

Passive Skills 371

Chapter 371-can't be killed?

Even though the current Zhang Shan, be it in terms of attack power or attack speed, was already extremely strong.

However, after three to four minutes of continuous attacks, the Zombie King's health bar did not move at all.

It still didn't work. The damage wasn't enough.

The Zombie King Long you had 500 million HP.

To reduce 1% of his HP, he would have to deal 5000000 damage.

However, Zhang Shan's damage output was very high. On average, he could fire more than two shots per second.

Even if each shot only dealt slightly over-10000 damage, it would still deal over-1000000 damage in a minute.

Not to mention, Zhang Shan also had all sorts of critical hit passive and special effects.

He could deal 2000000 damage in a minute without any problem.

however, after three to four minutes of fighting, he still had not reduced long you's health bar by even half.

This made him a little numb.

just how fast was the recovery speed of this zombie king long you?

It can't be that I can get back more than two million in a minute, right?

The BOSS's HP recovery speed was faster than his damage output.

Then, he would never be able to kill the Zombie King Long you.

This was only the beginning, not including the BOSS's passive skill, earth drain.

The BOSS 'recovery speed should not be too fast in the beginning.

only when the BOSS 'hp dropped to a certain level would they recover faster and faster.

That was if Zhang Shan could not suppress long you's HP recovery speed at the beginning.

Then, he could forget about defeating this BOSS.

From the looks of it, he still had to reach level 40 first.

It wasn't just because he could unseal the godly equipment and upgrade his equipment when he reached level 40.

More importantly, Zombie King Long you was a level 50 BOSS.

When he was still 39, the BOSS would have a three-tier level suppression on him.

It had seriously affected his damage output.

If he reached level 40, the Zombie King would only have a two-level suppression effect on him.

in that case, the actual damage he could deal would be much higher, even without the equipment upgrade.

With one level less, the damage of each shot should be around two to three thousand more.

The difference in effect between the level suppression of third gear and the level suppression of two gear was very obvious.

Not to mention, when he reached level 40, the power of his equipment would be greatly improved.

Fortunately, he had managed to do so before the double exp had ended.

He had already prepared all the level 40 red equipment. After leveling up, he could directly change into them.

They didn't need to return to the city. Otherwise, it would be a little difficult.

What if he went back and teleported back, but the BOSS was gone?

It was a good thing he had foresight.

As long as he reached level 40, not only would he be able to unseal his godly items, but his attack power would also be greatly increased.

After changing into the level 40 red equipment, his strength would increase by a lot.

He hoped that by then, he would be able to suppress long you's HP recovery speed.

Of course, although Zhang Shan had already decided to level up to level 40 first, he would still be able to defeat the Zombie King Long you.

however, he didn't immediately go and farm the monsters. instead, he continued to attack the BOSS.

No matter what, he had to try and see how long it would take to take out 1% of the BOSS's health.

With his current level and equipment, if he couldn't even take out 1% of his HP after half an hour ...

Then he didn't need to try again. Even if he reached level 40, he probably wouldn't be able to.

If that was the case, then it would be better to wait for everyone to gather before fighting.

Zhang Shan held the hand cannon, and the bullets flew towards the Zombie King Long you continuously. The BOSS's violent fist wind also kept hitting him in the face.

Although there was no damage, it was still scary enough.

He didn't activate fanatic and berserk skills. He just wanted to test how long it would take to take out 1% of the BOSS's HP.

Now, Zhang Shan did not expect that he would be able to directly destroy the BOSS.

After fighting for about 15 minutes, Zombie King Long you's health bar finally loosened.

The BOSS 'health bar was reduced by 1%, leaving 99% of its health.

The Zombie King's health bar was still jumping back and forth, sometimes full, sometimes 99%.

This recovery speed was truly too terrifying.

...

However, it was still okay. He should be able to kill him. Even if he didn't level up to 40, he would probably be able to kill him.

However, if that was the case, the time might have to be calculated by days, and it would probably take a few days in a row.

Theoretically speaking, if they could reduce the boss's HP by 1% in 15 minutes, they would be able to kill the BOSS in 1500 minutes.

In other words, it would take about twenty-five hours.

However, that was only in theory. In reality, it was definitely impossible.

this was because the BOSS's hp recovery speed would be faster as time went on. at that time, it would be good enough if they could barely suppress the BOSS's hp recovery speed.

The Zombie King also had a big move called 'go back to the past', which could return it to its state three minutes ago.

As long as the Zombie King activated its ultimate skill, Zhang Shan would have to fight for three minutes in vain.

He still had to level up first. As long as he could level up, he would be able to defeat the Zombie King Long you in about a day.

Thinking of this, Zhang Shan did not attack the Zombie King again. Instead, he started to farm monsters not far away.

As long as he could keep his eyes on the Zombie King, he would be able to keep the BOSS within his sight.

...

it couldn't possibly be brushed away, right?

Zhang Shan took a look at his experience bar. He was still about six million experience points away from leveling up.

It was not difficult to level up. If he was farming Tiger monsters in the beast King Valley, he might not even need an hour to level up.

However, in this Death Valley, he would have to spend more time.

The carrion zombies here all had a passive skill that increased their maximum health.

Every monster was tantalizing, and he had to spend twice the effort to kill them.

Fortunately, this was an independent farming spot, and the monsters here didn't have the Holy demon's protection.

Otherwise, he would farm even slower.

Zhang Shan killed a carrion zombie with four shots, and with the addition of the ejection passive, he could continuously eject.

Although he could not guarantee that he would be able to cause 12 damage each time he was ejected, he could at least do more than half of the damage.

He estimated that he would need about an hour and a half to level up.

Take it slow, sharpening the knife will not delay the skill of cutting wood.

He would level up to level 40 first, and then destroy the Zombie King Long you. Perfect.

Zhang Shan began to farm monsters, and as he did so, he kept an eye on the Zombie King.

He was afraid that if he didn't pay attention, the BOSS would be spawned somewhere else.

To be honest, Zhang Shan had never understood the BOSS respawn mechanism in this game.

However, under normal circumstances, as long as a BOSS appeared in the player's field of vision, it would be a boss.

It would not be respawned again. Only when there were no players around would the BOSS be randomly respawned.

As such, Zhang Shan did not need to be too nervous as long as he was still near the Zombie King.

This BOSS would always be here and would not be killed.

moreover, the zombie king long you could not move. he was fixed in place.

As long as the system didn't send it away, long you would always be there.

It was already past ten O'clock at night, which was considered late.

many players had already logged off and left the game, and zhang shan had just started to farm monsters.

He didn't want to sleep tonight. He had to reach level 40 first before fighting the BOSS.

If everything went well, then it would be fine.

If things didn't go well, he might not be able to sleep the next day.

However, it didn't matter if he was a little tired, as long as he could defeat the Zombie King Long you in the end.

This was a real-name BOSS. If he dropped one or two good items, he would be rich.

Although he was not short of money now, no one would complain about having more money.

Besides, long you might even drop something that he used.

Although Zhang Shan had many powerful skills, he was still far from the peak.

He still had a lot of room for growth, and he was still lacking in many things.

If the Zombie King could drop one or two items that were suitable for him, it would be a spiritual weapon, a divine weapon, or a skill book.

Isn't that good?

Of course, he was just thinking about it. There were too few practical skill books, and it just so happened that there was one that dropped, and it was suitable for him.

The possibility of this was not too high. As for spiritual weapons, it was still possible.

After all, the chances of the big BOSS dropping an Arsenal token were quite high.

However, that thing was of no use to him, so he could only sell it.

The Arsenal token could only be exchanged for weapons of the spiritual weapon level and could not be exchanged for other spiritual weapons.

what use would zhang shan have for a spiritual weapon?

wasn't his divine weapon, the hand cannon, good?

As for hoping that the BOSS would drop an item related to a divine weapon, the possibility was even lower.

it seemed like the god-tier equipment and quest items were more dependent on fate. it did not mean that the big BOSS would drop them.

The few real name bosses that they had fought before had never dropped any divine equipment.

On the other hand, a normal red BOSS had dropped one before, and that was wind and cloud blade's godly axe.

that axe blade fragment was not dropped by the real-name BOSS. it was dropped by them when they killed the final boss of the dungeon.

Although the final boss was also very powerful, it was still just a normal red BOSS.

It was far inferior to a red BOSS with a real name.

Although Zhang Shan hoped that this Zombie King Long you would drop something good that was suitable for him, he was still worried.

However, he also knew that the chances were not high.

However, it didn't matter. Even if it didn't drop anything for his own use, it would be fine if it dropped other good things.

He could sell it and keep the money for when he saw something suitable for himself in the future.

He could just spend more money to buy more.

The BOSS had not been killed yet, and the battle had not even started, but Zhang Shan was already considering what items it would drop.

It seemed to be a bit early to think about this. He had to make sure that he didn't end up like this. It would be a joke if he couldn't kill the Zombie King by himself.

Just as Zhang Shan was farming monsters, Windcloud blade called out to Zhang Shan in the party channel.

"Brother Liu Guan, you've been searching for a day, did you find any higher level monsters?"

Although Zhang Shan was not with them, when the others were farming monsters, he was still in the team.

This way, it would be easier to chat and see the other party's location. The only difference was that they would not be able to share the experience and loot.

no, I think it's a monster above level 50. It's still a little far away. I'll look for it when I have time.

"When you're free? then what are you doing now? I saw that you were in one place and didn't move for a long time."

"I'm farming monsters. I'll think about it after I reach level 40."

"if you're farming monsters, come back here and farm with us. what's the point of you farming alone outside? which farming spot can compare to beast king valley now?"

"I can't leave for now. There's a BOSS nearby. I have to keep an eye on it and fight it when I reach level 40, hehe."

"F * ck, what kind of BOSS is this? If you can't beat him now, do you have to wait until you level up? Could it be a red BOSS?"

Wind cloud blade was very confused. He knew Zhang Shan's strength. Bosses below red were all noobs to Zhang Shan.

He would only be unable to defeat a red BOSS by himself.

however, the red BOSS was so powerful. even if zhang shan reached level 40, he would not be able to take it on alone.

“Haha, it’s even stronger than the average red BOSS.”

Zhang Shan said proudly.

It wasn’t easy to encounter a real-name BOSS, and he might be able to defeat it alone.

This was a once-in-a-ten-thousand-years opportunity. How could he not be proud of such a good thing?

“A little stronger than the red BOSS? What the hell is this?”

windcloud blade was confused. it was not as if he had never thought of a real name BOSS.

However, a normal red BOSS was already very fierce. Even with Zhang Shan’s current strength, it was impossible for him to defeat it alone.

As for real name bosses, they were even more ridiculously strong. If they were slightly weaker, tens of thousands of people might not even be able to defeat them.

He had never thought that Zhang Shan was planning to solo a real-name BOSS.

This was simply impossible.

what else could it be? it’s a real-name BOSS. I found a real-name BOSS and I’m going to kill it.

“Brother Guan, your joke is not funny at all.”

After Zhang Shan finished speaking, no one in the team believed that he could solo a real-name BOSS.

Could he be any more ridiculous?

After hearing Zhang Shan’s words, a little goblin immediately retorted. Aren’t you treating us like fools?

Soloing a real-name BOSS? I don’t believe you.

“I knew you wouldn’t believe me. Let me show you something, hehe.”

after zhang shan finished speaking, he displayed the attributes of the zombie king long you in the team channel.

After everyone saw the attributes of the Zombie King, they could not help but be shocked. Zhang Shan had really found a BOSS with a real name.

However, this Zombie King was so fierce, how was he going to fight it alone?

“F * ck, brother six steward, you’re so mean. You didn’t even tell us that you found the boss and let’s fight it together. You can’t beat such a powerful boss by yourself.”

“yeah, no, i’ll run over now.”

“You guys don’t need to come over, I can defeat them by myself.”

that’s impossible. The boss has such high attack and HP. How are you going to fight it alone? ”

When they heard that Zhang Shan was really planning to defeat the boss with his real name alone, everyone could not understand.

When Zhang Shan had said that he wanted to solo a real-name boss, they had thought that he was joking.

Now that Zhang Shan had said this, could it be that he really had a way to stop the boss?

how are you going to fight alone? although you're very tanky right now, you can't take the boss 'damage without a support to heal you.

"I don't need to tank it, the boss can't hit me."

"I can't hit you? What do you mean by that?"

Everyone had countless question marks in their hearts.

Chapter 372 his strength has doubled

Such a powerful boss with an attack range of 50 yards, how could it not hit Zhang Shan?

That was impossible, unless Zhang Shan could stop the boss.

"Could it be that you're stuck on the boss again?"

When Zhang Shan was in the novice village, he had managed to trap the wild boar King. Everyone knew about this.

Later on, Zhang Shan had even edited the process of blocking the wild boar King into a video and uploaded it to the game forum.

the video was still on the forum. even now, there were still players who would occasionally study the video.

He wanted to see how Zhang Shan had managed to trap the wild boar. He hoped that when he had the chance to deal with other bosses, he could try to imitate it.

However, even after so much time had passed, no one had managed to figure it out. Everyone was still confused about Zhang Shanka's behavior.

Classified as an occasional event, can not be replicated.

Everyone knew how he had managed to trap the wild boar King, but it had been so long.

No one had ever successfully stalled the wild boar King. As for the other bosses in the game ...

They had never heard of any BOSS that could be stalled.

Now, Zhang Shan actually said that such a powerful Zombie King could not hit him?

Wind and cloud blade could only be understood as this BOSS being stuck by Zhang Shan again.

Zhang Shan knew that they would misunderstand. To be honest, he had been playing this game for a long time.

He had never seen a monster that could not move, apart from the divine beast statues in the National Battlefield maps.

It was completely unbelievable that he could encounter a BOSS that couldn't move.

It was no wonder that others didn't think of it.

Zhang Shan could only explain to the others in the team channel.

without the boss, the Zombie King can't move at all. It only knows how to stand still and punch. As long as you stand 50 yards away from it, you'll be safe.

"Damn, isn't that hitting a fixed target? how can there be a BOSS like this? Why can't I believe it?"

Even when Zhang Shan explained it to them, a few of their friends in the team still had looks of disbelief.

This kind of thing was really strange. If Zhang Shan had not seen it with his own eyes, he would not have believed it.

But that was the truth. Zhang Shan continued to explain to them.

"it's true. i've been fighting it for more than ten minutes, and the zombie king's damage hasn't even hit me. it's just that the zombie king's hp is too high and its hp recovery rate is very fast. i can't even beat it, so i plan to level up to level 40 first before continuing."

After hearing Zhang Shan's repeated explanation, everyone finally believed him. At the same time, they could not help but sigh. His dog-shit luck was really too good. He had actually encountered such a thing.

"Why does it sound like I'm listening to a heavenly book? is there a BOSS that can't move?"

"Sigh, why can't I have such a good thing?"

"What's the use of you touching it? you're a melee class, even if the BOSS doesn't move, you wouldn't dare to attack it."

you're right. Although this Zombie King can't move, it's still very fierce. Its corpse King fist has a damage range of 50 yards, and not many people can hit it without injury.

even if we can hit it without getting hurt, it's useless. The Zombie King has such high HP and super high HP recovery speed. Without a large group of people, we probably can't suppress the BOSS's HP recovery speed.

