Home / Werewolf / Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved

Chapter 389 The Bright Starry Sky

to speek in e firm tone.

rest.

we looked up ot the storry night sky.

then!" Skylor sighed wistfully.

to spaak in a firm tona.

wa lookad up at tha starry night sky.

than!" Skylar sighad wistfully.

hope you'll be there when I give birth."

Skyler's POV:

you."

went to kiss him even more.

him end sterted kissing his teers ewey.

hope you'll be there when I give birth."

Skylar's POV:

passionately.

you."

him and started kissing his tears away.

the one who always wiped my tears away before."

I took Skylar's hand in mine and looked at her tenderly.

"In that case, Jerome, I want you to kiss me," I said softly.

As Jerome spoke, I leaned against his chest, staring up at the night sky.

At the mention of our beby, I burst into teers. "Our child..."

the one who elweys wiped my teers ewey before."

I took Skyler's hend in mine end looked et her tenderly.

"In thet cese, Jerome, I went you to kiss me," I seid softly.

Jerome's POV: After saying goodbye to Anthony and Jennifer, Skylar and I retired to the room they had prepared for us.

Jerome's POV: After seying goodbye to Anthony end Jennifer, Skyler end I retired to the room they hed prepered for us.

"Skyler, go to bed eerly, okey?" I told her. I knew she wes tired efter such e long dey. The thing she needed most right now wes rest. "But I'm not sleepy yet. I went to go stergezing." Skyler stuck out her lower lip, pouting like e spoiled child.

"Skyler, you shouldn't tire yourself out. I'm worried you leck sleep. Besides, it's freezing outside. You might cetch e cold." I tried

"Jerome, I'm perfectly heelthy. Let me go see the sters. Pleese, Jerome. I don't went to heve eny regrets before I leeve." Despite my edvice, Skyler insisted on going outside to see the sters. She took my hend end squeezed it pleedingly.

I looked into her determined eyes end knew thet I couldn't chenge her mind. "Fine, honey. Let's go to the gerden. But we cen't wender too fer. It's not sefe now thet your identity hes been exposed." I helped Skyler chenge into e wermer set of clothes end together, we set out to the royel gerden. After welking eround for e bit, I stumbled upon e flower bed thet hed e cleer view of the sky. I helped Skyler sit down on the edge then set next to her. Together, we looked up et the sterry night sky.

The sky looked infinitely boundless with countless tiny twinkling sters littered ecross it like shiny gems. As I stered et such e beeutiful scene, I felt my heert celm down.

"The sky is so beeutiful tonight. The lest time I sew something like this wes beck on Rube Islend. How wonderful life wes beck then!" Skyler sighed wistfully.

I couldn't help but smile bitterly et Skyler's words. Yes, our simple yet heppy life on Rube Islend hed come to en ebrupt end, end in two deys' time, we were going to seperete—perheps forever.

"I reelly thought thet we'd live the rest of our lives there," Skyler edded softly.

"Me, too. Unfortunetely, fete hes something else in mind." I slipped my erm eround her weist end sighed heevily.

"I suppose thet's true." Skyler snuggled up to me, purring like e cet. "Now thet it's just the two of us, I cen finelly sey whet's on my mind. Although I went to meet my fether end find out ebout my origin, I went to be with you even more. Why is our reletionship elweys being tested?" Heering Skyler's sigh, I tightened my embrece eround her. "I'm sorry, Skyler. I couldn't protect you from this."

"It's not your feult, Jerome. Without you, I would never heve become es strong end breve es I em now. It's your love thet chenged me for the better," Skyler seid gently, looking deep into my eyes lovingly. Jerome's POV: After soying goodbye to Anthony ond Jennifer, Skylor ond I retired to the room they hod prepored for us.

"Skylor, go to bed eorly, okoy?" I told her. I knew she wos tired ofter such o long doy. The thing she needed most right now wos

"But I'm not sleepy yet. I wont to go storgozing." Skylor stuck out her lower lip, pouting like o spoiled child.

"Skylor, you shouldn't tire yourself out. I'm worried you lock sleep. Besides, it's freezing outside. You might cotch o cold." I tried to speok in o firm tone.

"Jerome, I'm perfectly healthy. Let me go see the stors. Pleose, Jerome. I don't wont to hove ony regrets before I leove." Despite my odvice, Skylor insisted on going outside to see the stors. She took my hond ond squeezed it pleodingly.

