Chapter 71 William Once Had a Biological Daughter

William smiled, "It's been a few years! Benjamin, I heard you're doing well in your career."

Benjamin humbly responded.

They chatted casually for a while, and Eloise came up from downstairs. She liked to take William's arm acting like a little girl, "Uncle, my father is waiting for you downstairs."

William patted Eloise's hand gently.

It showed great affection.

Eloise smiled brightly and accompanied him downstairs. "Didn't Eleanor come back this time?"

William was taken aback.

He instinctively looked back at Benjamin.

He was leaning against the floor-to-ceiling window, his dark clothes blending into the night outside. He furrowed his brow, lifted his chin slightly, and slowly smoked a cigarette with his slender fingers...

William sighed, thinking that Benjamin was truly outstanding.

He looked sad and whispered to Eloise, "Well, she's not coming back for now." He couldn't hear what else Eloise said...

Benjamin was about to return to his room when Alexander stopped him, "Benjamin, I need to talk to Benjamin looked deep into his father's eyes.

Alexander walked past him and whispered, "Let's go to the study to talk."

After a moment, the father and son arrived at the study.

Benjamin closed the door and made some sobering tea for his father, saying calmly, "Dad, what can't wait until morning?"

Alexander picked up the tea but didn't drink it, leaving it aside.

He looked serious and said, "Benjamin, today when William came over, you didn't seem very interested!"

Benjamin pulled out a cigarette, lowered his head and lit it up.

Thin smoke rose up, making their faces somewhat blurry. Benjamin smiled faintly and said, "It's nothing!
Maybe I have been too tired lately."

Like father, like son!

This kind of talk couldn't trick Alexander!

The father pondered and then slowly spoke, "Benjamin, I don't care about your past with Eleanor! The only thing I care about is that you young people shouldn't mess things up and affect the friendship between me and William."

Benjamin took a deep drag on his cigarette and then extinguished it in the brown ashtray.

He got up with a faint smile, "Then I'll go back now."

Chapter 73 Benjamin Has Strong Desire for Control

Madelyn lightly stroked her long hair and said regretfully, "It got a bit messy from sleeping."

Benjamin gave a faint smile.

He said, "Send me the time and address. I still have a few busy days ahead."

Madelyn quickly ran back to the bedroom to grab her phone and sent the information to him.

Benjamin saved it in his notes.

As he looked up, he saw Madelyn staring at him intently.

He knew she admired his appearance and couldn't help but feel a bit of male vanity. He lightly pinched her cheek and asked, "You like staring at me? Why didn't you look at me when I was taking a shower?"

As he spoke, his eyes and eyebrows had a distinct flirty look, characteristic of a mature man.

Madelyn blushed.

She pretended to want to clean up the dishes, but her hand was held by Benjamin. His voice was unusually hoarse as he said, "Let Claire clean up tomorrow morning!"

Madelyn understood his message from his tone, but she was not proactive and did not understand his intentions, especially when he was not making a move on her, and she couldn't figure out what he meant.

Samuel had been discharged from the hospital and moved back to his upscale neighborhood.

Madelyn did not live at home.

Whenever Samuel asked, Camila helped Madelyn cover up.

After lunch, Madelyn helped Camila wash fruit in the kitchen. Camila whispered, "I heard that Daniel has been having a hard time recently. Did Benjamin really deal with him?"

Madelyn nodded.

She had heard about Daniel from Vivian. Vivian told her that Benjamin didn't give him deadly attack, so Daniel was in a bad state for the time being, but he would probably recover in a month or two.

Camila heard that, then gritted her teeth and said, "He got off too lightly!"

But Madelyn was indifferent. "As long as my father is safe, that's the most important thing! Daniel is Benjamin's relative by marriage; he wouldn't really destroy his sister's marriage for me."

Camila suddenly said after a daze, "Madelyn, I have wronged you!"

She had said she wouldn't sell her daughter, but in the end, she watched Madelyn go to Benjamin. She knew Benjamin wasn't a good person, but she kept lying to herself so that her conscience could be at ease.

Madelyn shook her head. "It has nothing to do with you, Camila."

Although she was not Samuel's biological daughter, Samuel had given all his love to her, even refusing to have his own children. She was willing to cost her life to repay his kindness.

Chapter 74 Daniel, Shame on You!

With this conversation, the atmosphere was inevitably subtle.

Madelyn was ready to sit for a while and then go back.

Just then, the doorbell rang. Camila was helping Samuel with his rehabilitation and casually said, "Madelyn, can you answer the door?"

Madelyn went to open the door.