"You're right, do you need help, brother Guan? are you sure you can defeat this boss by yourself?"

no need, I can do it by myself. I just tried it, and I can take out 1% of his HP in 15 minutes. When I reach level 40, I should be able to do it much faster.

"ASIBA, if you can clear 1% in 15 minutes, doesn't that mean you'll have to clear it for the whole day?"

"that's not even counting. when the boss's hp is low, its hp recovery speed will be faster."

you guys are just jealous. So what if I have to fight for an entire day? if there's a real name BOSS for me to fight, I'd be willing to fight it for an entire week.

“Yeah, as long as they can be blown up.”

the drops of a real-name BOSS are so good. It's worth it no matter how high the price.

brother Guan, if there's anything good that I can use, remember to keep it for me.

Everyone was envious of Zhang Shan for being able to defeat a BOSS with his real name.

He wanted the items that the Zombie King dropped. A real name boss would definitely drop good items.

And if he was lucky, he might even drop more than one.

good things like this were usually not available anywhere.

Of course, Zhang Shan would not reject such a request. If he did not need it, he would definitely sell it.

As for who he was selling it to? That didn't matter. As long as the price was right, it didn't matter who he sold it to.

As time slowly passed, when it was close to midnight, most of the players had basically gone offline.

zhang shan was still desperately farming monsters. not long after, he finally reached level 40.

[system notification: congratulations, you have reached level 40.]

≪ system notification: your divine weapon, Aglu's hand cannon, has been unsealed. It is currently level 40. ≫

[system notification: your divine weapon, heavenly Eagle king ring, has been unsealed. It is currently level 40.]

≪ system notification: your exclusive God equipment, the king's Cape, has been unsealed. It is currently level 40. ≫

Haha, I've finally leveled up. Let's see the effects of the divine weapon after it's unsealed.

...

aruge's long-barreled hand cannon (divine weapon): Physical attack 6000-6000, agility +600, equipment level (sealed), currently level 40, celestial equipment will gradually be unsealed as the player's level increases, it will be unsealed once every 10 levels. Durability, never worn out. bound to player six-barreled bodhisattva, can not be dropped.

[special effect 1: power attack. Increases physical attack power by 10%.]

[special effect 2: hot-blooded, increases attack speed by 10%.]

[special effect 3: Holy Strike. When attacking, there is a chance to trigger the Holy Strike effect. It ignores the target's defense and deals 10x the damage. The chance of triggering it is 1%.]

[special effect 4: suppression. Has a suppression effect on targets below divine equipment. Reduces target's defense by 50%.]

After the hand cannon was unsealed, its attack power had increased by 2000, reaching 6000. In addition, its agility had also increased by 200.

This time, after the hand cannon was unsealed, its attributes didn't double like the previous two times.

However, the increase of 2000 in attack power was not bad.

Also, after the sky Falcon ring was unsealed, it had also increased attack by 1000. Now, the divine artifact ring's attack had reached 3000, and its agility had also increased by 200, reaching 600.

As for the divine weapon's special effects, there were no changes to the two divine weapons. It seemed that the divine weapon's unsealing would not increase its special effects.

As for the king's Cape, it didn't change much after being unsealed, only increasing its HP to 400000.

...

That's good. I'll change all the other red equipment I have to level 40.

He then checked his attributes:

[character: Bodhisattva of six tubes]

[occupation: Hunter]

[title: nemesis of the demons]

[merit points: 52361 (Lieutenant)]

[level: 40]

[HP: 446889]

[MP: 2100]

[physical attack: 21952 – 22569]

[strength: 86]

[agility: 3216]

[intelligence: 86]

[defense: 1850]

Luck: 9

[Endowment: King of passive (every time you kill a monster, there is a chance to randomly obtain a passive skill from the monster. The chance of triggering it is one in a million.)]

Skill 1, headshot (passive), skill 2, taming, skill 3, Eagle Eye (passive), skill 4, berserk mayfly

[equipment: aruge's hand cannon, Skyhawk king's ring, King's Cape, maidas 'hand Kasaya]

After unsealing the divine weapon and changing his equipment, Zhang Shan's abilities had once again received a huge boost.

Its attack power exceeded 22000, and its HP was close to 450000. It was simply ridiculous.

In terms of attack power, the unsealing of the two divine weapons gave him an additional 3000 attack power and 400 agility.

In addition, he had four passive skills that increased his attack power, as well as two attack special effects on the two divine artifacts.

It could increase his attack power by 60%. In other words, after these two divine weapons were unsealed, they would increase his attack power by 5000 to 6000.

There were also other updated red equipment and an additional 1000 attack power.

As a result, his current attack power had exceeded 22000.

Most of the top players' attack power might only be around 5000.

Normal players only had around 2000 attack power.

Zhang Shan's attack had actually exceeded 22000, which was ten times that of a normal player.

It was definitely a powerful move.

If he went to fight the Zombie King now, it would probably be much faster, considering his attack power after leveling up.

compared to before it leveled up, it had increased by at least 7000 damage. this was a solid damage.

moreover, after reaching level 40, the zombie king's level suppression effect on him would also weaken.

Previously, there was a level suppression effect of three levels, but after he leveled up, the Zombie King only had a level suppression effect of two levels.

This would increase the actual damage he could deal.

He did not believe that he could not suppress the Zombie King's HP recovery speed.

As for the increase in his other attributes after the upgrade, Zhang Shan did not care too much.

Even after the king's Cape was unsealed and gave him more than 100000 HP, he didn't care.

To him, there was no difference between 300000 HP and 400000 HP.

No one could kill him anyway.

At least, that was the case for now, with the players' current attack power of three to five thousand.

If he wanted to kill Zhang Shan, he would have to control him tightly and beat him up for another half a minute.

But this was obviously impossible. Zhang Shan was not the boss, and he was not that stupid.

He would let others hold him down and not fight back.

After he had reached level 40, Zhang Shan felt that he was truly invincible.

He could continue to fight the Zombie King Long you. Although the Zombie King was very strong and tanky, Zhang Shan had also become much stronger.

He should be able to kill him now, and his attack power had increased so much.

It was originally expected to take an entire day, but now it didn't seem to take that long.

If everything went well, they might be able to end the battle by tomorrow morning.

Of course, this was just a random thought. As for how long the battle would actually take, he was not sure.

They would only know when they were defeated.

Zhang Shan quickly ran in front of the Zombie King Long you. He did not have to worry about anything. He just fired a shot and finished it.

After all, he had tried it a few times before. As long as he stood at the maximum distance and attacked, he did not have to worry about being hit by the BOSS.

Zhang Shan lifted his hand cannon and fired continuously. The Zombie King Long you was still the same as before.

He kept waving his fists at Zhang Shan. It looked scary, but it did not cause him any harm.

with zhang shan's continuous attacks, lines of damage appeared above the zombie king's head.

As Zhang Shan was now at level 40, the Zombie King Long you's level suppression on him was only two levels.

The effect was no longer very obvious. In addition, his attack power had also been greatly improved.

Now, the damage he dealt with each shot was actually close to 20000.

It was basically twice as much as before the upgrade.

This was great. It would be ridiculous if they still couldn't defeat this BOSS with such a fierce attack.

Zhang Shan attacked the Zombie King fiercely. One shot dealt 20000 damage, and two shots in one second dealt 40000 damage.

He dealt 2.4 million damage in one minute, and he would occasionally deal critical hits.

The damage he could deal every minute was at least three to four million. It was much stronger than before he had leveled up.

After about four minutes, the Zombie King's health bar had dropped by one percent.

Although the Zombie King's health bar was not very stable at this time, it would jump back and forth between full health and 99% from time to time.

However, he was already playing very quickly, 15 minutes more than before.

The Zombie King's HP had only been reduced by 1%, but its speed had increased by more than three times.

Under the situation where Zhang Shan's damage output had almost doubled, the Zombie King's health recovery effect had been effectively suppressed by him.

Now he was full of confidence in beating the Zombie King, and it wouldn't take too long.

even though it would take a long time to defeat the zombie king, it was still a very difficult task.

If they could take out 1% of the Zombie King in five minutes, they would need a total of 500 minutes to kill it.

In addition, in the later stages, the boss's HP recovery speed would be faster, and the Zombie King's ultimate skill would return the skills of the past.

It might be very disgusting, and Zhang Shan would have to spend more time.

When it was really needed, it might double, which meant it would take 1000 minutes.

However, it didn't matter. A thousand minutes was only fifteen to sixteen hours. By tomorrow afternoon at the latest, he would be able to defeat the Zombie King.

It was completely acceptable, and it was even faster than he had imagined.

After a round of testing, Zhang Shan went all out, activating his berserk and fanatic skills.

since he was going to fight for a long time, there was no need to keep these two skills.

As long as the skill's cooldown was over, he would use it. These two skills usually looked quite powerful.

after the skill was activated, zhang shan's damage output was explosive. unfortunately, the duration of the skill was too short.

One lasted for ten seconds while the other lasted five seconds.

With such a short duration, it was no problem to use it to hit someone. It only lasted a few seconds.

it was enough for zhang shan to take care of most of his enemies, but it was used to deal with the zombie king, a powerful real name boss.

That would really not be enough.

However, it didn't matter. Although the effect didn't seem obvious, it was good to be able to play faster.

The faster he attacked, the less health the Zombie King could recover.

furthermore, he was fighting the boss alone, so it was very safe.

He didn't need to worry about anyone coming to harass him.

One had to know that it would take an entire day to reach Heaven's Gate pass from here, and it had to be done on a fast horse. If the Mount was not as good, it would take even more time.

Who would be like him, spending so much time and running so far for no reason?

Chapter 373-someone to chat with this place was really too far away, and zhang shan was not worried that anyone would come over to cause trouble.

Besides, even if there was someone who was bored and really came here.

Zhang Shan wasn't afraid, because if someone really came here, they would probably be here to run the map or find the boss.

Those people usually acted alone or in two or three groups at most. If he really touched it, he only needed to shoot twice.

It wouldn't cause him any trouble, so he didn't have to save his skills for fighting.

As for the possibility of others finding out that he was secretly fighting a boss and calling for backup to snatch the boss?

This kind of thing almost didn't exist here.

It was too far away. Zhang Shan was willing to call the people from the wind cloud Guild over.

It was because the distance was too far. If a large group ran over, it would probably take more than a day.

in a day's time, zhang shan had already defeated the BOSS and escaped. why would he be worried about others snatching it?

He only needed to keep shooting and didn't have to worry about anything else.

The only thing that made him a little unhappy was that the basic combustion bombs in his backpack might not be enough.

He had only made a batch of these special bullets when he had been promoted to a level 3 engineer.

After that, he stopped making such bullets.

The main reason was that he didn't use it much, except for when he was fighting bosses.

Other than Zhang Shan switching to the basic incendiary bullets, he usually used normal bullets when farming monsters.

the production cost of the basic combustion bomb was not cheap, if it was used to farm monsters.

The items dropped from grinding monsters might not even be enough to pay for the bullets.

Moreover, although the basic burning bullet was not bad, it could increase his attack by a few hundred points and had an additional 500 burn damage.

However, Zhang Shan's attack power was so high. When he was farming monsters, there was no need to use such a high-level weapon.

In any case, he could kill the monster with two shots using normal bullets, and he couldn't kill the monster with one shot using the basic burning bullet.

It didn't increase his efficiency at all.

He would only use these bullets when fighting bosses.

Because in a fight, the fiercer the burst, the better. Even if you could deal a little more damage, it would be good. Sometimes, just a little bit of damage could kill the person.

when he was fighting, of course he would not be thrifty.

It was the same when fighting bosses, in order to defeat the BOSS faster.

Almost all hunters would prepare some basic burning bullets. The burning effect of these bullets was very strong.

It was more effective against bosses. As long as they kept attacking, it would be continuous damage.

Although 500 damage per second was not a lot, it was still a considerable amount of damage when accumulated.

Previously, Zhang Shan had produced over a million elementary burning bombs. However, after using them for such a long time, he did not have many left.

He had checked his backpack earlier, and there were probably less than 100,000 basic combustion bombs left.

With his current attack speed, he would need at least 120 bullets per minute.

In ten hours, he would need to shoot more than 70,000 rounds.

As for how long it would take to defeat the Zombie King, Zhang Shan was not sure.

But it would definitely take more than ten hours.

He didn't know if he could last until the Zombie King was killed. If he fought until the end, he would run out of basic incendiary bombs.

He could only rely on ordinary bullets.

Of course, with Zhang Shan's current attack power, it was not much different from the hundreds of damage on the bullet.

However, it was always good to be hurt a little.

Forget it, I'll just fight as I please. If I run out of basic burning bullets, I'll just use normal bullets.

Anyway, he had enough ordinary bullets on his back, at least a few million more.

if he used normal bullets, the damage might be reduced by a few hundred each time, but it didn't matter.

at most, he would just spend some time. this was a long-term project anyway, so he didn't mind spending a little more time.

As Zhang Shan attacked the Zombie King, he looked at the forums and various chat channels out of boredom.

Although fighting the boss felt good, the thought of fighting it for more than ten hours, or even longer, was a little boring.

He kept shooting mechanically, with only a fixed image in front of him, and no one he could talk to.

How could this not be boring? it made him a little sleepy.

Just as Zhang Shan was feeling bored, he suddenly received a call from a little fairy.

eh? is this girl still online? it's already past midnight. why are you so tired even without the double experience?

Previously, when he saw the others going offline one after another, Zhang Shan had thought that she had gone offline as well.

in the beginning, he was focused on fighting the zombie king and didn't notice this.

"Brother Butler, have you reached level 40 yet?"

...

"I just reached level 40."

"Are you fighting a boss now?"

"Yes,"

"I really want to see how you're going to take on the big BOSS."

Zhang Shan was speechless. What was so interesting about fighting a BOSS? furthermore, it was already so late.

Was this girl not going to sleep?

"there's nothing to see. it's just like hitting a wooden stake. why aren't you sleeping yet? it's already so late."

I'm not sleeping. I want to reach level 40 as soon as possible so that I can wear the ant Queen's Cape.

Zhang Shan facepalmed. This woman was quite scary when she was ruthless. She had only been working for a week, and she was going to start again.

There's no need to go all out, right? It didn't matter if she had to update her equipment one or two days later. There wasn't any special event that required her to update her equipment anyway.

“how long more do you need to reach level 40?”

...

it’s still too early. I’m one and a half levels away. It’ll probably take a few days. Leveling up is really slow without the double experience.

“a few more days? Then why are you in such a hurry? go to sleep.”

I don’t want to. Hurry up and share your view. I want to see you fight the Zombie King alone.

Zhang Shan was a little helpless. He didn’t want to argue with the little demon. It would be annoying if he argued too much. If he wanted to see, he could.

He shared his vision with the little fairy so that she could see what was happening.

“wow, is this the zombie king? The big golden zombie looks pretty, but it’s not scary at all. I thought that zombie monsters were all disgusting.”

He looked at the boss’s appearance first. Was he focusing on the wrong point?

When observing a boss, shouldn’t one first look at its level and how strong the boss was?

only the Zombie King looks normal. The other zombies here look very disgusting. I’m afraid you won’t dare to sleep after seeing them, hehe.

no way, then don’t change your perspective. Just look at the Zombie King and don’t let me see other zombies.