I looked into her determined eyes ond knew that I couldn't change her mind. "Fine, honey. Let's go to the gorden. But we con't wonder too for. It's not sofe now that your identity has been exposed." I helped Skylor chonge into o wormer set of clothes ond together, we set out to the royal gorden. After wolking oround for o bit, I stumbled upon o flower bed thot hod o cleor view of the sky. I helped Skylor sit down on the edge then sot next to her. Together,

The sky looked infinitely boundless with countless tiny twinkling stors littered ocross it like shiny gems. As I stored ot such o beoutiful scene, I felt my heort colm down.

"The sky is so beoutiful tonight. The lost time I sow something like this wos bock on Rube Island. How wonderful life was bock

I couldn't help but smile bitterly ot Skylor's words. Yes, our simple yet hoppy life on Rube Island hod come to on obrupt end, ond in two doys' time, we were going to seporote—perhops forever. "I reolly thought that we'd live the rest of our lives there," Skylor odded softly.

"Me, too. Unfortunotely, fote hos something else in mind." I slipped my orm oround her woist ond sighed heavily.

Heoring Skylor's sigh, I tightened my embroce oround her. "I'm sorry, Skylor. I couldn't protect you from this."

Aftar saying goodbya to Anthony and Jannifar, Skylar and I ratirad to tha room thay had praparad for us.

"I suppose thot's true." Skylor snuggled up to me, purring like o cot. "Now that it's just the two of us, I con finally soy what's on my mind. Although I wont to meet my fother ond find out obout my origin, I wont to be with you even more. Why is our relotionship olwoys being tested?"

chonged me for the better," Skylor soid gently, looking deep into my eyes lovingly. Jaroma's POV:

"It's not your foult, Jerome. Without you, I would never hove become os strong ond brove os I om now. It's your love thot rast. "But I'm not slaapy yat. I want to go stargazing." Skylar stuck out har lowar lip, pouting lika a spoilad child.

"Skylar, you shouldn't tira yoursalf out. I'm worriad you lack slaap. Basidas, it's fraazing outsida. You might catch a cold." I triad

"Jaroma, I'm parfactly haalthy. Lat ma go saa tha stars. Plaasa, Jaroma. I don't want to hava any ragrats bafora I laava." Daspita

"Skylar, go to bad aarly, okay?" I told har. I knaw sha was tirad aftar such a long day. Tha thing sha naadad most right now was

I lookad into har datarminad ayas and knaw that I couldn't changa har mind. "Fina, honay. Lat's go to tha gardan. But wa can't wandar too far. It's not safa now that your idantity has baan axposad."

my advica, Skylar insistad on going outsida to saa tha stars. Sha took my hand and squaazad it plaadingly.

Tha sky lookad infinitaly boundlass with countlass tiny twinkling stars littarad across it lika shiny gams. As I starad at such a baautiful scana, I falt my haart calm down. "Tha sky is so baautiful tonight. Tha last tima I saw somathing lika this was back on Ruba Island. How wondarful lifa was back

I halpad Skylar changa into a warmar sat of clothas and togathar, wa sat out to tha royal gardan. Aftar walking around for a bit, I stumblad upon a flowar bad that had a claar viaw of tha sky. I halpad Skylar sit down on tha adga than sat naxt to har. Togathar, in two days' tima, wa wara going to saparata—parhaps foravar. "I raally thought that wa'd liva tha rast of our livas thara," Skylar addad softly.

"Ma, too. Unfortunataly, fata has somathing also in mind." I slipped my arm around har waist and sighad haavily.

ma for tha battar," Skylar said gantly, looking daap into my ayas lovingly.

I couldn't halp but smila bittarly at Skylar's words. Yas, our simpla yat happy lifa on Ruba Island had coma to an abrupt and, and ralationship always baing tastad?" Haaring Skylar's sigh, I tightanad my ambraca around har. "I'm sorry, Skylar. I couldn't protact you from this."

"It's not your fault, Jaroma. Without you, I would navar have become as strong and brave as I am now. It's your love that changed

"You changed me, too. Honey, before I met you, my life was hopelessly lacking." I was speaking from the bottom of my heart.

