

Our Billion 751

Chapter 751-Quinn had to prevent Stella from contacting the Athertons.

To be precise, Stella's existence was a ticking time bomb. Quinn had to consult with Lola to discuss possible countermeasures quickly. Her identity must not be exposed!

Meanwhile, on the other side, Catelyn was in a very good mood.

It was time to get off work. Jolene hurriedly pushed open the office door and stared at Catelyn.

"Kitty! Quick, go online and have a look! II "What's wrong?" asked Catelyn. she saw Jolene behaving so anxiously and thought that perhaps something had happened to the company.

Catelyn quickly opened the webpage given by Jolene. Next, she saw a photo of herself and David Mason hugging each other.

There were several photos in total. In the pictures, her cheeks were flushed as she embraced David, holding onto his shirt tightly. David, on the other hand, looked down at her with a gentle expression.

In the last picture, it looked like David was lowering his head and kissing her neck!

Although Catelyn could not recall what happened that night, the photo obviously looked like it was taken from the surveillance camera.

"These photos were released not long ago. what happened between you and the Ninth Master? Could this all be a mistake?" asked Jolene worriedly.

No wonder she was so anxious! Jolene was worried that Cedrick would misunderstand Catelyn!

Catelyn told Jolene what happened in detail, including the incident with Maribel.

Catelyn was innocent, and there was nothing going on between her and David.

However, Jolene was still a little worried. "Should you call Cedrick and explain to him?"

Catelyn believed that Cedrick would not doubt her. She shook her head firmly.

"If he were to be angry, he would have shown it a long time ago."

"Oh! What a relief!" Jolene let out a long sigh. "If these photos were to ruin your relationship with Cedrick, it would be the worst! To be honest, I envy you so much! Cedrick had so much trust in you. Everything is so stable between you both..."

Catelyn's heart warmed up at Jolene's statement. It seemed that since the incident back in Franche, there have not been many conflicts with Cedrick.

Perhaps the biggest issue at hand was that Grandpa Mason disliked her.

Suddenly, the phone in Catelyn's pocket rang.

It was a call from Cedrick.

Jolene saw it and snickered, she made a thumbs-up gesture and said, "Okay, I won't disturb you two lovebirds."

Catelyn tapped the answer button and asked playfully, "Are you here to interrogate me after seeing those photos on the Internet?"

"I've already arranged for someone to deal with those photos." Cedrick's voice was heard from the receiver, and he sounded a little annoyed.

Catelyn said sweetly, "Quinn just posted these photos to distract me from preparing for Friday's press conference. I won't fall for it! As long as you believe me as well..."

After a moment of silence, Cedrick whispered softly, "I believe you. If Jolene shuddered when she heard their flirtatious conversations and shouted exaggeratedly at Catelyn, "oh, you guys! Go get a room! I can't take this anymore!"

Catelyn covered the receiver with one hand and joked to Jolene, "If you can't stand it, get out of here then! You're an eyesore!"

"How mean! You've hurt my feelings!" Jolene mockingly placed her hands on her heart and left in a hurry.

Chapter 752-Back in the Mason Group, Cedrick left all the work at hand to Charles after he hung up the phone with Catelyn. He also instructed Eason not to pick up the two boys today.

Eason would usually help to fetch the kids back when Cedrick and Catelyn were both busy with their work. He was wondering why he did not need to do it this time, and the next moment he saw Cedrick heading downstairs with the car keys.

Cedrick drove to the kindergarten himself. School had just ended, and the gates were crowded with many parents who were there to pick up their children.

Cedrick frowned at the crowd. He parked his car a block away and walked to the school gate.

As Cedrick arrived, he instantly caught the attention of the other male parents around him.

How masculine! Which child's parent is this?

He looks so cool!

The gate of the kindergarten opened, and groups of children came running toward their parents with joy.

Miles and Ollie saw Cedrick standing at the door.

“Why is he here?” Ollie was a little surprised.

