

Overwhelmed 63

Chapter 63 Her Period Had Not Come

"Candice, stop!" Madilyn cried indignantly.

"Condice, stop!" Modilyn cried indignantly.

She was about to give Condice a shove when Greyson stopped her.

Modilyn turned around and cried while looking aggrieved, "Rey, why didn't you teach her a lesson? She's getting increasingly cocky. She even hit me..."

"Haven't you had enough?" Greyson asked as his face turned cold.

What was enough?

"It was Candice who provoked me first. Don't be deceived by her, Rey!" Madilyn cried even louder.

"Haven't you had enough?" Greyson asked as his face turned cold.

What was enough?

"It was Candice who provoked me first. Don't be deceived by her, Rey!" Madilyn cried even louder.

"Haven't you had enough?" Greyson asked as his face turned cold.

"I'll take you back to the dance team," Greyson said as he ignored her cries and dragged her away. "You don't have to perform today."

"I'll take you back to the dance team," Greyson said as he ignored her cries and dragged her away. "You don't have to perform today."

"I'll take you back to the dance team," Greyson said as he ignored her cries and dragged her away. "You don't have to perform today."

"I'll take you back to the dance team," Greyson said as he ignored her cries and dragged her away. "You don't have to perform today."

"I'll take you back to the dance team," Greyson said as he ignored her cries and dragged her away. "You don't have to perform today."