

Out of Prison 301

Chapter 301 Zoey Barlow

“Zoey!” Darius’s eyes lit up as he praised, “Long time no see. You look prettier now!”

Zoey had always been a beauty since childhood, and she became even more renowned in Fatuma as she grew up with suitors lining up.

The Timon family and the Barlow family had similar social status, and Darius’s father once wanted to propose marriage to the Barlow family on his behalf.

Unfortunately, both the son and daughter of the Barlow family were outstanding, while Darius was a useless playboy, so they repeatedly declined.

This also became a regret for Darius. Every time he wanted to make an effort, it eventually only lasted for three minutes.

Seeing Zoey again today, Darius silently vowed in his heart to follow Leones, work hard, achieve success, and make the Barlow family see him so that he could marry Zoey.

“Haha, perfect timing!” Hubery smiled and waved to Zoey, asking her to greet the guests. “Grandpa, as soon as I walked in, I overheard the servants discussing that a Divine Doctor has come to our house and healed your old wounds behind your back.

“You look so happy and host a grand banquet. It must be true, right?”

Zoey walked over with a smile.

“Correct!” Hubery nodded with a smile and then pointed at Leones. “Come over here and thank Leones for me!”

Zoey looked Leones up and down with her beautiful eyes and smiled, "I know you. You're Leones Bloom, the young hero who killed Vulture, right?"

"I just heard the two War Gods from Yingville and Alryne praising you!"

"We'll have a fight after the banquet!"

Hubery quickly said, "Zoey, don't be rude! How can you start a fight with our distinguished guest? You're not young anymore. You should learn to be gentle! Otherwise, who would dare to marry you?"

"So what? As martial artists, we're not bound by trivialities!"

Zoey continued, "By the way, I just passed Mr. Doelger's test and finally joined the Yingville Army! "Grandpa! I will fulfill the wish you once had!"

Zoey had been training in martial arts with Hubery since childhood, and joining the Yingville Army where he once served was her lifelong dream.

"Oh, really?" Hubery nodded appreciatively and said with a smile, "Today is truly a day of good fortune!"

Then, Hubery ordered someone to bring another chair and put it next to Leones.

"Zoey! Sit next to Leones and take good care of him for me."

Zoey gracefully sat down and personally poured a cup of coffee for Leones. "Mr. Bloom, have some coffee."

"Thank you." Leones took the coffee. A faint fragrance filled the air, and he wondered whether it was of the coffee or Zoey.

Seeing that Leones and Zoey were a perfect match, Hubery suddenly had the thought of marrying Zoey to Leones.

So he tentatively asked, "Leones, are you married?"

"No." Leones shook his head.

"Do you have a girlfriend?"

"No." Leones shook his head again.

Upon hearing this, Hubery smiled even more happily. "What do you think of Zoey? Is she pretty?"

"Of course." Leones nodded.

Zoey was not gentle but rather natural and free-spirited.

Being praised, Zoey naturally felt happy and smiled back. "Mr. Bloom, so are you."

Hubery added, "Leones, you healed my old wounds. You're my lifesaver. I have nothing to repay you with.

"Zoey has been raised by me. She is the apple of my eye. Now that she has grown up, how about I marry

her to you?"

What?!

Leones spewed coffee out of his mouth after hearing this.

Zoey also looked at Hubery in surprise, not expecting him to be so blunt.

"Alas..." Darius, sitting across from them, had his heart broken upon hearing this news.

Originally, he had thought about making great efforts to improve himself, but the Barlow family took a liking to Leones. He finally found a reason for his future incompetence.

"Why are you sighing?" Chad asked curiously. "Aren't you happy for Dragon King to have such a beautiful wife?"

"Of course I am!" Darius was naturally happy for Leones.

Noah and Myron also greatly appreciated Leones. They would love for him to marry Zoey.

“Dad, this time we are in agreement,” Noah smiled. “Actually, the first time I saw Leones, I had this idea.”

Myron also smiled, “Zoey has been practicing martial arts since childhood with extraordinary courage. Ordinary men can’t catch her eye. I think Mr. Bloom is the most suitable for her.

“I agree to this union!”

Finally, Hubery looked at Leones again with a smile, asking for his opinion, “Leones, what do you think? Would you like to talk to Zoey?”

“I...” Leones frowned. “Mr. Barlow, please don’t joke about this.”

“Huh? Do I look like I’m joking?” Hubery said seriously.

Seeing Leones repeatedly declining, Zoey, who was originally a little shy, asked unhappily, “Do you think I’m ugly?”

“No,” Leones said, “You are very beautiful.”

“Then you think I’m weak!” Zoey said.

“No.” Leones smiled bitterly and shook his head.