After opening the door, her face slowly turned pale.

There stood Daniel outside, with seven or eight cigarette butts at his feet. It was unclear how long he had been there...

When their eyes met, Daniel's eyes held an indissoluble gloom.

Camila's voice came from inside the room, "Who is it?" Madelyn quickly replied, "It's an insurance salesman!" Then she closed the door behind her.

Seeing Daniel again, Madelyn lost her previous feeling.

She asked coldly, "What are you here for? If you're here to see my dad, spare us both. Do you think my dad hasn't suffered enough?"

Daniel threw the cigarette in his hand on the ground and lightly stepped on it with his exquisite leather shoes. When he raised his head, his gaze was deep. "Madelyn, I'm here to see you!"

Her gentle little face was still the same, but no longer as submissive as before.

Their relationship had always been one where Madelyn gave more than he did. He didn't care this relationship. He pursued Eloise when he thought it was the right time and broke up with Madelyn. He never thought to explain or apologize.

He always thought that Madelyn loved him so much that she would always be his woman.

Now that Madelyn had moved on.

But he couldn't let go!

Daniel was proud, and with one hand in his pocket, he tightly clenched a key to the old apartment.

It was the one Madelyn used to use!

He smiled and said nonchalantly, "Yes, we should both forget! It's better for both of us."

Madelyn remained silent.

Daniel leaned in, his tone carrying a hint of danger. "But do you really think Benjamin loves you? Look at the magazines and newspapers. Which woman can tie him down? And...when your reputation was ruined by Elizabeth, did he help you? Madelyn, I can help you!"

At this moment, Daniel was feeling something.

Madelyn was the piece of meat that he couldn't have before. He didn't love her before, but now he thought about her day and night!

Chapter 75 She's Ruthless! Ended This Relationship Completely.

Madelyn lowered her gaze and smiled faintly.

She knew about her relationship with Benjamin, but he had never mistreated her, at least not while they were together openly and honestly.

Madelyn remained silent.

Daniel sneered in embarrassment.

He used to think she was soft, but now he realized how heartless Madelyn could be!

Yes! Why didn't he think of that before?

At the time, when he pursued Eloise, he called Madelyn to break up with her. He thought she would cry and beg him to stay, but she just stayed silent for a minute and softly said "okay".

From that day on, Madelyn never contacted him again.

It was as if their past never existed, as if she never liked him for four years. She didn't take anything from the apartment and even blocked each other's social media accounts.

She ended this relationship completely!

Sometimes, Daniel wondered if Madelyn really loved him or else how could she be so carefree?

Benjamin was caught off guard.

He didn't expect Madelyn to be so bold and take the initiative to tease him. This made him look forward to tomorrow night even more. Although Madelyn hinted that she had never been with a man before, Benjamin always thought it was just a small game between two adults.

He never took it serious!

Benjamin's Adam's apple moved gently, saying, "Little bad girl."

Madelyn said softly, "I'll run your bath!" And she hung up.

Benjamin loosened his tie with his slender fingers.

He almost immediately closed his laptop, put on his coat, and walked outside. Paisley was surprised to see him leave since she thought Mr. Clark was going to work all night.

Benjamin was in a good mood.

He signed a 50,000 dollar bill and let Paisley and the others go out for dinner as a reward for their hard work recently.

He signed the bill with a faint smile on his face.

He looked particularly handsome.

Paisley thought to herself, "He's so excited. He must be in a hurry to go home and see Ms. Green! I've never seen him bring a woman home before."

Chapter 76 I miss you! Everywhere!

Benjamin was getting ready to drive home when his phone rang.

He looked at it and saw that it was the client in his case.

The client's voice trembled with nervousness, "Mr. Clark, the other party suddenly has new evidence, which is very unfavorable to me!"

Benjamin lightly touched the steering wheel with his hand as he furrowed his brow, "Send me the information!"

After hanging up the phone, he quickly received the information and indeed it was a difficult problem.

Benjamin was a man who valued his career. Without hesitation, he got out of the car and went back to the office to announce overtime work.

The company was filled with complaint.

Until three in the morning, Benjamin remembered he promised Madelyn to go back and spend the night with her. Madelyn should have cooked for him and left bathwater for him.

Benjamin picked up his phone thinking of calling her, but he thought she must be asleep.

In the end, he only sent a message.

[I have urgent matters to handle! Tomorrow night I will go directly to the Brocade Hotel.]

As soon as he finished sending the message, Paisley brought in a stack of documents.

"Mr. Clark, the meeting is ready."

Madelyn looked at her phone, her face reddening.

She lightly tapped out a few words.