Miles looked around, and he saw no trace of Catelyn. Perhaps she had called Cedrick here.

The two boys walked toward Cedrick. They were wearing the same dark padded jacket with a hood with two pointed ears. There was also a fluffy earmuff hanging between their small necks.

Miles’ eyes were rolling. It seemed that Mummy really had not come.

Cedrick did not pick up their school bags from their backs, and the boys also had no intention of giving them to him. They were not heavy, after all.

Cedrick raised his eyes to signal the car to stop on the opposite side, and the boys crossed the road on their own while Cedrick followed them from behind.

Those parents who were awed earlier quickly came back to their senses. It turned out this masculine-looking man was the father of the famous twins!

Miles threw the school bag into the corner of the car and climbed to the rear seat.

Cedrick was about to remind them to fasten their seat belts when a small head popped out from the right side of his car seat, “Big Demon, are you angry with Mummy?” asked Miles.

“Why? Is there a reason why I should be mad at her?” Cedrick started the car and drove up the avenue.

Cedrick's car was steady, and Miles had not felt uncomfortable even when he was not sitting properly in the car.

Seeing that Cedrick was not angry, Miles said, "The photos! The photos of Mummy and the man hugging have been posted online!"

"Yeah, so? why should I be angry?" Cedrick asked confidently.

Miles' eyes widened for a moment, and his mouth gaped open into an irregular shape.

Ollie stood up from the back and hugged the passenger seat. He said, "Father, don't you hate Uncle Nine? Mummy is hugging him in the photos. Do you really not mind that?"

Cedrick saw the two boys staring at him. He tapped the steering wheel with his slender fingers and replied, "I'm the only one she loves. That's all I need to know."

"Wow, how narcissistic!" Miles squinted his eyes.

Cedrick turned his head and glanced at Miles. He said with a stern tone, "The way your classmates' parents looked at me just now fully shows that I'm the king of narcissism."

Miles sighed in disgust, and suddenly his eyes were sparkling." Then, would you ever be jealous?"

Of course, Cedrick would be jealous!

In fact, he was probably already thinking of punishing Catelyn severely when she returned home later

Chapter 753-Jolene was right. It was one thing for Cedrick to see Catelyn hugging David, but would he actually mind it?

Indeed, if it were not for David's rescue, the consequences would be unimaginable.

However, would Cedrick actually just sit still and watch his wife being embraced in another man's arms? of course not!

Cedrick raised his jaw arrogantly and squinted at Miles. "Go back to your seat."

"No." Miles said as he poked his fingers on Cedrick's shoulder, "Are you really not jealous of Uncle Nine? I want to see what your jealous face looks like."

Cedrick replied coldly, "I'm not jealous."

Following that, Ollie's expression immediately became serious, and he looked at Cedrick in disappointment. "Mummy and Uncle Nine were hugging each other, and you are neither angry nor jealous. Do you even love Mummy?"

Cedrick did not answer.

Miles nodded in agreement and pouted. "Perhaps the Big Demon had already lost interest in Mummy after marrying her, and now he doesn't mind Mummy hugging other men at all."

"Mummy is so wronged." Ollie's eyelashes trembled.

"Uncle Nine seemed like a nice guy. Perhaps we can match him and Mummy together?" said Miles.

"... Do you think I cannot hear what you just said?" said Cedrick. He slammed his foot on the brake hard.

The two boys stumbled several times and almost fell as the car came to a sudden halt.

Miles stared at Cedrick angrily. "How dare you! I'm going to ignore you for the rest of the day!"

It happened that the car had already arrived near Green Islands. Miles pushed the car door open and leaped out of the car.

Ollie glanced at Cedrick for a moment, then at Miles. He then followed Miles and got out of the car.

When Catelyn returned to Green Islands, she felt a strange atmosphere in the living room.

Miles and ollie were busy playing with some puzzles while Cedrick was monitoring some stock market charts on his laptop. They seemed to be ignoring each other.