The little demon looked scared, but he didn’t know if it was real or if she was pretending.

Zhang Shan felt that she was most likely acting, acting as if she was really acting.

However, even though he thought so, he did not deliberately change his perspective to look at the other zombie monsters to tease her.

What if she was really afraid? that would be troublesome.

“This Zombie King’s boxing style seems to be quite organized.”

“Is that so?”

Zhang Shan had not really noticed this problem. Weren’t all monsters ‘attacks like this?

there’s no pattern at all. could this really be some peerless fist technique? wasn’t that nonsense?

that’s right. Look at its punches. Although the effect is similar every time it punches, the shape of its hands is different.

Zhang Shan took a closer look and realized that it was really the case.

But so what? the game was designed like this.

as long as he couldn’t hit him, he didn’t care about anything else.

“you saw the zombie king. i’ll turn off the shared view.”

Zhang Shan thought that since she had seen the boss, her curiosity should be satisfied. There was no need to continue sharing the perspective.

He still had to fight for a long time. He couldn’t just livestream the boss for the little fairy.

“Don’t close it. I’ll just watch you fight the boss while I kill the monsters.”

there’s nothing to see. It’s just me shooting and BOSS boxing. There’s nothing special at all. I almost fell asleep from the fight. What’s there to see? ”

” it’s none of your business. anyway, you’re not allowed to turn off the shared view. otherwise, you won’t be able to eat tomorrow. hmph. ”

F * ck, that’s too much. Didn’t he just go to her house and freeload a week’s worth of food? This was a threat.

Why did Zhang Shan feel that it was a mistake to go to the little Vixen’s house every day for free meals?

“Alright, then keep it open.”

Zhang Shan was helpless, but it didn’t matter. With the shared view on, it wouldn’t affect him from fighting the BOSS.

Besides, isn’t it good to have a girl to chat with you and fight the BOSS at night?

This was to prevent him from falling asleep while fighting alone.

although zhang shan felt a little awkward with the shared view on, he had someone to chat with.

He should know how to be grateful. Mm, if that’s the case, it’s much better. I don’t feel awkward anymore.

Just like that, the two of them were far away from each other, and Zhang Shan continued to attack the BOSS.

Meanwhile, little fairy was farming monsters in beast King Valley, and the two of them were chatting.

It was getting late, and when it was late at night, there were not many people online.

All the chat channels were silent.

Even if there were some liver Kings, there were only a small number of them who insisted on killing monsters.

After all, the game had been open for more than three months. There was no special reason.

Generally, people would not work too hard.

The Zombie King’s health was slowly decreasing under Zhang Shan’s continuous attacks.

Although the speed of the drop was extremely slow, the current speed of the Zombie King’s HP drop was still stable.

basically, every five minutes, after zhang shan had activated his berserk and fanatic skills, he would be able to deal a wave of damage.

The Zombie King's HP would definitely be reduced by 1%.

By four or five o'clock in the morning, the Zombie's HP had almost dropped to half.

from the looks of it, zhang shan could still be more optimistic, and it was not too difficult.

He had thought that the Zombie King's recovery speed would be much faster as time went on.

he might have to fight until the afternoon before he could blow it up.

Now, it seemed that it wouldn't work for that long.

He had only been fighting for less than five hours, and he had already taken half of the Zombie King's HP.

in an ideal situation, it would not be playing for another five hours until ten in the morning.

They could kill the boss with just that?

Perhaps the Zombie King's super-fast HP recovery speed was only due to the passive skill, earth drain.

in addition to this passive skill, the boss's own hp recovery speed was also very fast.

However, for Zhang Shan's damage output, it was not a big problem.

The HP recovery effect of the passive skill would not be further enhanced just because the Zombie King's HP had decreased.

Earth drain's HP recovery effect should have a fixed value.

as long as zhang shan's damage output could far exceed this fixed value.

Then, it wouldn't be difficult for him to kill the Zombie King.

ya, brother Butler, you've almost taken half of the BOSS's HP.

"Yeah, it's faster than I thought."

sigh, it's really too far away. Otherwise, I would definitely run over and get some experience.

zhang shan was speechless. was this girl a hooligan?

It was already so late, but why was the little Vixen still in such a good state of mind?

Didn't she feel sleepy? Although the effect of the game cabin was very good.

however, a person's biological clock couldn't be adjusted by the game cabin, so he would still be sleepy when he should be.

Zhang Shan was a little sleepy. If not for the Zombie King's loot that attracted him, he would not have been able to escape.

Perhaps he wanted to go to sleep.

Zhang Shan asked a little fairy.

“Aren’t you sleepy? How can you still be in the mood to pay attention to the Zombie King’s HP?”

“I’m not sleepy. Are you sleepy? No way, there’s a BOSS and you still want to sleep?”

Alright, this was a lady who was even crazier than him. Zhang Shan had always felt that he could play games.

Even if he couldn’t be compared to those liver Kings, he wasn’t much worse.

He also wouldn’t have chosen to resign and rely on gaming to make a living in the beginning.

One had to know that he had planned to farm items and sell them for money by playing the game for a long time.

At that time, he had never thought that he would be able to do so well in the game.

Previously, Zhang Shan’s thoughts were that as long as he could earn money from playing games, it would be enough as long as he could earn more than he did at work.

This requirement was not high. After all, he only earned five to six thousand Yuan a month.

In other words, in the game, as long as he could earn 200 gold coins a day.

he had achieved his goal.

However, if he wanted to achieve this goal, he would have to spend a long time.

without any unexpected gains, he could only rely on the trash items dropped by monsters.

It was not easy to earn 200 gold coins in a day.

The drop rate of items in this game was very low.

moreover, there was a lot of consumption when farming monsters. even if ordinary bullets were not valuable, they would still have to spend money to repair their equipment.

Repairing an equipment would normally cost tens of gold coins, sometimes even hundreds of gold coins.

For a normal player, if they wanted to earn 200 gold per day, they would have to work hard.

Zhang Shan felt that he could play games for 16 to 17 hours a day.

However, being able to do so didn’t mean that he wouldn’t feel sleepy when he played late into the night.

He would still be sleepy when he needed to, but even though he was sleepy, he still had to farm monsters.

Who knew that this little goblin girl was so energetic? she wasn’t sleepy at this late hour and was still so energetic.

She was much fiercer than him.

Chapter 374 Empty health bar

The two of them chatted for a while, and after more than ten minutes, the Zombie King's health dropped to 50%.

When his health had just dropped to half, the Zombie King suddenly stopped waving its fists at Zhang Shan.

Instead, he raised his head and waved his right hand.

the zombie king used his ultimate skill to return to the state he was in three minutes ago.

in an instant, its hp went back to 51%.

"f * ck, didn't you say that we'll return to the state we were in three minutes ago? Why did it go up by 1%? then wouldn't I have fought for nothing for five minutes?"

After the Zombie King used its ultimate skill, its HP instantly increased by 1%. Zhang Shan was very depressed.

This was a little difficult to deal with. He didn't know if the cooldown time of the Zombie King's ultimate skill was long.

If it were to use a big move every few minutes, the founder Zhang Shan would be in tears.

The HP that he had managed to reduce with great difficulty had been restored by the Zombie King's big move.

How were they supposed to fight this? this was too f * cking overboard.

"That's right. Three minutes ago, the Zombie King's condition was at 51%. This doesn't mean that it recovered 500000HP in an instant, it's probably just a rough figure."

The little fairy thought for a while and said to Zhang Shan.

She had been there the whole time, observing the Zombie King's health. She had seen it even more carefully than Zhang Shan.

Hearing her say this, Zhang Shan thought about it and felt that it was the case.

He had just reduced the Zombie King's HP to 50%.

the zombie king's health was only one percent, and that was indeed the case.

the only thing he was worried about now was that he didn't know how often the zombie king would use his big move.

Of course, it would take no less than three minutes. Otherwise, even the gods would not be able to kill it.

Zhang Shan could only hope that the interval between the Zombie King's ultimate moves was as long as possible. It would be best if it was half an hour, or even an hour.

this was just zhang shan's ideal thought. in reality, the BOSS's ulti couldn't have such a long interval.

Let's continue fighting and use another big move, and we'll know.

Under Zhang Shan's continuous attacks, the Zombie King's health quickly dropped to half.

However, this time, the Zombie King didn't immediately use its ultimate skill. It seemed that its ultimate skill had not cooled down yet.

After fighting for a while, the Zombie King's HP continued to drop to 49%.

At this time, the Zombie King once again looked up at the sky, and with a wave of his right hand, he activated the skill of going back to the past.

Its health was back to 50%.

Damn it, this big move was being used a little too frequently. Zhang Shan had calculated the time.

There was a 10-minute gap between the two big moves.

The Zombie King would use his ultimate skill every ten minutes, which meant that he only needed to fight for ten minutes.

Without considering other circumstances, he would have to fight for three more minutes if he only considered the Zombie King's big move.

in this way, the original 100 minutes needed would be increased by an additional 30 minutes.

Just now, Zhang Shan had thought that as long as he continued to fight for another five hours, he should be able to destroy the zombie.

now, it seemed that the time needed might be extended by another hour or so.

However, it didn't matter. He had already used up such a long time, so why would he be short of an hour?

Slowly, as long as he could destroy it, it would be worth it no matter how long it took.

the Zombie King's ultimate skill is very useful. If players have such a skill, wouldn't they be invincible in small-scale fights? "

The little fairy said after seeing the Zombie King's big move twice.

that's true. This skill will be especially powerful on a player, but it's a little weak on a real name BOSS. It's just a piece of trash that can take a beating, haha.

yes, bosses don't have any powerful damage skills. They're all trash. No matter how tanky they are, they'll still be defeated by players.

trash BOSS is good, I like trash BOSS. If the Zombie King is too strong, how can I beat it, hehe.

don't be happy too early. Be careful, the drops of a trash BOSS will also be trash.

The little goblin's words made Zhang Shan depressed. Did she know how to speak? if she didn't know how to speak, then she should speak less.

He hadn't even destroyed the Zombie King yet, and he was already saying that its drops were trash. Wasn't he just disgusting?

don't worry. After all, it's a BOSS with its real name. Even if it drops trash, it'll still be top-grade trash. Hehe.

"that's right. even if it doesn't drop anything, you've earned a lot. killing a real-name BOSS alone should be able to directly increase your level by one."

Upon hearing this, Zhang Shan could not help but be stunned.

He had never thought about how much experience he would get from killing the Zombie King.

In the beginning, Zhang Shan had been thinking about how to defeat the Zombie King.

After that, he thought about it. This was a real-name BOSS. What kind of good items would it drop?

As for the experience points, he had never thought about it.

To him, experience points were not worth much.

...

So what if he leveled up? it would only save him a few days of grinding.

he did not need this. what zhang shan needed was a divine weapon, an ultimate skill book.

there might even be special items that he had never seen before. as long as it was something good, he would like it.

Even if it wasn't for the Hunter class, it would be fine if it could be sold for money.

if only I could run to your place. It would definitely be a huge wave of experience.

A little fairy was still thinking about the Zombie King's experience points, but she was too far away.

No matter how they ran, it was impossible for them to run over before Zhang Shan destroyed the Zombie King.

don't think about it. You should just focus on farming monsters. This is a good idea, hehe.

"It's all your fault. If you had told me earlier, I might have been able to catch up if I had run over. Hmph."

Zhang Shan was speechless. Could he be blamed for this?

Death Valley was so far away, who knew if she would be willing to come?

...

Besides, he could solo a boss, so why would he call for backup? it didn't make sense.

“I’ll call you the next time there’s a boss.”

Zhang Shan consoled the little Vixen. Although he was a straight man, he knew that he could not reason with women.

Logic didn’t make sense, so he just had to go along with what she said. It wouldn’t hurt to say something.

The two of them chatted on and off until it was almost eight in the morning.

one blade of wind and cloud and the others came online one after another.

At this time, the Zombie King’s health had almost dropped to 20%, and it was about to enter the berserk state.

However, the Zombie King’s berserk state was not scary. It could not hit him anyway, so it did not matter how powerful the BOSS was.

Zhang Shan was hoping that the Zombie King would go berserk earlier.

Normally, after a BOSS went into berserk mode, the damage would increase.

However, his defense would also become weaker. After the Zombie King entered berserk, Zhang Shan would definitely be able to fight faster.

brother Liu Guan is still working hard. How’s the fight going? is there any hope of killing the boss? ”

After wind and cloud blade went online, he asked Zhang Shan.

Zhang Shan didn’t waste any time and shared his view on the team channel.

He let them see it for themselves so that they wouldn’t have to ask one by one.

“f * ck, is he about to die? You’re too strong, soloing a real name boss, you’re going to heaven.”

hehe, it’s alright. It’s just a little annoying. I’ve been shooting mechanically without any operation, and I almost fell asleep.

This was Zhang Shan’s truth. He really had no control over the Zombie King.

It was even more boring than killing monsters.

Even though he had killed a Demon tribe priest in a one-on-one fight at the start of the game, he was still a demon.

It was a level 20 red BOSS, which was only a level 10 player.

The demon sacrifice was definitely an invincible existence, but in the end, it had been destroyed by Zhang Shan in a one-on-one fight.

That time, he also did it for an entire night, but when he was fighting the demon Priest, he had to keep flying his kite, so he was very tired.

He had to be highly focused. Although he did not sleep for an entire night, Zhang Shan was not sleepy at all.

he was in a good mental state the entire night.

Unlike today, if it wasn't for the little Vixen accompanying him and talking to him, he really couldn't hold on.

It wasn't that he couldn't work, but this kind of mechanical operation made him sleepy easily.

He kept firing, and the scene in front of him never changed.

How could they not feel sleepy when they were in the same place?

However, when wind and cloud blade heard Zhang Shan's words, he was very unhappy. No matter how he heard it, these words sounded very ordinary.

What was a machine gun that didn't need to be operated?

This was a solo fight with a real name boss, yet he said that he was about to fall asleep. That was too much.

"Brother Liu Guan, I didn't know you were so good at this."

"no fan, i'm telling the truth. i almost fell asleep from the fight last night. fortunately, little vixen is online and can keep me company and talk to me."

"F * ck, beauty, didn't you go offline last night? Why are you so worked up?"

windcloud blade asked the little fairy in surprise. when he went online just now, he saw that the little fairy was online.

He thought she was just up early, but she didn't sleep at all.

The beauties these days were all so fierce, and hence, wind and cloud blade was very curious.

"I didn't log off yesterday. If I want to reach level 40 as soon as possible, I'll need a few more days if I don't farm."

you guys are all ruthless people. You think I'm trash? no, I have to work harder in the future.

While the group of people were chatting, the Zombie King's health had dropped by 20%.

The BOSS entered a berserk state, and the Zombie King's fists swung even faster. The wind from his punches also felt more powerful.

However, it was of no use. No matter how powerful the Zombie King's attack was, it still could not hurt Zhang Shan at all.

On the contrary, the damage that Zhang Shan had dealt had become even higher.

previously, the damage he dealt with each shot was only close to 20000.

The damage of each of Zhang Shan's shots had exceeded 21000.

He felt that after the Zombie King went berserk, it was in a defenseless state and was extremely weak. if not for the two levels of suppression, zhang shan's damage would have been even higher.

