

Passive Skills 47

Chapter 47 The event begins

The war drums beat and the horns sounded. The monster siege was about to begin.

this is interesting. Let's go out. I wonder if there's a dark mass of wild monsters outside the city or a small number of elite monsters attacking the city.

I don't know. Let's go up to the city wall and take a look.

when everyone walked out of the guild residence, they found that the city was filled with players, but there was not a single NPC.

All of the NPC buildings were tightly shut, and even the patrolling Army was nowhere to be seen.

f * ck, the NPC Army won't really not participate in the battle, right? are they just relying on US players to defend the city? " how are we going to defend? we're all weak chickens now.

that's right. That right general of the Nephilims, locks, is a super boss just by hearing his name. How could the players possibly stop him? "

"it doesn't matter. at most, i'll just die a few times. i won't lose experience anyway."

"Don't be scared, just do it."

The right general of the demons, locks, thought,"little ones, kill, kill, kill. Send all these humans who are unwilling to submit to the demon God."

after the general of the right of the demon race shouted, a loud shout came from the city lord's mansion, " He was looking for death.

A figure rose from the city Lord's mansion and turned into a stream of light, flying out of the city.

A moment later, a great battle broke out outside the city, and red light filled the sky.

"Is this the opening cinematics before the event?"

fortunately, the castellan has made a move. He should have stopped the right general, locks. Now, it's time for us to show our strength.

f * ck, look, there's a monster over there. It's an elite monster.

"Oh my God, don't the monsters attack through the city walls? Why did it respawn in the city?"

f * ck, then our Guild's resurrection point is close to the city gate. We don't have an advantage anymore.

forget it. Split up according to the teams and kill any monster you see.

we still have the advantage. At least we don't have to worry about anyone interfering with our kill-stealing nearby. If they die, they won't have the chance to come back, but we can revive nearby.

that's right, farm contribution points near the Guild base. When you see a BOSS you can't beat, call for help in the Guild channel.

"Let's go. Little Secretary, lead the way."

The little Secretary was their team's main tank. After changing into level 15 equipment, her HP was close to 10000, so she should have no pressure in tanking monsters.

"There's a bunch of red dots on the left, follow me." The Secretary waved her hand.

When they followed the red dots on the map and found the monsters, they found a large group of monsters chasing after the players.

By the time they arrived, the players they were chasing had all fallen to the ground.

"F * ck, monsters are chasing players in the city. Can the Nephilims not be so arrogant?"

"Don't talk nonsense. Hurry up and attack. Our contribution points for defending the city are still zero."

"Wait, these monsters are very strong. Be careful. Zhang Shan called out to everyone.

He was now level 20, so he could see the information of level 20 elite monsters.

"Brother artifact, you don't have to be so careful. It's just a purple BOSS and a few dozen elite monsters. We can kill them with two slashes each."

Zhang Shan did not waste any time and displayed the elite monster's information. The purple BOSS was level 25, so he could not see its information.

[demon warrior (elite): level 20, hp 100000, attack 1200, skill 1, warrior's charge. status: demon god's morale.]

[warrior's charge: charges towards the target at high speed and deals damage. Speed reduction of 3 seconds.]

[Demon God's encouragement: during the city defense event, the demon troops will receive the demon God's encouragement. Their attributes will increase greatly, and their health points will increase by 10 times.]

"F * ck, if an elite monster has 100000 HP, then wouldn't a purple BOSS have a few million HP?"

"It's okay, we can fight these, but they have a lot of health. The monster's attack power shouldn't have doubled, so as long as we can hold on, it'll be fine."

"Little Secretary, pull the boss first. The others, quickly split into several groups to clear the small monsters. Support, pay attention to healing."

after feng yun realm finished his arrangements, the secretary charged towards the purple boss and pulled the boss. the other elites also followed the boss and started to attack him.

hurry up and pull the elite monsters away. There are dozens of monsters and a boss. I'm going to be finished in one or two hits. The little Secretary shouted.

The other strength-type professions quickly went forward and each of them pulled away an elite.

there were more than 30 elite monsters in total. in their team, there were only about 10 strength classes. the rest could only rely on those with fast movement speed to kite them.

Zhang Shan also pulled over a demon warrior.

The monsters had 100000 HP, so it was not a big problem for him. If he stood still and faced the A's, he could kill one in half a minute.

he could also withstand the damage from the monsters. more than 1000 attack power hit him, but he only had 800 to 900 hp.

With his health, he could take 20 to 30 hits without any pressure.

Zhang Shan's attacks continued to hit one of the demon Warriors. The monster turned around and used charge to slow him down.

The deceleration didn't affect him. He was only afraid of stun. Fortunately, these elite monsters didn't have stun skills.

In less than half a minute, Zhang Shan had taken down the first elite monster. His health had also been reduced by half by the demon Warriors.

After one monster was defeated, they immediately turned to another. There were still more than 30 monsters. Some of the others were kiting alone, while others were attacking a monster together. They had not killed a single monster yet.

"Get a support to add blood to me. "Zhang Shan has lost more than half of his health. It's a little unsafe, even though the elite monster can't be killed.

...

However, it was better to recover his Health First to look safer. After all, the support was not under much pressure at the moment.

the purple boss was not that strong, it just had a bit more health, but its damage was much lower than that of the priest.

Demon elite squad leader (purple): Level 20, HP 2000000, attack 2000, skill 1, enhanced charge, skill 2, two blade stream, status, Demon God's morale.

[enhanced charge: charges towards the target at high speed and deals double damage. Stuns for 1 second and slows the target for 3 seconds.]

[two-blade stream: two consecutive attacks. the damage of the second attack will double.]

[Demon God's encouragement: during the city defense event, the demon troops will receive the demon God's encouragement. Their attributes will increase greatly, and their health points will increase by 10 times.]

It was just a normal boss, not hard to deal with. It just had a lot of health, so it would take some time. However, if there were many people, they would die very quickly.

The key was to clear the small monsters as soon as possible.

As the number of elite monsters decreased, the number of teammates who could join in the attack increased.

In the beginning, it took Zhang Shan nearly half a minute to defeat a demon soldier.

Now that a few of them were surrounding a monster, it would only take a few hits to kill it. In less than a few minutes, everyone had cleared the monsters and attacked the elite party leader together.

...

"The BOSS has leveled up so much. I wonder if it will drop anything good?"

"You're thinking too much. There were so many bosses during the event, how could they all drop good items? it would be better if we killed the right general, locks."

"Then there's no point in this event. It's so difficult to kill a purple BOSS, and the drops are good."

"I'll give you experience points. It's still faster than killing monsters in the wild. Besides, there are still treasure chests and merit points after the event."

you're right. Look at Big Boss six-barreled, he's already at the top of the list. He's more than double the others.

"That's only natural. They can kill an elite monster in half a minute. If we were alone, we wouldn't even be able to finish it in ten minutes."

quickly take down the elite team leader. Maybe he'll drop something good for us.

"Dreams are basically impossible to achieve, hehe."