

Passive Skills 561

Chapter 561 The first revolution of the divine weapon

Zhang Shan withstood the damage from the two bone crusher zombies and kept firing. The bullets were like raindrops that swept across.

Little fairy, who was standing beside him, also kept shooting arrows.

Under the continuous attacks of the two of them, the health of the two zombie monsters began to decrease.

these bone crushing zombies had as much as two billion hp, which was indeed terrifying.

as monsters with orange names, zhang shan felt that these zombie monsters did not look like bosses.

However, in terms of attributes, other than having two less skills than the BOSS, there shouldn't be much difference between the boss and the orange BOSS in other aspects.

Although Zhang Shan had never fought a level 100 orange-colored BOSS.

However, when he thought about it, a level 100 orange-colored BOSS should only be like this. It couldn't be any stronger.

Broken bones Zombie's two billion HP was not a small amount, but the level suppression was too strong.

This caused Zhang Shan's damaging ability to be completely unable to display the effect it should have.

Without boss Wu's blessing, Zhang Shan's theoretical damage was more than 320000.

However, the actual damage he dealt to these two shattered bones zombies was only slightly over 100000.

There was a 30 level difference between Zhang Shan and the zombie monster.

The huge level gap had given him a very strong level suppression, directly suppressing him and dealing over-200000 damage.

As for the little fairy's damage, it was suppressed even more.

However, each of her arrows only dealt around 10000 damage to the zombie monsters.

The little fairy's damage was nothing compared to the two billion HP bone crusher zombie.

But this didn't matter.

Even though their damage was greatly suppressed.

However, the damage that Zhang Shan had dealt was still very impressive.

The main reason was that there were two bone crusher zombies here. It just happened to make Zhang Shan's catapulting passive and could perfectly display the effect.

Although Zhang Shan's damage had been greatly suppressed, he could still deal more than 100000 damage.

With the boost of the ejection passive, the total damage of each shot was more than one million, even if the critical effect was not taken into account.

And Zhang Shan's attack speed was also very fierce. So if he and the little fairy wanted to kill these two zombie monsters, it should not take too long.

He estimated that he would be able to kill these two zombies in about ten minutes.

just as they started to attack.

At this moment, boss Wu had already resurrected his heart following me.

Seeing that he was the only one left in the entire party, still lying on the ground, Windcloud blade gloomily said this in the party channel.

Big Boss six-barreled, come and save me. Why are you still standing there? "

"Wait, we'll farm monsters here. After we've killed these two, we'll go over."

f * ck, you guys still have the mood to farm monsters? do you guys have any sympathy? "

"We have no choice. If we don't kill these two monsters, we won't be able to escape. After these monsters set their eyes on a person, they will stick to him tightly. It's impossible to not kill him."

"that's right, what are you shouting for? Besides, there's no point in us going over. We don't have any resurrection skills. We need old Wu to go over to save you."

"Big brother carrying a saber, quickly come and save me."

"Don't worry, I'm on the run."

"How can I not be anxious? If I wait any longer, I might be forced to respawn in the city by the system."

"Why are you panicking? it's still early. Just lie down obediently, hehe."

Zhang Shan and the little fairy continued to farm the zombie monsters. They did not go directly to wind and cloud blade.

It wasn't that he really couldn't get away.

Although the monsters here were really good at chasing people, they wouldn't let go once they had their eyes on them.

however, if zhang shan wanted to leave, he could still escape.

boss wu could use fairy baby to draw the zombies away and then run away. zhang shan could do it too.

Zhang Shan only needed to summon the Panda dumpling and use it to lure the two zombies away. Then, they could shake off the two zombies.

However, Zhang Shan did not want to leave for the time being. He really wanted to try and kill these two zombie monsters first.

Let's see if these small monsters will drop anything good.

Would it drop a saint's relic or a pass or something?

Also, could he get the passive skill [shattered bones] on his first try?

after all, these two zombie monsters had orange names.

Even though it was not a BOSS, it was still an orange-named monster.

The chances of Zhang Shan getting passive skills from them should be very high.

As for saving blade of wind and cloud, Zhang Shan was not in a hurry.

Anyway, they didn't need to go over to save Feng Yun. Boss Wu could go over.

They wouldn't be of much help even if they went over. The only thing they could do was help boss Wu control the situation.

zhang shan felt that even if they did not go over for the time being, there should not be much of an impact.

anyway, boss wu's heart is moving with me now.

zhang shan believed that with the two of them working together, avoiding the small monsters and reviving one blade of wind and cloud should not be a problem.

Therefore, Zhang Shan did not want to leave for the time being. He would wait until he had destroyed these two bone crusher zombies.

Looking at the zombie monster's health bar decreasing rapidly, Zhang Shan still felt that it was too slow.

He quickly went all out.

Zhang Shan activated his berserk and fanatic skills, and at the same time, he activated his shadow clone skill.

The three berserk skills were activated at the same time, and the fierce bullets swept towards the zombie monster.

not only that, zhang shan had also summoned the panda bear, to join in the damage output.

Although the Panda team was fighting very slowly, having one more output player could speed up the speed of killing monsters.

Under Zhang Shan's violent output, the zombie monster's health dropped rapidly.

In less than five minutes, these two bone crusher zombies had been beaten to half health by Zhang Shan.

However, although these zombies were also orange-colored, they did not have any powerful skills.

Therefore, when their HP dropped to half, these zombie monsters would not make any movements.

these two bone crusher zombies did not have any skills to use. they only had one passive skill, bone crusher.

This was also good. It saved Zhang Shan a lot of trouble.

He didn't have to worry about how to deal with the monster's big move.

if these zombie monsters were all orange-colored bosses, it would be a little difficult to deal with them.

A level 100 orange-colored BOSS's ultimate skill was not that easy to block.

Zhang Shan would probably have to activate his God's descent skill to be able to withstand it.

If that was the case, he would only be able to fight two monsters at most every time he entered the ruins map.

This was because he could only use his deity's descent skill twice a day.

This was even with the divine artifact spawn point, which could refresh the cooldown time of his skills.

if not, zhang shan would be like the other players, only able to use his ultimate once a day.

Zhang Shan kept firing his guns while paying attention to the movements of boss Wu and heart follows me through the team information.

The two of them were approaching the spot where wind cloud blade had fallen.

however, the place where feng yun one blade fell was far away from everyone. it would take boss wu and the others more than half an hour to run there.

And this would only happen if things went smoothly.

In fact, it was impossible for them to run smoothly in a straight line.

On the way, they would definitely encounter all kinds of zombie monsters from time to time.

In that case, they would have to take a detour and waste a lot of time.

It was no wonder that Windcloud blade was so anxious.

To him, this was an urgent matter.

if boss wu and his team couldn't get there in time, wind and cloud blade would lose one level of experience.

However, in Zhang Shan's opinion, as long as boss Wu and the rest did not make any major mistakes, they should be able to rush over in time and revive Feng Yun one blade.

For the time being, Zhang Shan did not want to pay attention to wind cloud blade, who had fallen to the ground. Instead, he focused on dealing with the two bone crusher zombies in front of him.

Under his and little fairy's continuous attacks, the two skeleton crusher zombies 'health bars were dropping rapidly.

They fought for another four to five minutes, and these two bone crusher zombies were killed by Zhang Shan's gun.

After the bone crusher zombie fell to the ground, other than two white lights that fell into Zhang Shan's backpack, there was no other movement.

There were no system announcements or system notifications.

It was understandable that there was no announcement.

After all, Zhang Shan had long guessed that the zombie monsters in the city of the ruins map could not be considered bosses.

Since it wasn't considered a BOSS, there was no first clear announcement.

However, there was not even a system notification. This made Zhang Shan very depressed.

There was no system notification. This meant that Zhang Shan had not obtained any passive skills.

Was it that difficult to farm a passive skill on an orange monster?

After killing two orange-colored zombies in a row, he still couldn't get any passive skills.

It seemed that the passive skills on these zombies weren't easy to get.

such an outcome made zhang shan a little depressed.

However, if it didn't appear, then so be it.

If he couldn't get it this time, he would continue next time.

In any case, Zhang Shan had made up his mind. He was going to go against the zombies here.

He wouldn't stop until all the passive skills of the monsters here were refreshed.

Zhang Shan planned that as long as he had the pass, he would be able to farm monsters and level up here every day.

In any case, the experience points given by these orange-colored zombie monsters were not bad.

The experience points given by these zombie monsters were slightly less than that of a normal orange-colored BOSS.

however, there were a lot more of them than normal monsters.

All in all, they wouldn't be at a disadvantage in terms of experience points by farming monsters here.

This time, he did not get any passive skills, but Zhang Shan was not discouraged.

As long as he killed enough monsters, he would be able to get all the passive skills of the monsters in the city of the ruins.

Zhang Shan quickly adjusted his mood. He opened his backpack to take a look to see what items had dropped.

When the zombie monster fell to the ground, Zhang Shan saw two white lights enter his backpack.

He hoped that there would be a saint's relic or a pass to the city of the ruins.

Of course.

The drop rate of such items would definitely not be too high. Zhang Shan did not have much expectations.

He just subconsciously looked at it.

Eh?

What was this?

F * ck, is this the relic of a Saint?

Zhang Shan took out an item that looked like a gemstone from his backpack and examined it carefully.

[saint's relic: the essence of power left behind by an ancient powerhouse. It can be used to upgrade godly equipment.]

Haha, it really is a saint's relic.

Speaking of which, new world was created too casually.

zhang shan had originally thought that the so-called saint's relic would be something like scrap metal.

Who knew, just like in other games, weren't these gemstones?

This was no different from the gemstones used to upgrade equipment in other games.

The only change was that the name of the gem used to upgrade equipment was changed to saint's relic.

Zhang Shan displayed the saint's relic on the team channel and said.

haha, brothers, we've obtained a saint's relic.

f * ck, it was so easy. Isn't it too easy? " is this six-barreled boss's dog sh * t luck, or is it not difficult to obtain a saint's relic? " who knows? this is only the first one. We'll know after a few more times.

"Yes, let's speed things up and try to kill a few more waves of monsters."

" let's gather quickly and try to get a large number of saint relics so that our divine weapons can be upgraded. "

At this moment, wind and cloud blade, who was lying on the ground, said gloomily.

Big Boss six-barreled, please stop farming. Come and save me.

"I'll be right there, hehe."

After Zhang Shan finished his sentence, he added.

“I’ll be using this saint’s relic first. I’ll try and see if I can turn the God-tier hand cannon into a first-tier weapon.”

“Hmm, you can use it first. Upgrade your equipment a few times first, then you can give us the rest.”

“Yeah, whether it’s tanking the monsters or dealing damage, it’s still mainly up to you.”

Zhang Shan opened the equipment panel and placed the divine weapon Aglu’s hand cannon into the reincarnation pool.

Then, he would throw the saint’s relic into the reincarnation pool.

After all the items were prepared, a notification appeared in the ascending pool.

[do you want to upgrade Aglu’s hand cannon (divine weapon)?]

zhang shan clicked “yes” to upgrade.

A dazzling light flashed, and the upgrade was successful.

This operation was much easier than he had imagined.

He put in the divine artifact and the saint’s relic and clicked on the upgrade button. It was a one-time success.

However, it was normal to succeed on the first try.

After all, the success rate of a divine weapon’s first transformation was still considered relatively high.

the success rate of a divine weapon’s first transformation was 50%.

With a 50% success rate, Zhang Shan’s first success was considered normal.

He couldn’t say that he had to fail several times in a row for a 50% success rate.

He couldn’t be that unlucky.

Zhang Shan took out the hand cannon to check.

A new message appeared on the divine artifact hand cannon.

[Aglu’s hand cannon (divine artifact first transformation)]

Other than the change in the information regarding the God equipment, the hand Cannon’s attack power had also increased by 10% after the first job transition.

Right now, the attack power of the hand cannon was 13200.

Just one upgrade had increased his basic attack power by 1200.

Including the killer book’s effect, it would increase by 2400.

Zhang Shan also had other special effects that increased his attack power, set attributes, and passive skills.

These three attributes added up to eleven enhancement attributes that increased attack power by ten percent.

This was another 1.1 fold increase.

All in all, the attack power of the God-tier hand cannon should be over 5000.

This was already very strong.

With just one upgrade, Zhang Shan's panel attack power had increased by more than 5000.

And that was only the attack power. If the damage was taken into account, the increase would be even more.

Because of Zhang Shan, there were eight additional damage-increasing effects, equipment set attributes, and title bonuses.

One upgrade had increased his theoretical damage by more than 10000.

A saint's relic was really good.

Initially, Zhang Shan had thought that with his strength, it would be difficult to improve further.

after all, zhang shan had already gathered a full set of divine weapons.

Normally, his strength had already reached the ceiling, and there was no room for improvement.

he didn't expect the game producers to be so considerate.

He had managed to come up with the divine weapon upgrade mechanism in time and reopened the channel for Zhang Shan to improve his strength.

As long as he could get enough saint's relics, he would be able to upgrade his divine weapon a few times.

then, zhang shan's strength would definitely be greatly improved.

Of course.

Zhang Shan understood this in his heart.

The Ascension of a divine weapon was not that simple.

Just now, he had used a saint's relic to successfully upgrade his hand cannon. It made him think that upgrading a divine weapon was an easy task.

The reason he had been able to level up successfully was because the hand cannon was only at the first level.

The success rate of a divine weapon's first transformation was very high, with a success rate of 50%.

When he reached the second transition, it would not be so easy.

The success rate of the second transition was only twenty-five percent.

A 25% success rate, what kind of concept was that?

Everyone can imagine the time when you were doing multiple choice questions in the exam.

The probability of choosing one out of four was 25%.

When you encounter a question that you don't know at all, what are the chances of you choosing the correct answer?

That would be quite difficult.

If one was unlucky, they might be able to avoid the correct answer even if they chose seven or eight times.

The success rate of a divine weapon's second transformation was like this, it depended on luck.

And this was only rank two, the later ranks three, four, eight, and nine were even more difficult.

To successfully upgrade a divine weapon, one had to try their luck every time.

In the end, even the true son of destiny would not be able to do it. After all, no matter how lucky a person was, it was impossible for them to be lucky all the time.

Zhang Shan felt that the key to upgrading the God equipment to the later stages was still to have enough Saint relics.

If one's luck was bad, they could make up for it with numbers.

If one time didn't work, he would try ten times. If ten times didn't work, he would try a hundred times. As long as there were enough Saint relics, what was there to be afraid of not succeeding?

Although the promotion later on would definitely be very difficult, Zhang Shan was not conflicted.

The difficulty was a matter for the future. For now, he had to upgrade his divine weapon two or three times.

When he had time in the future, he would slowly upgrade the main divine weapons on him one by one.

After Zhang Shan had upgraded his hand cannon, the attack power on his panel had increased to 97000.

Including the killer book and the various bonus effects, the theoretical damage he could deal now had reached more than 340000.

With the addition of boss Wu's attack blessing, it would be even more powerful. It would definitely exceed 400000.

With such a powerful damage ability, it should be faster to kill the zombie monsters later.

As long as he upgraded the hand cannon two more times, they should not have too much pressure killing the zombies here.

Perhaps it was just like how they usually killed normal bosses in a few minutes.

zhang shan said to the little fairy after upgrading his hand cannon.

“Let’s go. We’ll meet up with wind and cloud blade,”

“Yes, yes.”

Just as they were about to leave, little fairy suddenly shouted.

” eh, brother pipe, look over there. the two bone crusher zombies that we killed just now have respawned again. ”

Zhang Shan looked in the direction the little fairy was pointing.

The two shattered bones zombies reappeared at the spot where they had been grinding.

He couldn’t help but feel strange.

Didn’t they just kill these two zombie monsters? it was refreshed so quickly?

“damn, the monsters here respawn so quickly? Does that mean we only need to farm in one place in the future? we don’t need to run all over the map.”

I don’t know if the entire map is like this, or if only these two zombies are spawned like this.

of course, it’s the same. These two bone crusher zombies aren’t any special monsters.

” yeah, we’ll find a few more monsters later. we’ll know after we kill them a few times. ”

The mechanism of the small monsters ‘respawning here had surprised Zhang Shan greatly.

The mobs that they had just killed quickly respawned.

After killing two, another two came.

If this was the case, they would no longer have to run around to farm monsters in the city of the ruins.

They could directly farm in one location until the end of time.

Initially, Zhang Shan was still thinking that it would not be easy to get the passive skills from these zombies.

After all, the monsters in the city of the ruins were not dense, and there were not many of them.

What if he farmed too quickly and killed all the monsters at once?

that would mean that he would not be able to farm them anymore, and he would have to wait until he re-entered the map.