"haha, i feel like the zombie king has become weaker. it seems like it won't take long to destroy it."

"F * ck, I'm jealous."

"I'm feeling sour."

"I really want to go over and share some experience."

"hehe, just wait and see, i'll destroy the zombie king."

"hurry up. let's see what good things will drop."

it's best if it's a divine artifact mission item. Nothing is more fragrant than a divine artifact.

an ultimate skill book is fine too. That's worth a lot of money.

"Why do you need an ultimate skill book? other than big brother saber, we all have ultimate skills."

"Have you guys forgotten about me? I don't have an ultimate skill."

Hearing their endless nonsense, Zhang Shan was a little unhappy.

All of these rich people had gotten their hands on ultimate skill books, but he and boss Wu did not have any ultimate skills.

The point was that they seemed to have forgotten about him. They only remembered that boss Wu didn't have a big move.

"Yeah, brother Guan hasn't used his big move yet."

what the f * ck? he's already so strong. Why does he still need such a big move? " that's right. A normal shot can deal as much damage as my ultimate skill.

At this point, even heart with me joined in, his invincible slash dealing five times the damage.

To be honest, the attack power of [heart moves with me] and the invincible slash that dealt five times the damage ...

in terms of single damage, it did not seem to be much higher than zhang shan's normal attack.

however, a high-level skill was still a high-level skill. the terrifying aoe damage was the true essence of a high-level skill.

He didn't know what the Hunter's ultimate skill was like. In the game, no Hunter had ever obtained an ultimate skill book.

He hoped it was the same, taking down a large number of them with one shot. The effect of such a big move looked very shocking.

One move could kill a large number of people. In many cases, a big move could reverse the situation. It was very fierce.

After the Zombie King had entered its berserk state, Zhang Shan's attacks became faster and faster. The rate at which the BOSS's health dropped was much faster than before.

of course, this was only said before the berserk state.

Previously, when Zhang Shan took down 1% of the Zombie King's health, it basically took five minutes.

After entering the berserk state, he could take out 1% of the Zombie King's HP in about four minutes.

It wasn't fast at all. He only had 20% HP left.

He still had to play for more than an hour.

Zhang Shan looked at the time. He should be able to finish them off before 10 O'clock.

"Good luck, brother Guan."

"Good luck my ass, you should go and help him."

I want to go there, but it's too far. Otherwise, I would have gone there to get experience.

you guys can also get a positioning bead. That way, you won't have to be afraid of being far away. You can set a coordinate deep in The Map of Heaven's Gate, so it'll be convenient to go back and forth in the future, hehe.

Hearing the conversation of his friends in the team, Zhang Shan teased them while attacking the Zombie King.

f*ck, you make it sound so simple. Where Can I Get a positioning bead? why don't you sell yours to me?"

"Haha, I'll sell it to you when I get another one."

Time passed slowly while the group of people chatted and chatted. It was past nine O'clock.

The Zombie King's health slowly dropped to 1%, and it soon entered a state of empty health.

"Come on, you're about to blow it up."

what's the rush? the Zombie King still has a big move. Maybe brother six-guard will take ten minutes to fight with this little health.

"You jinx."

Sure enough, after the Zombie King's HP was emptied, it once again looked up at the sky, waved its right hand, and used its ultimate skill to return to the past.

Its HP had once again returned to 2%.

After the Zombie King's health was depleted, it used its ultimate skill again, returning to its previous skill. Its HP went back up.

Zhang Shan was a little depressed. He was about to blow it up, and it had to happen again.

However, even though he was depressed, it did not stop him from continuing to attack the Zombie King. to be honest, zhang shan had lost count of how many times he had seen the zombie king use this ultimate skill of going back to the past.

By a rough estimate, the Zombie King had probably used his big move nearly a hundred times.

Fortunately, the Zombie King's ultimate skill was only a little disgusting and a waste of time.

It wouldn't cause him any trouble, compared to those powerful real-name bosses.

Once a big move was used, it would instantly kill a large area.

The Zombie King's ultimate skill could only be said to be a trash skill, at least on the BOSS. It did not affect the final result.

The final result was that no matter how much the Zombie King struggled, it could not escape the fate of being blown up by Zhang Shan.

After continuing to attack for three to four minutes, the Zombie King's health bar was once again emptied by Zhang Shan.

while zhang shan maintained his fierce attacks, he summoned the panda bear.

before this, he had not summoned the panda bear dumpling because he was fighting against the zombie king.

The Panda dumpling didn't have any effect.

Even though the Panda bear had also followed Zhang Shan and reached level 40.

After the evolution of the heart of nature, the Panda dumpling's life attribute had greatly increased.

After reaching level 40, his HP had reached 200000, which was only slightly worse than Zhang Shan, who was equipped with the king's Cape.

He was far ahead of the other players, even the little Secretary Feng Yun, who was equipped with a God-grade shield.

In terms of health, he was not even worth looking at in front of the Panda bear.

However, in this BOSS battle, no matter how high the Panda group's HP was, it was useless.

Since the Zombie King was a fixed target, there was no need for a person to carry the monster.

And without a support to heal, the Panda bear wouldn't be able to take on the Zombie King, a powerful BOSS.

With the five times damage of the corpse King fist, such a powerful small skill, he would probably be able to knock down the Panda dumpling with three punches.

In view of this, Zhang Shan had not summoned the Panda bear to help him fight the Zombie King.

However, now that the Zombie King was about to be destroyed, he could give it a try.

He wanted to see if he could control the Panda ball to get close to the Zombie King and kill it.

After all, the Panda dumpling's 10 points of luck had never disappointed Zhang Shan.

Moreover, the Zombie King had been targeting Zhang Shan. It should not be a problem for the Panda to get close.

Zhang Shan controlled the Panda bear and went around from the side.

The Zombie King was still there, waving its powerful fists, but it didn't even look at the Panda dumpling.

Instead, he glared at Zhang Shan. A series of powerful fist winds were coming towards him.

since the zombie king didn't attack the panda dumpling, it was easy to deal with.

Zhang Shan controlled the Panda dumpling and stayed beside the Zombie King, not allowing it to attack.

He just quietly waited for the right time to control the Panda ball to deal a fatal blow.

however, the zombie king had 50000000 hp, so it still had 5000000 hp left.

The key was its recovery speed, and it was super fast, making it difficult for Zhang Shan to calculate its health.

However, he couldn't care less. He had to try.

if the panda dumpling didn't deal the last damage, then there was nothing he could do.

fortunately, zhang shan himself was not a bad guy.

He had 9 points of luck. If he killed the boss, the items he would get would probably be good.

After continuing to attack for three to four minutes, Zhang Shan fired a Holy Strike, dealing more than 200000 damage.

He was so shocked that he thought he had directly blown up the Zombie King.

However, he didn't. As he continued to attack, he immediately controlled the Panda ball and used a combo skill.

The Panda dumpling waved his little palm and slapped the Zombie King seven times in a row, directly blowing it up.

≪ system announcement: congratulations to six-pipe Bodhisattva for successfully killing the demonized Zombie King Long you. ≫

Skill point +1, medal +100.

[system notification: your passive King talent has been triggered by killing the demonized Zombie King Long you.]

[you have obtained the passive skill carrion pile.]

His luck was pretty good. It was the Panda ball who had killed it. Hopefully, it would drop one or two good items.

After close to 10 hours of intense battle, they had finally successfully defeated a real-name boss. Now it was time for Zhang Shan to reap the rewards.

Moreover, he had also obtained the Zombie King's carrion pile skill.

...

The Zombie King had a total of two passive skills. In addition to the rotten flesh pile, it also had the passive skill, ground drain.

However, earth drain was a passive skill that could recover HP.

To Zhang Shan, it was of no use. His Sky Eagle king ring had a lifesteal effect.

as long as his attack power was high enough and his attack speed was fast enough, no matter how strong his hp recovery passive was, it would not be as practical as his life-steal effect.

Fortunately, it was a carrion pile passive, which was a very good passive skill.

It gave him another 10% increase to his maximum health. Now, his HP was just a little bit away from reaching 500000.

It was like turning meat into a horse. Zhang Shan felt that if he could get a few more blood sucking special effects or passive blood sucking ...

As long as he wasn't controlled, he could solo most of the red bosses.

Of course, he couldn't do that now. His lifesteal effect was only at 13%.

There was no problem in fighting and farming monsters, but it was not as interesting when dealing with red bosses.

He also needed a support to heal him to ensure that he could hold on.

...

Zhang Shan was elated that he had gained another passive skill.

he first looked at his own level when the zombie king was killed.

Zhang Shan seemed to see his own body flash twice. Did he just level up two times?

He checked his experience level, and it really did increase by two levels.

He was already at rank-42.

Soloing a BOSS was the best. A real-name BOSS really gave a lot of experience.

It was important to note that he needed more than 100 million experience points to level up and defeat a real-name BOSS.

The total experience points were actually two to three hundred million, which was very exaggerated.

This was the benefit of eating experience alone, if it was shared among a large group of people.

These experience points were not enough to be distributed to everyone, so they were basically dispensable.

How could it be like what he was doing now, directly rising two levels?

This was also good, it saved him a few days of grinding.

The moment the Zombie King fell to the ground, the team members quickly reacted.

they could watch the battle in real time from zhang shan's shared view.

"six-barreled boss, you're awesome. you solo-ed a real-name boss. this record can be maintained for a long time, right?"

of course. I don't think anyone will be able to achieve such an achievement in another year.

yes, even if everyone levels up and turns back to fight low-level real name bosses, I don't think many people can beat them.

"There's no need to estimate, we can't beat him at all, okay? take a look at the attributes and skills of those bosses. with the current growth rate of players, even if they reach level 70 or 80, it's probably impossible for them to solo a level 50 real name BOSS."

that's right. Every real name BOSS is extremely powerful, except for this Zombie King.

"The Zombie King isn't strong? I think it's already very strong. Other than a few hunters who have long range, who would dare to target it?"

that's right. The corpse King fist deals five times the damage. Each punch deals around 100000 damage. Who can withstand this? " and the Zombie King is so tanky and regenerates so quickly. Without a large group of powerful hunters, it's really hard to deal with it.

but the problem is brother Guan. He killed the Zombie King by himself.

don't f*cking talk about him. We're talking about when ordinary players will be able to beat a real-name BOSS. Six-Barrens is a non-human, so he's excluded from the normal people.

haha, that makes sense. We're talking about normal people, not the six-Barrens.

I'm not going to talk to you anymore. Brother Guan, did you get anything good? "

After killing the BOSS with the real name, the item drops were of course the most important thing to everyone. Zhang Shan was no exception.

The moment the Zombie King fell to the ground, he had already checked his bag.

However, when he saw the four extra items in his backpack, Zhang Shan was a little suspicious.

Was the Zombie King killed by the Panda dumpling? how could it drop so little? how could it be worthy of the Panda dumpling's 10 points of luck?

Out of the four items, there were two red equipment, one red material, and one book.

In the beginning, Zhang Shan did not pay much attention to it, thinking that it was a skill book.

However, when he saw the title of the book, he was a little dumbfounded.

a killer book?

What was this? it didn't look like a skill book.

Zhang Shan quickly checked the description of the killer book.

[killer book (special item): increase attack power by 1% for every player killed. Maximum increase of 100%.]

The effect will be removed after death, and it will take effect when placed in the backpack. After being picked up, it will be bound to the player six-pipe Bodhisattva.

F * ck, this is awesome, this is super awesome. To be honest, Zhang Shan had never seen such an amazing thing in the game.

It directly increased the attack power by 100%. Was there anything more awesome than this?

That's a hundred percent increase in attack power, it's simply terrifying.

Whatever divine weapon, whatever big move, no matter what it was, in front of the killer book, it was all trash.

Thinking about Zhang Shan's current attack power, it was a little more than 22000. As long as he went out and killed a hundred people.

Then his attack power would reach 45000.

what did 45000 attack mean? that was more than ten times the attack power of current mainstream players.

As long as he could kill a hundred people, his attack power would be more than ten times that of others.

Then how could the others play? This gap was enough to make others despair.

Zhang Shan looked at the killer book in his backpack. He loved it so much. There was no better item than this.

In the beginning, he was a little depressed that the Zombie King had only dropped four items.

Such a powerful real-name BOSS was killed by the Panda bear.

It was simply illogical that only four items would drop.

However, after reading the killer book, nothing else mattered.

With the killer book, such an awesome item, why would he still need a bicycle?

wasn't this more fragrant than a divine artifact? it was even more fragrant than a few divine artifacts. one had to know that he would be able to obtain a divine artifact sooner or later.

it was just a matter of time.

However, for special items like the killer book, Zhang Shan felt that they were super rare.

He didn't know how long it would take for a second similar item to appear in this game.

It was much rarer than a divine weapon.

The killer book didn't take up any equipment space. Just like the positioning ball, it would take effect when placed in the backpack.

This was a super divine weapon.

As for the killer book's effect of increasing attack power, he had to kill first.

Zhang Shan did not care about this at all. So what if he killed someone?

There had always been a war on The Map of Heaven's Gate. Everyone had been killing each other every day.

It should not be a problem for Zhang Shan to kill a hundred people.

Moreover, if he really couldn't do it, he could just pick the Qin players to kill.

After all, after a country war, the hatred between the players of both countries was as deep as the sea.

They would feel a little embarrassed if they didn't kill him.

It was a super big harvest today. He had worked hard for the whole night, and it was really worth it.

Zhang Shan displayed the four items that the Zombie King had dropped on the team channel.

Other than the killer book, the two pieces of red equipment and one red material were only considered extras.

He didn't care at all. With the killer book in front of him, these were all trash.

"Just four items? this doesn't make sense. a real name BOSS usually drops seven or eight items."

"did brother guan zi hide the good stuff and didn't show it to me?"

" maybe the zombie king is too trashy. it's just a dummy monster that can't move. what good items can it drop? "

" f * ck, are you trying to blind my dog eyes? what is this? a killer book? "

At first, the party members thought that the Zombie King only dropped four items, which was too little.

They had thought that Zhang Shan had hidden the good stuff.

However, after seeing the description of the killer book, everyone no longer thought so.

With such an awesome item, why would he need a skill book or a divine weapon mission item?

a killer book could kill everything in an instant.

why is there such a BUG in the game? isn't this forcing players to kill people? " there's no need to kill people randomly. You just have to kill them once. As long as you don't die, the effect of increasing attack power will always be there.

"but who can guarantee that they won't die?"

"We can just kill our way back after we die. We can't die every day, right?"

"What are you all worried about? will brother Guan die? who can beat him to death?"

" you're right. liu guan is an inhuman. how can he die? even if he wants to die, he'll probably have to struggle for a while before he's killed. "

"I can only shed tears of envy."

brother Guan is rich. He's treating us to dinner tonight.

Zhang Shan was a little confused. It was not a problem to treat them to a meal, but wasn't this a waste of time? if he had time, wouldn't it be better to play more games or go to bed earlier?

"where to eat? To your house?"

"my house doesn't open fire at night, so there's no food to eat. do as you see fit?"

"Alright, whatever you say."

f * ck, don't you two show off your affection. We don't want to be paparazzi.

Windcloud blade said unhappily. They were just talking about the killer book, but these two were actually talking about what to eat for dinner?