Catelyn eventually asked and found out that the boys were angry with Cedrick again.

Discovering that it was all because of the photos, Catelyn immediately explained, "Your father is not jealous because I explained it to him in advance.

Don't you want US all to be a happy family?"

"I do..." wailed Miles while being nestled in Catelyn's arms, with her short hands around her neck." I'm just helping you to test his loyalty toward you."

Catelyn tapped the tip of his nose. "And how did he do?"

Miles frowned and said, "I'm disappointed. Even if you had explained, he should still be jealous and angry! what should I do, Mommy? Maybe he doesn't love you enough!"

Catelyn turned to look at Cedrick. "My son said you don't love me enough."

Cedrick could not bother with the two boys. Even if he were really angry or jealous, he would never let them see it.

Hearing this, a trace of evil flashed across his eyebrows. He raised his eyebrows at Catelyn. "Then let me show you some real love tonight, eh?"

"... Okay, quit joking already. Hurry up and tidy up the table," said Catelyn.

Cedrick withdrew his gaze while half-smiling.

At this moment, the doorbell rang suddenly.

Catelyn and Cedrick were both stunned for a moment.

It's already so late, who would come all of a sudden?

Chapter 754-Catelyn pulled open the door and was shocked to see Grandpa Mason and Uncle Ford standing in the doorway.

Grandpa Mason looked hostile and glared at her with malevolence.

In his hands was a stack of photos...

Catelyn immediately understood that he was there to interrogate her and was somewhat amused by this scene. Grandpa Mason did not go after the person who he should be going after, but instead was here bugging their happy family incessantly.

Cedrick followed to see what was going on. He said lazily with one hand in his pocket, "Grandpa."

"Care to explain these photos?" Grandpa Mason ignored Cedrick, his dark eyes locked onto Catelyn.

Catelyn composed her thoughts, then smiled, and explained, "It was a misunderstanding, I was framed by my colleagues. Nine happened to pass by and support me. The photos were carefully edited by people with intentions. Grandpa, you are a smart person. You must be able to tell what is right or wrong.”

“You don’t have to flatter me. I won’t buy it!” Grandpa Mason interjected Catelyn coldly, and his tone was even more hostile.

Of course, he knew about Maribel framing Catelyn. This was already widespread on the internet.

However, the photos...

He could not stand it.

“You are Ced’s wife, but you are hooking up with other men. I cannot allow this!

Whatever you said are all excuses. I only believe in what I saw in the photo. Not only are you hooking up with Nine, but you are not even discreet about it...”

Catelyn paused for a few seconds, then only said slowly, “So you admit I am Ced’s wife now?”

Grandpa Mason choked, and his frustration grew. He stomped his walking stick and said, “Stop talking nonsense! I am here to tell you today that Miss Atherton has been found. My next step is to get Cedrick and her married. If you understand the assignment, you should be filing for a divorce. I can tolerate you being a mistress for your kids...”

Miss Atherton had been found, and he wanted her to be a mistress?

Quinn Weir deserved this?

Catelyn did not say anything but merely looked straight into Grandpa Mason’s eyes.

Grandpa Mason saw that she was not replying, then raised his voice, “Do you agree to this or not?”

"No," Cedrick replied on behalf of Catelyn.

Cedrick raised his eyebrows and then asked Grandpa Mason, "The kids are still here. Let's go downstairs and discuss this?"

"You follow me downstairs too. I have something to discuss with you too!"

Grandpa Mason did not want to tarnish his own image in his grandsons' eyes and therefore gave in to Cedrick's suggestion.

Cedrick patted Catelyn's shoulder, hinting at her to look after the kids and not to worry about him, then followed Grandpa Mason.

When they reached the bottom of the stairs, a cool breeze gushed past them. Grandpa Mason held one of his hands into a fist and placed it over his mouth. He coughed lightly. His silhouette looked frail.

Perhaps he was old, his temper got weird, and he liked to pick on things.