Now, it seemed that he had been overthinking.

The mobs in the city of the ruins ‘map respawned so quickly.

After killing two, another two would immediately appear.

At this rate, they would never be able to clear all the monsters in the ruins city.

Even if a large group of players came, it would be impossible to kill all the monsters in the map.

Chapter 10 Zhang Shan brought the little fairy and ran towards the place where wind cloud blade had fallen. At the same time, he was thinking about the monster mechanism of the city of ruins map.

The first point was that the monsters in the city of the ruins map were all very powerful.

In any case, Zhang Shan had not seen any weak monsters.

The monsters he saw were all orange-Named Monsters. There were no normal white-Named Monsters.

Although he had only fought two bone crusher zombies, Zhang Shan and the rest had not fought any of the other orange-Named Monsters.

However, from the point of view of one type of monster, he could naturally deduce that the strength of the other monsters would definitely not be weak.

And these were only the wild monsters that Zhang Shan had seen before. Perhaps in the city of the ruins, there were even stronger zombie monsters that he had not seen yet.

There might even be a red-named zombie, or a real boss-level zombie.

it couldn't be said that in such a large map, there were only these small zombies with orange names and no bosses.

This was completely impossible.

In the city of the ruins map, there was definitely a BOSS. It was just that Zhang Shan and the others had not seen it.

After all, the map was so big, and the places they had walked through were only a very small part of the entire map.

Of course.

Even if there was a BOSS in the city of the ruins, Zhang Shan would not go out of his way to find it.

The monsters here were all level 100 orange-Named Monsters. They were extremely powerful.

one could imagine how powerful a BOSS would be.

even zhang shan might not be able to hold on.

Another point was that it was not easy to find bosses in the city of ruins.

In the city of the ruins, players could not summon their mounts. If they could not ride horses, it would take a few days for the five of them to search the entire map.

After all, with their short legs, everyone's movement speed could not be fast.

It was so difficult to find, and even if they found it, they might not be able to beat it.

They weren't interested in looking for bosses here.

As Zhang Shan ran quickly, he had to pay attention to the situation around him to prevent a few zombie monsters from suddenly appearing.

Although these zombie monsters couldn't kill him instantly.

However, it would be very troublesome if they were held back by the small monsters. The small monsters here would cling onto the players like glue after they had their eyes on them.

It would be very troublesome to get rid of them.

From time to time, Zhang Shan would adjust his route according to the position of wind and cloud blade.

At this moment, boss Wu's heart was following me, and he was also rapidly moving toward the position where Windcloud blade had fallen.

It was estimated that they would be able to meet up in another twenty minutes.

Zhang Shan and the little fairy were slightly further away. They might need to run for half an hour to reach their position.

As Zhang Shan and the rest were running, the news of him turning the hand cannon around was slowly discovered by the other players in the game.

After all, Aglu's hand cannon had always been on the equipment list. As long as there were any changes on the equipment list, the players would quickly notice it.

In the game, there were so many players. There would always be some bored people who would check the equipment and level rankings from time to time to see the changes.

When they realized that Zhang Shan's hand cannon had completed the first turn, they could not help but be shocked.

After all, the God equipment advancement mechanism had only been released for slightly more than an hour. In such a short time, Zhang Shan had completed the first transformation of the God equipment.

It was hard not to attract everyone's attention.

the world channel:

f * ck, everyone, hurry up and take a look at the equipment ranking. The six-barreled Bodhisattva's weapon has already completed its first transformation. That's too fast.

"F * ck, is this true? how long has it been since the beginning? Are big shots that fast?"

"F * ck, it's true. Is it that easy to get a saint's relic?"

who knows? we don't have an entry pass, so we can't enter the city of the ruins map.

"is there anyone else who managed to get a pass to the city of the ruins and go in to take a look?"

"i don't think so. if someone managed to obtain a pass, they would have already entered the city of ruins to farm for saint's relics. "

I just want to know, in the city of the ruins, are the relics of saints everywhere, and can be picked up by bending down? "

"You're thinking too much. How can it be that simple?"

then why did the six-barreled Bodhisattva turn the divine weapon around so quickly? ”

“Maybe he’s just lucky?”

“damn it, it’s all about luck again. Does that mean that people with low luck like us don’t deserve to live?”

to be honest, people with less than five luck points are not worthy of playing this game. It’s really difficult, haha.

what does it have to do with luck? if you have the strength of the six-barreled Bodhisattva, you can get whatever you want.

indeed, strength is the foundation. Luck is just a fleeting cloud.

” here’s the problem. six-barreled bodhisattva wasn’t this powerful from the start. how did he improve his strength? ” buying the pass at a high price, 500000 gold coins each. If you have the goods, please come to me quickly.

“So, in the end, it’s still six-barreled Bodhisattva who’s lucky?”

“Haha, we’re back.”

boss, please wait a moment. I’ll go and collect it now. When I get the pass, I’ll let you have it.

“Are you kidding me? Do you think you can get the pass just because you want it?”

a sincere heart works. You have to think more. What if you really get one? wouldn’t that be 500000 Yuan? ”

“Alright, that makes sense. I’m going to get a pass too.”

“Haha, you guys are so funny. Could it be that you’re The Walking five hundred thousand? You can get it just because you want it?”

” f * ck, is a walking $500000 okay? why do i feel like you’re cursing? ”

“Don’t feel it, this guy is just cursing.”

.....

The matter of Zhang Shan’s God equipment being upgraded had been discovered by other players, but he did not care about it at all.

He was now so powerful that he had nothing to fear. So what if he saw it?

Let others be envious of him, but would they bite him?

after about twenty minutes, boss wu and heart follow me ran to the place where windcloud blade had fallen.

at this moment, zhang shan and the little fairy were still a distance away.

They would probably have to run for a few more minutes before they could get to their position.

boss wu ran to windcloud blade's side and used revive to revive him.

after lying on the ground for nearly 50 minutes, windcloud blade could not help but cry out in joy when he stood up again.

haha, brother, I'm alive again. Thank you, big brother saber, for saving my life.

what are you showing off for? you're always the one who dies first. How embarrassing.

"Fuck, can you blame me for that? These shameless zombie monsters are so fierce, no matter who it was, they wouldn't be able to stop them."

nonsense. Brother Guan can easily block it.

okay, you're right. I can't compare with that inhuman, six-man, I really can't compete with him.

Boss Wu said.

"You two, run faster. The three of us are so bored. We can't farm monsters."

"Wait a moment, I'll be there soon."

although there were already three people on boss wu's side, they didn't dare to farm monsters.

The monsters here were all very powerful.

The attack power of the various zombie monsters started from 100000 and they were also enhanced by various passive skills.

If they were not careful, they might be able to deal hundreds of thousands of damage. Without Zhang Shan to tank the small monsters, they did not dare to make a move.

even with boss wu, the support, they didn't dare to provoke the zombie monster.

They had to wait until Zhang Shan was there.

After a while, Zhang Shan brought the little fairy and met up with boss Wu and the others.

The five of them entered the city of the ruins map together. After more than 50 minutes, they finally gathered together.

this matter was very ridiculous.

Zhang Shan could not help but be suspicious.

Did the city of the ruins not support players forming parties to kill monsters, and instead wanted players to kill monsters alone?

Otherwise, after everyone entered the map, they wouldn't be able to walk together, and there would be no point in forming a group.

They were considered lucky this time, as they were not too scattered after entering.

Otherwise, they might not be able to meet up until they died.

After seeing Zhang Shan come over, wind and cloud blade pointed at the three zombie monsters not far away and said to Zhang Shan.

boss, let's kill them. These three were the ones who killed me. Let's kill them together.

haha, you're really funny. Do you really want to compete with a few monsters? " that's a must. I'm not a gentleman if I don't take revenge.

"Then you can do it yourself."

" nonsense. if i could defeat them myself, i would have chopped these three zombie monsters into pieces. would they still be alive? "

Zhang Shan took a look at the three zombie monsters not far away.

The names of these three zombie monsters were different from the ones that Zhang Shan had seen before.

Zombie Axemen.

It was also an orange name.

however, these three zombies were each holding a rusty axe.

It looked very powerful.

however, zhang shan did not mind. it was just a level 100 orange-named monster.

the level was the same as the bone crusher zombie that he had fought before. how could he be heaven-defying?

Although this time, it was three zombie Axemen together, Zhang Shan did not care.

Let's just kill the three of them together. He should be able to handle three orange-Named Monsters.

Zhang Shan quickly moved forward. When he was within firing range, he held his hand cannon and fired fiercely at the zombie Axemen in the distance.

the bullets were like raindrops, sweeping towards the zombies in the distance.

the three zombie hatchet men were dealing damage continuously.

After being attacked, the three zombie Axemen quickly turned around and charged towards Zhang Shan.

shua shua shua ", three axe strikes landed on Zhang Shan's head.

damage -190034, 186434, 193246.

Looking at the damage value that appeared above his head, Zhang Shan could not help but be surprised.

'f * ck, these axe-wielding zombies seem to be more powerful.'

The bone crusher zombie from before had only dealt less than 100000 damage to him.

He could only hit 400000 or so when he hit a critical hit.

Meanwhile, the normal damage of these zombie Axemen was actually close to 200000.

Could it be that the attack power of these zombie Axemen was twice as high as that of the bone crusher zombies from before?

Of course.

Even though the zombie Axemen dealt more damage.

But Zhang Shan did not mind. He could still take it.

Each of the zombie Axemen could deal 200000 damage to him, so three of them would only deal 600000 damage.

Zhang Shan's current HP was more than 2.7 million.

Even if these zombie Axemen were to hit him with a critical hit at the same time, it would be impossible to kill him.

After seeing the zombie Axemen deal double damage, Zhang Shan did not panic. Instead, he was very happy.

For monsters of the same level, the damage dealt would be doubled.

This meant that these zombie Axemen might have a passive skill that increased their attack power.

Thinking of this, Zhang Shan was very happy.

It would be great if he could get a passive skill that directly increased his attack power.

Zhang Shan was looking forward to it.

As he fired, he checked the attributes and skills of the zombie axeman.

[zombie axeman (orange): level 100, attack 200000, HP 2 billion, skill: Iron Arm (passive).

[Iron Arm (passive): greatly increases attack power.]

&Nbsp; hahaha.

after looking at the attributes of the zombie axeman, zhang shan was very happy.

These zombie Axemen indeed had passive skills.

According to Zhang Shan's speculations, all the zombie monsters in the entire city of the ruins map should have passive skills.

It seemed that it was true. They had already fought two types of zombies, and both of them had passive skills.

In that case, the other zombie monsters should also have passive skills.

this was very satisfying.

Along the way, Zhang Shan had seen at least 20 types of different zombie monsters. Didn't that mean that there were more than 20 passive skills that he could farm?

Thinking of this, Zhang Shan could not help but feel very excited.

This map of the city of the ruins was really a blessed land for him.

Not only could one obtain saint's relics here, but one could also upgrade a divine weapon and increase its attributes by using the saint's relics.

The most important thing was that all the monsters here had passive skills.

In a map, there were so many passive skills. Wasn't this Zhang Shan's blessed land?

Zhang Shan felt that once he had farmed all the monsters in the remains.

Then his strength would probably double.

Thinking of this, Zhang Shan was looking forward to it.

After Zhang Shan had secured the three zombie Axemen, the rest of his comrades followed suit and charged forward.

Everyone brandished their weapons and continuously threw all kinds of skills at the zombie Axemen.

Boss Wu summoned his celestial pet, which waved its long sleeves. Every time it waved, it could deal 20000 to 30000 damage to the three zombie Axemen.

compared to the players themselves, it seemed that these zombie monsters had a much smaller level suppression on the players 'summoned pets.

seeing that boss wu's fairy pet could deal considerable damage, zhang shan also summoned his panda ball.

The five of them, plus the two pets, attacked together.

The health bars of the three zombie Axemen dropped rapidly.

Everyone attacked together, all of them were dealing damage.

in addition to letting his fairy baby participate in the attack, boss wu himself kept using lightning strikes.

Zhang Shan did not need him to heal anyway.

With the passive support of catapulting, Zhang Shan could rely on his own blood-sucking effect to be completely self-sufficient, and he still had a lot of surplus.

The damage dealt by the three zombie Axemen would be quickly absorbed back.

Zhang Shan's health bar was almost always at full health. He bore the damage from the three zombie Axemen without any pressure.

The group of them waved their weapons and kept killing monsters. They were very energetic.

This was especially true for Wind and Cloud Blade, who was shouting non-stop as he brandished his divine weapon battle axe.

I'm going to kill you trash monsters. Who told you to kill me? damn it, I almost died.

Everyone could not help but laugh when they heard what Wind and Cloud Blade said.

"Haha, Yidao, you actually want to compete with these little monsters."

What else could I have done? You guys don't know how terrible it was for me to lie on the ground. I almost thought that I would be sent back to the city to be resurrected by the system.

"This map of the city of the ruins is really hard to get. When everyone came in, they were so scattered."

Yeah, we're still considered on good terms. We didn't split up too much. Otherwise, we'd be dead.

"I think we should not leave the map after we enter. Otherwise, I don't know how many of them will be scattered the next time I come in."

"How can we not go back? How can we repair our equipment and buy supplies?"

Ask Brother Guan to go back and buy it. He doesn't have to worry about dying.

"That's a good idea. We'll stay in the city of the ruins and farm for a few months until the end of time. When we've turned all the god equipment nine revolutions into sacred equipment, we'll get the map."

In your dreams. Nine revolutions divine weapon? I'll probably wake up laughing if I can make three or five revolutions.

That's right. It's more and more difficult to upgrade a divine artifact the further you go. If you don't have a huge amount of Saint Relics, you shouldn't even try it.

How can that be? Didn't the six-barreled Big Shot get promoted successfully in one try? "

"Is that the same? Brother Guan was only at the first transition, which was the simplest. The latter part is the difficult part."

I say, why are you guys thinking so much? Whether or not we can get a Saint's Relic is already a problem, and you guys are still thinking about the problem of Ascension.

"Aren't Saint's Relics easy to farm? The six-barreled boss killed two monsters and one dropped."

"Killing two monsters to drop one doesn't mean killing four monsters to drop two. It's such a simple logic, surely you understand."

When he heard his friends talking about the drop rate of the Saint's Relics, Zhang Shan could not help but remember.

When he killed the two bone crusher zombies just now, other than a saint's relic, they only dropped a white grade equipment.

The bone crusher zombie was an orange-named monster, so it was ridiculous that it would drop a white grade equipment.

thus, zhang shan guessed that the saint's relic that was dropped earlier was really due to good luck.

In fact, it wasn't that easy to get a saint's relic.

Of course.

This was only Zhang Shan's guess. Whether it was true or not, they would know after they killed a few more zombie monsters.

Maybe he was wrong.

If that's the case, that's for the best.

If a saint's relic was easy to drop, it wouldn't be too difficult for them to complete the first five or six transformations, even if they couldn't complete the nine transformations.

They only needed to farm for a few days in the city of the ruins map and accumulate a batch of saint's relics.

It was possible to turn all the divine equipment on him into divine equipment at the fifth or sixth transformation.

However, the premise of all this was that a saint's relic could be easily dropped.

if the relic of the saint was difficult to obtain, that would be nonsense.

Chapter 563 passive skill iron arm

Zhang Shan led his friends and continued to attack the three zombie Axemen.

The three zombie Axemen's health bars were dropping rapidly under their siege.

As Zhang Shan attacked, he was filled with anticipation.

He was hoping that the three zombie Axemen would drop one or two saint's relics.

If these three zombies could drop even a single Saint artifact ...

This meant that the drop rate of a saint's relic was still quite high.

if they killed the three zombie axemen and didn't get the saint's relic, they wouldn't be able to kill the three zombies.

that was hard to say.

that meant that zhang shan and the little fairy had killed two zombie monsters and obtained a saint's relic.

Perhaps it was really just luck.

In reality, it was not only Zhang Shan who was filled with anticipation. His friends were the same.

After all, everyone wanted the relic of the Saint and wanted to upgrade the divine weapon.

And they didn't just need one or two Saint relics. They needed a lot of them.

one or two saint's relics could improve their abilities to a certain extent.

However, that would not solve the problem.

A small increase in strength wouldn't be of much use to them.

This was especially true for Zhang Shan.

He was already very strong now. If he only increased his strength by a little, it would be completely useless to him.

It couldn't change his strength.

In any case, his current strength was enough to deal with any situation except for a Demon God.

The slight increase in his strength would not have much effect on him.

He still couldn't defeat the demon God.

If Zhang Shan wanted to defeat the demonic god, he would have to undergo a huge transformation in strength.

