

Overwhelmed 40

Chapter 40 What More Could She Want

Candice picked up the mortgage contract that was signed ten years ago.

She turned to the page where it specified that the guarantor must be present before any agreement concerning it could be signed.

She also started an audio recording on her phone before putting her phone away silently, ensuring that no one would notice.

She showed the document to Greyson and pointed at the detail.

However, before she had the chance to speak, Greyson stood up abruptly with his fingers clenching the table edges hard. His palms were also sweaty.