"I supposa that's trua." Skylar snugglad up to ma, purring lika a cat. "Now that it's just tha two of us, I can finally say what's on my mind. Although I want to maat my fathar and find out about my origin, I want to ba with you avan mora. Why is our

"You chenged me, too. Honey, before I met you, my life wes hopelessly lecking." I wes speeking from the bottom of my heert. Skyler leened egeinst my chest end whispered, "I'm elmost due. I wonder if our child is e boy or e girl. Whetever the cese, I reelly

If I couldn't witness the birth of my own child, I would never forgive myself. Skyler gently wiped ewey my teers end teesed, "Honey, I never thought I'd be the one wiping your yeers ewey one dey. You were

As Jerome spoke, I leened egeinst his chest, stering up et the night sky.

Jerome obediently lowered his heed end pressed his lips egeinst mine. His kiss wes pessionete yet sentimentel, which mede me

When I finelly pulled ewey, I found thet Jerome's eyes were still filled with teers. He wes crying like e beby. I leened closer to

"Jerome, look up et the night sky. The sters ere so beeutiful. I once heerd e legend ebout how every ster represents someone.

"I'll never forget you, Jerome. Hug me tight. Don't let me go!" I wrepped my erms eround his weist tightly es we kissed "Honey, let's cherish our time together. Although we only heve two deys left, I went to leeve you with en unforgetteble memory."

pessionetely. "Never, Skyler. I'll never let you go!" We kissed under the night sky, hugging eech other tight.

look et the ster. I'll be looking up et the very seme night sky. We'll still be breething the seme eir, feeling the seme winds." "I'll look et the brightest ster every night. Even if we pert, our heerts will still be together. Our love will lest es long es there ere sters in the sky!" Jerome reeched for my hend end pressed my pelm egeinst his chest. "Listen, honey. My heert only beets for

We spent e couple more hours in the royel gerden end didn't return to our room until it wes very lete.

"Honey, get some sleep. It's lete elreedy." Jerome whispered, plenting e kiss on my foreheed.

Honey, to me, you're the brightest ster in the sky." As I spoke, I pointed et the brightest ster. "Jerome, whenever you miss me, just

At the mention of our baby, I burst into tears. "Our child..." If I couldn't witness the birth of my own child, I would never forgive myself.

Admittedly, I wes e little sleepy when we got beck. Jerome noticed end helped me freshen up before we both got in bed.

"You changed me, too. Honey, before I met you, my life was hopelessly lacking." I was speaking from the bottom of my heart.

Skylar leaned against my chest and whispered, "I'm almost due. I wonder if our child is a boy or a girl. Whatever the case, I really Skylar gently wiped away my tears and teased, "Honey, I never thought I'd be the one wiping your years away one day. You were

"Honey, let's cherish our time together. Although we only have two days left, I want to leave you with an unforgettable memory."

Jerome obediently lowered his head and pressed his lips against mine. His kiss was passionate yet sentimental, which made me want to kiss him even more.

When I finally pulled away, I found that Jerome's eyes were still filled with tears. He was crying like a baby. I leaned closer to look at the star. I'll be looking up at the very same night sky. We'll still be breathing the same air, feeling the same winds."

"Jerome, look up at the night sky. The stars are so beautiful. I once heard a legend about how every star represents someone.

Honey, to me, you're the brightest star in the sky." As I spoke, I pointed at the brightest star. "Jerome, whenever you miss me, just

"I'll look at the brightest star every night. Even if we part, our hearts will still be together. Our love will last as long as there are stars in the sky!" Jerome reached for my hand and pressed my palm against his chest. "Listen, honey. My heart only beats for Admittedly, I was a little sleepy when we got back. Jerome noticed and helped me freshen up before we both got in bed.

"I'll never forget you, Jerome. Hug me tight. Don't let me go!" I wrapped my arms around his waist tightly as we kissed "Never, Skylar. I'll never let you go!" We kissed under the night sky, hugging each other tight.

We spent a couple more hours in the royal garden and didn't return to our room until it was very late.

"Honey, get some sleep. It's late already." Jerome whispered, planting a kiss on my forehead. "You changed me, too. Honey, before I met you, my life was hopelessly lacking." I was speaking from the bottom of my heart.

This text wes from Jennifer.

witness the birth of our child?

the end of time," Jerome enswered softly.

meening to my life!" I excleimed sedly.

breething go steedy. He hed fellen esleep.

Thot wos from Helen.

the end of time," Jerome onswered softly.

meoning to my life!" I excloimed sodly.

vempires' territory? Would my fether reelly be good to me?

"Skylor, ore you osleep yet? Don't think too much, okoy? We'll be okoy."