At the moment, there were only two ways for him to transform.

the first was to farm a large number of passive skills. it would take a lot of passive skills. one, two, ten, or even twenty would be useless.

He might need to farm dozens or even hundreds of passive skills before he could defeat the ninth Demon God.

There was another way, and that was to upgrade the divine weapon, preferably to the ninth transformation.

Zhang Shan believed that as long as he could make the God equipment nine revolutions, there was no need for all God equipment to have nine revolutions.

As long as his attack-type divine weapon and King's Cape could achieve the nine transformations of divine weapons, they would become Saint weapons.

Then, he should be able to find the ninth Demon God, lufasi, and Exchange a few more moves.

There was no need to think about the first option now.

In the city of the ruins, all the zombie monsters seemed to have passive skills.

Moreover, there were many types of zombie monsters here.

But in fact, if one were to count it seriously, it probably wouldn't be much.

Perhaps there would be 20 or 30 types of zombie monsters in the city of the ruins map?

but that was all there was to it. there couldn't be more.

Even Zhang Shan had used all the passive skills on these zombies.

that was still not interesting. he still could not defeat the ninth demon god.

Actually, to Zhang Shan, if he wanted to defeat the demon God, the fastest way was still to use the nine revolutions divine weapon, which would advance the divine weapon into a holy weapon.

even though the success rate of the nine transformations divine weapon was extremely low.

However, as long as he could get enough of the saint's relics, the so-called probability would not be a problem.

the problem was that he needed to have enough of the saint's relics, a lot, a lot.

when he had saved tens of thousands, or even hundreds of thousands of saint relics, it would not be a problem no matter how low the success rate of the nine revolutions divine weapon was.

It could also be piled up with the relics of the saints.

Thus, Zhang Shan was very concerned about the drop rate of the Holy relics from the zombie monsters.

He hoped that the drop rate of the saint's relic would be higher.

Under everyone's continuous attacks, the first zombie axeman was blown up by them, and a white light fell into Zhang Shan's backpack.

Very quickly, the two zombie Axemen behind him were also blown up. Two white lights landed in Zhang Shan's backpack one after another.

after destroying the three zombie axemen, everyone retreated a little.

Before Zhang Shan could check his backpack, wind cloud blade asked hurriedly.

Big Boss six-barreled, hurry up and take a look. Did a saint's relic drop? "

"If you don't have the saint's relic, a pass is fine too."

"that's right, we also need a pass. right now, we don't even have a pass, so we're panicking. If we leave the city of the ruins, we won't be able to enter again."

what are you panicking for? won't brother Guan tell everyone after he's done watching it? "

Under the urging of his friends, Zhang Shan quickly opened his backpack to check.

However, the result was disappointing.

in zhang shan's backpack, other than the three pieces of white equipment, there was nothing else.

Zhang Shan said after displaying the three pieces of white equipment on the team channel.

nothing dropped, only three white boards.

f * ck, we've spent so much effort and only three white rank items dropped. These zombies are too cheap, right? " that's ridiculous. Even if it doesn't drop a saint's relic, it should at least drop a pass.

it's over, it's over. It seems like the saint's relic isn't as easy to get as we thought.

"F * ck, our hope is shattered."

"Don't panic. If three don't drop, then I'll kill 30. If it doesn't work, then I'll kill 300. I don't believe that we won't be able to get a saint's relic."

that's true. Let's continue farming. We're farming very quickly anyway. We'll be able to kill three zombie monsters in less than ten minutes.

let's continue. We must get some saint's relics and get some God equipment.

They had killed three zombie Axemen in one go, but they didn't drop any saint's relic. They didn't even drop a pass.

This made everyone very uncomfortable.

At first, everyone was full of interest, thinking that they could get a saint's relic by killing a few zombies.

after all, zhang shan and the little fairy had only killed two zombie monsters, and a saint's relic had dropped.

It made everyone think that the saint's relic might not be an item that was especially difficult to drop.

In the city of the ruins, a few random zombie monsters could drop it.

But now, it seemed that this was not the case at all.

Just now, Zhang Shan and the little fairy were able to get the saint's relic, perhaps it was pure luck.

This time, they didn't have a burst of luck, so they didn't manage to get a saint's relic.

The reality was like a bucket of cold water that had been poured down, extinguishing everyone's expectations.

He could only take it slowly.

Originally, they wanted to quickly complete a few revolutions of the divine weapon.

But now, it seemed impossible. If they didn't grind for a few months, their divine weapons would only be able to go through two or three cycles.

To be honest, although there was no saint's relic this time, Zhang Shan was not that disappointed.

Even though he was looking forward to being able to quickly obtain a large number of saint's relics, allowing him to upgrade the divine weapon a few more times.

It would be best if one of the God tools could successfully complete the ninth transformation and then advance into a Saint tool.

Reality let Zhang Shan know that this matter was not that simple.

They could take it slow. They could farm monsters very quickly anyway, so they should be able to get a batch of saint's relics after a while.

everyone quickly adjusted their mentality and prepared to kill the next wave.

They didn't have to run around to find monsters in the ruins city.

the three zombie axemen that they had just killed had respawned.

Zhang Shan quickly moved forward and opened fire at the zombie Axemen.

after zhang shan had pulled the zombie monster steadily, his friends also followed up to attack.

In less than ten minutes, everyone easily destroyed the three zombie Axemen.

as the zombie axeman fell to the ground, three white lights landed in zhang shan's backpack.

this time, without the urging of his friends, zhang shan quickly opened his backpack to check.

However, there was still nothing, only three pieces of white equipment.

Zhang Shan showed the item to the team channel and shook his head.

"It still hasn't dropped."

"It's fine, let's continue."

" let's continue. i don't believe that this saint's relic is so hard to drop. " actually, it's nothing. Even when we're farming monsters, it's not that easy for trash equipment to drop, let alone something as good as the saint's relic. If we don't kill hundreds or thousands of monsters, we won't even get a piece of trash equipment.

you're right to think that way. We were too naive. The drop rate of items in this game is very low. Don't expect that a good item like the saint's relic will drop after killing a few zombies.

yeah, it'll definitely drop after I kill a few hundred zombies.

let's continue. Let's see the results for a day.

Zhang Shan and the rest had killed two waves of zombies. The six zombie Axemen did not drop any saint's relic, nor did they drop the city of the ruins 'pass.

This time, everyone was no longer in a hurry.

Everyone's state of mind quickly calmed down.

It was just like what his friends had said.

In the game new world, the drop rate of items was very low. Even the most common white-level equipment was hard to drop.

There was no need to mention something as good as a saint's relic.

Although the map of the city of the ruins was a dungeon map that was specifically used to drop the relics of the saints.

However, it was still not that easy to drop this item.

Let's adjust our mentality and continue to farm monsters. We'll farm for a day and see the results.

Zhang Shan was no longer in a hurry.

Although he didn't even have a passive skill, he wasn't in a hurry.

there was no point in being anxious about this.

If he couldn't get it once, he would do it a few more times.

Zhang Shan did not believe that he would not be able to farm the passive skills of these orange zombie monsters.

If he hadn't gotten one yet, it could only be said that the number of monsters he had farmed wasn't enough.

Once he had farmed enough zombie Axemen, he would definitely be able to get the passive skill.

after two rounds of killing zombies, everyone continued to kill them.

After killing a bunch of them, they just had to wait for the zombie Axemen to respawn. They didn't have to find a new position.

He just stared at the three zombie Axemen and attacked them.

In any case, these zombie monsters respawned very quickly.

Usually, after they had destroyed it, it would respawn in less than ten seconds.

As time slowly passed, they destroyed wave after wave of zombie Axemen.

Zhang Shan could not even remember how many zombie Axemen they had killed.

In the beginning, everyone was still counting to see how many zombies they had to kill before they could get a saint's relic or pass.

Later on, he saw that neither the saint's relic nor the entry pass had dropped.

Everyone was too lazy to count and just left it to fate.

as they once again destroyed a group of zombie axemen, zhang shan suddenly saw a system notification pop up.

He couldn't help but be overjoyed.

Could it be that he had obtained a passive skill?

zhang shan quickly checked.

[system notification: your passive king talent has been triggered by killing the zombie axeman.]

[acquired passive skill, Iron Arm]

Haha, as expected, he got a passive skill.

It felt so good.

According to Zhang Shan's understanding, this Iron Arm should be a passive skill that increased attack power.

he didn't know how much attack power it would increase.

Generally speaking, every additional passive skill that increased his attack power would increase his attack power by 10%.

he wondered if this iron arm passive would be the same.

Zhang Shan quickly opened the skills panel to take a look. Very quickly, he found the newly refreshed passive skill on the skills panel.

[Iron Arm: increases attack power by 10%]

Very good, very perfect.

With the addition of this passive skill, Zhang Shan's attack power had increased by another 10%.

Even if there were no other gains from this city of the ruins operation, Zhang Shan had already made a huge profit.

He first turned his God-tier hand cannon around, and this time, he added a passive skill.

With these two waves of improvements, his attack power had increased by about 10000.

It was simply too satisfying. Such an improvement was not much worse than getting an additional divine weapon.

What was his current attack power?

Zhang Shan quickly checked his character's attributes.

[character: Bodhisattva of six tubes]

[occupation: Hunter]

[title: human hero (equipped), nemesis of demons]

[merit points: 252361 (guerrilla general)]

[level: 73]

[MP: 58600]

[physical attack: 101746-106558]

[strength: 3418]

[agility: 11924]

[intelligence: 3418]

[defense: 21648]

Luck: 9

[Endowment: King of passive (every time you kill a monster, there is a chance to randomly obtain a passive skill from the monster. The chance of triggering it is one in a million.)]

Skill

Looking at his character's attack attributes, Zhang Shan was very happy.

A passive skill had directly increased Zhang Shan's attack power by more than 9000.

Zhang Shan's current interface attack power had officially broken through the 100000 mark.

It was better to get passive skills, especially this kind of passive skill that directly increased attack power. It was more practical than having an additional divine weapon.

for example, how could an ordinary divine weapon add so much attack power?

Zhang Shan's God-tier accessories only increased his attack power by 6000.

It was not as much as a passive skill.

of course.

The essence of a divine weapon was mainly its special effects. The attributes were only secondary.

If it was considered a special effect, then no matter how strong a passive skill was, it could not be compared to a divine weapon.

After all, any one of the four special effects on a divine weapon was no worse than a single passive skill.

Zhang Shan was elated that he had obtained another passive skill.

As for the items dropped by the zombie monster, Zhang Shan took a casual look and saw that it was nothing.

It still only dropped three white grade equipment.

Zhang Shan looked at the time. Since they had gathered together, they had been killing zombie Axemen for almost two hours.

Each wave of monsters would kill three monsters, so it would take about ten minutes. They could kill about eighteen monsters in an hour.

After two hours, they had almost finished farming, and there were 40 zombie Axemen.

However, he still didn't get a saint's relic or a relic pass.

Now, everyone was already calm.

At most, he would just treat it as farming monsters here to level up.

in any case, grinding and leveling up here wasn't too slow.

Zhang Shan estimated that the rate of experience growth in the city of the ruins was not much different from when they were outside.

In fact, his experience points would increase slightly faster if he were to farm monsters here.

zhang shan felt that farming monsters in the city of the ruins, other than spending an extra pass, was still very cool.

At the very least, it was much better than the monster map outside.

It was almost impossible to gain anything else by farming monsters in the outside maps, except for some exp.

When everyone was farming, it was already good enough that they could earn back what they had spent.

The chances of earning money by farming monsters were extremely low.

Unless there were a few specific classes that consumed very little mana, the other classes would be happy if they didn't lose money when farming monsters.

But the map of the city of the ruins was different. There were also Saint relics that could be dropped here.

However, it seemed that the saint's relic wasn't that easy to drop.

However, no matter how difficult it was to obtain, it was better to have some thoughts than nothing.

Of course.

It wasn't that easy to farm monsters in the city of the ruins.

First of all, in the city of ruins map, it was troublesome for players to form parties.

The teams that everyone had formed outside would not appear in the same position after entering the map.

If they were too scattered, they might never be able to meet up again, and the team would basically be in vain.

For Zhang Shan and the rest, they were lucky enough to not be too scattered.

Otherwise, they wouldn't have been able to gather together to farm monsters.

The second was the zombie monsters in the city of ruins map, which dealt too much damage.

At the current stage of the game, there was basically no one who could withstand it.

Each of these zombie monsters was as powerful as a boss.

normal red bosses weren't even as strong as these zombie monsters.

in fact, this was normal. after all, the zombie monsters in the city of ruins were all level 100 orange-named monsters.

Compared to the red bosses that everyone could currently fight, it was much higher in level.

The monsters 'level advantage was very obvious.

Facing such a ferocious zombie monster, other players would not be able to farm it even if they entered the city of the ruins.

In short, the city of ruins map was a beyond the scope of the current players.

Perhaps it was because Zhang Shan's strength had improved too quickly, to the point that he was more than ten times faster than normal players.

Otherwise, a map like the city of the ruins would only be open after a long time.

Zhang Shan alone had forcefully increased the pace of the entire game.

At present, the other players had yet to obtain a pass. Other than Zhang Shan and the rest, no other players had entered the city of the ruins map.

Zhang Shan felt that when the other players obtained the pass to enter the city of the ruins, they would probably start cursing.

This kind of supermodel dungeon map was simply hell-level difficulty for other players.

Zhang Shan brought his friends and stayed in place to farm the three zombie Axemen.

If they were destroyed, they would wait for the game to refresh before continuing.

This continued.

Almost four hours after they were done farming, another three zombie Axemen were defeated by them.

Three streams of light landed in Zhang Shan's backpack.

Zhang Shan opened his backpack as usual to check.

&Nbsp; eh.

Did this drop a saint's relic?

Zhang Shan took out a gem-like item from his backpack.

This was the relic of a Saint.

He and the little fairy had encountered it once when they had just entered the ruins map.

This was the second saint's relic that they had obtained.

It really wasn't easy.

It had been almost five hours since they entered the city of the ruins.

Excluding the time before they met up, they had been grinding for nearly four hours.

they had spent nearly four hours killing more than 70 zombie axemen before they managed to get a saint's relic.

with such an item drop rate, how could one describe it?

zhang shan felt that such a drop rate was not unacceptable.

It was already very good that they could get a saint's relic after killing less than a hundred zombies.

Zhang Shan could even see the hope of a God equipment becoming a saint equipment.

This was because such a drop rate at least explained one thing.

The saint's relic could be dropped, not just by luck.

At least he didn't have to fight normal mobs like his passive King talent.

It might take one or two months to trigger the talent and obtain the passive skill.

The saint's relic was much easier than the passive King talent.

they had only killed less than a hundred zombies and a saint's relic had dropped.

In other words, as long as Zhang Shan continued to farm.

As long as his luck wasn't too bad, he should be able to get three to five saint's relics every day.

And as time passed, his damage output ability would slowly increase.

Zhang Shan's farming speed would continue to increase.

In that case, the number of saint's relics he could get every day should be quite considerable.

Chapter 564 Divine tool, second transformation

Zhang Shan and the rest had just finished a wave of zombie Axemen. He checked his bag and found a saint's relic.

However, their friends didn't know, so they didn't ask.

after all, they had killed dozens of zombie axemen before, but they had not dropped any valuable items.

therefore, no one had any expectations for the three zombie monsters that they had killed this time.

Everyone was used to it. Every time they killed a zombie monster, it would always drop a piece of trash white equipment.

They had thought that it would be the same this time.

Wind and cloud blade saw that Zhang Shan was standing still. The new zombie Axemen had already respawned, but Zhang Shan did not go forward to attack them.

This made wind and cloud blade feel very strange, and he asked Zhang Shan.

Big Boss six-barreled, what are you standing there for? hurry up and start the fight.

Oh, it's like this. A saint's relic dropped just now. I'm thinking about how to distribute it.

Hearing Zhang Shan's words, his friends could not help but be overjoyed.

"Haha, it finally dropped?"

it's easier than we thought. I thought we would have to kill a few hundred zombies before the saint's relic would drop.

this is great. We can get one saint's relic after killing a few dozen zombies. We should be able to get three to five in a day.

I think so. As long as my luck isn't too bad, I should be able to get a few.

let's hurry up and farm. Let's try to get a few more saint's relics.

"How do we split this?"

Zhang Shan asked everyone again.

Although, whether it was tanking damage or dealing damage, he was the main person.

however, this saint's relic was an item that everyone had obtained together. he definitely could not use it for himself without anyone knowing.

he had to discuss it with everyone first.

you can use it first and increase your damage first. Anyway, you're the main attacker. We can't deal too much damage.

yes, brother Guan, you can use them first. After you've completed the first transition in all four of your attack-type divine weapons, you can split them among us.