“Hmph, don’t think that I’m weaker than you now, so you can look down on me. One day, I will become as strong as War Goddess of Sherland Guardians! At that time, I won’t look down on you either!”

Zoey had lofty ambitions, taking Veronica, the most popular and renowned War Goddess in Vericano, as her role model.

“Oh, by the way, you also come from Sherland, right? You know Veronica, the Commander of Sherland Guardians, right?”

Leones nodded.

He knew Veronica too well.

Zoey said with envy, “One day, I will become as powerful as War Goddess!”

Leones smiled bitterly again. He didn’t want Zoey to be like Veronica because if that were the case, Zoey would definitely treat him as an enemy.

Zoey asked, “Why are you smiling? Are you laughing at me for overestimating myself?”

“No,” Leones explained quickly.

Chapter 302 Wife

“I heard that next month, you will compete for Yonker State Warlord, right?” Zoey suddenly changed the topic.

“Yes.” Leones nodded.

“Do you dare to make a bet with me?” Zoey looked up.

“A bet?” Leones was taken aback. “What kind of bet?”

Zoey said, “If I can become the first female War God since the founding of Vericano, it will prove that the Barlow family and I deserve you.

“Then you will have to marry me!”.

Since the founding of Vericano, there have been hundreds of War Gods, but there has never been a female War God.

Even Veronica, known as War Goddess and considered Zombric's Cry's successor, only had a chance to become the first female War God but had not yet taken Carlos's position.

Even though Zombric's Cry recommended her, she still had to go through numerous tests and challenges.

It was not easy to be a War God who protected a state.

"Do you dare to make this bet with me?!" Zoey asked proudly.

Leones thought for a moment and smiled, "If I lose, I will get a wife, but what if I win?"

"You must also become a War God. I don't want a husband weaker than me!"

After thinking for a moment, Zoey said, "If you win... Well, let's talk about it when you win! "You killed Vulture. Are you afraid to make this bet?"

Zoey narrowed her eyes and challenged Leones.

Leones was a bit confused. He didn't think that these two things could be generalized.

At this time, Hubery smiled, "Leones, why not make this bet with her? Just consider it as encouraging her."

After hesitating for a moment, Leones didn't want to spoil the mood, so he replied, "Alright, I'll bet with you."

After all, it wasn't easy to become a War God.

In this gamble, Leones was almost certain of winning.

"Great." Zoey eagerly reached out her hand. "Let's shake hands and make a pledge. The deal is sealed!"

The two of them shook hands to seal the deal.

"Wish you become a female War God soon," Leones said to Zoey with a smile.

"Wish you win the competition for the position of Yonker State Warlord," Zoey also encouraged him.

Then, everyone raised their glasses and witnessed the deal.

Everyone enjoyed the meal.

Chad also stood up and offered Zoey a toast. "Dragon Queen, here's to you. May your wishes come true soon!"

"Dragon Queen? Me?" Zoey was surprised and curious about this title. She asked with a smile, "Why do you call me that?"

Chad explained, "Leones is Dragon King. If you can become a War God and marry Dragon King, you will be Dragon Queen!"

"Dragon Queen? Haha... What an interesting title!" Zoey was very interested in this title and raised her glass. "Okay, then I will strive to become Dragon Queen as soon as possible!"

After putting down her glass, Zoey even thought of her own title, Yingville Warlord, aka Dragon Queen!

Everyone enjoyed themselves at the banquet.

After the banquet, the Barlow family wanted Leones to stay overnight, but their request was politely declined.

"I have things to attend to at Johnson Manor," Leones explained simply.

"Alright then." Hubery and the other three accompanied Leones and the others to the door.

Then he ordered his men to bring the demon blade.

"Leones, since you can control this demon blade, I'll give it to you. If it stays with me, I have to be on guard all the time, afraid that it might hurt someone again."

“Great!” Leones accepted the demon blade without hesitation. There were still many mysteries about it that he could study when he returned.

After bidding farewell, Myron personally drove them back to Johnson Manor.

“Mr. Bloom, I’m going back!” Myron waved goodbye to Leones and the others. “If you plan to leave, let me know in advance, and I’ll take you to the airport!”

“Okay!” Leones nodded.

After bidding farewell to Myron, Leones and his men entered Johnson Manor once again.

“Goldendrake, I have a task for you.” Leones suddenly spoke as they walked.

“Yes, Your Majesty,” Chad replied. “I will do my best and won’t let you down.”

“Now that I’ve killed Vulture and his stronghold has been destroyed by two War Gods, I want you to take the opportunity to consolidate Fatuma’s underground forces. The Undrago’s branch must establish a firm foothold here!”

