

Pampered By My Mr. Lawyer (Benjamin and Madelyn)

Chapter 22 Madelyn Didn't Care Who He Was with

Chapter 22 Madelyn Didn't Care Who He Was with

Madelyn was surprised.

Eloise?

Eloise was also staying at this hospital?

She looked there and saw that under the moonlight, a couple deeply in love, holding each other tightly and kissing passionately.

Daniel hugged his fiancée's waist and held her face as if it were precious.

Despite his bad temper, he coaxed Eloise like a child, saying, "This is the last time tonight! You should go to sleep now."

Eloise hugged his neck and seductively asked, "Daniel, we are engaged. When will we have sex?"

Just as Daniel was about to respond, he noticed Madelyn in the corner of his eye.

Madelyn had been standing on the corridor for who knows how long.

Suddenly, Daniel pressed Eloise against his heart, not wanting her to notice Madelyn.

But he himself kept his eyes fixed on Madelyn.

He never expected Madelyn to be saved. He had already decided to sacrifice her, but to his surprise, Madelyn returned safely.

Eloise had no idea what Daniel was thinking.

She was immersed in the tenderness and sweetness, lightly touched her fiancée's chest with her delicate fingers, urging him softly, "Daniel, what are you waiting for?"

Daniel only responded absentmindedly.

He wanted to see Madelyn's reaction, but Madelyn just slightly pursed her lips and quickly turned away...

Daniel's heart sank.

Madelyn used to love him so much that she would feel upset if he was even slightly unhappy, and tried all means to make him happy.

But now, when he was going to be with someone else, Madelyn was indifferent!

He didn't believe it... He didn't believe that Madelyn had no feelings!

"Do you really want it that badly?"

Daniel asked calmly.

Then, Daniel gently pulled the girl in his arms by her long hair and leaned down to passionately kiss her...

He was eager and fierce.

Eloise couldn't take it anymore and lightly punched his shoulder, complaining, "Daniel, what's wrong with you?"

Daniel stopped.

His gaze was deep, and gloom in his eyes was so deep that it couldn't dissipate.

He suddenly picked up Eloise and walked towards the VIP ward. Eloise shyly leaned on his shoulder and asked softly, "Do you really want me?"

Daniel made a soft sound of affirmation.

As he turned into the corridor leading to the ward, he swept his eyes around, but Madelyn was nowhere to be found.

Daniel's eyes dimmed.

Back in the private ward, he had sex with Eloise for the first time. Eloise was shy but bold. Daniel couldn't say that he didn't enjoy it at all, but... there was always something missing!

At the end, it was already dawn.

Daniel sat on the wooden chair of the terrace. A box of cigarettes was on the small table, and he had smoked four or five of them already.

Despite having everything he wanted - a beautiful fiancée and all the benefits that came with her, and he just had satisfied sex, he felt empty inside.

He couldn't forget Madelyn's look of derision and indifference.

A pair of soft arms hugged him from behind.

Eloise pressed against his back and asked gently, "What are you thinking about?"

Daniel stubbed out his cigarette and pulled his fiancée into his arms, whispering in her ear, "Eloise, no one is better than you."

Eloise leaned against him and took his hand, "You need to be good to me, you know? Love me forever, and always be considerate of me."

Daniel's throat moved slightly.

He didn't love people, he only loved power.

Madelyn wasn't an exception, and neither was Eloise. He just chose what was more advantageous to him.

After a while, Eloise suddenly spoke up, "I saw Ms. Green just now! Daniel, are you still blaming yourself for not being able to save her? Don't worry, my brother saved her and took care of her himself... You can rest assured."

Rest assured?

Daniel sneered.

Then his mood sank, and he remembered Benjamin's unusual attitude towards Madelyn... "