"alright," he said.

zhang shan was no longer pretentious. he opened the equipment panel and placed the saint's relic inside.

Then, he looked at the few attack-type divine artifacts he had on him.

Agaru's hand cannon had already been turned.

that would require two saint's relics, and the success rate was only 25%.

He only had a saint's relic in his hands, so he couldn't turn it into a Cannonball.

He could only choose one of the three accessories to upgrade.

As for the other defensive artifacts, even the king's Cape, Zhang Shan did not have any thoughts of upgrading them.

zhang shan's idea was to first upgrade all the attack-type divine weapons on him a few times.

Looking at the three God-tier accessories on him, Zhang Shan thought for a moment. He took off the God-tier necklace, the Tear of the Sky Eagle King, and placed it in the reincarnation pool. Then, he clicked to confirm the reincarnation.

With a dazzling flash of light, the Ascension was successful.

Zhang Shan took a look at the attributes of the Tear of the Sky Eagle King.

Tear of the heavenly Eagle King (God equipment first transformation): Physical attack power 6600-6600

The attributes of accessories were less than that of weapons by half, and the attack power increased by the first advancement of a divine weapon was also less by half.

But it was still okay.

Anyway, Zhang Shan had the killer book, as well as various special effects and passive skills that increased percentage.

Even if he had upgraded his accessory to a God-tier equipment and the attack power added to it was only half of the hand cannon, it could still increase his attack power by more than 2000.

Such an addition was already not considered little.

Zhang Shan's current panel's attack power had almost reached 110000. He was already very strong.

After seeing Zhang Shan's operation complete, the little fairy asked him.

"brother guan, did you get promoted successfully?"

"It's done. Now, my necklace is also a divine artifact, first transition."

it's not bad. The success rate is 50%. You can successfully level up twice in a row.

you can't say that. In fact, in the game, a 50% success rate is already considered very high. It's not surprising to succeed twice in a row.

that's true. The first two or three promotions shouldn't be too difficult. The main thing is that the next few promotions are too much of a load of Bullsh * t.

why are you thinking so much? it's already not bad if we can level up two or three times. If we really want to turn a divine weapon into a Saint, I'm afraid it'll take a few years.

that's true. It's not easy for game designers to reach the ceiling.

stop talking nonsense. Let's continue farming monsters.

after zhang shan finished speaking, he went forward and opened fire at the newly spawned zombie axemen.

time passed by slowly, and by the time night fell, they had already been on the city of the ruins map for an entire day.

A total of five saint's relics and one city of ruins pass were dropped.

Zhang Shan had used four of the saint's relics and had turned all four of the offensive artifacts.

as for the fifth saint's relic, after a discussion, it was decided to be given to wind cloud blade.

Wind and cloud blade had used the saint's relic to successfully turn his sky-splitting battleaxe.

This made wind and cloud blade happy for half a day.

They were quite lucky to be able to get five saint's relics in a day.

however, there was only one ruins entry pass.

It seemed that the city of the ruins pass should be much harder to drop than a saint's relic.

They had spent five entry passes to enter, but they had only managed to obtain one. They had yet to recoup their losses.

If they left the city of the ruins now, they wouldn't be able to enter the dungeon tomorrow.

zhang shan looked at the time. it was already past midnight. he asked his friends.

it's already past midnight. What do you guys think? should we continue? " forget it. I'll stop. I'll continue tomorrow.

"Then we're going to log off here?"

"Of course. Don't tell me you want to leave the dungeon? if you leave now, you won't be able to enter tomorrow."

"No, what I mean is, if we go offline now, will we still go online tomorrow? will we still appear in the same place? Will you go offline and come back online again, and then appear outside the instance dungeon?"

"Holy F * ck, there's such a thing?"

"I don't know, but the demon subduing platform instance dungeon is like this. After going offline, you will no longer be in the instance dungeon."

"Then what should we do? We only have one pass. Why don't we all not sleep first and spend a few days to get five passes?"

"That's not good, right? how long will it take? We've been farming for an entire day and only managed to get one pass. If you want to get five passes, won't you need five days?"

"Then what do we do?"

"Forget it, let's call it a day. We'll talk about it after we go online tomorrow. If we can't get in, then we'll let Big Boss six-pipe come in and farm alone, and we'll go farm monsters."

that's fine. Actually, we can't help much here. It won't be much slower for brother Guan to farm alone. yes, it's settled then. I'm going offline to sleep.

After midnight, everyone went offline one after another.

At their level of strength, there was no need to work too hard.

Not to mention Zhang Shan, even his other companions were also very powerful.

compared to the other players, they were much stronger.

After all, their levels were there for all to see.

His friends were all over level 70, while the other players, even those who leveled up quickly, were only slightly over level 50.

With such a huge level gap, if his friends were to fight with other players, they would be completely crushed.

With their current strength, there was no need for them to work too hard.

It wasn't the time for the double experience, so there was no point in working on it.

He just had to maintain a normal schedule.

The next morning, Zhang Shan logged into the game.

He realized that he was actually in Danyang city and not in the city of ruins.

f * ck, we're done for.

The city of the ruins instance dungeon really couldn't be logged off. Once you went offline, you would exit the instance dungeon.

If that was the case, then this city of ruins instance dungeon would be really difficult to complete.

The city of the ruins 'entry pass was already very difficult to drop.

according to the announcement, there was a high chance of a pass dropping in the city of ruins.

However, in reality, they had spent the entire day yesterday and only managed to get one pass.

Even in the city of the ruins, the drop rate of the pass was so low.

One could imagine how difficult it would be for a pass to drop in a field map.

After the announcement yesterday, an entire day had passed. Zhang Shan had not heard of any other players who had managed to obtain a pass.

Without a pass, one could not enter the ruins city dungeon.

Even if there were players who managed to get their hands on a pass occasionally, it would not be of much use.

Because it was a one-time use, it would be gone after being used, unless he could get another pass in the city of the ruins map.

He replenished the passes that he had used up earlier.

otherwise, he could only enter once.

however, how many players could do that?

not to mention others, even zhang shan did not have the confidence to be able to obtain a pass every time he entered the city of ruins.

It seemed that this city of ruins instance dungeon would not have much practical significance for the players for a long time.

He could only watch, but he couldn't farm.

as for the legendary saint's relic, they had no fate with it.

Seeing that Zhang Shan was online, wind and cloud blade quickly pulled him into the party and said to him.

boss, you can go and farm the city of the ruins by yourself. We'll go and farm monsters first. Remember to keep a few passes for me after you farm them.

Zhang Shan looked at the team's information. His friends were already online and were in a team. He asked in the team channel.

"Are you guys farming monsters together?"

"Yes, brother Butler, we're killing crocodile monsters in the dark swamp map. you have to give us more passes. after we get stronger, we can go to the city of the ruins together."

"Yes, our current strength is still far from enough. If we split up and enter the city of the ruins, we'll easily die. we'll go in together after we've become stronger."

alright then. You guys go ahead and farm monsters to level up. When I get more saint's relics, I'll give you guys some so that you can upgrade your weapons.

yes, yes. All the best, brother Guan.

After Zhang Shan finished speaking, he used the pass to enter the city of ruins dungeon.

This was his last entry pass, and he had only obtained it last night.

If Zhang Shan could not get a pass today, he would probably not be able to sleep.

zhang shan had to get the pass again before he could exit the dungeon.

Otherwise, he would not be able to enter the city of the ruins next time.

Zhang Shan did not want to go to other players in the game to buy the city of the ruins pass.

Let's not even talk about whether there were any players who had managed to obtain a pass.

even if there were, they would have been snatched up by others.

zhang shan was not willing to compete with others. that would be too troublesome.

How could it be as convenient as obtaining a pass by himself?

After Zhang Shan entered the city of the ruins, four zombie monsters appeared around him and were slashing at him.

Fuck.

Damn it, he had just entered the map and he had already landed next to a monster.

Zhang Shan quickly raised his hand cannon and opened fire. Countless bullets swept towards the zombie.

He couldn't just take a beating and not fight back.

although zhang shan's health was very high, if he did not fight back and drain blood, he would not be able to take the damage from these zombie monsters.

Zhang Shan opened fire fiercely, and a series of damage kept jumping back and forth above the heads of these four zombie monsters.

As Zhang Shan fired his gun, he observed the zombie monsters.

The zombie Hercules.

These four zombie monsters were called zombie strongmen. He had seen these monsters the day before, but they had never fought them.

These zombies were strong and each of them was holding a two-handed hammer. Each hammer that hit Zhang Shan's body dealt close to 200000 damage.

It was alright. Zhang Shan could still handle these four zombie strongmen.

Although these zombie strongmen dealt a lot of damage to Zhang Shan, he was not worried. Instead, he was a little happy.

it would be even better if the monsters had high attack and high damage.

this meant that these zombie strongmen should have a passive skill that increased their attack power.

Now, Zhang Shan's favorite was a passive skill that increased his attack power.

This was because his current damage ability was still not enough, mainly because of the level suppression.

Zhang Shan's level was 27 levels lower than the zombie monsters.

The huge level gap had greatly suppressed the actual damage he could deal.

hence, if zhang shan wanted to speed up the rate at which he was farming the zombie monsters, he had to increase his level and attack power.

However, leveling up wasn't something that could be done in a short time.

Now, every time he leveled up, he would need a huge amount of experience.

He estimated that it would take about a week to reach Level 1.

Since it was not easy to level up, he could only think of a way to increase his attack power.

If he wanted to increase his attack power, on one hand, he had to upgrade to a divine weapon, and on the other hand, he had to gain passive skills.

As long as he could get his hands on a passive skill that could directly increase his attack power, then his overall attack power could be greatly improved.

Now, for every passive skill that Zhang Shan acquired to increase his attack power, the attack power on his interface would increase by more than ten thousand.

The effect was very obvious.

Because of this, when Zhang Shan saw the high damage that these zombie strongmen had dealt to him, he felt a sense of relief.

Not only did he not panic, but he was even happier.

Let's first see what the zombie Malla's passive skill is.

Zhang Shan kept on firing his guns as he checked the monster's attributes.

[zombie Malla (orange): level 100, attack 200000, HP 2 billion, skill: Power of death (passive)

[power of death (passive): the zombie Malla inherits the power of its previous life, greatly increasing its attack power.]

After seeing the zombie Malla's passive skill, Zhang Shan had an idea of what to do.

It was good.

Sure enough, it was a passive skill that increased attack power. He had to get this passive skill.

Zhang Shan stayed alone in the city of the ruins. He kept firing at the four zombie Malla.

After 20 minutes, he quickly destroyed the four zombie strongmen.

After the zombie Giant fell to the ground, there was no other movement except for four streams of light that fell into his backpack one after another.

Zhang Shan did not see the system notification.

In other words, he didn't get any passive skills.

However, Zhang Shan was not flustered. This was only the beginning.

In the city of ruins, the passive skills of these zombies were not so easy to obtain.

After grinding for an entire day yesterday, he had only managed to obtain one passive skill.

Therefore, Zhang Shan did not expect that by casually killing a few zombie strongmen, he would be able to get the passive power of death out.

he had time anyway, so he could take it slow.

As long as he set his eyes on a passive skill, it would not be able to escape and would definitely be spawned.

What I see is mine, don't even think about running.

Zhang Shan stayed alone in the city of the ruins, facing the four zombie strongmen and continuously farming.

After killing one wave of monsters, they would wait for the next wave to respawn before continuing.

The speed at which he was killing monsters by himself was slightly slower than when he was with his friends the day before.

Yesterday, with the five of them together, they could kill about 18 to 20 zombie monsters in an hour.

Now that he was alone, the number of zombie strongmen that he could destroy in an hour was only about 12 to 16.

However, Zhang Shan's damage ability would slowly increase.

as long as he upgraded his divine weapon a few more times, his solo-killing speed would not be much slower than yesterday when he had five people fighting together.

After farming for about four hours, as Zhang Shan destroyed another wave of zombie Malla, four streams of light fell into his backpack.

zhang shan opened his backpack to check.

eh.

In his backpack, there was a saint's relic and a city of ruins pass.

This wave was not bad. They actually dropped the saint's relic and the pass at the same time.

Haha, I got the pass for tomorrow.

Looking at his backpack, there was an extra pass. Zhang Shan finally relaxed.

The thing he was most worried about was not dropping the pass.

He could take his time to collect the saint's relics, but he had to get the city of ruins pass as soon as possible to be at ease.

it would be a big problem if he couldn't get a pass.

If that was the case, he would not be able to sleep tonight.

He didn't dare to go offline without a pass.

Otherwise, he would not be able to enter the city of the ruins tomorrow.

Now that he had a pass in his hands, he didn't have to worry at all and could farm without worry.

After playing until midnight, he could go offline and sleep. He didn't have to play anymore.

In addition to the pass, a saint's relic was also dropped.

In addition, he had dropped one before.

Today, after four hours of grinding, two Saint relics had dropped.

It had to be said that his luck today seemed to be quite good.

Zhang Shan looked at the two saint's relics in his backpack and pondered for a while.

Should he try to turn Aglu's hand cannon a second time?

Zhang Shan was a little conflicted.

The success rate of a divine weapon's second transformation was only 25%.

To be honest, the success rate was too low.

If the Ascension failed, he would waste two of the saint's relics. If that really happened, it would be terrible.

Why don't I keep these two Saint relics for now?

Should he save a few more and try again?

Zhang Shan looked at the two saint's relics in his backpack. After thinking for a long time, he still opened the equipment panel.

He really couldn't help it. How uncomfortable would it be if he didn't dare to make a move when he saw that there was a possibility of increasing his strength?

The timid die from hunger, the bold die from overeating.

if he really failed, then Zhang Shan would just accept it.

Zhang Shan placed the saint's relic into the reincarnation pool. Then, he removed Aglu's hand cannon and placed it into the reincarnation pool.

He clicked to confirm the upgrade.

a dazzling light flashed, and the hand cannon successfully ascended.

Haha, success on the first try, perfect.

Seeing the flash of light, Zhang Shan knew that he had made the right bet.

With a 25% success rate, he was able to win in one go. Zhang Shan was very happy.

Zhang Shan quickly took out Aglu's hand cannon to check.

Agaru's hand cannon (God equipment, Tier 2): [physical attack: 14520-14520]

Very good, very powerful.

After two upgrades, Aglu's hand cannon had directly increased its attack power by more than 2500.

Such an increase was very satisfying.

The advancement mechanism of this godly weapon in the game was really powerful.

He really didn't know how powerful the hand cannon would be when it advanced to a Saint weapon.

.....

After this upgrade, Zhang Shan's equipment already had one tier 2 weapon and three tier 1 accessories.

this allowed Zhang Shan's strength to increase by a large degree.

his farming speed should be much faster now.

Zhang Shan took a look at his character's attributes.

[character: Bodhisattva of six tubes]

[occupation: Hunter]

[title: human hero (equipped), nemesis of demons]

[merit points: 252361 (guerrilla general)]

[level: 73]

[MP: 58600]

[physical attack: 113794-119706]

[strength: 3418]

[agility: 11924]

[intelligence: 3418]

[defense: 21648]

Luck: 9

[Endowment: King of passive (every time you kill a monster, there is a chance to randomly obtain a passive skill from the monster. The chance of triggering it is one in a million.)]

skill

looking at his own powerful character's attributes, zhang shan could not help but be a little intoxicated.

in fact, other than his attack power, zhang shan's other attributes had not changed at all.

His level didn't change either, still 73.

However, Zhang Shan's attack power had grown too quickly.

The attack power on his stats window had almost reached 120000. It was simply terrifying.

the other players 'current attack power, if not for the skill enhancement, was probably only around 20000 to 30000.

Zhang Shan's powerful attack power, other than the equipment factor, was mainly due to his various attack bonus special effects and passive skills.

Zhang Shan specially sorted it out and realized that he now had as many as 12 attack power bonuses.

Every special effect or passive skill could increase attack power by 10%.

With twelve of them added together, every time his attack power increased, it would more than double.

this was without taking into account the killer book's effect. the killer book also directly doubled his attack power.

In this way, his actual attack power had almost reached 240000.

Furthermore, Zhang Shan had eight more, which were special effects that increased damage, passive skills, set equipment attributes, and title bonuses.

Zhang Shan was not relying on boss Wu's attack blessing, but on himself.

He could deal 400000 damage in theory, which was ridiculous.

Looking at his powerful attack attributes, Zhang Shan was elated.

With this, he should be able to kill zombies much faster.