That's too much, treating the others like they don't exist?

Chapter 376 Meeting an old enemy

Zhang Shan chose to ignore wind and cloud blade's complaints. Dog food my ass.

He was still single, so how could he show off his affection?

Zhang Shan could only eat the dog food.

Faced with the little fairy's request, Zhang Shan decisively gave in. He had been eating at the little fairy's house every day recently, so it was only right for him to treat her to a meal.

Zhang Shan was not distressed about the money. To him now, money was just floating clouds. He did not lack money.

He just didn't want to cause trouble. It could be solved in a few minutes by eating. Why did he have to go outside and spend an hour or two to eat?

Wasn't this a pure waste of time? Wouldn't it be nice to have time to farm monsters? Didn't you sleep well?

Of course, Zhang Shan was only thinking about it. He could not refuse a beautiful woman's request.

Now that the Zombie King had been defeated, there was nothing more to stay in this Death Valley map.

The zombies here had a passive skill called carrion pile, so they were all very fleshy. They were not suitable for players to level up.

the BOSS is over. What's brother Guan going to do now? do you want to come back and farm monsters together? "

A little fairy asked him in the party channel.

Before Zhang Shan could think of an answer, wind and cloud blade interrupted.

"do you even need to ask? Now that six-Barrens has gotten his hands on such an awesome killer book, he's definitely going to kill people. If he kills 100 people, his attack power will increase by 100%. It'll be convenient for him to do anything."

"such a good person is about to become a murderous demon king, hehe."

zhang shan was speechless. how could he say that? what was a demon king of killing? he only needed to kill a hundred people. that was not a lot.

In The Map of Heaven's Gate, everyone killed people every day. Zhang Shan killing a hundred people should not be a big deal.

it's very interesting to kill people. Why don't we go and kill people together? " cut my ass. We'd better just focus on killing monsters. With our equipment level, we'll just be a burden if we follow six-barreled.

" no way. with our equipment, we're the best in the game. how can we be behind? " it depends on who we're working for. We can't help much with our strength if we follow six majordomo.

it's not that we can't help, but the six-man Butler doesn't need our help at all.

that's right. The current six-barreled boss is invincible in Heaven's Gate pass. He's free and unfettered.

Zhang Shan ignored his friends 'insults.

After he had run out of Death Valley, he had used a positioning ball to mark the coordinates.

He hadn't reached his goal of exploring the map, although he was lucky enough to defeat a real-name boss.

However, he still hadn't found any monsters above level 50, so he had to keep looking.

As for farming monsters to level up, Zhang Shan was not in a hurry. He could take it slow.

He should run around the map more, there might be a surprise.

Of course, no matter what he was going to do next, he had to kill a hundred people first.

Wouldn't it be a waste if he didn't make full use of this killer book?

What if they ran into another big Boss while they were running around the map?

with the killer book's 100% attack boost, it would be so great.

But if Zhang Shan wanted to kill a hundred, he could not do it here.

This damn place was very Far From Heaven's Gate. It would take an entire day to get here from Heaven's Gate.

How could he find anyone nearby? even if he searched for a long time, he might not be able to find anyone here.

Of course, if he wanted to kill someone, he would have to return to the vicinity of Heaven's Gate. That was the main area of activity for the players.

over there, he could easily kill hundreds of people.

As long as he killed the number of people required by the killer book, he could use the positioning ball to teleport back and continue to run around the map. It was perfect.

Zhang Shan returned to Dangyang city with a loading bar. Then, he used the teleportation Hall to teleport to Heaven's Gate.

He rode out of Heaven's Gate on his horse and saw that there were players from all over the world.

This was because in the past week, the players from the state of Qin had been killing indiscriminately, causing everyone to be more vigilant.

Other than players who were very confident in their own strength, normal players would try their best to keep a distance from foreign players.

Although Zhang Shan's Red hares were fast, he had no intention of chasing and killing these people at the city gate.

he didn't ask for it at all, and the impact wasn't good either. after all, he was quite famous in the game.

It was better not to ruin his reputation in public. It was not good to kill people for no reason.

Try to find a group of Qin players and kill them quietly.

After killing 100 players, they would be teleported to the vicinity of Death Valley and continue to run the map. They would not stop until they found monsters above level 50.

However, Zhang Shan's thinking was good. He only wanted to find a group of Qin players to kill and did not want to kill players from other countries.

This was because they didn't seem to have much conflict with the players from other countries.

However, plans could not keep up with changes. Not long after Zhang Shan ran out of the city gate, he met a group of Yan country players who were farming monsters.

Initially, Zhang Shan did not mind. As long as they were not Qin players, Zhang Shan planned to let them go.

...

Although Zhang Shan was kind, he could not do anything about the fact that he had encountered an old enemy.

The other party was the Yan country's Guild Hu. It was the Yan country Guild whose BOSS had been stolen by Zhang Shan and a few others.

The Guild leader of the HU Guild, Tiger ghost, was leading his guild members to a place not far from the city gate of Heaven's Gate.

A weak Guild like them naturally could not occupy a top-tier monster-farming spot like beast King Valley. he just had to randomly find a farming spot near the city gate and start farming there.

Due to the recent Map of Heaven's Gate, all kinds of melee battles were a little crazy.

Thus, ghostly Tiger gathered his Guild's 5000 players together to farm monsters.

It was safer in groups, and this place was close to the city gate.

They could also quickly run back to Heaven's Gate pass, which was a safe zone and no killing was allowed.

When Zhang Shan was riding his horse and passing by their farming point, one of the Guild members said to the duo Hu.

look, isn't that the six-barreled Bodhisattva? "

...

"F * ck, it's really him."

this wastrel, he dares to run around The Map of Heaven's Gate alone. Kill him.

boss, why don't we attack him together? six-barreled Bodhisattva killed so many of our people last time and even stole our red boss.

"I have nothing to say, just chop him up."

Ghostly Tiger did not hesitate. Last time, Zhang Shan had snatched the red boss away.

He was still brooding over it, but the wind cloud Guild was too powerful.

Even if ghostly Tiger was unhappy, he could not do anything to Zhang Shan. Furthermore, Zhang Shan was often hiding in beast King Valley to farm monsters.

He usually didn't show his face, so even if the ghostly Tiger wanted to take revenge, he couldn't find him.

Now, the opportunity had come. Zhang Shan was alone, passing by their farming point.

On the other hand, the entire Guild had 5000 players and they were all grinding here.

This was a godsend opportunity. If he didn't take revenge now, when would he?

Then why didn't he go up and cut him down? there was simply no justice in this world.

As for the problem of not being able to defeat him, ghostly Tiger had never considered it.

He knew that Zhang Shan was strong, but no matter how strong you were, could you be stronger than 5000 people?

With five thousand people attacking together, even a Big Boss could be swarmed to death, not to mention Zhang Shan who was only a player.

he couldn't possibly be stronger than the boss, right?

"The people in front, stop six-barreled Bodhisattva and kill him."

Ghostly Tiger shouted in the Guild channel.

Their entire Guild farmed monsters here, so they were spread out over a large area.

Even though Zhang Shan was riding the red Hare at a very fast speed.

However, when he was discovered by the members of Guild Hu, he had yet to completely leave the area of the farming ground.

as zhang shan galloped on his horse, he suddenly saw the yan country players farming monsters at the side.

They charged at him like a madman.

Zhang Shan was dumbfounded. Are these people crazy? I didn't even provoke them, why are they trying to kill me?

Do I have a face that people hate? that shouldn't be the case.

He could not remember at all how Zhang Shan had brought along wind and cloud blade, boss Wu, and heart moves to snatch the red boss from the HU Guild.

But that was a long time ago. Zhang Shan could not remember at all.

Moreover, how could he remember such a noob Guild like huaifu?

However, Zhang Shan had forgotten that he had stolen someone else's boss.

However, as the victim, ghostly Tiger remembered it clearly. Perhaps in a few years, he would still remember this.

Cutting off one's source of income was like killing one's parents. Zhang Shan had stolen their red boss, and that was the same as cutting off their source of income.

Furthermore, when they were snatching the boss, Zhang Shan had killed hundreds of their people.

How could ghostly Tiger easily forget such a huge grudge?

However, even though Zhang Shan could not remember, he did not think too much about it. He was here to kill anyway.

it didn't matter who he killed, as long as he was a player. he could use the killer book to increase his attack power.

Originally, he wanted to find a group of Qin players, but these Yan players were looking for death.

Then it'll be them. It'll be fine as long as they kill a hundred people. It doesn't matter if they kill more.

Facing the members of Guild Hu who were charging at him from all directions, Zhang Shan did not run.

These people were not qualified to make him run away.

Zhang Shan quickly got off his horse, raised his hand cannon, and fired. The bullets flew towards the members of Guild Hu who were approaching.

Before these people could even get close to him, they fell to the ground.

At this moment, ghostly Tiger rode his horse and ran over from behind. He shouted at Zhang Shan.

"six-barreled bodhisattva, you're dead for sure today."

After seeing the name of the ghostly Tiger, Zhang Shan finally remembered.

So it was this guy. No wonder these people wanted to rush up and cut him down. He had snatched the boss from these people before.

Zhang Shan was completely reminded of what had happened before, but he did not feel any guilt.

it's just a game. i kill you, you kill me, i steal from you, you steal from me, right?

If you can't afford it, then don't play.

Although Zhang Shan recognized the background of this group of Yan country players, he did not show any mercy.

As long as they were within his firing range, Zhang Shan would not hesitate to shoot them down.

In the beginning, the members of Guild Hu were scattered around to farm monsters.

Although they were all at the same farming spot, it would still take some time to gather everyone.

under the command of ghostly tiger, these members of guild hu all rushed towards zhang shan without a care for their lives.

They had the advantage of numbers, and even if they were beaten to the ground by Zhang Shan, they would be revived later.

Even if they fell, they wouldn't suffer any loss.

These guild members didn't have any worries, so they charged forward without any regard for their lives.

Even if Zhang Shan beat them up in large groups, they did not care.

These people had never thought about what they would do if they could not defeat Zhang Shan.

Who would save them then?

They were only thinking that with 5000 people attacking Zhang Shan alone, there was no reason that they could not win.

Even if there were 5000 pigs, they would be able to crush Zhang Shan to death, right?

Seeing more and more members of Guild Hu charging towards him, Zhang Shan's expression did not change.

Compared to the kingdom war, the strong line-up led by Subjugator was only a small battle against Guild Hu's people.

He was not afraid at all.

His HP was close to 500000.

Even if the people from Guild Hu rushed to his side, what could they do?

Could it be that he could kill him?

Countless Hu guilds' members charged forward, but all of them fell on the way.

They could not even get close to Zhang Shan.

at this time, his killer book had already maxed out his attack power, increasing his attack power by 100%.

Right now, Zhang Shan's attack power had reached 45000.

Against noobs like Guild Hu, he could kill anyone with one shot, and he could even kill 12 people by himself.

No matter how many of them there were, there was no way they could get in front of Zhang Shan.

Ghostly Tiger could tell that the situation was not right. He really could not understand how Zhang Shan could be so strong. This was not scientific.

However, he was already in a difficult position. He couldn't just say that his entire Guild had 5000 players.

facing zhang shan alone, if they couldn't beat him, they would have to run in all directions.

Even if he wanted to lose face, this didn't make any sense.

“Let’s charge on the horses together. Don’t run on the ground. Charge in all four directions. Let’s see which way he can get through.”

ghostly tiger was furious. he did not believe that the entire guild would not be able to handle zhang shan alone. this did not make sense.

He immediately adjusted his strategy. In the beginning, against the members of Guild Hu, they would dismount and charge at Zhang Shan.

This was because those who were on horses could not attack. They could only attack Zhang Shan when they were off their horses.

But what they didn’t know was that after getting off their horses, they had no chance to get close to Zhang Shan.

If they could not get close, how could they attack Zhang Shan?

Zhang Shan’s shooting range was much further than theirs.

Under ghostly Tiger’s command, all the members of Guild Hu retreated.

Then, they rode their horses towards Zhang Shan.

After they got on their mounts, they were much faster.

Zhang Shan couldn’t take care of it for a while. A large number of members of Guild Hu rushed to Zhang Shan’s side.

Then, he got off his horse and charged at him.

Even though they were close, Zhang Shan did not panic.

What a joke, he had close to 500000 HP. Even if he stood there and let them attack him, would they be able to kill him?

Countless members of Guild Hu rushed to Zhang Shan’s side, and then dismounted to slash at him.

However, the space around Zhang Shan was only so big.

No matter how many people the HU Guild had, they couldn’t display their full strength.

On the other hand, Zhang Shan could take down 12 of them in one shot with his ejection skill.

As a result, even though these people from Guild Hu had rushed to his side, they still could not cut him a few times.

Chapter 377 Can you give me an explanation?

Around Zhang Shan, the members of Guild Hu who had been beaten up by him were lying on the ground.

However, they didn’t have any intention of giving up and continued to attack him.

at this time, against the members of the hu association, someone finally realized that zhang shan's health bar was not right.

although they had not managed to hit zhang shan much, as long as they managed to hit him ...

He could see his health.

usually, everyone could only see the entire health bar of the other party. as for the total health? if others didn't tell you, you wouldn't be able to tell.

He would only know after he had called.

After attacking Zhang Shan a few times, they saw that Zhang Shan's HP was close to 500000, and they were dumbfounded.

f * ck, did you guys see six-barreled Bodhisattva's blood volume? why is his blood volume more than 490000? am I seeing things? " continue to attack him a few more times. Take a closer look.

"Impossible, you must have seen it wrong. How can a player's HP be so high?"

After hearing that Zhang Shan's HP was close to 500000, ghostly Tiger could no longer remain calm.

This didn't make any sense. How could a player have such high HP?

With 500,000 HP, that must be a mini-boss, not a player.

In the moment of shock when he was facing the members of Guild Hu, Zhang Shan quickly cleared the surrounding people.

Now, against the members of Guild Hu, if they wanted to attack him again, they would have to risk their lives.

Under the command of ghostly Tiger, the members of the HU Guild regrouped and once again charged towards Zhang Shan.

He was getting a little impatient.

These people were really endless. They couldn't kill him, so why did they always charge forward to die?

zhang shan didn't even feel like fighting anymore. it was a waste of time.

he only needed to kill 100. after a few rounds of attacks, thousands of members of the hu guild would have been defeated.

It would be a waste to kill too many. There was no need at all.

However, if these people did not let go, Zhang Shan would not leave either. He could only follow them to the end.

Countless members of Guild Hu charged forward again.

Zhang Shan continued to shoot helplessly. This time, he even activated his fanatic skill.

the attack speed doubled, and the fierce firepower swept across. this time, against the members of guild hu, they rushed to the side on their horses, but were knocked down by zhang shan the moment they got off their horses.

They did not even hurt a single hair on Zhang Shan.

The ghostly Tiger was really angry.

continue to charge. I don't believe that he can last long alone.

After being beaten back by Zhang Shan once again, he was really angry with the people from Guild Hu.

They really did not expect that with so many people, they could not even rush to Zhang Shan's side.

This was too f * cking ridiculous.

When Zhang Shan beat them up, it was as easy as beating up his sons. It was simply unbearable.

Moreover, they felt that they still had a chance against the people from Guild Hu.