Since Leones planned to produce elixirs here, he needed to build his own powerful force to protect the pharmaceutical factory and ensure its normal operations.

Fatuma Police Station provided cover on the surface, but he also needed a powerful underground force in secret.

“Yes, Your Majesty!” Chad had always wanted to strengthen the Undrago’s force in Fatuma.

However, in the past, he had always been suppressed by Vulture.

“I will gather my former comrades and unify Fatuma!”

Chad turned around and was about to leave overnight to make arrangements.

“Stop!” Leones stopped him. “Come back!”

“Yes, Your Majesty?” Chad returned.

“No need to rush,” Leones said, tossing an elixir to Chad. “Take this Spiritual Elixir tonight to enhance your strength.”

Chad was overjoyed upon receiving the Spiritual Elixir.

This precious elixir could greatly enhance his strength. It would make it much easier for him to consolidate Fatuma’s underground forces!

“Thank you so much, Your Majesty!” Chad knew that Leones was the heir of the Medicine King and had no worries about the authenticity of the elixir. After taking the elixir, he quickly found an empty room and began to cultivate.

Seeing that Chad had gained benefits, Darius asked, “Mr. Bloom, what about me?!”

“You?”

Leones laughed as he walked. “You don’t practice martial arts, so the elixir would be useless for you.”

Upon hearing that, Darius quickly caught up and pleaded, “Mr. Bloom, please teach me some skills! I am willing to train now. I’m willing to endure hardship!”

“If you want to learn martial arts, it’s not urgent for now. I have my own plans.”

Leones continued while walking, “I’m considering handing over the pharmaceutical factory of Gracious Sector to you. Can you handle it?”

“You mean the production of Primordial Elixir?” Darius immediately responded. “Sure, I will take good care of it for you, Mr. Bloom.”

“Well, Levi and the Wilson family will produce Primordial Elixir, but I still need someone I can truly trust to manage it. You’re my apprentice, so I can only choose you,” said Leones.

Darius understood the weight of this responsibility and the danger that came with it, but he still assured, “You can trust me, Mr. Bloom!”

“Once Goldendrake integrates Fatuma’s underground forces, they can be of use to you as well. They will be able to protect you and the pharmaceutical factory,” added Leones.

“In that case, Mr. Bloom, please teach me some life-saving techniques,” Darius requested. He had hoped to become as powerful as Leones and have the ability to protect himself.

Leones stopped walking and told him, “Your foundation is too weak. However...”

Leones continued, “Do you remember the three elixirs from the Medicine King Valley that I mentioned during the day?”

Darius recalled, “Primordial Elixir, Reviving Elixir, and Foundation Building Elixir?”

“Correct!” Leones nodded. “You must take Foundation Building Elixir to quickly improve yourself!”

Upon hearing that, Darius became excited again. "Do you have Foundation Building Elixir?"

"No." Leones shook his head.

"Can you refine one for me?" Darius asked hopefully.

"I can't," Leones said honestly. "The elixir formula for Foundation Building Elixir is still in the Medicine King Valley."

Darius's hope vanished again, and he couldn't help but sigh.

"But I will visit the Medicine King Valley sooner or later," Leones assured Darius. "When I go to the Medicine King Valley, I will make sure to give you the first Foundation Building Elixir that I refine!"

"Really?" Darius was overjoyed and thanked Leones repeatedly. "Thank you, Mr. Bloom! When will you go to the Medicine King Valley?"

"No need to rush," Leones said. "We have unfinished business here. Why think about the Medicine King Valley now? When the time is right, I will take you there!"

"Okay!" Darius was filled with excitement, looking forward to entering the Medicine King Valley, taking the Foundation Building Elixir, and embarking on the path of martial arts to become as powerful as Leones.

Chapter 304 Talking to a Snake

Finally, Leones patted Darius's shoulder and encouraged him, "Since you are my apprentice, I won't treat you unfairly. Take it easy. No one can take what is meant to be yours away."

After parting ways, the two of them were led by the butler back to their respective rooms to rest.

Just as Leones was about to enter his room, he heard someone talking not far away and approached.

“Fairy, have you suffered at all?”

“Has that person mistreated you?”

“If he is not treating you well, you need to escape. After all, you are proficient in space opening. He won’t be able to catch you!”

It turned out that Marie was chatting with Giant Python.

“And how did Giant Python respond to you?” Leones walked over and asked.

“Ah!” Marie exclaimed in surprise and quickly greeted him, “Mr... Mr. Bloom! You haven’t rested yet?!”

Giant Python also let out a loud roar, suddenly raising its head and looking at Leones.

Chapter 305 New Patriarch of Five Mysterious Families

Giant Python had undergone a great change, but everything remained the same between it and its old friend, Marie.