As soon as Grandpa Mason calmed down, he thrust his walking stick at Cedrick. "Are you trying to piss me off by refusing to divorce that woman? You little brat!"

Cedrick could have easily dodged his attack, but he did not. He took the hit and then slowly said, "Even though Catelyn did not have her name listed in the family book, from the bottom of my heart, she is my only wife."

There was a rule in the Mason family that even if they got the marriage certificate if the spouse's name was not listed in the family book, they would not be considered part of the family.

Therefore, when Grandpa Mason knew that Cedrick and Catelyn got their marriage certificate, he was not too pissed either.

He only scolded them for a few days.

However, tonight, Cedrick's words were igniting the grenade inside Grandpa Mason. He was frozen on the spot.

Chapter 755-However, the angrier he was, the more he had control over his emotions. He looked at Cedrick, expressionless. "Are you so serious about her?"

Cedrick did not even hesitate and replied, "I had given you the answer before. Between her and the heirloom, I will choose her. So stop your attacks. This will not affect my relationship with her at all."

Unlike his usual temperament, Grandpa Mason's expression was icy cold, he said word by word, "Ced, before tonight, I could pretend that you were just playing a tea party, but now, I want her to leave, no negotiations."

His face was calm like the lake, but his heart was rolling in big tides. Cold breeze crept in from all directions, pulling someone down into a bottomless pit.

Cedrick knew that Grandpa Mason had hidden his true intentions.

His hand in his pocket slowly rolled into a fist. "Catelyn and the two kids are my bottom line.

Grandpa, since you made it clear already, then I made it clear to you as well. I will not let anyone who picks on her get away."

Cedrick did not even take another look at Grandpa Mason and left.

Just like he expected, he did not hear Grandpa Mason's furious shout either.

Nevertheless, this was the actual calm before the storm.

When he returned upstairs, Catelyn and the kids had already set up the dining table with a few scrumptious dishes.

Somehow, he felt much more grounded and calmer.

Catelyn had an apron wrapped around her waist. She looked at him calmly, somewhat concerned. "Did you get a consensus from Grandpa? Did he give you a hard time?"

The last thing Catelyn wished for was for Cedrick to choose between her and Grandpa Mason.

She had always given in to Grandpa mason, the biggest reason for which was because Grandpa Mason raised Cedrick. Now that he was old and no longer strong as he was, it would be easy for Catelyn to look bad if she pissed him off.

That was a line that she would never cross.

"How can he give me a hard time? He could only give me some useless threats," Cedrick said casually.

Catelyn could not see his concern and therefore calmed down.

"Then wash up and have dinner now."

Miles went to wash his hands too.

The little one had to stand on a stool before the sink. He applied some hand soap, his plump little hands contrasting with Cedrick's humongous ones.

He exclaimed, "Big Demon, your fingers are so thick."

The two came out of the bathroom, with Miles hopping cheerfully next to Cedrick.

Miles covered his mouth in reflex. Then he removed his hands, and his pink lips opened and closed.

“Tyrant.”

After dinner, the family went out for a walk.

Miles held Catelyn’s hand affectionately and told her about what had happened in school today.

Every moment like this made Catelyn feel blissful. No matter how tired and exhausted she got from work, as long as she heard her kids’ voices, she felt satisfied. Her eyes were gentle and affectionate.

After half an hour, the servants brought the two kids home, and Cedrick drove Catelyn to another place.

It was a private cemetery on the outskirts.

Chapter 756-Cedrick had always wanted to bring her to see his mother.

However, due to a lot of reasons, this was always postponed.

The big four families each had their own cemeteries in which they buried their ancestors centuries ago.

Only the people listed in their family book could be buried here.

Therefore, even though they were legally married, as long as the Mason family prohibited Catelyn’s name in the family book, she would not be buried here after she passed away, she would also not enjoy respect from the descendants after her. In other words, she would be seen as just a mistress to the later generations.

Catelyn noticed the cemetery drawing closer and said cautiously, "Are you bringing me to see... my mother-in-law?"