Chapter 565 Simply looking for a scolding

After upgrading Aglu's hand cannon for the second time, Zhang Shan's strength had increased by another level.

He urgently needed to find that group of zombie monsters and test his current firepower.

Zhang Shan quickly closed the character panel, then went forward and opened fire at the newly spawned zombie strongmen.

Countless bullets rained down on the zombie Giant.

The four zombie strongmen received bullet damage, and the damage kept jumping back and forth.

Each of them dealt around 150000 damage.

When Zhang Shan saw such a damage value, he was very pleased.

although his damage was still greatly suppressed due to the huge level gap, he was still very weak.

With his theoretical damage of over 400000, he could only deal 150000 damage.

The monster's huge level advantage suppressed Zhang Shan's more than 200000 damage.

However, this did not matter.

As long as his attack power was high enough, he could suppress most of his damage.

The actual damage he could deal was still very impressive.

The damage values that Zhang Shan was dealing now were much higher than when he had just entered the city of the ruins yesterday.

Yesterday, when he had just entered the dungeon, Zhang Shan's actual damage on these zombies was only a little more than 100000.

After more than a day of improvement, Zhang Shan had an additional passive skill that increased his attack power.

He also upgraded his weapon a second time and his accessory a first time.

The actual damage that Zhang Shan had dealt had already exceeded 150000.

This was a huge improvement.

In fact, in just over a day, Zhang Shan had indeed improved a lot.

This was mainly reflected in its attack power.

Originally, Zhang Shan's attack power on the interface was only a little over 80000.

After grinding for more than a day in the city of the ruins map, Zhang Shan's panel attack had already reached close to 120000.

In just over a day's time, Zhang Shan's attack power had increased by nearly half.

Such a speed of improvement was terrifying.

He had to admit that the city of the ruins was really a blessed place for him.

of course.

After that, Zhang Shan thought about it again. It was no longer that easy to increase his attack power so quickly.

After all, it was more and more difficult to upgrade a divine weapon the further one went.

After that, the number of Saint relics needed for each promotion would gradually increase.

This was not all.

The key was that the success rate of the divine weapon upgrade would drop sharply.

If he wanted to successfully upgrade the divine weapon, it would not be so simple.

Without saving more Saint relics, Zhang Shan did not have to think about it anymore. He had successfully upgraded the divine weapon.

Time passed by slowly.

At night, as Zhang Shan destroyed a wave of zombie Malla, a system notification rang out.

[system notification: your passive king talent has been triggered by killing the zombie giant.]

Passive skill obtained: power of death.

Haha, another passive skill.

Seeing the system notification, Zhang Shan was very happy.

Zhang Shan opened the skills panel to take a look.

[power of death (passive): increases attack power by 10%. Acquired talent. Can not be upgraded.]

very good, the attack power has increased by another ten percent.

Zhang Shan opened his Character panel to check.

The attack power on his interface had already exceeded 130000.

In addition to the killer book's doubling effect, that was 260000 attack power.

In addition, Zhang Shan still had eight passive skills and special effects that increased damage.

The theoretical damage he could deal now had already exceeded 460000.

And this was without boss Wu's attack blessing.

If he were to add boss Wu's attack blessing, his current theoretical damage could reach 550000.

Such a terrifying damage ability was simply terrifying.

After acquiring the power of death passive skill, Zhang Shan's damage ability had once again been greatly improved.

His current farming speed was much faster than before.

Compared to when he had first entered the city of the ruins, he could not be mentioned in the same breath.

After obtaining the passive skill, Zhang Shan did not do so. He continued to farm the four zombie strongmen in front of him.

He had already mastered the passive skills of these zombie strongmen.

There wasn't much point in farming these zombie strongmen anymore.

Zhang Shan had to find a new type of zombie monster to farm. He wanted to find the kind of zombie monster that he had yet to farm with a passive skill.

Only then would he be able to continuously farm for passive skills, until he had used up all the passive skills in the entire dungeon.

After he had finished grinding all the passive skills in the dungeon, he could then find a random monster point and continue to grind until the end of time.

Zhang Shan quickly ran through the city of the ruins map, and very quickly, he found a new group of zombie monsters.

Actually, it wasn't right.

The group of zombie monsters that Zhang Shan had found were called bone crusher zombies. It was not that he had never fought this kind of zombie monsters before.

Yesterday, after entering the city of the ruins, the first type of zombie that Zhang Shan and the little fairy had killed was this type of broken bone zombie.

It was just that they had only killed one wave before going to meet up with the others.

yesterday, zhang shan had not managed to farm the bone crusher zombie's passive skill.

When Zhang Shan saw the broken bones zombie again, he thought to himself.

Since he didn't get any passive skills from these skeleton crusher zombies yesterday, he would make up for it today.

The passive skill of these bone crusher zombies was bone crusher.

[bone crusher] was not a passive skill that directly increased attack power, but a critical hit passive.

in comparison, a critical hit passive was much worse than a passive that increased attack power.

It did not have any obvious effect on Zhang Shan's strength.

Even so, Zhang Shan did not mind.

Critical passive wasn't bad either. As long as he could get enough critical passive, he would be able to do it in large numbers.

Perhaps there would be a day when every shot he fired would be a critical hit.

Every shot was a critical hit. How cool would that be?

Just thinking about it made him look forward to it.

Zhang Shan was alone, in the city of the ruins map, until 12 o'clock in the evening.

he had obtained a total of six saint relics and two city of ruins passes today.

Zhang Shan's luck today was much better than yesterday.

Yesterday, the five of them had farmed together and only managed to get five Saint relics and one city of the ruins pass.

Today, he had gained more than the five of them had yesterday. He felt great.

Of course.

Although Zhang Shan had obtained Six Saint's relics.

However, the actual effect was not that great.

Apart from the two Saint relics from the first wave, which allowed his hand cannon to reach the second transformation of a divine artifact.

For the next four Saint relics, Zhang Shan had tried to get the necklace twice in a row, but he had failed both times.

It hurt.

He had wasted four saint's relics, but he had not been able to push the tear of the heavenly Eagle King to the second transformation.

This really made Zhang Shan depressed for a long time.

However, he understood it later.

The success rate of a second-promotion divine weapon was only 25%. This success rate was indeed a little low, and it was not that easy to obtain.

for the first time, zhang shan had been able to upgrade aglu's hand cannon successfully. that had only been because he had been lucky.

However, being lucky once didn't mean that he could always be lucky.

The last two failures could only be considered normal.

A 25% chance could be said to be a one in four chance.

normally, zhang shan had to do it four times in a row to have a higher success rate.

If he only charged once, it would be completely a gamble of luck.

Now that he didn't win, it wasn't strange.

Zhang Shan also accepted the reality.

From the looks of it, he shouldn't rush to level up in the future.

He would have to wait until he had accumulated a certain number of Saint relics before charging again.

If he couldn't get a few saint's relics, he would just charge.

That way, it would be difficult to rush up.

in the game, this kind of chance-based operation had to be stacked with numbers.

If luck wasn't on their side, they would make up for it with numbers.

As long as he had enough saint's relics, the so-called luck would be nothing but fleeting clouds.

With a pile of saint's relics, no matter how small the success rate was, Zhang Shan would be able to get him.

time passed slowly. zhang shan had been farming in the city of the ruins for three to four days.

after a few days of farming, zhang shan had finally upgraded all three accessories to rank two.

As for the city of the ruins 'entry pass, other than the one he had used, Zhang Shan still had four.

He even had four passive skills.

However, the passive skills that he got later were all critical passive skills.

It could not directly increase the attack power.

Even so, Zhang Shan was still very happy.

Right now, Zhang Shan already had more than 20 critical hit passive skills.

On top of that, the godly item that he was equipped with had the special effect of Holy Strike.

Zhang Shan's various critical effects had already reached more than 30.

With so many different types of critical hits, Zhang Shan could achieve a critical hit effect with just a few shots. It was very powerful.

It felt great to be able to hit a critical hit with two or three shots.

In the past few days, other players had also obtained the city of the ruins 'entry pass in the maps outside.

Zhang Shan could still remember the fiery scene when the first pass was released.

When a lucky guy showed the pass to the city of the ruins to the world Channel ...

The entire game instantly exploded.

The big shots from all over the world started a fierce competition for this pass.

In the end, this pass was bought by the unparalleled gentleman of Qi country for a high price of five million gold coins.

Seeing the final price, Zhang Shan was dumbfounded.

One had to know that he had to use a city of the ruins entry pass every day.

Didn't that mean that he would have to spend five million gold coins every day?

It was scary just thinking about it.

Did he have to be so extravagant?

Seeing that the pass could be sold at such a high price, even Zhang Shan was a little tempted.

He even wanted to sell one or two of the passes he had.

However, after thinking about it, he decided not to.

Anyway, he didn't lack this little money. He should keep all the passes in his hands.

if he did not store more passes, zhang shan would not feel at ease.

What if he couldn't get a pass for a few days in a row? then wouldn't he be unable to enter the city of the ruins?

Furthermore, Zhang Shan still had to leave a few passes for his friends.

In fact, it was only the first pass that had reached such a high price.

Later on, in the game, the city of the ruins entry pass appeared one after another.

After all, there were many players in the game. As long as there were items that could be dropped, there would always be lucky people who could get them.

moreover, the city of ruins entry pass was not like a god-tier item that could only be dropped by a real BOSS.

In fact, the drop rate of the city of the ruins pass was not as low as everyone thought.

This item could be dropped by killing small monsters.

There were so many people killing monsters in the game, and a few cards would drop every day.

however, the rest of the passes could no longer be sold for a high price.

The price was usually between 300000 to 500000 gold coins, and the price was still falling.

This was because everyone quickly realized that the city of the ruins entry pass was of no use to them.

After peerless gentleman used the entry pass to enter the city of ruins, he did not even manage to stand still for a second before he fell to the ground and died.

The unparalleled gentleman had fallen in the city of the ruins, and no one had come to help.

No one could save him.

in the end, unparalleled gentleman could only choose to resurrect in the city.

Not only had the unparalleled gentleman spent 5000000 gold coins on this one second trip to the ruins, but he had also lost one level of experience points for nothing.

It was a huge loss.

After resurrecting in the city, the unparalleled gentleman complained about the city of the ruins in the world Channel.

In the beginning, the other players thought that unparalleled gentleman was just playing a trick.

He was deliberately deceiving other players to monopolize the city of ruins.

However, as more and more players used the entry pass to enter the city of the ruins, they were all stunned.

Everyone finally understood.

The city of ruins dungeon was simply a huge pit. It was not something that they could play with with their current strength.

To the players at this stage, the city of the ruins was simply a huge pit.

Whoever went in would be tricked. It was completely unreasonable.

Regardless of whether they were lucky or not, it would not change the result.

Those who were unlucky would be instantly killed after entering the city of the ruins. They could only helplessly choose to resurrect back in the city.

He had lost a level of experience.

As for those who were lucky, the result would not be too different.

Those who were lucky didn't fall to the ground the moment they entered the dungeon.

However, they definitely couldn't help but want to try killing a few zombies.

the result would definitely be that he would die after trying.

They had no idea how powerful these zombie monsters were in the city of the ruins map.

as the zombie monster's level was much higher than the players', no one could see the monster's attributes.

If they didn't know, they would have thought that the zombies were just normal orange monsters.

the players who could enter the city of the ruins were all big shots. they were very confident in their own strength.

He was confident that he could solo the orange monster.

However, the zombie monsters in the city of the ruins were not ordinary orange monsters.

They were level 100 orange-colored monsters. The damage of these zombie monsters was terrifyingly high.

Moreover, in the city of the ruins, these zombie monsters would stay together in a group, not giving players the chance to fight them one on one.

In such a situation, the result of other players challenging the zombie monsters was obvious.

after a few rounds of probing, the big shots from all over the world started a huge discussion on the world channel. everyone was crying and crying.

the other players in the game were really shocked.

The world Channel:

" this city of ruins instance dungeon is really a huge pit. i died as soon as i entered the map. " me too. I was killed by three monsters as soon as I entered the map.

"I was quite lucky. When I first entered the instance, there were no wild monsters around. It was just that when I saw the zombie monster, I couldn't help but go up and cut it, and then there's no more then, wuwuwu."

" it's too f * cking bad. why would such a supermodel dungeon map be opened at this time? it's not the right time. "

At this time, peerless gentleman spoke in the world Channel.

"F * ck, who asked you to be so cheap? I already warned you that the small monsters in the city of the ruins are unbelievably fierce. I told you not to go in, but you didn't believe me. Who can you blame?"

"If you don't try it yourself, who will believe you? You're just saying, but you didn't post the monster's attributes."

" that's right, you hypocrite. who would believe you? "

“You went to the city of the ruins but didn’t post the monster’s attributes. Aren’t you just trying to trick us?”

“I don’t want to post it? I didn’t even get to see the monster’s attributes before I was cut down.”

nonsense, who would believe you? I’ve checked the monster’s attributes.

that’s true. As long as you react fast enough, even if you’re cut down by a monster, you’ll still have the chance to check your attributes.

“Ignore him. Wushuang is a hypocrite. He is trying to trick us.”

“As soon as I left the dungeon, I took a screenshot of the monster’s attributes and posted it on the game forum. If he had done that, the rest of us wouldn’t have died in vain.”

“Damn hypocrite, you’re deliberately setting me up.”

.....

Other than Zhang Shan and the other five, the unparalleled gentleman was the first player to enter the city of the ruins.

The moment he entered, he fell to the ground.

After peerless gentleman resurrected in the city, he reminded everyone in the world Channel not to enter the city of the ruins again.

However, no one believed him.

The unparalleled gentleman had only casually mentioned it, and did not provide any concrete evidence.

How could the other players believe him?

You, the unparalleled gentleman, said that the monsters in the city of the ruins were very fierce.

Then how strong was it?

what about the monster’s attributes?

The unparalleled gentleman did not say any of this.

He made everyone think that he was saying this on purpose to prevent others from entering the city of the ruins so that the unparalleled gentleman would have the upper hand.

Most importantly, if the unparalleled gentleman did not say anything, then so be it.

No one would blame him if they died. After all, it was their own choice.

However, when everyone was discussing it in the world Channel, the unparalleled gentleman still had to come over and make sarcastic remarks.

This was something that everyone could not tolerate.

The group of people began to berate unparalleled gentleman.

everyone vented their anger on the unparalleled gentleman.

What was originally a meeting to cry and cry had become a battle of besieging and scolding the unparalleled gentleman.

After seeing the lively scene in the world Channel, Zhang Shan did not know what the unparalleled gentleman was thinking.

This person was probably asking for a scolding.

if not, he could be like zhang shan, not saying anything. wouldn't that be fine?

Zhang Shan had been in the city of the ruins for a few days, but he had not scolded him.

Although Zhang Shan did not remind the other players, he did not provide any misleading information either.

As for the unparalleled gentleman, the information he provided was accurate and not misleading on the surface.

The monsters in the city of the ruins were indeed very powerful.

but then?

You can't just rely on the fact that the monster is very powerful, right?

Shouldn't you describe how strong it is?

In this game, no one would meet each other. If there was no real evidence, who would believe you?

It would have been better if the unparalleled gentleman had not said it.

His words made everyone's hearts itch.

He thought that the unparalleled gentleman had deliberately said this to make everyone back off so that he could monopolize the benefits.

In the end, he had scammed a large number of people.

Not only that, when everyone was discussing how pitiful they were, the unparalleled gentleman even came out to add fuel to the fire.

He was simply asking for a scolding.

Chapter 566 God tool, third transformation

For the rest of the time, Zhang Shan had been in the city of the ruins instance dungeon, killing zombie monsters.

As for the other players in the game, after being scammed in the beginning, they had no idea what to do.

After that, no one else tried to enter the ruins city dungeon.

They now knew how powerful the zombie monsters were in the city of the ruins.

This was because a group of big shots, after being tricked, posted the attributes of the monsters they saw on the game forum.

After the others saw the monster attributes on the forum, they no longer had any thoughts of going to the city of the ruins to farm for the saint's relics.

It was because these Max-level zombie monsters were a little too strong.

With the current strength of the players, it was impossible for them to gain a firm foothold in the city of the ruins.

in fact, not to mention now, according to the current growth rate of the players, it might take another half a year.

It was still impossible for them to gain a firm foothold in the city of ruins.

The mainstream players were only around level 40, and a small number of big shots had already reached level 50.

but that was far from enough.

It should be known that the zombie monsters in the city of the ruins were all Max-level monsters.

How could they survive in the city of the ruins if they didn't reach level 70 or 80?

and seventy or eighty was just a conservative estimate.

In fact, this might not be enough.

Zhang Shan's little friends were the best portrayal.