"I... I met Fairy again and couldn't help but come to talk to it," Marie explained in a low voice, afraid that Leones would misunderstand.

After all, Giant Python was now out of the control of the Roberts family and had become Leones' pet.

As the former owner, Marie shouldn't have met privately with Giant Python and even enticed it to escape.

"It's fine," Leones said indifferently. "If you like, you can keep Fairy with you from now on." "What?!" Marie was taken aback and then explained anxiously, "Mr. Bloom, please don't misunderstand, I don't mean to compete with you for Fairy."

Marie was afraid that Leones was testing her.

"But that's what I mean." Leones had made up his mind. "I plan to leave Giant Python here. "Sherland is too small. It can't move freely on the land I live on.

"So I plan to leave it in Fatuma, far away from Chamber Mountain, to facilitate its growth and cultivation!"

Of course, the most important point was that as Giant Python's size grew, Leones found it harder to support it.

The elixirs he usually made were not enough to feed it.

Chamber Mountain was a natural medicinal material store, and with the pharmaceutical factory owned by the Johnson family, they could open a production line specifically for Giant Python's future cultivation.

"Really?" Marie, upon hearing Leones' plan, exclaimed with joy, "Then, can I continue to raise it?"

"Yes, I will leave Giant Python to you from now on," Leones said to Marie. "And I will also entrust Five Mysterious Families to you."

Although Five Mysterious Families were now under Leones' command, he still needed to support a trusted steward among them who was loyal to him.

The Peggy family and the Polly family had already been scared by him. Even though they had surrendered, they may still harbor resentment and couldn't be trusted.

David was even less trustworthy.

The Wilson family had to deal with the pharmaceutical factory.

After much thought, Leones could only trust Marie from the Roberts family.

After all, after his grudge with the Johnson family, she kindly came to remind him.

This initial act of kindness made Leones remember Marie and trust her.

So he was also relieved to entrust Five Mysterious Families to Marie.

"From now on, you will be the patriarch of Five Mysterious Families," Leones said. "Giant Python will support you. If anyone disobeys or bullies you because of your youth, let Giant Python devour them!"

As if understanding Leones' words, Giant Python let out a timely roar.

Under Leones' guidance, Giant Python had already undergone a transformation and was stronger than ever before.

Even if Five Mysterious Families joined forces, they may still not be able to defeat this monster.

"You really think I can do it?" Marie couldn't believe that she would become the patriarch of Five Mysterious Families with all the power in her hands.

With the Johnson family changing ownership and the reshuffling of Five Mysterious Families, many people were eyeing this position. If Leones did not designate someone, they would also choose a suitable person afterward.

If it were an internal vote, they would never choose a young girl like Marie.

"I have the final say! I will announce it to them tomorrow."

Leones said, "I will also give you an elixir formula for the Wilson family to feed Giant Python.

"As for all internal affairs of Five Mysterious Families, you will be responsible for making decisions in the future.

"At the same time, you must protect Gracious Sector's pharmaceutical factory while controlling Giant Python!"

Seeing Leones trust her so much and being able to be with her childhood friend Giant Python again, Marie happily accepted the task.

"Thank you for promoting me, Mr. Bloom. I won't disappoint you!"

Chapter 306 The Secret of the Dagger

Leones returned to his room.

He began removing his weapons one by one and placing them aside.

Just as Leones placed Aaron's dagger down, suddenly, the demon blade reacted.

With a crisp clash, the two weapons collided.

They stuck together tightly like two pieces of magnets.

"Huh?! What's going on?!"

Leones reached out and picked up the two weapons.

But he couldn't separate them.

The demon blade and the dagger, one large and one small, were fused together, mutually attracted to each other.

Leones took a closer look and discovered that they were filled with a mysterious power.

And the eerie power within the demon blade was continuously being absorbed by the dagger.

In no time at all, the demon blade was completely drained and turned into an ordinary weapon. The demon blade fell to the ground and shattered.

"Huh?!"

Leones was shocked once again.

Because all the strange power within the demon blade was completely absorbed by the dagger! In a moment, the dagger calmed down.

It became just like usual.

Leones suddenly remembered that he had forgotten to feed Aaron's dagger with blood today. Of course, Leones had originally thought that Aaron was joking when he said the dagger needed to be fed with blood occasionally.

But now it seemed that this dagger was even more peculiar than the demon blade!

He forgot to nourish it with blood today, but it suddenly drained the power of the demon blade!

"Could it be that this dagger also seals a powerful force? Or even a terrifying creature? "Otherwise, how could it easily devour the strange power within the demon blade?!"

Leones played with the dagger for a while but couldn't find any clues.