"Yes." Cedrick pinched her soft hands and looked into her eyes with a gentle gaze.

Catelyn could not help but feel nervous. She looked at her casual loungewear and said, "Why didn't you inform me earlier? At least let me change into a pair of proper clothing. I am underdressed. Would she think that I am disrespecting her?"

"My mother will not mind it. As long as I like it, she will like it too." The closer they got to the grave, the more wrenched Cedrick's heart was.

That was because... His mother's name was not on the family book either.

Catelyn did not notice the gloom in Cedrick's expression because she was too nervous.

She knew that Cedrick cared about his mother a lot...

She felt disgraceful and disrespectful to have come to see a deceased in loungewear.

The graveyard forbade people from parking their cars nearby and had metal fences around the area. There were twelve security guards taking shifts to watch over the place 24/7. Any unauthorized trespasser would be prosecuted.

The Mason family was very serious about it.

The tall fence looked extra grim in the moonlight.

However, when they got near the cemetery, Cedrick brought Catelyn into an alley.

Catelyn followed closely behind him and looked at the main entrance to it, full of questions. "Aren't we going to see my mother -in-law?"

"She is not in there," Cedrick explained in a slightly depressed tone.

Catelyn noticed his gloomy expression. The Clark family had the same rule too, that you could only be buried in the cemetery if your name was on the family book. In other words, her late mother-in-law was not in the family book, and the Mason family sacrificed her to keep Cedrick's life.

There was also another patch of graveyard right opposite the private cemetery.

It was also a guarded one.

This was built by Cedrick for Daphne Coleman.

Cedrick brought Catelyn to a bigger grave. It was circular, and the tombstone was rectangular. There was no photo on the tombstone but a realistic engraving of Daphne's face on it.

She was a very elegant and gorgeous lady.

She resembled Janice very much, only healthier and had more naivety.

There was a bouquet of fresh flowers before the tombstone.

Someone will change the flowers every day because mother loved fresh flowers.

"Mother." Cedrick's hand caressed Daphne's name, engraved on the tombstone. He said in a husky voice, "I have not visited you in a long time, are you well? I have married Catelyn. I am sorry to only have brought her to see you after so long."

Right now, Cedrick did not have his usual aggressiveness but instead looked like a lost child.

He pulled Catelyn to the tombstone.

Catelyn came unprepared without bringing anything, so she could only take a bow to the tombstone and said, "Mom, nice to meet you. I am Catelyn, Ced's wife. Thankyou for giving birth to such a beautiful man, for him to be my perfect husband."

Then, she took one look at Cedrick and said sternly, "From now on, I will take care of him on behalf of you. Hope you are happy in heaven."

Cedrick caught her looking at him. He smiled and said, "So, I am perfect for you?"

"...I am just flattering you in front of your mother." Catelyn refused to admit it.

Cedrick's gloom was slightly brightened. "Don't lie about it anymore."

"Right, I did not like to talk about it..." Catelyn admitted, then turned and said to Daphne's tombstone, "Mom, see? Ced likes to bully me."

Chapter 757-"It's not good to lie about this." Cedricklooked at her, amused.

Catelyn blushed and reached her hand out to cover Cedrick's mouth.

"Stop! I am blushing..."

Cedrick took the opportunity to peck a kiss in her palm, she instantly withdrew it, and then she heard his sexy voice in her ears. "This was to tell my mom that I am happy in the marriage. Soon we will have a baby girl, and she will be happy for US."

Nonsense! It was all nonsense! Catelyn was speechless.

She was doubtful. He already had his vasectomy. Where would they get a baby girl from?

On Friday, at the press conference. Catelyn invited many media reporters to witness the demolition of the tower and also the quality inspection of the new property. Everyone was carefully treated at the scene.

She even arranged a number of security guards to maintain order at the scene.

However, after a long wait, only a few reporters turned up.

They were the ones who were connected to the Worldwide Entertainment Co.

and only turned up because of Joanne.

