

Overwhelmed 47

Chapter 47 Indenture

Outside of the four glass windows were towering skyscrapers, bridges, and flying structures. Trees on the mountain were lush and green in the distance, adding a sense of grandeur to the scene. The peak of the mountain was permanently covered in snow, with silver light gleaming. The landscape served as a vast backdrop, highlighting the city's majestic setting.

The breathtaking view of the mountain could be seen completely from this vantage point.

As the sun streamed in, the whole office appeared to be dyed with its magnificent golden luster.

It was stunning and strange.