However, when Leones reached out to grab it just now, he did sense an unusually powerful force surging within the dagger.

Perhaps Aaron had suppressed the terrifying power within the dagger.

"The secret of the dagger can only be clarified when I see Aaron again next time."

But Leones didn't know when he would see Aaron again.

Leones put down the dagger and tidied up the shattered demon blade.

Then he went to bed.

The next morning, Leones summoned Five Major Families to announce some appointments.

The executives of Five Mysterious Families arrived early, patiently awaiting this opportunity for a reshuffle.

09:47

“Hehe, I’m close to Mr. Bloom. The new patriarch of Five Major Families will undoubtedly be me!” David said confidently.

David was one of the older members of Five Mysterious Families with considerable strength to take on such a responsibility.

But an elder from the Peggy family disagreed.

“In terms of age, qualifications, and strength... What can you compare with me?”

This person was an old patriarch of the Peggy family, Jonas Peggy. After Lucas was killed, Jonas took control and aimed to become the new patriarch of Five Mysterious Families.

“Mr. Jonas Peggy! You mentioned age and qualifications, and I won’t argue with comes to strength... hehe...” David chuckled. “I’m not weaker than you!

“You are not young anymore. You should rest at home!

“I will take care of Five Mysterious Families. You can rest assured!”

you.

But when it

Jonas snorted, "I can't feel at ease with someone like you who is fickle and indecisive. I must take charge of the overall situation!

"There's no point in arguing. We'll see who Mr. Bloom chooses when he arrives."

Seeing the Peggy family and the Back family at odds, Marie, who was sitting opposite them, couldn't help but sigh.

She remembered what Leones had said to her last night.

She wondered how these two would react after Leones made the announcement.

They certainly wouldn't have expected that she would ultimately become the new patriarch of Five Mysterious Families!

As they debated, Leones walked in.

"I apologize for keeping you waiting." Leones sat down at the main seat.

The members of Five Mysterious Families stood up, saluting and greeting Leones.

"Today, I gather you all here to reorganize Five Mysterious Families into one united family.

“Throughout history, unity brings prosperity while division leads to decline. Five Mysterious Families each have their own strengths but can’t stand alone. If you can work together with fewer internal conflicts, you will become a formidable force in Fatuma!”

Leones said directly.

“Hear! Hear!” David vigorously nodded and agreed, “Mr. Bloom, I have long had this idea.

“Max lacks ambition and foresight. He fears that if Five Mysterious Families unite, it will be difficult to control, so he has always been trying to divide us.

“We are fortunate to have you, Mr. Bloom. You have finally proposed the idea of uniting Five Mysterious Families!

“The Back family fully agrees!”

Seeing David’s enthusiastic performance, the people from the other four families were both angry and amused..

They would certainly not be able to retort him.

They just hoped that Leones wouldn’t be fooled by David.

TH

“Ahem!” At this moment, Jonas stood up. “Mr. Bloom, you are right. The Peggy family also agrees. “But a family can’t have two patriarchs. After Five Mysterious Families unite, we can’t have different factions ruling independently. We must select a respected patriarch.

“Mr. Bloom, will you take on the role of the new patriarch of Five Mysterious Families? Or will you choose one among us?”

Jonas introduced himself, “Oh, right, I apologize for forgetting to introduce myself. I am Jonas Peggy, the old patriarch of the Peggy family, currently the oldest person among Five Mysterious Families!”

Jonas’ meaning was clear. He was eager to become the new patriarch of Five Mysterious Families. “That’s senior abuse!” David muttered. “We are choosing the new patriarch of Five Mysterious Families, not conducting a longevity contest. Since it’s about the unity of Five Mysterious Families, we should give young people some opportunities.”

David naturally spoke for himself because he was younger than Jonas.

But Leones laughed. “Yes, this time I will choose a new patriarch from among you to lead Five Mysterious Families. And it will be a young person!”

Jonas was disappointed. He was the oldest person in the room and the first one to be eliminated. David immediately sat up straight, hoping to be chosen.

Then, Leones announced, “I declare that the new patriarch of Five Mysterious Families is Marie Roberts from the Roberts family!”

What?!

Everyone was stunned.

Except for Marie, no one expected Leones to give such an important task to Marie.

The Roberts family benefited, but they were also shocked and couldn't understand why.

Perhaps Leones liked Marie.

The Roberts family thought it was possible.

"Why her?!"

Jonas stood up angrily and questioned.

"Mr. Bloom, are you joking with us?"

"We are choosing the new patriarch of Five Mysterious Families, not a beauty! How can we let a little girl take on such a heavy responsibility?"

In Jonas' eyes, he would rather lose to David than to the little girl from the Roberts family.

