, she is jealous. The picture of her husband feeding his ex was displayed on the TV, and everyone saw it. How can she not be jealous?"

Edwin's brow relaxed a bit. "Jadyn, you're getting to know me better."

Jadyn laughed dryly and watched Edwin leave East Imperial.

She let out a long sigh of relief, ordered the maids to clean up the rooms, and went to arrange Tail's toys.

"Jadyn, Jadyn..." Lillie Ritter, a young maid, suddenly ran to Jadyn's side and kept looking around nervously.

Lillie was the maid Jadyn had brought over from Edwin's villa. She was in her early twenties, very energetic. She had caramel-colored skin and a passionate smile.

Jadyn tensed her face and said sternly, "What's wrong? Why do you look so guilty?"

"You misunderstood me." Lillie slowly blushed. After hesitating for a moment, she pulled Jadyn to Edwin and Joanne's master bedroom.

Lillie pointed to the red bed sheets and covers and stammered, "Well, I found the sheets were clean when I was making up their bed..."

Jadyn listened with a bewildered face.

She then understood what Lillie meant.

Lillie brought the trash can over, and there was nothing in it except a few unpacked boxes of daily necessities.

Jadyn rubbed her chin, thinking about how to improve the couple's relationship.

Her eyes suddenly fell on Lillie...

Poor Lillie felt so embarrassed that her face was burning. Under Jadyn's gaze, Lillie became even more flustered. She then heard Jadyn ask with a suspicious look, "Lillie, why are you so nosy about the affairs between men and women?"

Chapter 1580-Hearing Jadyn's question, Lillie flushed scarlet with acute embarrassment. She almost yelled, "I... I just hope that Mr.

Atherton and Mrs. Atherton can lead a happy life!"

'Mr. Atherton is generous. As his servant, I can earn more than a white-collar worker.

'When he is cheery, he might even give me a bonus.

'In addition, unlike a large private villa with a garden, a swimming pool, a golf course, and so on, his house in East Imperial is not that big. So, I don't have to do much work.

'I certainly hope that he can be happy.' The more Lillie thought about it, the more embarrassed she became. Covering her face, she trotted away.

Staring at Lillie's back, Jadyn thought the same. As a loyal senior servant, Jadyn intended to foster the love between Edwin and Joanne.

The shopping mall was filled with all manner of goods.

Joanne initially planned to buy some clothes and daily necessities for Tail because the weather was getting cold, but Tail only had summer outfits.

Since Edwin sent plenty of clothes to Tail this morning, Joanne just bought some daily necessities. Sonia put them into the trunk and then drove around with Joanne and Tail. When a place interested Tail, she stopped the car and let Tail take pictures.

"This is where I was born, grew up, and worked," Joanne said while pointing to the brilliant blue sky.

Tail smiled. 'I'll also grow up and work here!'

"Tail, you're so cute. Could you give me a kiss?" Sonia loved Tail dearly, and she moved her face near Tail's mouth with a grin.

She didn't wear any makeup today, so she didn't worry that Tail would touch any chemicals in the makeup.

Tail was easygoing and lively. She kissed Sonia's face, whose pink lips were as soft as jelly.

When Tail kissed Sonia, she snapped a picture at once and shared it on WhatsApp with these words.

[This is my boss' daughter, who is also a kid influencer. How lovely and cute she is! She is kissing me! Wow...] Edwin happened to see Sonia's sharing. He immediately commented. [Where are you?] Sonia furrowed her eyebrows hesitantly. In the end, she decided to ignore Edwin's question.

Anyway, the first thing that Joanne had told her was not to leak their whereabouts to Edwin.

Tail selected the restaurant for lunch.

When they strolled down a famous pedestrian street, Tail smelled the pleasant flavor of hotpot and asked to eat it.

As they arrived at the hotpot restaurant, it was teeming with customers. Since it was just lunchtime, there were also a lot of people queuing up. More than seventy people had taken queue numbers.

Seeing so many people, Sonia became vacillated. "Mrs.

Atherton, it will take a long time to wait if we have lunch here. As Miss Tail is hungry, how about we change a restaurant?"

"No! No!" Before Joanne could answer, Tail looked up at Sonia and refused.

"The food must be very yummy here.

Mama, let's go there and wait..."

Upon hearing this, Joanne shrugged her shoulders at Sonia.” Let’s wait. Tail rarely like a restaurant very much. And I’ve just checked the reviews about the restaurant on the Internet. It’s said that the food here is really delicious. If Tail is very hungry, we can buy her some bread.”

Now that Joanne had made a decision, Sonia had to agree. Then she specially chose a not very thronged waiting area. But the waiter reported the queue number slowly.