Windcloud blade and the others had already reached level 70, and their equipment could be said to be luxurious.

Each of them had three or four pieces of divine equipment.

But they still couldn't survive in the city of ruins.

wind and cloud blade and heart moves with me. the moment they entered the city of the ruins, they fell to the ground and couldn't even stand.

If Zhang Shan was not around, they would not have any other gains other than throwing their lives away when they entered the instance dungeon.

If even Windcloud blade and the others were in such a state, it would be even more so for the other players in the game.

When they reached level 80 or 90, maybe they could try to enter the city of ruins.

But how long would he have to wait?

They were only at level 40 or 50. Wouldn't it take years to reach level 80 and above?

unless the game had a special event that allowed players to level up quickly.

Otherwise, it would be impossible for the other players to reach level 80 and above in a year.

In other words, in the next year, Zhang Shan might be the only one farming monsters in the city of ruins.

Perhaps he could even add his little companions.

After all, the level of a companion was very high.

they were all over level 70 now, and when they reached level 80, they would be able to level up.

If he put on the level 80 purple cape, he might not have to worry about being instantly killed by the zombie monster.

of course.

And that was all.

After reaching level 80, the best they could do was to stay alive and not be instantly killed by the zombie monsters.

As for the fact that they wanted to solo the ruins city dungeon and kill monsters, that was impossible.

other than zhang shan, without the cooperation of a group of people, it was impossible for anyone to farm monsters alone in the city of the ruins.

The zombie monsters in the city of the ruins were all in groups of a few, and they were completely inseparable.

Even if wind and cloud blade and the others reached level 80, the most they could do was to keep themselves alive.

They still couldn't farm the zombies.

However, the problem was that in the city of the ruins, forming a party was a difficult problem.

The team that everyone had formed outside might not be of any use after entering the ruins.

this was because everyone would be scattered all over the place and would not be together at all.

How long would it take for everyone to gather together?

In fact, this was the biggest difficulty of the city of ruins instance dungeon.

Otherwise, the other big bosses in the game could have entered and farmed it now.

If they could form a large team and enter the city of the ruins together, they would be able to defeat the zombie monsters.

They could even defeat a real name boss, so why would they be afraid of the zombies in the city of ruins?

If this method worked, those big shots would definitely think of ways to collect passes and then enter the instance dungeon in a large group.

As long as there were enough people, there was still a portion of Guardian Warriors at the boss level that could withstand the damage of the zombie monster.

For example, God of War Li Jing's HP was estimated to be in the hundreds of thousands.

they only needed to find those zombie monsters that didn't deal too much explosive damage and didn't have a lot of them. they could still farm them.

But that would require a lot of support to heal.

The problem now was that this path was simply not feasible.

It was impossible for large groups of players to enter the city of the ruins.

If that was the case, it would probably take an entire day to gather everyone together.

Not only that, perhaps before these people could gather together, more than half of them would have already fallen.

all in all, it was impossible for other players to enter the city of ruins to farm for saint's relics.

If they wanted to improve their strength, they could only honestly improve their levels and slowly get their hands on divine artifacts.

As for the matter of upgrading the divine weapon, they could forget about it.

This thing was currently Zhang Shan's patent.

As time slowly passed, Zhang Shan was alone in the city of the ruins. The speed at which he was killing monsters was getting faster and faster.

...

As all four attack-type equipment had been upgraded to the second class of divine equipment, the equipment had been upgraded to the second class.

Zhang Shan's current damage ability had already been greatly improved.

His current theoretical damage was about 500000, and that was not including boss Wu's attack blessing.

Otherwise, it would have been more than 600000.

Zhang Shan's current damage on the Zombie's head was already over 170000.

His overall grinding speed had almost doubled compared to when he had first entered the city of the ruins.

Previously, when Zhang Shan wanted to kill two zombie monsters, he had needed more than ten minutes.

It would take 20 minutes to kill a wave of four zombies.

However, he didn't need that much time now.

With four zombie monsters per wave, Zhang Shan only needed 11 to 12 minutes to completely destroy them.

Now, Zhang Shan's farming speed was getting faster and faster.

His gains in the city of the ruins were also increasing.

After farming for half a month, Zhang Shan had accumulated a total of 18 city of the ruins passes.

As for the saint's relics, he had already accumulated more than 80.

Although Zhang Shan had saved a lot of saint's relics, he did not easily upgrade them to God equipment.

The third transformation of a divine weapon required the consumption of three Saint relics, and the success rate was only 12.5%.

With such a low success rate, Zhang Shan did not want to make a move at all unless he had saved up some Saint relics.

He didn't want to hurt his spirit.

If he could upgrade it to a divine artifact every time he gathered a wave of saint's relics.

If he failed, wouldn't his heart ache?

zhang shan planned to wait until he had gathered a hundred saint relics before charging in again.

Even so, he would still have to experience countless failures before he could succeed.

But that didn't matter.

Because if he did this, even if his heart ached, it would be enough.

Moreover, after he failed countless times, he would probably become numb to it.

If that was the case, perhaps he would not feel heartache anymore.

Of course.

his heartache was just a joke.

It was mainly because Zhang Shan felt that the same number of saint's relics, if they were to rush in separate directions, it would be much better than gathering them together.

If they focused on one wave, the chances of success would be higher.

As for whether that was the case, only the heavens knew.

This was probably a f * cking metaphysical question.

Anyway, Zhang Shan thought so.

Perhaps it was his illusion.

Zhang Shan was alone, killing the zombie monsters out of boredom. Another two days passed.

As a wave of zombies was destroyed by him, a few streams of light fell into Zhang Shan's backpack.

zhang shan opened his backpack to check.

Eh, another saint's relic dropped.

In Zhang Shan's backpack, there were already a hundred saint's relics.

Zhang Shan kept his hand cannon and retreated to a safe position. He planned to charge forward and make a three-turn.

He had been saving the saint's relics for more than half a month, and he had finally saved 100. It was really not easy.

it was also time to charge at a divine weapon that had been turned three.

Zhang Shan stayed in a safe position, unloaded Aglu's hand cannon, and placed it into the reincarnation pool.

Then, he took out three Saint relics from his backpack and put them into the reincarnation pool.

He clicked to confirm the upgrade.

A dazzling light flashed past, blinding Zhang Shan's dog eyes.

'Holy F * ck, did I successfully level up?' with a success rate of 12.5%, he had succeeded in one try. zhang shan could not believe his eyes.

Was his luck really that good?

Damn, this made Zhang Shan want to buy a lottery ticket.

With this luck, if he went to the lottery, he would easily get five million Yuan.

of course.

buying lottery tickets was just a joke.

A God equipment that had been converted three times was worth much more than five million.

Zhang Shan took Aglu's hand cannon out of the rotating pool to check.

Aglu's hand cannon (God equipment, rank three): [physical attack: 15972-15972]

Looking at the Aglu hand cannon after its third turn, Zhang Shan's heart was bursting with joy.

hehe, this isn't difficult.

A wave of them directly charged forward.

Even though it was only rank three now, it was still a long way from becoming a god tool rank nine.

However, this was a good start.

initially, when the announcement for the advancement of the divine weapon had just come out, zhang shan had been shocked by the low success rate of the advancement.

Now, it seemed that it was the case.

as long as he was lucky enough, it would not be difficult.

Zhang Shan kept his hand cannon and equipped it again.

A rank three God tool looked very cool.

Zhang Shan looked at the remaining 97 Saint relics in his backpack.

Should they continue to charge? to make the tear of the sky eagle king reach the third transformation god equipment?

With 97 saint's relics, he could attempt more than 30 times. He should be able to successfully ascend again.

If he was lucky enough, he might be able to make all three ornaments rank three in one go.

It was worth a try.

There were still so many Saint relics left. If they didn't rush in now, when would they?

He would strive to make all his offensive divine artifacts rank three in one wave.

After Zhang Shan fantasized for a while, he quickly removed the Tear of the Sky Eagle King and placed it in the ascending pool.

He did as he said and charged again.

After putting in the equipment, Zhang Shan took out the three Saint relics and placed them in the reincarnation pool.

He clicked to confirm the upgrade.

a gray aura floated past, and the ascension failed.

Don't panic, again.

Zhang Shan placed the saint's relic in again and clicked to confirm his promotion.

However, he still failed.

However, Zhang Shan was not discouraged. The third transformation of a divine weapon was not that simple. He might need to do it a few more times.

After all, he still had more than 90 saint's relics.

He could still level up 30 more times.

the success rate of a god equipment's third upgrade was 12.5%. he couldn't say that he couldn't upgrade it successfully even after 30 times.

If that was the case, he was afraid that he would have to bang his head against the wall.

Zhang Shan kept putting in the saint's relic and clicking on the upgrade button, but he failed every time.

After more than ten failures, Zhang Shan was no longer as calm as he was at the beginning.

He was a little flustered in his heart.

No way, was it so difficult for a divine weapon to go through the third transformation?

That shouldn't be the case.

He had succeeded in the first wave, and now he had tried more than ten times, but he still failed.

Did he just use up all his luck?

should he continue?

Zhang Shan's heart was a little conflicted.

He looked at the remaining saint's relic in his bag.

Zhang Shan gritted his teeth and thought.

He continued.

He didn't believe that he wouldn't be able to obtain this tear of the heavenly Eagle King.

Zhang Shan placed the saint's relic in again and again, and then clicked to level up.

Unfortunately, he failed every time.

In Zhang Shan's bag, when there was only one saint's relic left, he still had not successfully converted the tear of the heavenly Eagle King.

Seeing the lonely relic of a Saint in his backpack, Zhang Shan wanted to cry but had no tears.

It was a huge loss.

If he had known this would happen, he would have stopped after he had made the third turn.

If he had stopped at that time, he would have made a huge profit.

Three saint's relics were enough to turn a divine weapon three times.

But now, he seemed to have suffered a huge loss.

Even with the agaru hand cannon that had completed its third transformation, Zhang Shan had still suffered a loss.

He had spent a total of ninety-nine Saint relics to successfully create a God equipment that had gone through three cycles. Wasn't that a loss?

If he had known earlier, he would not have continued.

Wouldn't it be more fragrant to store the other saint's relics?

Or just now, Zhang Shan could have found an accessory to advance to rank three. He could not just focus on the necklace.

Zhang Shan felt that this Tear of the Sky Eagle King was probably a conflict with him.

Back when he was trying to break through to rank two, he seemed to have done it twice.

Right now, he had tried to reach rank three thirty-two times, but he still had not succeeded.

It was simply too much.

Unfortunately, there was no medicine for regret in this world.

One wave had caused Zhang Shan to waste 96 saint's relics.

This was the result of more than half a month's work.

It was all for naught.

This made Zhang Shan's heart ache.

even though his current farming speed had already greatly increased.

In the beginning, Zhang Shan could only get five to Six Saint's relics a day.

Now, as his damage ability increased.

Every day, Zhang Shan would be able to get about ten Saint relics.

In addition, he had just upgraded the hand cannon three times, so his farming speed was even faster now.

In the future, he should be able to collect more than ten saint's relics every day.

But even so, the 96 Saint relics were not a small number.

Even with his current grinding speed, it would take him at least a week to get close to 100 saint's relics.

This wave of consecutive failed upgrades was very damaging.

Zhang Shan did not even have the mood to farm monsters.

Forget it, if the saint's relic is gone, then so be it.

Zhang Shan gathered his emotions and did not think about those terrible things.

he had to look at his character's stats.

Even though the Tear of the Sky Eagle King had failed to reach rank three, his three accessories had already reached rank two.

and today, he had even obtained a rank three aglu hand cannon.

His attack power should have increased a lot now.

Skill

Looking at his character's attributes, Zhang Shan's originally depressed mood instantly became better.

His current attack had reached 145000, so the theoretical damage he could deal should be around 520000.

It was very powerful.

More importantly, after more than half a month of killing monsters, Zhang Shan's level had also risen to level 75.

In new world, there was a card every five levels.

after zhang shan had reached level 75, the zombie monsters in the city of the ruins would have less of a level suppression on him.

In this way, the actual damage that Zhang Shan could do would increase by a lot.

let's find a wave of zombies to try it out.

zhang shan ran quickly in the city of the ruins, and very quickly, he found a monster point.

However, there were only two zombie monsters here.

Zhang Shan took a look. He had wanted to leave immediately.

With his powerful strength, it was a little embarrassing to kill only two zombie monsters.

However, after seeing the names of the two zombie monsters, Zhang Shan did not leave.

Because this was a type of zombie monster that Zhang Shan had never seen before.

Perhaps he could even get a wave of passive skills.

Zhang Shan walked forward and looked at the names of the two zombie monsters.

Blood-eating zombie.

he didn't know what kind of passive skills these two blood-eating zombies would have.

Were there any passive skills that could increase attack power?

among all the passive skills, zhang shan's favorite was the kind that increased attack power by a percentage.

That kind of passive skill was really cool.

A passive skill could increase the attack power more than a divine weapon.

He hoped that these two blood-eating zombies would have passive skills that increased their attack power.

Zhang Shan fantasized as he prepared to pull the monster.

Forget it, I don't care about it anymore. I'll just go up and start.

No matter how passive it was, he would know once he hit it.

if he didn't go up and fight, he wouldn't be able to see anything just by looking.

zhang shan quickly stepped forward and opened fire at the two blood-eating zombies in front of him.

Countless bullets rained down on the zombie monster.

The two blood-eating zombies were inflicted with damage, jumping back and forth.

With one shot from Zhang Shan, six lines of damage appeared above the heads of each zombie monster.

His current level was already level 75, and he had also upgraded his hand cannon to rank three.

Each of the damage values above the two blood-eating zombies' heads was more than 200000.

Now, Zhang Shan's farming speed was more than twice as fast as when he had first entered the city of the ruins.

However, he suddenly realized a problem. Why was his damage dealt so fast?

However, the speed at which these zombies lost HP was not as fast as he had imagined.

He felt that the two blood-eating zombies were losing health very slowly.

At this rate, wouldn't he need at least ten minutes to kill these two zombies?

Why was this so?

Zhang Shan was a little suspicious. The damage values that appeared on the head of the blood-eating zombie could not be fake.

Otherwise, the blood-eating zombies' HP would drop much slower than when he was farming monsters.

Could it be that these two blood-eating zombies had a powerful recovery passive skill?

It can't be.

To Zhang Shan, recovering from the passive state was a bit of a waste.

That thing didn't have much effect on him.

Just like what he had done before, the passive vitality only had a little effect when he was looking for the demon gods outside the capital.

It was basically useless at other times.

Zhang Shan's health regeneration was completely dependent on his powerful life-sucking ability. As for his own health regeneration, it did not have much effect.

After all, no matter how fast one's HP recovery speed was, it was impossible to block the damage dealt by monsters.

To Zhang Shan, the health recovery passive was a useless skill, far inferior to the life sucking passive.

He hoped that the passive skill on these two zombies wasn't regeneration.

If that was the case, Zhang Shan did not really want to continue farming here.

That kind of passive skill would be useless even if he used it.

The most important thing was that monsters with passive recovery were not easy to farm.

With such a fast recovery speed, it had seriously affected Zhang Shan's efficiency in farming monsters.

Chapter 567 Passive skill, bloodthirst

As Zhang Shan fired his shots, he checked the attributes and skills of these blood-eating zombies.

He wanted to see what the hell the passive skill of these blood-eating zombies was.

Please don't let it be a passive skill like HP recovery.

If that was the case, he would have to turn around and run away, not wanting to fight anymore.

In Zhang Shan's eyes, passive skills like health regeneration were almost useless to him.

More importantly, wild monsters with passive health recovery were very difficult to deal with.

It was just like the ancient crocodile Cub that they had fought before.

It was because of its passive skill, vitality, that allowed the ancient crocodile youngling to have an extremely high HP recovery speed.

They had to fight for a long time before they could kill it.

it didn't matter that they were slower in fighting real-name bosses.

After all, the loot of a real-name BOSS was generally very good. It was almost certain that it would drop a divine item.

However, these zombie monsters were not bosses.

Apart from a small chance of dropping saint's relics, these zombie monsters would only drop some white grade trash.

for these things, zhang shan did not want to waste his energy.

If it wasn't for his passive skill, why would he farm these zombies that had fast HP recovery?

wouldn't it be better to find some easy to farm zombie monsters?

He attacked while checking.

[blood-sucking zombie (orange): level 100, attack 100000, HP 2 billion, skill: Bloodthirsty (passive).

[bloodthirst (passive): when attacking, the user can convert damage into health points.]

Eh?

F * ck.

Was this a passive vampiric skill?