Upon hearing Jonas' words, the others dared not argue, but they whispered in frustration.

How could such an important position be taken lightly?

"Mr. Bloom..." Before David finished speaking, he suddenly caught sight of Leones' gloomy face. He immediately shut up.

Leones stood up and said, "It seems that you still haven't realized your position.

"I called you here not to consult with you, but to announce it to you!

"As for why..."

Leones glanced at Jonas.

It sent chills down Jonas' spine.

Suddenly, there was a loud crash.

The door of the hall was violently kicked open.

The terrifying head of Giant Python rushed in.

Wherever it passed, it left a mess!

Then, Giant Python opened its mouth, spit out its long tongue, and swallowed Jonas whole! Giant Python stared at the people present, its eyes like two searchlights.

It took a long time for them to realize that Jonas had been swallowed by Giant Python!

Everyone was frightened and fled in all directions, afraid that they would be swallowed by the snake the next second.

“Whoever can subdue this beast will become the new patriarch of Five Mysterious Families!” Leones announced publicly.

How could they possibly subdue this monster?!

The people looked at each other, their faces pale.

If it were still Giant Python the Roberts family had raised before, perhaps many people within Five Mysterious Families would have the confidence to subdue it.

Chapter 307 Rising Again

And Jonas wouldn't be swallowed so easily.

But after being trained by Leones, Giant Python now was terrifying.

Jonas was not weak, but he was swallowed in one bite. This monster was too terrifying and no one wanted to step forward.

Seeing that no one dared to respond, Leones nodded to Marie.

Marie immediately stepped forward and commanded, “Fairy, go out!”

“Wait outside the door!”

To everyone's surprise, the immense body of Giant Python moved bit by bit to the door.

In a short while, it disappeared without a trace.

Everyone was amazed.

They never expected that Snake Fairy once worshipped by the Roberts family would still obey the Roberts family.

And it obeyed Marie!

It was so strange!

“I want to appoint Marie as the new patriarch of Five Mysterious Families. Does anyone have any objections?!” Leones asked again.

David was the first to agree.

“I have heard that Ms. Roberts has extraordinary potential! She lives up to her reputation. Even Snake Fairy obeys Ms. Roberts. How dare we object?”

“Mr. Jonas Peggy foolishly fought against Ms. Roberts. He deserves it!”

“The Back family supports Ms. Roberts!”

The others also came to their senses and expressed their admiration.

“We are willing to serve Marie as the new patriarch of Five Mysterious Families!”

With the intimidation of Giant Python, Marie successfully impressed Five Major Families and became the new patriarch of Five Mysterious Families.

Leones nodded in satisfaction.

But suddenly, a voice shouted, "Mr. Bloom! Mr. Bloom!"

Darius, supporting the wounded Chad, walked in.

"What happened?" Leones was shocked. "Didn't I ask you to integrate Fatuma's underground forces? How did you get injured?!"

Since Vulture was eliminated, there shouldn't have been any strong people left in Fatuma's underground forces. That was why Leones was confident in sending Chad alone to do it.

But there was still an accident!

"Your Majesty, I'm sorry I couldn't fulfill your orders," Chad said in pain. "I have reclaimed most of Fatuma's territory, but I encountered the experts sent by Chamber Mountain!"

"The ancient warriors of Chamber Mountain had the same idea. They also want to integrate Fatuma's underground forces and cultivate a second Vulture!"

Chapter 308 The Lord of the Third Peak

"What?!"

Leones was shocked by Chad's words.

It seemed that the ancient warriors of Chamber Mountain were still unwilling to give up everything left by Vulture, and they wanted to quickly integrate and support a new Vulture for their own use.

“The ancient warriors are not supposed to interfere with worldly matters, right? Why do they keep sending people out?”

Chad shook his head, indicating that he didn't know.

“Who injured you?” Leones asked.

“It was Jett Zimmer, one of the subordinates of Edwin Swan, the owner of one of the seven peaks of Chamber Mountain.

“Unlike Vulture, Jett is a true ancient warrior, born into one of the ancient families of Chamber Mountain!

“I took the elixir you gave me last night and my strength has improved, but I was still not a match for him!”

Chad paused, looking embarrassed.

“Did he ask you to tell me something?” Leones immediately asked. “Say it!”

Chad nodded. “He wants the Undrago to surrender to him, or he will personally go to our headquarters in Sherland.”

“Hmph! How dare he!”

Leones said while helping Chad treat his broken arm and mend the bone. He also gave him a Primordial Elixir to heal his internal injuries,

In a moment, Chad, who had just been seriously injured, was already fine.

The people gasped in admiration for Leones' mysterious and unpredictable abilities.

