

Overwhelmed 34

Chapter 34 I'm Not In The Mood Today

After finishing the song, Milton turned on his heel.

He swiftly stepped off the stage, leaving his duet partner standing there.

Candice was stunned and speechless.

She didn't even get the chance to express her gratitude for what he'd done.

What an arrogant man he was! He might have saved her from total embarrassment, but that didn't mean he truly cared. He just walked away without saying anything.

As soon as Milton walked off the stage, Raul dragged him to a corner.

"I've been looking everywhere for you. Where have you been?"