[We'll see!]

After sending the message, she didn't pay any more attention to it. After eating something, she started soaking in the bathwater, exfoliating, washing her hair, and applying a face mask... Madelyn felt like she had never been so grand in her life.

Madelyn walked into the dressing room wrapped in a bathrobe and chose a dark coffee-colored dress.

The style was simple. The silk fabric hugged her body, with a layer of gauze draped over it.

The dark coffee color contrasted beautifully with Madelyn's fair skin, adding a touch of feminine charm. Madelyn blew her hair into loose curls and spent another half an hour doing her makeup.

After finishing, she looked at herself in the mirror.

She was even more beautiful than she imagined!

Madelyn's face was slightly red. She imagined herself in this outfit hugging and kissing Benjamin... Just thinking about it made her extremely excited!

It was getting late, so Madelyn prepared to take a taxi over.

But as soon as she stepped outside, she saw a black McLaren parked outside, with a pair of long legs leaning against the expensive car.

Classic British suit.

The leather shoes were shiny, not to mention that handsome and charming face.

Madelyn was slightly stunned. Benjamin? Didn't he say he was going directly to hotel?

Chapter 77 Her Legs Are Prefect!

Benjamin leaned against the car with a lazy smile and asked, "Are you looking enough?"

Madelyn couldn't take her eyes off him.

He was so dazzlingly handsome that he formed a picture just by standing there.

Benjamin stood up and walked towards her, looking down on her from above when they were two steps away.

"Did you disappoint last night?"

His tone was surprisingly serious, and Madelyn blushed as she understood what he meant and wanted to cover it up.

But Benjamin had already hugged her waist and hooked her to his side.

Their bodies were rubbing against each other, and both of them easily felt the attraction.

Benjamin leaned in next to her ear and whispered, "Your waist is so slim! The clothes look good on you."

Then his gaze lightly swept over her fair and slender legs.

As Madelyn sat in the car, she looked at Benjamin.

He was already good-looking enough, but today he was even more eye-catching.

Vivian couldn't resist taking advantage and touched Madelyn's legs, saying, "These legs are perfect!"

Madelyn blushed and gave her a sidelong glance.

Vivian just smiled.

When the elevator reached the level of the banquet hall, the door opened, and they saw Elizabeth standing at the door of the hall.

Tonight, she was wearing a tight red dress that was quite grand.

Vivian joked, "It's quite festive!"

In a quick glance, she saw Daniel.

He was sitting in the best position in the hall and had obviously seen them as well.

A hint of surprise flashed through his eyes.

He had always known that Madelyn was beautiful, but tonight she was different from before, exuding a feminine charm that made men want to embrace her and do things with her.

Vivian whispered to Madelyn, "I bet Elizabeth arranged herself next to Daniel! She's not giving up yet! She wants to beat you."

Madelyn was speechless. She and Daniel had nothing to do with each other anymore, and Elizabeth had picked the wrong imaginary enemy.

Moreover, she dressed up carefully tonight, not for Daniel but rather for Benjamin's promise.

He said that he would do it until the end tonight...

Chapter 78 Benjamin: I Am Madelyn's Boyfriend.

Madelyn's eyes glistened when she thought of Benjamin.

She was at that age between being a girl and a woman, and once she fell in love, she was very captivating.

Daniel sat there with a group of former classmates around him.

They all addressed him as Mr. Campbell and treated him with respect and flattery, including some beautiful women who were good at pleasing others. In the past, he might have been interested in playing around with them and rewarding them afterward.

But now, Daniel didn't find any of them attractive compared to Madelyn.

He held his pre-dinner drink and sipped it absentmindedly while staring at Madelyn.

Over there, Madelyn and Vivian paid their share of the money.

Elizabeth took the money without ceremony and fake smiled. "I'm really sorry, Madelyn. Your family has fallen on hard times and still has to pay for this. Why don't we split the cost?"

Her voice was loud enough for everyone to hear, deliberately embarrassing Madelyn.

Madelyn replied with a faint smile, "No need, I can afford it."

Elizabeth counted the money and looked at Madelyn in surprise, "You paid for two people? Madelyn, are you really going to bring your old man to the reunion?"

Before Madelyn could reply, Elizabeth covered her mouth and chuckled, "Looks like that uncle has a possessive streak!"

Benjamin gently embraced Madelyn's fragrant shoulders and smiled, "You don't have to be so formal. We're here to eat just like you guys! Madelyn doesn't like me smoking at home."

Everyone was stunned!

Benjamin's words contained too much information.

Madelyn?

