

Overwhelmed 194

Chapter 194 Efficiency

The next day.

Candice needed some breathing room to clear her head.

After a restless night, she found a solution.

Since it was the weekend, she took the opportunity to catch some much-needed sleep. When she opened her eyes, it was nearly ten in the morning.

Without wasting any time, she grabbed her phone and dialed Bettina's number.

Without wasting any time, she grabbed her phone and dialed Bettina's number.

Bettina answered in a groggy voice, clearly not completely awake. "Hey, what's up? It's too early," she complained.

"It's already ten o'clock!" Candice reminded her.