They also noticed that there were not many people at the scene and looked at each other awkwardly.

It turned out to be a scene of a few security guards circling one reporter.

Catelyn frowned questioningly as well.

Jolene strode across and whispered something in her ears.

Catelyn's expression turned rather unpleasant.

Then, the reporters received the memo too. At the hotel nearby, Pentaland Group was holding a press conference to announce their ambassador and invited a lot of A-list celebrities to hype the scene!

Moreover, a famous female actress announced that she would be tapping into the new industry to film some adult films...

She was wearing a see-through dress, making it media-worthy.

Plus, a lot of people wanted to flatter the Pentaland Group and naturally went to support the Group...

Therefore, the reporters that were supposed to report about the demolition all moved away to the press conference of Pentaland instead, and only came back to shoot some photos of the demolition after. After all, entertainment news always got greater public attention rather than the demolition of a building.

A few reporters left the demolition scene, and more followed. They were all headed to Pentaland. Moreover, the press conference for Pentaland was indoors, with many perks given, and did not make everyone's face dusty.

Jolene was exasperated to see the reporters whispering to each other.

This was obviously a deliberate move to steal the show!

"Kitty, what should we do? Perhaps we should move the demolition to the afternoon?"

"No need. Remember to live this and record everything. Quinn liked to steal the show. Let her. We just need to do what we need to." Catelyn informed public relations and carried on as planned.

In the Pentaland Hotel lobby.

Lola was the main character of this event, and Quinn was only standing backstage.

She was pleased to see all the reporters stolen by her. "I had sent them money in private and told them not to go to the demolition. Now there is nobody at Catelyn's demolition. Let's see how else she can run this show!"

Lola was pleased to see the outcome as well. The more reporters there were, the more exposure she would get, and her net worth would naturally inflate.

She took out a syringe from her purse and handed it to Quinn. "This is for you. It's enough for Stella.

Chapter 758-Quinn looked at the syringe that was filled with greenish liquid.

She was trembling and did not take it. "I can actually just ask someone to get rid of my mother..."

"Mother? You only have one mother, and that is Summer Atherton! " Lola threw her a shady look and handed the syringe to her. "If Stella made a scene, we would be dead! Don't worry.

I had it specially made. It would, at most, only get someone vegetative!"

"Vegetative?" Quinn's hand trembled again. "How different is that from a corpse?"

Quinn was not brutal.

She was thinking about how to push it back to Lola.

Lola snickered, "Of course, it is different. A corpse can't breathe, and a person in a vegetative state still has a possibility of waking up. Think about it, Stella was a ticking time bomb. After you inject the medicine in her, I will arrange for her to be flown out of the country for a good rest, when Granny Atherton finally passes away, we can think of ways to wake Stella up again."

Quinn decided to compartmentalize her emotions, she was right, and nothing could stop her from becoming Miss Atherton.

Stella had never raised her for a single day.

She was only a stranger that was related to her by blood!

Quinn took the syringe. “Then you get the flight ready. I will inform you when she goes unconscious.”

On the other hand, a few reporters went to the demolition scene to take some photos after being invited by the public relations department. There were only a few of them, and it looked a little pathetic.

The person in charge of the live streaming also sighed when he saw the number of people tuning in to the live stream.

The property at Marine Pearl Bay would be hard to sell. Perhaps the company would really be bankrupt soon.

He did not even have the mood to interact with the audience anymore.

Then, the quality control department went around the new building and performed a thorough inspection, including the engineers, who were all pointing out the flaws in the project.

Standing in front of the live stream camera, Catelyn did not frown for one single bit and instructed for the demolition to commence.

This was a public announcement of the Group’s determination.

Even if there were no reporters and audiences, they could not take it lightly.

Even though the workers were putting in all their effort, they inevitably felt a little demotivated when they saw no reporters and audiences.

Catelyn was trying to hype them up when she received the call from Lola.

Lola turned the video on and deliberately showed off to her the number of reporters and crowd at her end.