"Your Majesty, it's my fault," Chad said, feeling very ashamed. "I gathered my old troops and made a big fuss, but I still suffered a big loss against that ancient warrior, and most of my subordinates were killed or injured!"

"It's not your fault. It's normal for you to be no match for an ancient warrior. They crossed the line first!" Leones said calmly.

The ancient warriors and the secular world had an agreement not to infringe on each other.

But now, Chamber Mountain's ancient warriors had entered the territory of the secular world to fight for power and profit.

How could ordinary people resist them?

"Mr. Bloom, since they are Chamber Mountain's ancient warriors, we'll have to endure for now!"

David interjected, "This is not as simple as killing Vulture yesterday."

"Yes!" Janice chimed in. "Almost everyone here has heard some rumors about Chamber Mountain's ancient warriors."

"It is said that in the ancient warrior world of Chamber Mountain, there are seven peaks. Each peak has a lord who presides over one side and has extraordinary strength. Edwin is the lord of the third peak among the seven peaks, closest to Fatuma.

"Legend has it that Edwin has natural divine power and wields a stick weighing thousands of pounds, unmatched by anyone! So he also has a resounding nickname, Edwin the Stick!" David also spoke with lingering fear, "According to the power, Edwin the Stick is one of the top experts among the ancient warriors of Chamber Mountain.

"Since Jett is under Edwin the Stick, he is definitely someone we can't provoke!"

In the eyes of Five Major Families, even though Leones was strong, he was nothing compared to the lords of the seven peaks in Chamber Mountain.

Leones had a brief exchange with an Ambassadorial Master from Chamber Mountain yesterday, but they still had no expectations for him.

Edwin and Jett were definitely much stronger than that Ambassadorial Master.

"Worst case scenario, we retreat to Sherland! Chamber Mountain's ancient warriors wouldn't dare to chase us to Sherland!"

Chad also had the intention to retreat, thinking that this enemy was too formidable and it would be better to avoid direct confrontation.

"In Sherland, even the ancient warriors won't dare to act recklessly!" Darius said confidently. "Chamber Mountain's ancient warriors are stronger than the Newman family and the Kingsley family. We'd better not provoke them!"

In fact, in the eyes of everyone present, killing Vulture had already greatly offended Chamber Mountain's ancient warriors.

If they continued to be enemies with Chamber Mountain, it would be unwise and dangerous. Facing the dissuasion from the people around, Leones seemed to turn a deaf ear and calmly said, "I still want to establish a factory in Fatuma, produce elixirs, and even need the precious resources from Chamber Mountain!"

"If I let them scare me away, then my trip will be in vain!"

Darius and others were shocked.

Chad quickly asked, "Your Majesty, how do you think this should be resolved? Should we negotiate with them?"

"Negotiate? Hmph!" Leones sneered. "No way!

"Since I have decided to settle and develop in Fatuma, anyone who obstructs my plans must be eliminated, including Vulture and Jett!"

Leones stood up. "Goldendrake, lead the way! I'm going to meet with those ancient warriors from Chamber Mountain!"

Everyone was shocked and afraid, but no one dared to stop Leones, and they could only prepare themselves.

"Mr. Bloom, do you need more people?" David asked. "Five Major Families are willing to help." "No need." Leones looked at Marie. "Marie, bring Giant Python and come with me."

Chapter 309 Regrouping

"Jett!

"Why did you let the guy from the Undrago go? Are you not afraid that their new Dragon King will come looking for us?!

"I heard that Vulture was killed by him! It seems that he has some skills!"

In a dilapidated hall, a group of bandits were having a lively feast.

This place used to be Vulture's stronghold and was once flattened by the two War Gods.

But when Jett arrived, he raised the flag of the ancient warriors of Chamber Mountain, attracting people to surrender.

It only took half a day to integrate Fatuma's entire underground forces.

And their momentum and scale were even greater than before.

After all, the flag of the ancient warriors of Chamber Mountain was not something that could use anyone

For these scoundrels who had been living on the bottom for a long time, being able to join the ancient warriors and work for Chamber Mountain was an honor.

Jett was a muscular man in his forties.

After drinking several bowls of wine, he laughed and said, "What are you afraid of?"

"I am an ancient warrior. How could I be afraid of the new Dragon King?!"

"Besides, I am an ancient warrior from Chamber Mountain. Don't you know the status of Chamber Mountain in Three Mountains, Five Sects, and Seven Families?!"

Chamber Mountain, one of the three mountains, was equivalent to a giant in the ancient warrior world.

Jett was confident enough to stand above the secular world and consider himself invincible. "The new Dragon King should surrender. Since he has good skills and some value, I will spare him from killing Vulture.

“But if he dares to wage war against me like he did with Vulture, he will be killed for sure!” Everyone nodded.

