

Overwhelmed 72

Chapter 72 A Fever

"Candice, you don't look good," Bettina muttered in a concerned tone.

She touched Candice's forehead and then touched hers. "Your body feels a bit hot."

Candice scrunched up her face. She was only making an excuse by saying that she had a cold, but now, she really began to feel a bit under the weather?

Bettina's words made her feel a sudden chill.

Candice had been working so hard lately that her body could no longer take the stress.

Perhaps she caught a cold when she was struggling to sleep in the past few nights.