Catelyn responded coldly and hung up on her.

Jolene got even angrier. “Good for her to use this kind of low-class tactics! The media who were attracted by a female body were horrible too! I have to complain about this to Cedrick!

Let him get another dozen reporters to support our scene...”

“There’s no point asking Cedrick for help. We should instead ask Edwin.”

“Mister Atherton?” Jolene’s eyes lit up. “Right, the entertainment industry influence now lies in the hands of Mister Atherton. I will call him right now...”

However, right at this moment, there was a commotion at the roadside near the crowd.

“Look, who’s that?”

“Oh my, isn’t that Mister Atherton?”

“My idol! Oh my god, why is he here?”

“No, look, there’s a woman next to him. Is that his new girlfriend?” “That looked like the controversially famous actress Joanne?”

Chapter 759-The initially unimpressed reporters were suddenly intrigued, and all looked in the direction of the commotion.

Was Mister Atherton going to express support toward the VSA Group?

Everyone rushed forward and crowded around Edwin.

After Edwin and Joanne descended from the elongated business vehicle, a number of celebrities descended from it too, including award-winning actors, famous social media influencers, and some famous live-streaming platform personalities!

Jolene did not even press the dial on her phone yet but was already too stunned to speak.

Edwin's crowd was so glamorously dressed up, as though attending a red carpet show. They strode gracefully across the uneven ground full of potholes and arrived in front of Catelyn.

They were holding themselves professionally like a public figure was expected to be, without showing a single sign of dissatisfaction with the scene's chaos.

Joanne even winked at Catelyn joyfully, in secret.

The phone buzzed in her hand. Catelyn slid across her screen and took a glance. It was a message from Cedrick, saying that he knew about Quinn stealing the show and that he had arranged for some captivating news.

Catelyn replied with a string of hearts and kisses emoticons and thanked him.

she was thrilled.

The news reporters interviewed Edwin about why he brought along all the celebrities of his company to support. He replied in a frank manner that he and Catelyn were very close friends, and he had a lot of confidence in the property project of Marine Pearl Bay. He had already personally verified a number of units in the tower to be given to his staff members as hostels!

This immediately created a sensation in the live-stream chatroom.

Worldwide Entertainment Co. purchased properties under this project as staff member hostels. In other words, it was likely that the celebrities would be living in this very building...

Owning a unit on the premises would mean being neighbors with celebrities?

The fans were all thrilled.

Catelyn was too touched to say anything, she tried hard to suppress the joy in her and coordinated the demolition systematically.

Soon, the drones captured a lot of footage from high above the ground.

In mid-air, the skyscraper was bombarded, and the building collapsed. It was dusty all around, but the helicopter was scattering man-made rain to remove the dust and debris, to minimize the impact.

Catelyn stood before the camera and promised earnestly to the public, "VSA Group will never sell properties that do not meet the quality standards. We will build properties that are true to its values, with public safety as our highest priority. We will treat each customer like our family..."

The video went viral immediately, perhaps the scene was too overwhelming, or perhaps it was because of Edwin and his fellow celebrities that more and more people flooded the live stream.

[They really demolished the problematic tower! All these building materials and labor costs, I reckon they suffer millions of losses...] [It's pretty admirable that she really demolished it as she promised. Even Mister Atherton went to show his support...] [I really wish to be neighbors with Mister Atherton! Will he stay in the Marine Pearl Bay?] [Where is the quality inspection live streaming of the Marine Pearl Bay? When is it starting? I can't wait anymore... No problem, I will go and make my purchase too...] [If Mister Atherton has the confidence to purchase it for the artists, I suppose there is no problem with the quality...] Joanne snuck up to Catelyn's side, watching the dust and debris in the air, then asked in a soft voice, "Kitty, how much are the losses on this building?"

Catelyn watched as the hard work of the construction workers shattered the rubble, she would be lying if she said she did not care about it.

However, the company could never salvage its reputation if she did not take down the building.