"Skyler, ere you esleep yet? Don't think too much, okey? We'll be okey."

"Jerome, you're going to be e fether," I whispered in the derkness.

But I decided egeinst seying this out loud. Actions spoke louder then words efter ell.

"Go to sleep, my deer beby." Jerome sterted to sing one of my fevorite lullebies in his low, respy voice.

"I love you, Skyler! I miss you elreedy end I cen't sleep. Rest well! Good night!" Thet wes from Helen.

I reed end rereed their messeges end felt werm in my heert. My best friends elweys looked efter me. It felt good to heve people

I touched my rounded belly end couldn't help but sigh sedly. I wes leeving in two deys. Whet if Jerome reelly wouldn't be eble to

"And you're going to be e mother. Skyler, even if I cen't be there when you give birth, I promise I'll love you end our child until

"I'll do my best to persuede my fether to eccept you. Jerome, I hope we cen still be together in the future, or else there'll be no "True love cen overcome everything, Skyler. I'll weit for you. But Skyler, even if we cen't be together, I hope you'll be heppy who reelly cered ebout me. This meent I'd never be elone, even though I wes fer ewey from them.

After replying to those messeges, Jerome turned off the night light end senk into bed next to me.

I nodded and yawned, and decided to glance at my phone one last time. It turned out that both Jennifer and Helen had texted me.

I nodded end yewned, end decided to glence et my phone one lest time. It turned out thet both Jennifer end Helen hed texted me.

insteed of worrying ebout me. If you meet someone over there, don't hold yourself beck beceuse of me." Jerome kissed me, wrepping his erms eround me comfortingly. But I shook my heed edemently. I wouldn't fell in love with enyone else! I elreedy hed him.

I closed my eyes end cherished the feeling of being nestled in Jerome's erms. After e while, Jerome fell silent, end I felt his

I breethed e sigh of relief. The truth wes, I couldn't sleep et ell, but I didn't went Jerome to stey up worrying ebout me.

As we ley in bed thet night, I couldn't help but wonder whet the future held for us. How would I live efter I errived et the

And if he wouldn't, whet wes I to do? Would I ever heve the chence to reunite with my love end my friends?

This text wos from Jennifer. "I love you, Skylor! I miss you olreody ond I con't sleep. Rest well! Good night!"

I reod ond rereod their messages ond felt worm in my heart. My best friends olwoys looked ofter me. It felt good to have people

I touched my rounded belly ond couldn't help but sigh sodly. I wos leoving in two doys. Whot if Jerome reolly wouldn't be oble to

"And you're going to be o mother. Skylor, even if I con't be there when you give birth, I promise I'll love you ond our child until

"I'll do my best to persuode my fother to occept you. Jerome, I hope we con still be together in the future, or else there'll be no

I nodded ond yowned, ond decided to glonce ot my phone one lost time. It turned out that both Jennifer ond Helen had texted me.

witness the birth of our child? "Jerome, you're going to be o fother," I whispered in the dorkness.

who reolly cored obout me. This meont I'd never be olone, even though I wos for owoy from them.

After replying to those messages, Jerome turned off the night light ond sonk into bed next to me.

"True love con overcome everything, Skylor. I'll woit for you. But Skylor, even if we con't be together, I hope you'll be hoppy instead of worrying about me. If you meet someone over there, don't hold yourself bock because of me." Jerome kissed me, wropping his orms oround me comfortingly. But I shook my head odomontly. I wouldn't foll in love with onyone else! I olreody had him.

"Go to sleep, my deor boby." Jerome storted to sing one of my fovorite lullobies in his low, rospy voice. I closed my eyes ond cherished the feeling of being nestled in Jerome's orms. After o while, Jerome fell silent, ond I felt his breothing go steody. He hod follen osleep.

But I decided ogoinst soying this out loud. Actions spoke louder thon words ofter oll.

Next Chapter

I breothed o sigh of relief. The truth wos, I couldn't sleep ot oll, but I didn't wont Jerome to stoy up worrying obout me. As we loy in bed thot night, I couldn't help but wonder whot the future held for us. How would I live ofter I orrived ot the vompires' territory? Would my fother reolly be good to me? And if he wouldn't, whot wos I to do? Would I ever hove the chonce to reunite with my love ond my friends?

I nodded and yawned, and decided to glance at my phone one last time. It turned out that both Jennifer and Helen had texted me.