After seeing the blood-eating Zombie's passive skill, Zhang Shan could not help but be overjoyed.

this wasn't a health regeneration passive, but a lifesteal passive?

Vampiric passive was good, and Zhang Shan needed this passive skill.

A strong lifesteal ability was the foundation for Zhang Shan to solo bosses.

If he did not have a powerful lifesteal ability, no matter how strong his damage ability was or how high his health was, he would not be able to solo the BOSS.

That was because there was no endurance without lifesteal.

When he did not have enough stamina, Zhang Shan wanted to fight the BOSS, so he needed a support to help him heal.

Zhang Shan's current lifesteal effect was mainly from the three Sky Eagle King Accessories and the life concentration passive.

The three accessories all added 10% lifesteal effect, and health concentration passive added 5%.

In other words, Zhang Shan's current lifesteal ratio was 35% of the damage he dealt.

This lifesteal ability was enough to deal with a normal BOSS.

Even without the support's healing, he could still easily beat them in a one-on-one fight.

However, when it came to dealing with powerful bosses, it was a little less interesting.

This was especially true when there were no other monsters around the BOSS.

When there were no other monsters around the boss, Zhang Shan's catapults were passive and could not be used.

He could only deal one shot of damage with each shot and could only suck blood once.

This was not enough to deal with a powerful boss.

this was especially so for zhang shan now. if he wanted to deal with the ninth demon god, he would need a strong blood-sucking ability.

This was because there were no monsters around the ninth Demon God. Only the powerful figure of the demon God stood alone outside the capital.

When Zhang Shan was fighting the demon God, his catapults were passive and could not be used at all.

Without the passive boost from ejection, he could only deal damage with each shot and drain his HP with each shot. The effect was very low.

Moreover, if Zhang Shan wanted to fight the demon God, he could only go alone. He could not bring boss Wu along.

The demon God's full-map damage was too powerful.

no matter how much boss wu improved, he couldn't gain a foothold outside the palace.

In addition to the demon God's powerful all-map damage, its active damage was also large-scale damage.

The demon God's Black blade light flashed, and it could cut through half the map.

As long as the players stayed outside the city, there was a chance that they would be injured by the demon God's blade light.

Not to mention boss Wu, even the top Guardian warrior in the game couldn't withstand such damage.

Therefore, if Zhang Shan wanted to challenge the ninth Demon God again, he was destined to be the only one to fight. No one could help him.

For this reason, improving his blood-sucking ability was his top priority.

As long as his attack power was high enough and his lifesteal ability was strong enough, he could increase his maximum health by a few levels.

Then, Zhang Shan could try to challenge the ninth Demon God again.

after seeing the blood-eating zombie's passive skill, Zhang Shan's battle became even more intense.

He had to get this passive skill.

Zhang Shan held the hand cannon, and the fierce bullets kept on sweeping towards the blood-eating zombies.

It was just that the blood-sucking ability of these blood-eating zombies was indeed a little disgusting.

Zhang Shan's one shot could deal a total damage of nearly three million.

However, these blood-eating zombies could actually absorb back hundreds of thousands of blood by relying on their powerful lifesteal effect.

Zhang Shan had to fight for a while longer before he could kill the two blood-eating zombies.

although the speed of killing monsters was slower, Zhang Shan did not mind at all.

it didn't matter if he was a little slower, as long as he could use his passive skills.

Moreover ...

In fact, it was not much slower.

Zhang Shan's current damage ability was terrifyingly high.

Under normal circumstances, he might not even need five minutes to finish off two zombie monsters.

Although these two blood-eating zombies were a bit disgusting, each wave would at most delay him for one or two minutes.

He didn't need to care at all.

Zhang Shan kept firing. Every five to six minutes, he could kill two blood-eating zombies.

Just like that, he continued to kill monsters until it was past 7 pm. Another wave of zombies was killed by him.

a system notification sounded.

[system notification: your passive king talent has been triggered by killing a blood-eating zombie.]

acquired passive skill, bloodthirst.

Eh, it was refreshed just like that?

Zhang Shan could not help but feel happy.

It was much faster than he had imagined.

Initially, Zhang Shan had planned to try it out at night if he could not get it in a short time.

If not, when he went online the next day to enter the city of the ruins, he would not know where he would end up.

this time, he saw it. a passive skill like bloodthirst would definitely appear in one wave.

Otherwise, he didn't know when he would be able to find these blood-eating zombies again.

Who knew that his luck was not bad.

In less than ten hours, the blood-eating Zombie's passive skill was activated.

Awesome.

zhang shan opened the skills panel to take a look.

He wanted to see how much more lifesteal he would get from this passive skill.

[bloodthirst (passive): when attacking, the damage dealt will be converted into health points based on a certain ratio.]

Conversion ratio is 10%, talent acquired, can not be upgraded.

It was good.

10% was already very strong.

Zhang Shan looked at his own panel, and after reading the description of the passive skill bloodthirst, he was overjoyed.

with this passive skill, zhang shan's lifesteal ratio had reached 45%.

It had almost reached half of the lifesteal effect.

In other words, if he dealt 3000000 damage now, he would recover 1500000 HP.

Such a powerful blood-sucking ability was very terrifying.

Of course.

He was still far from being able to deal with the ninth Demon God.

The last time Zhang Shan had attacked the demon God, the damage he had dealt with each shot was only around 50000.

In other words, he could only recover less than 30000 HP with each shot.

This was still far from it.

Even though he had dealt less damage last time, it had something to do with his level.

the last time zhang shan had gone to look for the ninth demon god, he had only been level 73.

now that he had reached level 75, the level suppression the ninth demon god had on him should have been reduced by a level.

But even so, if Zhang Shan were to challenge the demon God now, he would probably only be able to deal less than 100000 damage.

A single drain of 50000 HP?

In comparison to the ninth Demon God's powerful damage.

zhang shan's lifesteal ability was not enough.

the damage dealt by each of the ninth demon god's slashes was close to three million.

Even though the ninth Demon God was slow, the demon God could only strike once after Zhang Shan fired five or six shots.

However, this was still not enough.

Zhang Shan fired five or six shots and could only recover 200000 to 300000 HP. It was not even one-tenth of the ninth Demon God's damage.

It was still far from being able to offset the damage from the demon God by just absorbing blood.

It looked like he had to continue working hard.

He could either continue to increase his damage ability or increase his lifesteal effect.

Another point was that Zhang Shan had to increase his maximum health.

His current HP was still around 2.7 million.

Before activating the deity's descent skill, it was not even enough to withstand a single strike from the ninth Demon God.

He had to greatly increase his health.

It was difficult.

thinking of this, zhang shan could not help but have a headache.

None of these things were simple.

Other than increasing his damage, there was still a way to go.

As long as Zhang Shan continued to farm for the saint's relics, he would be able to upgrade the four attack-type divine weapons a few more times.

Then his damage ability should be able to double.

However, it would not be easy to improve his blood-sucking ability.

After all, it was rare to see a passive skill that could suck blood. It was already very good that he could find a zombie monster in the city of the ruins that had a passive skill.

It would probably be difficult to find a second one.

As for increasing his maximum health, that was also very difficult.

Currently, Zhang Shan had only confirmed one method, and that was to upgrade the king's Cape.

But even if he could get the king's Cape to rank seven or eight, it would not be enough.

Zhang Shan felt that he had to increase his HP to more than eight to nine million. That would be safe.

He had to at least be able to withstand the damage from the ninth Demon God's three slashes before he could challenge it again.

Moreover, the last few slashes from the demon God were not necessarily the demon God's strongest damage.

Perhaps the ninth Demon God had even more powerful skills.

if he did not raise his health to a high enough level, Zhang Shan would have no hope of withstanding the damage from the ninth demon god.

However, what was he going to do to increase his blood volume so much?

That was unless he could obtain a passive skill that could increase his maximum health. A passive skill could increase his health by 10% or even 20%.

However, that kind of passive skill was not very common.

Zhang Shan had been farming in the city of the ruins for half a month, but he had never seen a zombie monster with such a passive skill.

Thinking of this, Zhang Shan had a headache.

It looked like he still had a long way to go if he wanted to blow up the demon God.

Take it slow.

.....

Another passive skill had been obtained. Although it would not allow Zhang Shan to fight the demon God alone.

But at least it made his strength grow a little.

It was good that his strength had improved. He would grow a little every day, and sooner or later, he would be able to step on the demon God.

Just as Zhang Shan was preparing to continue looking for the next type of zombie to start farming, he suddenly received a call from wind and cloud blade.

six-barreled boss, the monster attack is about to begin. Aren't you coming? "

Upon hearing wind and cloud blade's words, Zhang Shan could not help but be stunned.

Is there a monster attack today? He really didn't pay much attention to it.

for the past half a month, Zhang Shan had been farming the zombie monsters in the city of the ruins. he had not paid much attention to the outside world.

Zhang Shan didn't even go to the demon subduing platform instance that was once a week. The instance dungeon entries were all wasted.

To the current Zhang Shan, the demon subduing platform instance was not attractive at all.

Wasn't it just a red BOSS?

zhang shan did not take it to heart at all.

A red BOSS would not drop anything good, so it would be better to kill zombies.

However, should he participate in today's monster attack?

Zhang Shan fell into deep thought.

To be honest, Zhang Shan only wanted to farm for the saint's relics now. He wanted to level up his divine weapon as soon as possible.

He wasn't very interested in monster sieges.

After all, there would only be seven real name bosses in a monster attack.

And these seven real-name bosses would have to be fought over by so many players in the game.

When it came to the wind and cloud Guild, they could only get one or two at most.

More importantly, the drops of a real-name BOSS were no longer important to Zhang Shan.

Real name bosses would usually drop divine weapon molds and divine weapon quest items.

Zhang Shan did not need these now. He had already obtained a full set of divine weapons.

However, in addition to the divine weapon mold and quest items, real-name bosses had a certain chance of dropping powerful special items.

For example, items like the killer book and positioning bead were dropped by real-name bosses.

This type of item was what Zhang Shan needed.

However, the drop rate of such a top-tier special item was too low.

In other words, in the entire game, there should only be a few items of this type.

In fact, there was a possibility that only one item would drop, and there would not be a second one.

should he participate in the monster attack?

Zhang Shan said to wind cloud blade after thinking for a while.

you guys go ahead. I'll be back later. I'll be back half an hour after the event.

Big Boss, you're awesome. You don't care about red bosses anymore, do you? you only want to fight real-name bosses? " yeah, it's not interesting to fight a normal red BOSS.

“Alright, then remember to come. Without you, we won’t be able to take the real-name BOSS.”

“Don’t worry, I’ll be there soon.”

zhang shan thought about it seriously. he still had to participate in the monster siege event.

After all, other than the items that bosses dropped in the event, there were also other items that could be dropped.

There was also a contribution list for the monster siege event, and there were treasure chests to be obtained.

As long as Zhang Shan was at the top of the list, he would be able to get a five-star Treasure chest.

Meanwhile, a 5-star Treasure chest could give a God-ranked item.

Even though most of the time, what he opened was trash.

However, that was not the case. If he was lucky, he might get something good.

Of course.

Another point was that Zhang Shan was, after all, a member of the wind and cloud Guild. For such a big event like the monster siege, he should at least participate.

Otherwise, it would be obvious that he was too unsociable.

what if he didn’t go this time, and the wind and cloud guild didn’t get the real-name BOSS?

Then wouldn’t the big shots in the Guild hate him to death?

Moreover, it would not take him too much time to join the monster attack.

Zhang Shan planned to wait until the real name BOSS was about to respawn before he left the city of the ruins to participate in another wave of events.

half an hour would be enough.

With half an hour’s time, Zhang Shan would definitely be able to take the top spot on the contribution list.

As long as he was around, the wind and cloud Guild would definitely be able to get a real name BOSS.

If he wanted to, it wouldn’t be difficult to get another one.

Now that Zhang Shan was so strong, he could be said to be invincible in the game.

Zhang Shan’s target was no longer the players. In his eyes, there was only the demon God.

As for the other players in the game, no matter how many people there were, he would not care.

as such, as long as zhang shan was willing, snatching an additional real name BOSS during the monster siege event was not a problem at all.

However, if Zhang Shan wanted to participate in the monster attack event, he would have to waste another pass.

Because after leaving the city of the ruins, he would have to use another pass if he wanted to enter again.

But it didn't matter now.

Zhang Shan had already accumulated more than 20 city of the ruins entry passes.

He didn't lack this for the time being, so it didn't matter if he wasted one.

.....

Zhang Shan quickly ran through the city of ruins dungeon, planning to find the next farming point.

He didn't want to kill the two blood-eating zombies anymore.

In any case, he had already obtained the blood-eating Zombie's passive skill, so there was no need to continue.

The main thing was that these zombie monsters that could regenerate health were a little disgusting to farm.

Previously, if it was not for his passive skills, Zhang Shan would not even bother to farm them.

Now that he had obtained the passive skill, he naturally had to find another farming spot.

Very quickly, Zhang Shan found another spawn point for the zombie monsters.

There were four dagger-headed zombies.

Just brush here.

The zombie monster's passive skill was a critical hit passive.

Previously, Zhang Shan had already obtained the dagger-headed Zombie's passive skill. Now, even if he were to get another one, it would not give him a passive skill.

But it didn't matter.

He had been farming in the city of the ruins for more than half a month. Most of the zombie monsters in the dungeon had passive skills that he had already obtained.

There weren't many passive skills left that he hadn't obtained yet.

There would be plenty of time in the future for him to slowly grind in the city of ruins.

As for now, there was no need to pick at all.

As long as it wasn't that kind of disgusting zombie monster, he could just farm it.

Anyway, he would only be farming for half an hour. He still had to join the monster siege event later.

With such a short amount of time, he just had to find a few zombies to farm and didn't have to be too particular.

zhang shan also did not expect to be able to get anything out of it in the remaining half an hour.

He had simply gotten used to it.

Zhang Shan had been grinding in the city of the ruins for more than half a month, and he had already gotten used to it.

If it wasn't for the monster attack, he wouldn't have wanted to leave the dungeon.

Zhang Shan was in the city of the ruins again, killing zombies for half an hour.

In the meantime, a saint's relic was dropped.

His luck today was pretty good. It was only eight o'clock in the evening, and he had already collected ten Saint relics.

compared to the past few days, today's efficiency was much higher.

Perhaps his bad luck had already passed.

after all, in the morning, he had used up 96 saint relics to upgrade his divine weapon.

Now, it was possible that bad luck had passed and good luck was coming.

Zhang Shan looked at the 10 Saint relics in his bag, and his heart was a little itchy.

should he charge forward again and see if he could raise the tear of the heavenly eagle to rank three?

However, as long as this thought circled in Zhang Shan's mind, he would give up.

Forget it.

Ten saint's relics were only enough for three attempts. The possibility of success was too small, so it was better not to waste effort.

.....

Zhang Shan looked at the time.

It was 8:30 in the evening.

The monster attack had already started for half an hour.

It was time to go out and participate in some activities.

If he came any later, he didn't want to let anyone else take his first place on the contribution rank.

If that was the case, he would have suffered a huge loss.

Zhang Shan was still counting on the reward of being first in the contribution ranking, a five star Treasure chest, so that he could get the best items.

Even though the chances of a 5-star Treasure chest dropping good items were not high, it was still a treasure chest.

but at least there was still a chance.

If he did not get the 5-star Treasure chest, then there would not even be a chance of success.

after zhang shan had killed a wave of zombies, he retreated to a safe position and started to channel his return to the city.

Chapter 568 The Emperor who cuts wood with a Golden Axe zhang shan returned to dangyang city and then teleported to heaven's gate.

he didn't need to buy supplies or repair his equipment.

a full set of divine artifacts was convenient. their durability would never be worn out, and they would never need to repair their equipment.

As for supplies, he didn't buy much in the past.

Hunters were originally a low-consumption profession, so they didn't need many supplies.

Zhang Shan was even more so. With his powerful blood-sucking ability, he did not need Hong Yao at all.

as for the blue potions, they were even more useless.

Zhang Shan did not have many skills to use. Usually, after using a wave of skills, it would take a long time before he could use a second wave of skills.

With such a long interval between skills, he didn't need to take any potions to replenish his blue at all. It was enough to rely on himself to slowly recover his blue.

In the past, when Zhang Shan bought supplies, it was more for the Panda dumpling and some pet food.

It was just that Zhang Shan was using the Panda dumplings less and less, and did not consume much pet food.

Moreover, Zhang Shan's backpack had always had a large amount of pet food.

Therefore, after Zhang Shan returned to Dangyang city, he was directly teleported to Heaven's Gate.

There was no need for him to dawdle in Dangyang city.