“Jett is right!”

“He should come and pay his respects to Jett like us!”

Suddenly, someone came to report.

“Mr. Zimmer!

“The

guy you

let go brought a few people up the mountain!”

Upon hearing that a few people had come, Jett naturally assumed that the Undrago was here to surrender.

He laughed, but at the same time, he wanted to show off his power to the Undrago.

So he ordered, “Make them kneel when they come to see me!”

His subordinate went out and soon came back with bruises on his face.

He cried out, "Mr. Zimmer! They are not here to surrender! They have already come up the mountain!

"Dragon King told you to kneel and greet them, or he will flatten this place!"

What?!

The people in the hall were immediately filled with shock and anger.

"So arrogant!"

"Don't they know that Jett is an ancient warrior?"

"Ancient warriors can't be disgraced! How dare he let an ancient warrior kneel to greet them?"

Everyone smashed their wine bowls on the ground. "Jett, what should we do?!"

"Just say the word, and we'll go down the mountain together and kill them!"

These newly joined scoundrels were eager to prove themselves and secure a position.

But Jett sneered, "We don't need to take action. They are dead!

"I have set up a thunder formation on the road up the mountain."

At this moment, a deafening explosion shook the earth.

The terrifying blast shook the entire mountain.

“Hahaha!”

Jett laughed heartily.

“If I’m right, the guys from the Undrago have already been blown away!”

Chapter 310 The Giant Python’s Reconnaissance Mission

At the base of the mountain, the echoes of the explosions were still reverberating through the air. But Leones and his crew stood far enough away, untouched by the mayhem.

In the eye of this explosive storm was the Giant Python.

This giant python swung its colossal tail back and forth, mopping up the path ahead like a mine detector on steroids.

Anything unlucky enough to be in its path was instantly flattened as if run over by a freight train. Occasional blasts still erupted, but their force was mostly swallowed by the earth. Despite the ruckus and rising dust, neither the python nor anyone in Leones’ posse felt a thing. “Man, we lucked out having that Giant Python sweep the area,” Darius whispered, his heart pounding in his chest. “If I’d stepped into this deathtrap, I’d be toast.”

“No surprise, it’s textbook ‘Tri-cannon.’ Dude’s a master of minefields,” Chad remarked, his face a shade paler.

“Tri-cannon” Jett Zimmer was notorious for his martial arts skills and a knack for setting traps that rendered foes to ashes.

The nickname came from his signature moves, always accompanied by a deafening blast, indicating “Tri-cannon” Jett Zimmer was in action.

Earlier, while hiking up the mountain, Chad had recalled how “Tri-cannon” got his name and issued a warning to Leones.

Taking the hint, Leones had sent the Giant Python ahead. What met them was a thunderous minefield, sprawling for what seemed like miles.

“Amateur hour,” Leones scoffed, although he knew it was enough to seriously harm Darius and Chad.

“How’s Fairy going to fare with all these mines?” Marie expressed her concern for the Giant Python.

The python had borne the brunt of the explosions.

“No sweat,” Leones reassured her. “The Giant Python got skin as tough as a tank. These little fireworks? They’re more like a massage for it.”

Sure enough, the Giant Python navigated through the hazardous area with ease, even seeming to pick up speed, as if energized by the explosions.

Within the time it would take to brew a cup of coffee, the Giant Python had sanitized the entire explosive zone.

Just as they were about to move on, a familiar lackey, who had previously been given a good beating, came rushing toward them.

He thought he was going to find corpses to claim but was stunned to see Giant Python and the crew completely unscathed.

“Impossible! How?”

“You guys...”

The lackey blanched, especially horrified by the python.

The Giant Python looked like a giant monster. He had never seen anything like this before!

“Did

you deliver the message we sent you with?” Leones spoke, “Is this how Jett Zimmer welcomes his guests? A little overkill, wouldn’t you say?”

“I... I...” The lackey stumbled over his words before turning tail, and sprinting up the mountain. “Mr. Zimmer, we’ve got a situation!

“The Undrago crew’s making another run for it!”

“What?!”

The chatter among Jett’s goons came to a dead stop.

Everyone fell silent.

“All that ruckus, and they’re still kicking?” Jett was flabbergasted. “Is the man bulletproof or something?”

“No, no! They’ve got this massive python! It cleared all your mines!” the lackey said.

“A Giant Python?”

As Jett and his crew pondered this, chaos erupted outside.

His men screamed, “Monster!” and scattered like leaves in the wind.

In a flash, the Giant Python's head smashed through the grand entrance of the main hall. With a single swipe of its mammoth body, it obliterated the banquet setting, turning it into a scene of utter devastation.