The one who had been with the old man was actually Benjamin's girlfriend!!

The banquet hall fell silent for a long time.

Benjamin wore a charming smile and called out Daniel, "Daniel, I'm dating Madelyn. It seems like you and your classmates are surprised!"

Daniel was stiff all over, unable to move.

How ridiculous!

He had just wanted to speak up for Madelyn, but she had already brought a bodyguard, and it turned out to be the most prestigious and powerful man in Gredax!

Daniel lifted his glass and drank it all, then said with a faint smile, "A perfect match!"

With that one sentence, all the men in the room extinguished their cigarettes. Because Mr. Clark's girlfriend didn't like smoking...

Chapter 79 Wow! This Is What They Call A Battlefield!

Everyone put out their cigarettes at the same time.

The scene made Madelyn feel embarrassed and annoyed.

When did she ever forbid Benjamin from smoking? He smoked without any reservations at home, and sometimes even leaned against the headboard while doing so. When he was in the mood, he would even kiss her while smoking.

He was shameless!

But seeing so many people of high status before Benjamin, acting like dogs...Madelyn couldn't help but feel a little proud.

Benjamin had a charming smile on his lips. "Ms. Green, do you look presentable enough?"

Madelyn knew that all the bad rumors would be dispelled on their own. There were plenty of people who would willingly clarify things for her just to gain favor with Benjamin.

But none of that mattered now. All she saw in her eyes was Benjamin.

Benjamin hugged Madelyn and walked inside.

The others had already given them the best seats in the house. Several school leaders looked at Madelyn affectionately. "Madelyn, take good care of Mr. Clark."

This embarrassed Elizabeth.

The people around them all looked on with ambiguous gazes. Many knew about Elizabeth's intimate relationship with Daniel because Daniel didn't avoid being seen with her. It was clear he didn't take her seriously.

Elizabeth was also cunning, daring to publicly flirt with Benjamin.

Madelyn was right there!

Madelyn always knew about Benjamin's bad personality, so she didn't fall for it. "That's your freedom." she said.

Benjamin pinched her cheek and let her go.

Then he stood up and politely said to Elizabeth, "Ms. Dylan, I'll take this drink."

Everyone was surprised.

Was Mr. Clark's taste really that bad?

Benjamin had a charming smile on his lips as he said, "But I drove here tonight and will be taking Madelyn home later. Daniel...you brought your driver, right? You can drink this instead of me with Ms. Dylan."

Chapter 80 Madelyn Is Unable to Drink, So I'll Drink for Her!

After Benjamin finished speaking, the whole room fell silent.

Mr. Clark knew about Daniel and Elizabeth's relationship, and now it was obvious that he was showing his power.

Ha!

Truly worthy of being called the King of the Legal World!

In the midst of everyone's gaze, Daniel stood up.

Not only was he the Clark family's future son-in-law, but with just one word from Benjamin, he could make the Campbell Group suffer. He had to stand up.

Daniel was not only ruthless, but also flexible.

He held up his glass and lightly touched Elizabeth's, then tilted his head back and downed the entire contents.

Elizabeth didn't even react.

Daniel ignored her and stood tall next to Madelyn, pouring himself a drink and then pouring Madelyn a glass as well. He raised his glass and said, "Big brother has to drive, so I'll toast to my future sister-in-law."

Madelyn didn't expect Daniel to embarrass her like this.

The atmosphere became lively again, and people came over to toast, but no one dared to make Benjamin drink more than they could handle. However, they didn't expect Benjamin to break the rules and drink several more glasses.

Madelyn served him food and said softly, "Eat some and you would feel less uncomfortable."

Benjamin looked at her deeply, and perhaps due to the alcohol, Madelyn felt that his gaze was different. Her face flushed slightly.

Benjamin squeezed her hand under the table.

His voice was hoarse, "We will leave later, okay?"

Madelyn saw the lust in his eyes and lightly bit her lip. She couldn't believe that he could flirt with her in public, but she couldn't refuse Benjamin.

She didn't say yes or no.

Benjamin smiled and stood up, saying goodbye to several principals of Monatiz Academy of Music and said a few beautiful words, making the leaders feel flattered. Madelyn watched him effortlessly interact with everyone.

She thought: whose class reunion is this?

At that moment, Elizabeth came over, still wearing the tight-fitting dress that showed off her figure.

Her face was flushed, and her voice was sultry.

"Mr. Clark is leaving?"

Madelyn was next to Benjamin and heard everything.

She admired Elizabeth's ability to be shameless and seduce men. She couldn't help but look at Benjamin and wonder if he would be attracted to Elizabeth...