After all, they had rushed to Zhang Shan's side before, even though they had not managed to cut him a few times.

However, they felt that as long as they rushed to Zhang Shan's side, they could pose a threat to him.

After all, Zhang Shan was just a fragile little hunter. He couldn't stand being cut by a vegetable knife.

They had not rushed over just now because Zhang Shan had activated his fanatic skill.

this skill's attack speed was too high, and it directly suppressed them.

However, fanaticism's cooldown time was as long as five minutes.

Zhang Shan would definitely not be able to block it, without the fanaticism skill.

against the people of guild hu, they were confident that they could rush to zhang shan's side and cut him down.

This time, ghostly Tiger personally led the charge. He did not believe that Zhang Shan was really that strong.

although he had seen all sorts of videos of the country war.

in the country war, zhang shan was extremely powerful. killing people was as simple and fast as cutting wheat.

However, watching a video and feeling in real life could not be compared.

Ghostly Tiger had a feeling that if it was him, Zhang Shan would definitely not be able to be arrogant.

Ghostly Tiger rode on his Dawan horse and quickly rushed towards Zhang Shan. The other members of the HU Guild also followed behind and charged.

Zhang Shan took a look.

Oh my, the Guild leader is personally leading the charge? then I'll reward him with a bullet.

When the ghostly Tiger was within Zhang Shan's shooting range, he casually fired a shot and directly knocked the Guild leader to the ground.

ghostly tiger's equipment was much better than the other equipment that the members of the hu guild had.

...

But that wasn't important.

To Zhang Shan, it was all the same.

There was no need to talk about ghostly Tiger, he was also a Berserker.

Even for The Guardian class, as long as it wasn't a top-tier meat shield like little Secretary Feng Yun, it would be a pity.

to him, the others were basically no different. they were all goods that could be taken down with one shot.

After the attack power of the killer book was increased to 100% ...

Now, he basically didn't need a second shot to kill anyone. He only needed one shot.

the ghostly tiger had thought that he was much stronger than the other guild members.

To be able to block two more of Zhang Shan's spear attacks, the result was that he had thought too much.

He was no different from the other rookies. He had also been shot down by Zhang Shan.

The support classes of Guild Hu who were rushing over from behind quickly got off their horses and revived Phantom Tiger.

...

The ghostly Tiger, who had stood up again, quickly retreated with a dumbfounded expression.

What had happened just now? why had he also been knocked down by Zhang Shan with one shot?

while the ghostly tiger was still in a daze, the other members of the hu association ...

Finally, he rushed to Zhang Shan's side again, and all kinds of vegetable knives were coming at him.

Very quickly, lines of damage appeared above Zhang Shan's head.

however, these 2000 to 3000 points of damage were nothing to zhang shan.

He didn't even lose a bit of his skin. He relied on the life-steal effect on his equipment and quickly recovered the HP he lost.

even though this wave of assault was still unable to do anything to zhang shan, this time there were a few members of the hu association.

They all saw Zhang Shan's total health.

Seeing Zhang Shan's 490000 HP, everyone was dumbfounded.

What was the point of fighting?

That was because they felt that they could rely on their numbers to charge forward and cut down Zhang Shan.

however, after seeing Zhang Shan's health, everyone who was against the HU Association lost all hope.

This was an undead monster with 490000 HP. How could they possibly kill him?

Zhang Shan wasn't a boss that they could kite around.

With their attack power of around 3000, how many hits would they have to take to be able to kill Zhang Shan?

Furthermore, Zhang Shan seemed to be able to recover his health. The health that they had lost was quickly recovered.

he simply couldn't be killed.

All the members of the HU Association retreated far away.

Now, they didn't dare to charge anymore. It was completely meaningless.

They couldn't even kill Zhang Shan, so why did they charge forward? to die?

"Are you still playing?"

Zhang Shan said to the newly resurrected ghostly Tiger.

he didn't want to waste time on these people. killing them didn't give him any sense of accomplishment.

It was better to farm monsters than to kill these people.

The ghostly Tiger was embarrassed by Zhang Shan's question, but he still pretended to be tough and replied.

six-barreled Bodhisattva, don't be too arrogant. There are so many of us here, do you think we'll be afraid of you? "

"oh, so you still want to continue playing?"

"Hmph, let's go."

Ghostly Tiger didn't want to talk to Zhang Shan. No matter what he said, he would be slapped in the face.

They might as well run away. Anyway, Zhang Shan was alone. He couldn't possibly chase after thousands of them and kill them.

He couldn't catch up with so many people.

After ghostly Tiger finished speaking, he immediately ordered his guild members to scatter and escape, so as not to be chased and killed by Zhang Shan.

However, he was thinking too much.

Zhang Shan had no intention of wasting time on them. If he had the time to run around the map, wouldn't it be nice to farm monsters?

If it wasn't for the fact that he was seeking death against Guild Hu's people, this fight wouldn't have even started.

Since the people from the Guild had run away, Zhang Shan did not continue to tangle with them. Instead, he used the positioning Pearl and directly teleported to the vicinity of Death Valley.

He still had to run around the map, and he had yet to find any monsters above level 50.

He had to continue searching. Even if he had to search for another three to five days, he would continue to search.

zhang shan did not believe that in such a large map like heaven's gate, there would be the highest level of monsters.

Could it be that he was only at rank 50? This didn't make sense.

He felt that if he were to find a level 50 or higher monster in the Heaven's Gate map ...

Perhaps he could trigger some mechanism. At that time, he might even get some reward.

Of course, this was purely a guess without any basis. He could just take it as a self-consolation.

After Zhang Shan was teleported over, he rode on the red Hare and continued to run deeper into the map.

Going back to Heaven's Gate to kill someone didn't take up much of his time.

Although he had just defeated nearly 2000 members of the HU Guild, he was still very confident.

But this did not take too much time. Now, Zhang Shan's efficiency in killing people was super high.

In the face of a concentrated charge, he could knock down twelve with one shot.

killing a thousand or two thousand people didn't require much effort.

Including the time spent on the road, it was estimated that there were less than twenty minutes.

As Zhang Shan ran around the map, he opened the world Channel. He wanted to see if ghostly Tiger had scolded him in the world Channel.

If this guy dared to scold him in the world Channel, he would post the video of the fight on the forum.

He wanted everyone to see how he was going to kill everyone.

Zhang Shan felt that it was time for him to build up his reputation in the game.

otherwise, any random cat or dog would want to come over and hit him.

Wouldn't that be very annoying?

Why did no one dare to attack domineering King when he was walking? why did no one dare to attack God of War Li Jing when he was walking?

Other than the fact that they had a powerful Guild behind them, they had already established their prestige in the game.

Almost all the players knew that this was a big Shot that ordinary players couldn't afford to offend.

unless there was a great enmity that could not be resolved, no one would find trouble with them.

when they saw these big shots, they would at most just watch them. there were definitely not many people who would dare to go up and cut them.

Zhang Shan felt that he should be like this too. Why was it that he was already so strong, so why were there still noobs coming up to cut him down?

This was f * cking unreasonable.

However, on the world Channel, Zhang Shan did not see ghostly Tiger scolding him.

This guy was probably afraid of being killed by him.

Although he did not see ghostly and Tiger scolding him, Zhang Shan realized that at this time, the world Channel was extremely hot.

And it was also about him.

however, it wasn't about him killing everyone just now, but about him blowing up the zombie king.

Most of the players could defeat the boss as long as they organized themselves well.

Even though normal players could only defeat trash bosses.

However, for bosses that were orange-colored and above, the system would make an announcement after the first kill.

Therefore, although there was a system announcement when Zhang Shan defeated the zombie Queen, at the beginning, there was no such thing as "

No one really paid much attention to it, as there were always a few first kill announcements.

There were as many bosses as there were rice in the game, and someone would always find a new boss.

However, slowly, people began to realize that the Zombie King that Zhang Shan had defeated seemed to be a little different.

The Zombie King had a name. The demonized Zombie King Long you was a boss with a real name.

did you guys notice? six-barreled Bodhisattva has solo-killed another boss.

what's so strange about that? the players have grown so much since the beginning. There are many who can solo bosses, let alone six-pipe Bodhisattva.

The players' strength had indeed grown a lot. Some small bosses were indeed easy to defeat by a lot of players.

For example, little Secretary Feng Yun should have no problem soloing an orange-colored boss.

but this time, it's a little different. Look at the system announcement. The name of the boss that six-barreled Bodhisattva killed seems to be a little different.

there were not many players who had seen a real-name boss, at least compared to the player base of the entire game.

After all, from the start of the game until now, there had only been a few real name bosses.

Therefore, the player just now didn't know that the Zombie King was a boss with a real name. He only felt that it was strange that the Zombie King had a name.

However, with this player's reminder, the others quickly reacted.

Everyone scrolled up to look at the system announcement. When they saw the name of the Zombie King Long you, those who knew about it were shocked.

"is this a real-name boss? I'm not seeing things, am I?"

I don't know, but it shouldn't be wrong. Why would the system make a mistake? " but the real-name boss is so strong. How did six-barreled Bodhisattva defeat it alone? this doesn't make sense.

"this is f * cking unscientific. it's completely subverting my understanding."

"Even if tens of thousands of us attack together, we might not be able to defeat the real boss. How can six-pipe Bodhisattva defeat it alone? Can someone come out and explain if there's a bug?"

bug my ass. The game has been open for so long. Has anyone found a bug? " that's crazy. Every real-name BOSS is extremely powerful, but six-barreled Bodhisattva actually defeated it alone. Did he manage to trap the BOSS again? " who knows? even if the real-name BOSS is stuck, it's hard to kill it alone. Its HP is so high.

call for six-barreled Bodhisattva to come out and explain.

I'm in urgent need of science. I'll pay one gold coin for the information.

by the way, where does the Zombie King spawn? I'll go and look for it next time.

"You're thinking too much. Do you think that the BOSS that you've fought once will respawn at the same place again?"

"I just want to ask if you can give me an explanation about where six-Guan Bodhisattva is."

On the world Channel, everyone was calling for him to come out and explain.

Zhang Shan only wanted to laugh. He would not give them an explanation. He also did not plan to cut the video and post it on the forum to earn money.

there was no need for that at all. he no longer cared about the small amount of money he earned by posting on the forum.

Moreover, the Zombie King should be considered a special BOSS, but it could not move.

This kind of BOSS setting was very rare, so it was best to keep it a secret. The fewer people who knew about it, the better.

There was still a chance to meet the Zombie King again. Although the possibility was very small, it could not be ruled out.

If Zhang Shan were to release the video, wouldn't that be telling the others that such a powerful real name BOSS like the Zombie King Long you could not move?

if that were the case, there would be a huge number of players who would come to death valley to wait.

The death Valley map was extremely far away from Heaven's Gate, and it was impossible for players to come here under normal circumstances.

However, if there was a BOSS, distance would not be a problem.

Not to mention that the Zombie King was a BOSS with a real name, and a BOSS with a real name that could not move.

For the players, finding the Zombie King was like winning the lottery.

Under such temptation, a day's journey was nothing.

Of course, although the Zombie King couldn't move, ordinary players wouldn't be able to defeat it even if they encountered it.

After all, the Zombie King's HP and HP recovery speed were so terrifying.

Even with Zhang Shan's violent damage output, he had been fighting for close to 10 hours.

If other players were to fight it, it would be impossible to kill it with a small number of players. They could not suppress the Zombie King's HP recovery speed at all.

That being said, the players didn't care about that.

Most people who played games would have the illusion that they could do it themselves.

In any case, the Zombie King was just a dummy monster that could not move. If Zhang Shan could kill it, they could naturally kill it too.

A mysterious confidence was a trait that all players had.

Zhang Shan didn't want others to know the Zombie King's mechanics. He let them guess. Anyway, no one knew where the Zombie King had spawned for the first time.

Closing the world Channel, Zhang Shan continued to run happily into the depths of the map.

It was quite boring to run the map, but there were occasional surprises in the boredom.

for example, a mini-boss or something.

However, after defeating the zombie, Zhang Shan's luck seemed to have been used up, as he ran all the way until night.

he had never encountered a purple BOSS again.

this didn't make any sense.

There were so many mini-bosses in The Map of Heaven's Gate, but he had not encountered a single one after running for so long.

That was f * cking Bullsh * t. Zhang Shan wondered if the system was targeting him because he had single-handedly defeated a real-name boss.

Was the system trying to suppress him?

In the beginning, Zhang Shan was still running happily. But as time slowly passed.

they still did not encounter any bosses.

He had already given up, so why would he need a boss? he was only here to run the map, so he just needed to find monsters above 50.

Everything else was up to him. It was luck that he encountered a boss, but if he didn't, he would just drop it.

He had already defeated it anyway. A boss with a real name would last him for a year. He would not lose anything.

the time had just reached 6 o'clock when little fairy shouted in the party channel.

"Brother Guan, I'm hungry. I want to eat."

"Alright, I'll go offline to eat."

Alright, I promised to treat her to a meal, so I'll just waste two hours.

speaking of which, zhang shan really did not want to go out for a meal. he was an old otaku, and he would try not to go out if he could.

I'll just force myself to do it today.

After going offline, Zhang Shan went to Yu Qingqing's house next door. He waited for her to come out and they went to eat together.

he waited for more than ten minutes at the door of yu qingqing's house, but she still didn't come out.

Zhang Shan was a little depressed. What was going on? why was he not out yet?

Didn't they log off together? Zhang Shan had already waited for quite a while. Even if he had to put on makeup, he did not have to wait that long.

Besides, it was night time. There was no need to put on makeup, right?

Zhang Shan picked up his phone a few times, wanting to call Yu Qingqing and rush her.

However, he didn't do that in the end. He was a single man and didn't understand women very well.

Maybe women were all so troublesome. It was useless to urge him, so he had to wait.

After a few minutes, Yu Qingqing finally came out.

let's go and eat. It's your treat. I'll pick the place. It's right next to our neighborhood.

...

Yu Qingqing said to Zhang Shan as if it was a matter of course.

"Alright, you lead the way. I'm not familiar with this place."

Of course, Zhang Shan did not have any objections. It was best to eat nearby. He did not want to go too far.

As the two of them walked out of the district, Zhang Shan sneaked a few glances at Yu Qingqing.

He didn't see her putting on makeup. He really didn't know what she had been doing for the past twenty minutes.

although he was a little curious, his rationality told him not to ask.

The two of them had dinner together at a tea restaurant next to the community.

in zhang shan's eyes, there was nothing special about this restaurant. it was just that the environment was a little better.

The only special thing about it was that it was expensive.

After the dishes were served, Zhang Shan finished his meal in a few minutes. Then, he waited patiently.

For an otaku like Zhang Shan, it was not enough to eat as long as he was not hungry.

...

That was why he always ate quickly.

He would rather spend a lot of time lying in bed than eating.

Fortunately, Qing Qing didn't make him wait too long.

in less than an hour, the two finished their meal and went home.

After logging back in, Zhang Shan continued to run deeper into Heaven's Gate.

He had been running for an entire day yesterday, and another day today. He was now very Far From Heaven's Gate pass.

However, Zhang Shan realized that the monsters here were still level 50.

Was there something wrong with the game producer's brain? why did he need so many level 50 monsters?

Who would come all the way here to farm for no reason? not everyone was like Zhang Shan.

