

Overwhelmed 127

Chapter 127 Insults

Candice kept on walking. She used to take evening strolls along this road with her mother when she still lived in their villa. She walked for a while before reaching the city's busy commercial area.

There were many stores, vehicles, and dazzling illuminations.

A vision of her mother's warm grin suddenly flashed before her eyes.

Her eyes once again brimmed with tears.

She walked the whole way.

There was no way Candice could have bargained on encountering Madilyn at this particularly emotional time.

Madilyn was with two other members of the ballet troupe, obstructing Candice's path.
