

Overwhelmed 228

Chapter 228 Tightening The Purse Strings

Candice continued to work. She wrote an indictment and sorted out some documents.

There were several important cases to be dealt with lately, so she had marked the relevant articles of laws. That way, she would be better prepared for the hearings.

Around ten o'clock, someone knocked on the door of her office.

"Come in," Candice called out