With a positioning bead, he didn't have to worry about running far.

To him, it didn't matter how far it was. He only needed to come over once.

As long as he used the positioning ball to mark the coordinates, he could use the positioning ball to transfer over at other times. It was convenient to go back and forth.

however, no one else had a positioning bead, and he was the only one with such a top-grade item.

There was no reason for other players to run so far to farm monsters. He really did not know why they had designed such a large monster map.

Although Zhang Shan was speechless, he still continued to run forward.

Although he had been running for two days, it was still not enough for the entire Map of Heaven's Gate.

he had only covered a small area, and the map was huge. he would take his time.

He strolled around until night fell. Other than meeting a purple boss, Zhang Shan did not have any other gains.

A day was wasted just like that.

However, he didn't give up. He continued for the second time. After running for an entire day, there was still no result.

Other than encountering a few mini-bosses, it was still a day without any gains.

On the third day, Zhang Shan was speechless. Did they have to be so cruel?

Including the day he came out, today was the fourth day.

There was a huge distance between this place and Heaven's Gate, but the monsters on the map were almost the same.

They were all level 50 monsters, and most of them were demon Warriors.

"Do demons really have that many fighters? It was such a big map, couldn't they make something special?"

although he was depressed, zhang shan did not give up.

He understood the principle of travelling half a hundred miles and ninety miles.

Perhaps there would be some changes if he ran a little further.

Since he had made up his mind to look for level 50 and above monsters, he was determined to find them.

He didn't believe it. It couldn't be that the entire map was filled with level 50 demon Warriors.

Did demons rely on these LV 50 demon fighters to invade the human territory?

This didn't make sense. There must be a high-level monster, but he hadn't found it yet. He had to keep looking.

as he ran further and further away, he did not encounter a single player in the past two days.

It was too far away. Even if they were looking for a boss, players wouldn't be able to find such a far place.

for normal players, even if they found a boss here, they would still be able to defeat it.

They couldn't fight it either. Most players would have to form parties to fight bosses above orange. otherwise, he would not have been able to win.

But it was so far away, so it was unrealistic to gather people here.

zhang shan was running alone on the map. the terrain of heaven's gate was more complicated.

He climbed over mountains and rivers, running forward with determination.

At this moment, little fairy called out to Zhang Shan in the team channel.

"Brother Guan, you still haven't found any high level monsters? Why don't we stop looking? it's a waste of time."

For the past two days, his friends in the team had been constantly persuading him not to do these meaningless things.

They thought that the reason they couldn't find higher level monsters was because the game hadn't been released yet.

Perhaps the game had only opened up monster maps below level 50.

Higher level monster maps might only be opened when the player's level increased or someone triggered something.

Although what his friends said made sense.

However, Zhang Shan still insisted on his own judgment. He felt that he was not wrong.

Heaven's Gate was such a big map, so there must be higher level monsters. Perhaps it was too far away.

The players hadn't found it yet, or it could be that there were some conditions that had yet to be triggered.

However, Zhang Shan felt that no matter which possibility it was, he had to run deeper into the map to achieve it.

if he farmed monsters at the city pass every day, he might never trigger it.

“I haven’t found it yet. It’s okay, I’ll continue to look for it. At most, I’ll look for it for a while. Anyway, the Zombie King gave me two levels of experience, so I’m not in a hurry to level up.”

Zhang Shan was not in a hurry at all, because his current level was far ahead of the other players.

He was already rank-42, while the others didn’t even have a single rank-40.

In order to put on the ant Queen’s Cape as soon as possible, little fairy had been grinding until very late every day.

however, she still needed a lot of experience points to reach level 40. without three to five days, it would be impossible for her to level up.

It was the same for the others.

The experience points given by heart with me were slightly higher.

However, it would still take two days for him to reach level 40.

Without Zhang Shan, the speed of the four of them killing monsters was much slower.

It wasn’t that easy to level up.

Other than the few of them, the other players in the game were even worse.

In the game, the mainstream players were still around level 30. There were not many players above level 35.

For Zhang Shan and the rest to be in the lead by so much ...

One reason was that if they won the World War, they would get a week of double experience.

Furthermore, they had been farming day and night during the double exp period, so they were much more hardworking than the others.

The most important thing was that if they worked together, their efficiency in killing monsters would be super fast.

this was something that no one else could compare to.

It was precisely because of his level that he was far ahead of the others that Zhang Shan had the confidence to spend time running around the map.

If there were always players chasing after him, he would have gone back to farming monsters.

How could he still have time to wander around?

Zhang Shan ran forward with determination. He ran from morning to night for another day, but still did not find anything special.

He continued to run forward, and when he rode over another mountain.

Standing at the top of the mountain, Zhang Shan looked at the other side of the mountain.

He suddenly realized that the situation in the distance seemed to be completely different from the place he had run to earlier.

he saw a city in the distance.

Due to the distance, he could not see it clearly.

However, he saw a square block of tofu-like terrain in the distance. It couldn't possibly be a mountain, right?

Although it looked blurry, Zhang Shan was sure that it was a city.

So the question was, how could there be a city here?

According to the game's background setting, once they left Heaven's Gate, they should be entering the demon race's territory.

this was the territory of the devil race, how could there be a city here?

Could it be a Demon City?

This was interesting.

If a demonic city was discovered, would the players be able to attack it?

in the past, when the monsters attacked the city, it was the nephilims who led the monsters to attack the city, and the players could only defend.

Was it the players' turn to attack the demonic city?

The game shouldn't be developing so quickly, right?

The players' levels were still a little low.

It was fine to kill small monsters, but it was not enough to attack a Demon City.

Could it be that he had run too far and triggered some game mechanism in advance?

Zhang Shan was a little uncertain. He shared his own perspective to the team channel.

"Look, there seems to be a city in front of me. Is that the city of the devil race?"

"F * ck, let me see."

damn it, you've really run far. Could that be the hinterlands of the demon race? you can even see their city.

not to that extent. Compared to such a large Map of Heaven's Gate, six-eyed didn't go too far.

"that's right. according to the map of heaven's gate, it was originally the territory of the human race, but it was invaded and occupied by the devil race. the real hinterland of the devil race should be outside the entire map of heaven's gate, which is very far away."

"what do i do now? I'm afraid that in this demon Race City, there's also a boss as powerful as Dangyang city's city Lord. Before I even get close, I'll be instantly killed."

Zhang Shan asked his friends in the team channel.

Chapter 379 Mission: City Siege

Although Zhang Shan was very excited to discover the demon City, he was still very excited.

However, in a city, there would probably be a very powerful BOSS.

Although Zhang Shan was very curious, he did not dare to rush over.

If this demon Race City also had a super BOSS like Danyang city's city Lord, then ...

If he ran over, wouldn't he be just delivering food?

The stronger the BOSS, the larger its aggro range.

perhaps the big BOSS would rush out and kill him before he could even get close to the city.

That was why he had asked for his teammates' opinions in the party channel and consulted others' opinions.

what are you afraid of? it's so far away. Go over and take a look. Maybe we're wrong and it's just a big rock.

that's right. Who cares what they have? let's go and take a look first. We just have to be careful.

Zhang Shan thought about it and agreed. He had been too careful.

Even if it was a Demon City, so what? compared to the big BOSS, he was just a small fry.

As long as he didn't get too close, the BOSS would be right in front of him. He shouldn't be able to get the BOSS to attack him.

even if he had been discovered, it should have been a monster of the same level as him that had come after him.

Let's go over and take a look first.

Zhang Shan did not ride his horse anymore. Instead, he jogged down the mountain. Riding a horse would make too much noise.

Not long after he ran down the mountain, before he even got close to the demon City, he noticed that there seemed to be a figure in the forest by the road.

My eyes aren't playing tricks on me, are they? how could there be anyone here?

Were there any players who were as bored as him and ran for a few days in a row to such a far place for a stroll?

Eh? no, it might not be a player. it might be an NPC.

Thinking of this, Zhang Shan's heart was on fire. In such a place, if he could meet an NPC ...

Then, could it trigger a mission?

Otherwise, why would the game design an NPC here?

Zhang Shan quickly ran towards the small forest by the side of the road. After a few steps, he saw a person.

this time, he could see it clearly. it was an npc.

The Heaven's Gate Scout Captain, Yu Fei.

The key point was that this Scout leader, Yu Fei, had a big question mark above his head.

Haha, there was indeed a mission.

Zhang Shan was overjoyed.

Missions in new world were rare.

In any case, other than the demon extermination missions in the novice village, Zhang Shan had only seen divine weapon missions.

He had not seen any other missions.

He was not the only one. The other players had never seen a mission before.

Zhang Shan had done two more missions than others because of the divine weapon.

Other than the three of them who had obtained divine artifacts, the other players in the game had never seen the second mission.

As a result, everyone later thought that this game probably didn't have a mission system.

This was because, strictly speaking, a demon-killing mission could not be considered a mission.

Every time they killed a monster, they would receive a copper coin. There were no other rewards, and the players did not need to do anything extra.

How could this be considered a mission?

right now, zhang shan was in the wild and had found an NPC with a question mark above his head.

He was certain that the game had a quest system, but the players had not discovered it yet.

Zhang Shan quickly ran over and asked the captain of the scouts, Yu Fei.

"hello, how can i help you?"

Captain Fei of the scouts said after glancing at Zhang Shan.

"You're too weak. You shouldn't have come to such a dangerous place."

hearing this, zhang shan was a little unhappy. why were the quest npcs all so similar?

Can't you just hand over the quest quickly? otherwise, why are you still wearing a question mark?

Of course, even though Zhang Shan was a little unhappy, he still went forward and continued.

“i’m a hunter. there’s no danger in the forest for me. the only ones in danger are the demons, hehe.”

Zhang Shan boasted shamelessly. Who was he looking down on? was he weak? He was very strong.

“Very good, brave Hunter, do you see the demon Castle in front? That’s the base they’re using to attack the human race. We have to find a way to uproot it. ”

F * ck, they wouldn’t let him attack the city alone, right?

...

After hearing the Scout leader’s words, Zhang Shan was a little stunned. How could he take down the demons ‘Castle by himself? he was overestimating him.

“So, you want me to destroy the castle?”

Even though he did not know if the leader of the scouts, Yu Fei, meant this, Zhang Shan felt that it was better to be sure.

The key was that when he looked at his mission panel, there was no new mission.

The captain of the scouts, Yu Fei, had not given him a mission yet.

no matter what kind of mission it was, even if he had to attack the city alone, he would be able to do it.

Zhang Shan also wanted to get the mission first, no matter how difficult it was.

He had to get a mission first. If the mission was too difficult, he wouldn’t be able to handle it now.

He could save it for later, or he could find someone to help him with it.

“yes, we need to destroy this demon castle. it’s a pity that i’ve been severely injured in the battle with the demon castle lord, so i can’t go with you.”

“However, i’ve also injured the demon Castle Lord. You still have a chance to complete your mission and destroy the castle.”

...

there are many demons in the castle. You can find a few more friends to help.

After the Scout leader, Yu Fei, finished speaking, Zhang Shan saw a new message on his mission panel.

[quest: seize the city: destroy or occupy the demon Castle. Quest time limit: 15 days.]

[number of participants: 1/5]

this was actually a team quest, and a maximum of five people could accept the quest together.

However, the mission system did not state what the reward for completing the mission was.

Zhang Shan did not care about this. As long as he completed the mission, the reward would always come.

Moreover, he felt that the reward for such a mission would not be bad.

the system wouldn't trick him, right?

A maximum of five people could accept the mission, so there was nothing to say.

he called his friends over to take over the city.

If there was a reward, everyone would take it together. It would not take up his share anyway.

Zhang Shan displayed the city Siege mission on the team channel and said.

I met a quest NPC just now. It's a quest that can be accepted by five people. Do you want to come over and have a go? "

f * ck, I've finally seen the mission in this game. I thought the mission panel was just for show.

" but it's so far away. brother guan ran for almost four days before he got there. if we run there, even if we don't stop, it'll take two or three days. " distance isn't a problem. What's there to be afraid of when there's a mission? just give me some mission rewards. It's no better than killing monsters.

let's go, let's go. What's the point of farming monsters? let's hurry over and accept the quest.

there's no need to rush. It's so far away anyway. We're not afraid that someone will take the mission first.

" how can we do that? we should leave as soon as possible. "

" but i haven't reached level 40 yet, so i can't update my equipment. even if i run over, i'll be a noob. " it's okay. Even if you've updated your equipment, you're still a noob.

you're right. We're just going there for a bit. We'll just rely on the six-barrelled team to take over the city.

that's right. Six-Guan is ridiculously strong now. He doesn't need us to update his equipment.

"Then let's set off immediately?"

zhang shan looked at his friends, their anxious looks, and was a little speechless.

Was there a need to be in such a hurry? The captain of the scouts, Yu Fei, was right here. He would not run away, so it should be fine for him to come a few days later to accept the mission.

Of course, the earlier they came, the better it would be.

Zhang Shan did not plan to go and take over the city alone.

Although Captain Yu Fei had said that he had already severely injured the Lord of the demon race's Castle, he was still very calm.

Now in the demon Castle, without the big boss, the castle Lord, it should be much easier to fight.

But he still didn't plan on barging through by himself.

After all, it was a city. Who knew how many demons there were and how many bosses there would be?

It was safer to wait for his friends to come over together.

In any case, there was enough time. As long as they destroyed or occupied the demon Castle within fifteen days, the mission would be considered complete.

Zhang Shan also did not know what "destroy" and "occupy" meant.

It couldn't be that he had destroyed the demon Castle, right?

This was simply impossible. How could they demolish such a large city?

Moreover, things like city buildings, trees, and stones were considered game scenes, and players could not destroy them at all.

As for occupation, Zhang Shan did not understand. Could killing all the demons in the castle be considered occupation?

He didn't think it was that simple.

However, there was no point in worrying about this now. He would wait until all his friends were here.

Everyone, charge into the city and kill all the demons in the city.

He would know when he checked the progress of the mission.

Perhaps there was a simpler game mechanism, such as destroying a certain item in the castle or a certain BOSS, and the mission would be completed.

There was no point in fussing over this now.

what zhang shan was struggling with now was that it would take at least three days for the others to come over.

Then what should he do during this time?

It's impossible to just wait here like a fool, right?

Although there were monsters nearby to farm, they all had the Holy demon's protection.

It was hard to farm, and he didn't want to farm here.

Maybe he should go back to beast King Valley to farm monsters. Although he could not farm monsters with his friends, he would farm monsters alone.

His efficiency wasn't low either. It should be said that the speed at which he farmed monsters alone was much faster than the speed at which he leveled up in a party.

"are you guys leaving now?"

zhang shan asked the other flash players in the team channel.

not yet. Let's go back to the city first to repair our equipment and get more supplies. Then, we'll bring along level 40 equipment before setting off.

"Damn, you guys are so thoughtful."

"We don't have positioning beads like you, we can't fly here and there. After this trip, we don't know how many days it will take before we can return to the city."

"Yeah, the distance is too far, and we don't know how long the quest will take."

"Alright, you guys take your time. I'm going back to the city to level up my engineering and see if I can make the fire god cannon."

boss, you're awesome. After you've made the six-barrel fire god cannon, send it to us. I want to see how awesome it is.

