Chapter 26 For The Dead

"Oh, right." Candice switched back to English. "I realize that you both may be clueless when it comes to these flowers. They are funeral flowers. It simply means that they are for the dead. Mr. Lopez, do you really want them?"

Milton was taken aback, and Raul was at a loss for words.

Bettina added, "Oh, I see. You're going to visit your parents at Greenfield Cemetery. Do you need a ride?"

"No, I'm good, thanks. I have to go, bye,"

Candice replied before gracefully turning around with the bouquet in her arm.