“All construction companies most fear a reputation crisis, as it could directly ruin the entire Group. We just have to do what we have to. If we do not have the heart for this, we cannot achieve what we want. I don’t have other options either.” Catelyn patted Joanne’s hand and said, “Thanks for coming over with Mister Atherton.”

“I will always be the first one to be here whenever you are in trouble, haha.”

At Pentaland Hotel.

Lola and Louis signed the agreement to become the ambassadors of the Pentaland Group.

They also made a series of statements, including subtle disses about Marine Pearl Bay’s building quality. They tried to make it a point that staying in the Pentaland properties would be the safest choice.

During the question and answer session, Lola gracefully allowed the reporters to capture her elegant photos.

However, she had not expected that...

Chapter 760-Before the reporters started their interviews, they all received a few photos simultaneously.

The photos were shockingly promiscuous; one showed Lola and a mosaiced middle-aged man sleeping at a hotel together, and another was Louis with his associates seen snorting on some white powders together. Everyone was stunned.

All of their questions immediately changed.

“Miss Atherton, you were seen at the hotel with this middle-aged man together. Is the man married? Are you a mistress?”

“Mister Joe, you have always portrayed a righteous image to the public. You were seen taking drugs with your friends... Is that true?

II “Pentaland Group hired both of you as their spokesperson. Do you feel guilty about taking up the role?”

“Regarding the highly controversial building safety issue, did you secretly work together with Pentaland Group to create the buzz around it? I understand that Pentaland is currently leading in terms of the sales rate...”

The camera lights flashed incessantly. Lola and Louis did not know what had happened. When the reporters all raised their phones and rubbed the scandalous photos on their faces, they were both frozen on the spot.

When... When were these taken?

Lola and Louis both covered their faces, their chests moved up and down, panting, and their faces were twitching. They wanted to leave under the cover of their security guards.

However, there were too many reporters!

They all blocked the exit of the place, and even the guards could not contain the situation anymore...

The ugly situation was live-streamed, with the city watching.

The audience in the live streaming platform all saw the photos too and immediately flooded the screen.

[Did I see wrongly? Lola and the middle-aged man... Please tell me this is not true, she is Miss Atherton! she was born rich and privileged. How could she hook up with this middle-aged man?] [Lola is not the direct descendant of the Atherton family, she is only a relative.

The point is, the middle-aged man is from the Kingsley family, he has money and power, and Lola must be sucking up to him...] [Louis, my Louis, my idol, his image is all gone now, I can't believe my idol is snorting on drugs...] The news flashed one by one on the stage.

From the groundbreaking demolition of the VSA Group property to the Worldwide Entertainment Co. celebrities turning up to show support and the scandals of the Pentaland Group ambassadors, the entertainment industry was bombarded with shocking news all day. The social media were all blown up for the whole day.

Catelyn took the opportunity to launch the Marine Pearl Bay presale at a lower-than-market price, as promised.

In the same area and for the same quality, it was definitely worth the price. The discount was over ten thousand dollars, plus the celebrities effect, the presale immediately overtook Pentaland's position, and the numbers spiked incredibly.

The project was almost sold out when Catelyn received the marketing department's phone call.

Catelyn immediately called Cedrick, intending to share the good news with him.

However, Cedrick's phone could not be connected, and she was not sure what he was doing...

Catelyn left him a message. Edwin and Joanne came over and asked Catelyn if she wanted to have a celebration at night.

"Yes, of course! You decide the venue. It's my treat..." Catelyn put her phone back into her pocket and said.

Ocean Path Residence.

Quinn was slightly hesitant, she did not want to see Stella at first, but when she saw how the media attacked Lola, she could no longer sit still...

She could not place herself in a similar position.

Therefore, she could not give in. She could not have a possibility of Stella exposing her.

She told Stella that she would be home for dinner tonight. Stella was not excited as she used to be, but she still prepared a whole table full of dishes and happily waited for Quinn to be home.