Zhang Shan was not far from the Scout leader Yu Fei. After marking the coordinates, he returned to Dangyang city.

If the others wanted to run to Yu Fei's place to accept the mission, it would take two to three days.

He couldn't just wait here.

As for the demons' Castle, Zhang Shan did not plan to go alone. He would first scout the path.

It was completely unnecessary. If he was not careful and was discovered by the demons, he did not know how long he would be entangled before he could escape.

It was even possible that he would end up being hung there.

He was too lazy to look at it, and when everyone arrived, the five of them barged in together.

After all, among the five of them, three of them had ultimate skills. If they were surrounded by a sea of demons ...

if they used their big moves to open a path, it wasn't as if they didn't have a chance to rush out.

Even if they didn't have any big moves, with boss Wu as an assistant, they could improve their combat effectiveness a lot.

As for now, he was all alone without anyone to take care of him, so it was better not to go over and have fun.

He planned to level up his engineering first.

The description of the city-seizing mission was to destroy or occupy the demon's castle.

In other words, Zhang Shan and the rest had a chance to occupy this Castle.

Although the game had not yet opened up a system for players to build cities.

Zhang Shan did not know what they had to do to occupy the demon's castle.

What kind of benefits would they get after occupying the demon Castle?

Zhang Shan did not know any of these.

However, he knew one thing. The six-barrel Vulcan cannon was a type of defensive weapon.

Since it was a city-guarding weapon, it would definitely be useful after occupying the demon Castle.

Thus, Zhang Shan felt that he had to make some preparations.

It would be best to make the six-barrel fire god cannon. It might have a miraculous effect.

The most important thing was that he now had this condition.

Now, Zhang Shan had the opportunity to build the six-barrel fire god cannon.

During the period of double experience, a guild member managed to obtain two level 3 engineering blueprints and sold them to Zhang Shan.

He did not lack blueprints now.

As for the materials, he had been collecting them all along.

Every time Zhang Shan returned to Dangyang city, the first thing he did was almost always to go to the auction house to buy materials.

Then, he would see if he could pick up any leftovers.

In addition to the materials needed for engineering, he had a few more divine materials in stock.

They were all picked up from the auction house.

Although divine materials were rare, no matter how rare they were, they were still more than divine artifact mission items.

Moreover, there were so many players in the game, so there would definitely be someone who could farm it.

Other people did not know the use of divine materials. It was not surprising that Zhang Shan would get a bargain if they put it up for auction.

he had the blueprint and enough materials.

Zhang Shan teleported to the warehouse. After taking out the materials and blueprints, he teleported to the Guild base.

Players can enter the Guild workshop by consuming Guild contribution points.

Since the six-barrel Vulcan cannon was a level 4 engineering item, he had to first upgrade his engineering level to Level 4 master engineer before he could start making the six-barrel Vulcan cannon.

Currently, his engineering level was still at Level 3, and he was still 200 proficiency points away from becoming a master engineer.

Zhang Shan first studied two level 3 blueprints.

After that, he began to make it continuously. After countless failures and the consumption of a large number of materials, he finally made it.

He had finally raised his engineering level to Level 4 master engineer.

Chapter 380 The six-barrel fire god cannon

Now that his engineering level had reached Level 4 master engineer, he could finally start making the six-barrel fire god cannon.

It had been some time since Zhang Shan had gotten his hands on the six-barrel Vulcan Cannon's construction blueprint.

Due to his low engineering level, he had not started making it. Now, he could finally start.

Zhang Shan took out the materials for the six-barrel Vulcan cannon from his backpack.

there were only a little over a hundred sets in total. the success rate of crafting an engineering item for the first time was extremely low.

Would he be able to successfully craft a six-barrel Vulcan cannon?

However, he couldn't care too much about it. Let's just have a rough wave first.

Zhang Shan placed a set of materials on the operating table and began to make.

Unsurprisingly, after a few seconds, the materials disappeared, and the production failed.

it's okay, again.

Zhang Shan placed the ingredients on the operating table. The repeated failures gave him a headache.

The materials required to craft a level 4 engineering item were not cheap.

Not to mention the other materials, just the fact that each set of materials required a purple material was already not low.

Although every purple BOSS would drop a purple material, it was still a rare treasure.

Moreover, there were more purple bosses and their respawn rate was fast. In the Heaven's Gate map, it could be said that they were everywhere.

Other than the purple-colored materials that the BOSS would drop, there were other ways to obtain materials.

However, this did not mean that purple materials would be cheap.

After all, purple-colored materials were items dropped by bosses. Moreover, all profession class players would need them, so their consumption was very high.

No one would sell purple materials at a low price.

The price of the purple materials had stabilized at four to five hundred gold coins each.

The price didn't seem expensive, but you had to see how much you needed to use.

One or two of them was nothing.

however, if he were to use a few hundred of them in a row, even a rich person like zhang shan would feel heartache.

Other than the purple material, the other materials used to make the six-barrel Vulcan cannon were not cheap either.

The most important thing was that some of the materials here had a very low production rate. Although they were not expensive, there was no place to buy them.

Zhang Shan had also spent a long time at the auction house to gather more than a hundred sets of materials.

now that he had used up dozens of sets of materials, he had not even seen the shadow of the six-barrel fire god cannon.

A single failure would cost him thousands of gold coins, and he had failed dozens of times in a row.

Tens of thousands of gold coins were thrown out, but they did not even cause a splash.

Zhang Shan was a little numb.

However, there was nothing he could do about it. This was how difficult it was to learn a lifestyle class.

one had to experience countless failures before one could succeed.

If he succeeded once, the subsequent production would be much better, although there would still be failures.

However, the failure rate was completely acceptable.

the main thing was that it was extremely difficult to succeed on the first try. zhang shan's previous new blueprints had also required hundreds of sets of materials to succeed.

it was just that the previous materials were relatively cheap, so he didn't care much.

However, he could not do that now. As his engineering level increased, the materials would become more and more expensive.

However, it was still so difficult to successfully produce the first product.

Zhang Shan was a little speechless.

It wasn't easy to get a life profession in the game.

he didn't know if there were any specialized trade skill players. if there were, he didn't know how they survived.

Why did he feel that the investment in this thing was not proportional to the profit?

There were less than 30 sets of materials for the six-barrel Vulcan cannon left in his backpack.

Zhang Shan gritted his teeth and continued to put the materials on the workbench.

He didn't believe that he wouldn't be able to produce a product after using up all these materials.

If all of them failed, he would go to the auction house to buy more materials.

although zhang shan had only collected over a hundred sets of materials for the six-barrel fire god cannon.

However, this didn't mean that they couldn't be sold at the auction house.

In fact, there were a lot of materials in the auction house, but many of them were very expensive.

he didn't want to be a spendthrift, so he only picked the ones that were worth the price.

He would never touch it.

But this time, it didn't seem possible. There might not be enough materials.

...

If that was the case, there was no other way. They would have to buy expensive materials, and they couldn't just give up halfway.

If he wanted to make a six-barrel fire god cannon, he would have to invest money.

Zhang Shan continued to place the ingredients on the operating table until there were only two sets of ingredients left.

A bright light flashed on the console.

Not long after, the light dissipated, and a Super Mini Cannon appeared on the console.

haha, he finally made one. it was worth spending so many materials on it.

zhang shan took the mini cannon down from the console and examined it carefully.

he looked at the mini six-barrel fire god cannon in his hand and found it strange.

Could such a palm-sized thing be considered a city-guarding weapon?

Could this be a model?

However, he didn't take it too seriously. It was a game, after all, and anything was possible.

...

One only had to look at the item's attributes. The size of the item was not important.

Checking attributes:

[six-barrel Vulcan cannon: one-star defensive equipment. Attack power: 50000. Range: 100 yards. HP: 1000000. Attack interval: 0.5 seconds. Effective when placed in a player's city.]

The description of the six-barrel Vulcan cannon was similar to the one on the blueprint. It had an attack power of 50000 and a range of 100 yards.

However, after the finished product was made, there was an additional sentence at the end, which would take effect when placed in the player's city.

Seeing this sentence, Zhang Shan understood a problem.

In the New World, players could also build cities, but they did not know how to do it.

However, Zhang Shan and the rest might be able to take a shortcut and build a city.

That was to take over the Nephilim race's city and occupy it. That way, the Nephilim race's Castle could be considered a player's city.

"Castle" and "city" were only one word apart, so there shouldn't be any problem.

It was probably just that the castle was smaller, but no matter what, a castle was still a city.

Thinking of this, Zhang Shan's heart was on fire. He had to snatch that Demon Castle.

He didn't know what benefits the players would get after building the city.

However, it was never wrong to snatch it.

According to other games, after players occupied a city, they could build teleportation formations and collect taxes.

This Demon Castle might be a little too small, so it was unrealistic to collect taxes, and they wouldn't be able to collect much.

However, it would be fine as long as there was a teleportation array.

As long as he could open the teleportation formation in this Demon Castle, he would be able to escape.

In the future, everyone would be able to use the teleportation array and teleport over directly. They would no longer need to do what he did before.

It would take three to four days to get there.

No wonder Zhang Shan had previously felt that Heaven's Gate was such a huge map. The players would not know what to do in the future.

he couldn't possibly spend a few days running away before he started farming monsters.

from the looks of it, it should be the players advancing through the castles.

As the players' levels increased, they would be able to reach the other end of the Heaven's Gate map.

Zhang Shan looked at the six-barrel fire god cannon in his hands. He liked it very much.

After snatching the demon's Castle, they would directly place it on the city wall.

The fire god Cannon's firepower was even more powerful than his own. Most importantly, it could reach a range of 100 yards, which was already very terrifying.

With the current strength of the players, no one would be able to charge up if they used the six-barrel Vulcan cannon to defend the city.

Not to mention the players, even the demonic monsters wouldn't be able to charge over with a few more fire god cannons.

However, it had to be in large quantities. Right now, Zhang Shan had only made one six-barrel fire god cannon. It was not of much use. He had to stack the numbers.

As long as there were enough six-barrel fire god cannons, the city they occupied would be as stable as Mount Tai, and no one would be able to take it away.

He looked at the two sets of materials left in his backpack. No, he had to buy more materials, even if the price was high. He had to make more fire god cannons.

After all, as long as he made the first product, the success rate for the rest would be very high, and he would not waste too many materials.

This was especially so after his proficiency had reached 50 points. He would be able to succeed in almost every production.

Zhang Shan teleported to the auction house, and at the same time displayed the six-barrel Vulcan cannon on the team channel.

The team members were running towards the position of the Scout leader, Yu Fei. However, they had just started and still had a long way to go.

f * ck, this fire god cannon made by six-barrel master is awesome. It's a pity that it can only be used to defend a city. If I could use it to shoot, wouldn't it be invincible? "

"Haha, it's alright."

Zhang Shan was also very happy. This fire god cannon was a good thing.

"That's too much. You actually want to hold it in your hand and shoot it? do you want to use the fire god cannon as a weapon? The problem is that I can't equip it. " by the way, brother six-barreled, is that fire god cannon especially big? is it like the one in the movie? "

I don't know how big a real fire god cannon is, but the one I've made is only the size of a palm.

what? how can a palm-sized thing defend the city? this doesn't make sense.

"Why do you care so much? it's fine as long as the attributes are real."

the newly built one is probably just a model. It'll probably only reveal its true size after it's placed in a defensive position.

"i guess so."

wuwuwu, we've only just started running. Looking at the finish line on the map, it's simply out of reach.

run slowly, you guys. I'll go and farm monsters later, hehe.

At the auction house, Zhang Shan spent a high price to buy another 50 sets. The materials for the six-barrel fire god cannon had cost him nearly 100000 gold coins.

he wondered how many finished products could be made from these materials.

It wasn't that he didn't want to buy more, but he couldn't gather more.

It was either missing this or that.

A total of five materials were required for the six-barrel Vulcan cannon, one of which was a special metal that was relatively rare.

There weren't many materials for sale in the auction house. He had swept through everything in the auction house and only managed to gather 50 sets of materials.

After buying the materials for the Vulcan cannon, Zhang Shan also bought some materials for the primary incendiary bullets. He was preparing to make another batch of special bullets.

Although Zhang Shan's ATK was terrifyingly high and his damage output was explosive, he was not lacking in damage output.

however, the basic burning bullet was still somewhat useful. at least, the 500 burn damage per second was quite useful in fighting bosses.

After buying the materials, Zhang Shan teleported to the Guild's base and continued to make the six-barrel fire god cannon.

After the first success, the later ones were much easier.

In the beginning, he had to fail a few times before he could successfully make a fire god cannon.

When one's proficiency exceeded 10 points, one would be able to successfully produce a finished product after two or three failures.

After using up all the materials, Zhang Shan's backpack had a total of 12 fire god cannons.

However, the strange thing was that the fire god cannon was not like the bullets, which could be stacked in the backpack.

Instead, each fire god cannon would take up one space in the backpack.

Fortunately, his backpack was big enough and had a thousand slots.

If he was like an ordinary player, he would only have 95 space in his backpack.

If he were to make more fire god cannons, his backpack might not even be able to fit them.

Perhaps these fire god cannons were the same as equipment-they were items and not consumables.

However, Zhang Shan did not have to worry about this. Anyway, his backpack could carry it. Even if he had to make a few hundred fire god cannons.

He could take them away at once.

I don't think he needs so many fire god cannons, right?

If a city had hundreds of fire gods, it would be a little scary. There was no need to.

It mainly depended on the size of the city. If the city wasn't big, a fire god cannon would be placed every 100 yards.

This way, no matter which direction the enemy attacked from, there would be two fire god cannons firing at the same time.

After all, the range of the fire god cannon was a hundred yards.

There shouldn't be many fire god cannons needed to defend a small castle. Perhaps his twelve fire god cannons would be enough.

After settling the fire god cannon, Zhang Shan did not immediately leave the Guild workshop. Instead, he continued to produce a batch of normal bullets and basic burning bullets.

It was very easy for him to make bullets, because he had reached 100 points in proficiency for both bullets.

It almost never failed, and it was successful every time.

not long after, zhang shan put away the bullets that he had made, and then used the positioning pearl to teleport to the beast king valley.

Now that things were done, it was time to continue farming monsters.

Zhang Shan was farming monsters alone in the beast King Valley. The other members of the team were still on the run.

When he was alone, he might have been able to farm even faster.

Previously, Zhang Shan had felt that it was really difficult to level up in this game.

however, after obtaining the ejection skill, he felt that upgrading it wasn't particularly difficult.

zhang shan felt that he was leveling up faster and faster, much faster than when he was level 20.

Back when he was leveling up from level 29 to level 30, he had to farm almost half of his friends before he could level up.

he was now level 42, but it would only take a few days to level up.

He estimated that he would be able to level up in about five days.

The main reason was that he was too strong now. The Tiger monster in beast King Valley only had 20000 HP.

And his attack power actually exceeded 45000, which was a serious damage overflow.

He did not even want to farm monsters in beast King Valley anymore.

However, there was no other way. It was the same no matter where he went to farm the monsters. In any case, the highest level of the monsters was level 50.

As for higher level monsters, he had been searching for them for so many days and still had not found any.

He reckoned that after they took down the demon Castle, they would be able to find higher level monsters on the other side of the castle.