After Zhang Shan teleported to Heaven's Gate, he quickly teleported to the city gate and rode his horse out of the city.

As Zhang Shan rode on his horse, he looked at the players from all over the world outside the city.

He couldn't help but be a little dazed.

With the increase in his abilities, Zhang Shan felt that he was playing a different game from the others.

he felt like he was in a different world from the others.

He saw that the other players were surrounding the red BOSS outside the pass.

Zhang Shan felt that it was a little unreal.

Wasn't it just a level 80 red BOSS? was there a need for so many people to surround it?

not only that, along the way, zhang shan had also seen a few scenes of car flipping.

A large group of hundreds or even thousands of people could not defeat a level 80 red BOSS.

Was the BOSS that scary?

Why didn't Zhang Shan feel that way? for a red BOSS like this, he could take on ten of them at the same time without a problem.

As for the other players, they couldn't even defeat hundreds or thousands of players?

however, that was the truth.

Zhang Shan's strength, to other players in the game, was like a supermodel's existence.

There was no comparison at all.

It was the same no matter how one looked at it.

In terms of level, Zhang Shan was now level 75, while the other players were still around level 40 or 50. There was a huge gap between them.

if it was said that the level alone was not enough to reflect the difference in strength.

The comparison in terms of attributes was very obvious.

in terms of attack power, the big-shot players in the game generally only had around 40000 to 50000 attack power.

Zhang Shan's attack power on the interface had already reached 145000. If the double effect of the killer book was included, it would be 290000.

Such a difference was simply too unreal.

it was the same in terms of hp.

Zhang Shan's current HP was more than 2.7 million, and the high-end players in the game were estimated to only have a little more than 100000.

Of course.

There were definitely some powerful Guardian bosses who could reach high HP, even 700000 to 800000.

But for most of them, their HP was basically just over 100000.

And this was only for the Big Shot players. As for the normal players in the game, they were even less comparable to Zhang Shan.

In the game, there were still a lot of players who had less than 10000 attack power.

The other players' attributes were so weak. It was no wonder that even when hundreds and thousands of people fought the red BOSS together, they still failed.

As Zhang Shan ran, he sighed.

it wasn't easy.

Zhang Shan was riding on the red Hare, galloping quickly outside Heaven's Gate.

Every time he passed by a group of players, they would all look at him with vigilance.

Zhang Shan was dressed in a bright yellow King's Cape. He was very eye-catching in the game. As long as everyone paid a little attention, they would be able to discover his existence.

When these people saw Zhang Shan pass by, they couldn't help but feel a little scared.

They were afraid that Zhang Shan would steal the BOSS.

Actually, these players did not know that Zhang Shan had long looked down on these normal red bosses.

Normal red bosses would usually drop red equipment. Why would Zhang Shan want that?

He wouldn't be able to sell it for much.

People from different worlds would have very different views.

What others thought was precious, Zhang Shan did not care at all.

Just like in the story, what did it say?

The two woodsmen were discussing what the Emperor was doing as they ate their steamed buns.

a woodcutter said that the emperor must be chopping wood with a golden axe.

Another woodcutter said, " how could the Emperor still need to chop wood? he must have white steamed buns to eat every day. He doesn't even need to chop wood.

Perhaps in the eyes of these players, Zhang Shan was the Emperor, the Emperor who used the divine weapon to kill bosses.

But what they did not know was that Zhang Shan was no longer interested in ordinary bosses.

Seeing Zhang Shan pass by, the surrounding players discussed softly from time to time.

holy sh * t! This is six-pipe Bodhisattva.

“He won’t steal our BOSS, right?”

I don’t know. Be careful. If we see six-barreled Bodhisattva make a move, we’ll run as fast as we can. Don’t die in vain.

it should be fine. As long as we don’t provoke him, six-pipe Bodhisattva shouldn’t have the time to deal with us.

that’s hard to say. We have a red BOSS here. Won’t he be jealous? ”

“be careful.”

” avoid the six-barreled bodhisattva. don’t let him notice us. ” six-barreled Bodhisattva is too powerful now. We can’t afford to offend him.

that’s right. Not only did he get a full set of divine artifacts, he even has a rank three divine artifact. I wonder how he got it.

sigh, the other big shots can’t stand their ground in the city of the ruins, but the six-barreled Bodhisattva can actually farm so many Saint relics. The gap is really too big.

why are you worrying so much? anyway, six tube Bodhisattva is not from the same world as us. Let the big shots worry about it.

you’re right. We’ll just stay away from him. I don’t think he’s interested in us. As long as we don’t get in his way, even six-barreled Bodhisattva won’t bother to hit us.

“en, en, i’ll just let him have his way.”

Zhang Shan was sprinting all the way outside Heaven’s Gate when he suddenly remembered that he had yet to ask where wind cloud blade and the others were.

If a person like him were to run around aimlessly outside Heaven’s Gate, how long would it take for him to find the big shots in the Guild?

Zhang Shan stopped in his tracks and called for wind and cloud blade to ask.

“Big Boss, where are you guys?”

“F * ck, did you leave the dungeon? Wait a moment, I’ll get boss to pull you into the team.”

After a while, Feng Yun realm sent a party invitation.

after zhang shan confirmed that he had joined the team, he checked the team’s information and realized that the big shots in the team were not too far away from his current position.

Zhang Shan quickly adjusted his direction and moved closer.

In less than two minutes, Zhang Shan could see that a group of big shots in the Guild were surrounding the red BOSS.

He quickly rushed forward and fired his gun.

Zhang Shan asked as he attacked the BOSS.

“The real-name BOSS hasn’t spawned yet, right?”

“Not yet. After we defeat this red BOSS, we’ll go and take a look.”

“Alright,” he said.

Ever since the monster siege event was updated, the respawning location of the real-name bosses had always been fixed.

Each time, seven demon representatives spawned at the same spot.

everyone just had to rush over before the demon representative respawned. the rest would depend on the ability of each party.

They could eat meat that they could snatch, but they could only drink the Northwest wind if they couldn’t find it.

After all, there were only seven demon representatives in each monster siege.

There were so many players in the game, and there were more than ten powerful guilds.

there were only seven real-name bosses in each event, which was not enough for everyone.

Zhang Shan did not ask further. Anyway, he would just follow these big shots and go over to kill a wave of demon representatives.

he didn’t have much passion for fighting normal bosses.

In Zhang Shan’s eyes, only the demon God was worthy of him challenging. As for the other bosses, he was just helping the big bosses in the Guild and killing them along the way.

He didn’t really care.

Zhang Shan held his cannon and aimed it at the red BOSS in front of him. He fired continuously.

Boss Wu waved his magic sword and gave him an attack blessing.

brutal damage kept appearing above the demon spearman commander’s head.

With boss Wu’s attack blessing, Zhang Shan’s current theoretical damage had reached more than 600000.

Every time he fired a shot, a damage value of more than 600000 would appear above the BOSS ‘head.

when it was a critical hit, it would be more than three million.

if he were to use a holy strike, it would deal over 6000000 damage.

Zhang Shan’s damage value was terrifying.

These level 80 demon spearmen commanders didn’t have much of an advantage over Zhang Shan.

Almost every shot of Zhang Shan's could deal the full damage.

When everyone saw Zhang Shan's damage, they could not believe their eyes.

"F * ck, is the six-barreled Big Shot so powerful now? A single shot deals 6000000 damage?"

"Yeah, it doesn't look real."

the six-barreled boss is much stronger than the BOSS. The BOSS's damage is only 200000 to 300000, not even half of the six-barreled boss's damage.

f * ck, I've played so many games, but I've never seen a player who's more powerful than a BOSS.

indeed, I really don't understand the damage done by six-barreled boss. How did you get this? "

" equipment and skills. when the six-barreled boss gets his hands on the divine artifact nine transformations, it'll probably be even more overpowered. " sigh, this is too outrageous. How are we supposed to survive? " haha, just play your own game. Do you still want to compete with the six-barreled boss? "

I'm just thinking about when I can also get a full set of divine artifacts.

"Stop dreaming? You still want a full set of divine artifacts? don't even think about it if you don't struggle for a year or two."

sigh, isn't that so? the divine weapon mold is still okay, but those divine weapon mission items are really hard to get. I've never seen them drop before.

don't panic. There will be divine artifacts. Take it slow.

"I can only think of it this way."

Everyone was blowing water while attacking.

In less than two minutes, the red demon Spearman commander had been blown up by Zhang Shan's spear.

Feng Yun realm said after quickly distributing the items.

"let's go and wait for the real-name BOSS to respawn."

Under Feng Yun realm's lead, they quickly ran towards the respawned demon representative.

It didn't take long for them to reach their positions.

he saw that the place was already filled with people from all sides.

Everyone now knew that the real-name bosses in monster sieges would spawn at fixed locations.

Therefore, not long after the event began, those who thought they had the strength to fight for the real-name BOSS would come in advance.

However, compared to the first two events, the fight for bosses in the current event was not as intense.

Right now, none of the parties would bring too many people over.

Everyone knew how strong they were, and it wasn't something that could be changed just by bringing more people.

take wind and cloud for example. although the guild had 200000 guild members, the guild's overall strength was still very high.

However, Feng Yun realm only brought his team of 50 players and did not gather the other guild members.

There was no need for that.

They only needed to defeat the demon representatives.

as for whether other players would fight with them for the BOSS, feng yun realm was not worried at all as no one would come to snatch their boss.

The other guilds were in a similar situation. Not all of their guilds had come.

However, in order to deal with the demon representative, the other guilds had basically sent more than a thousand people.

To them, without enough members, they might not be able to defeat the demon representatives.

After all, the current demon representative was a level 80 real name BOSS. To other players, it was still a little too powerful.

If they didn't bring more people, they might not be able to deal with the demon representative.

Although the other guilds had more than 1000 members, the wind and cloud Guild only had 50.

However, no one dared to underestimate the existence of the wind and cloud Guild, and no one dared to provoke them.

As long as Zhang Shan was there, the thousands of people from the other guilds were not enough.

If they were to really fight, with Zhang Shan's current high damage ability, a few waves of shrapnel would probably wipe them all out.

Before the appearance of the demon representatives, all the personnel were just waiting there quietly.

not long after, seven demonic monsters suddenly appeared out of thin air in the open space in the distance.

the seven representatives of the demon race appeared.

Everyone had already gone through a few rounds of monster attacks after the update.

However, the final BOSS had never changed. It was still the seven demon representatives.

However, as the players 'levels increased, the level of the demon representative also increased.

the first time they had participated in the event, these demon representatives had all been level 70 real name bosses.

It was now a level 80 BOSS with a real name.

After the demon representative's level had increased, its attributes had also been greatly improved, far from what it had been when it was level 70.

To the players from other guilds, a level 80 real name boss was not easy to deal with.

However, for the sake of the divine weapon mold, no matter how much the demon representative improved or how difficult it was to fight, no one cared.

He only had this chance every month, so he would beat the demon representative to death no matter how difficult it was.

after seeing the demon representatives appear, god of war li jing asked the various big shots.

“from the BOSS? who's going to lure the monsters and separate the seven bosses?”

Every time the monsters attacked the city, the seven new demon representatives would stand together.

If they wanted to fight the BOSS, they needed someone to separate the seven bosses.

In the past, everyone would arrange their own cannon fodders to pull out the seven bosses one by one. After a round of fighting, they would start fighting.

That was why the God of War Li Jing asked.

However, Zhang Shan's strength had already improved greatly. There was no need for him to be cannon fodder.

He said to the God of War, Li Jing.

I'll pull the monsters. Our wind and cloud Guild wants one. You guys can split the others.

After Zhang Shan finished speaking, under the shocked gazes of the others, he charged towards the seven demon representatives.

When he was close to the monster, Zhang Shan quickly activated the God's descent.

In any case, he had the divine artifact refresh ball, which could refresh two big moves, so it didn't matter if he used one first.

Once the big move was used, Zhang Shan had close to six million HP. Holding off seven demon representatives was not too difficult.

Zhang Shan opened his big move, and the violent bullets swept towards the demon representative.

The seven demon representatives were also waving their weapons, and a huge amount of damage was dealt to Zhang Shan.

Each demon representative dealt close to 400000 damage to Zhang Shan's head.

The damage dealt by the seven demon representatives was close to 3000000.

However, now that Zhang Shan had used his ultimate skill, he was able to withstand the damage of seven demon representatives at the same time without any pressure.

After activating his ultimate skill, not only did Zhang Shan's HP reach close to six million, but his attack power and attack speed had also been enhanced to a ridiculous level.

With every shot that Zhang Shan fired, under the passive boost of ejection, there would be a damage value of more than one million above the heads of the seven demon representatives, jumping back and forth continuously.

With the passive boost from catapulting, Zhang Shan's powerful damage ability allowed his lifesteal effect to be perfectly utilized.

Zhang Shan's current damage was around 1.2 million with each shot. Each shot dealt 12 damage.

without taking into account the critical hit, the total damage of Zhang Shan's shot was at least 14 million.

Based on his 45% lifesteal ratio, every shot Zhang Shan fired would drain six to seven million of his health.

Even if he didn't need a healer to heal him, he could easily withstand the damage from the representative of the seven demon clans.

If it wasn't for the fact that this was a monster siege event, an event that all players in the game would participate in.

even Zhang Shan could do it. He alone took care of the seven demon representatives, and did not need to share them with anyone else.

However, he didn't plan to do that. There was no need to.

if a person ate alone, he would be hated by others.

If he could surround all seven demon representatives by himself, the other big shots would go crazy.

Although Zhang Shan himself was not afraid, he had to think for the other people in the Wind Cloud Guild.

He could not let the Wind and Cloud Guild become The Public Enemy of the entire game.

After catching the 7 demon representatives, Zhang Shan shouted to the surrounding people.

if you want to fight the BOSS, come up and pull one over. Our Wind and Cloud Guild only needs one.

This was the first time that Zhang Shan had fully displayed his combat power in front of the players after obtaining the full set of divine weapons.

When the others saw that Zhang Shan had taken on the damage of seven demon representatives alone, they were simply stunned.

One person fighting seven bosses, what kind of operation was this?

the demon representative wasn't a trash BOSS, but a real BOSS with a real name. it was terrifyingly strong.

Level 80 real name bosses, they couldn't even handle one, but Zhang Shan could handle seven of them.

This made the big shots around them unable to believe their eyes.

how could there be such a powerful player?

Although they knew that after Zhang Shan had obtained the full set of divine weapons, his strength would definitely increase greatly.

however, no matter how much he improved, it was impossible for him to be so powerful.

This was simply heaven-defying.

Chapter 569 The second axe blade fragment zhang shan went up alone and pulled back all seven demon representatives. this shocked all the big shots around.

They could not understand how Zhang Shan's strength could be so powerful.

These were seven real-name bosses, not some ordinary trash BOSS.

Since when did real-name bosses have no cards?

It could make players treat them as minions and pull seven of them to farm together.

This made the other big shots present feel hurt.

This was too much of a blow.

They had to rely on thousands of players to even take down a real name BOSS.

And it might not be stable.

If it wasn't done well, it might even flip.

How could they be like Zhang Shan, directly pulling seven real name bosses to farm?

He didn't even care about the face of a real-name BOSS.

Was he still human?

He was more like a BOSS than a boss.

These big shots, after seeing Zhang Shan's powerful strength, felt their hearts ache.

However, this wasn't the time for them to be conflicted.

since zhang shan had already held the demon representative back, they had to quickly send people forward to separate a BOSS from each other.

If it had been a little later, it would have been distributed by the others.

Li Jing, the God of War, was the first to rush up. He aimed at one of the demon representatives from a distance away from Zhang Shan and used the shield strike skill.

In an instant, a demon representative was pulled up from Zhang Shan's side.

The Guardian's shield strike was a skill that forcefully pulled aggro, even if Zhang Shan had already pulled the BOSS firmly.

The other Guardian Warriors could also use the shield bash skill to steal the BOSS's aggro.

This was a common aggro-pulling skill used by The Guardian class when fighting bosses.

otherwise, how could the guardian warrior's own damage output win the boss fight? how could those powerful damage-dealing classes possibly hold the BOSS steady?

They had to rely on the shield bash skill to pull the BOSS's aggro.

After the God of War Li Jing made his move, the other guilds also made their moves. Very quickly, only demon representative higlari was left beside Zhang Shan.

The other six demon representatives had already been pulled away by The Guardian Warriors of the major guilds.

Of course, not all the guilds present had been assigned a BOSS.

After all, there were only seven demon representatives, not enough to share.

The guilds that didn't manage to get the BOSS just stood there and watched for a while, then quickly moved.

since they were already here, if they didn't get the BOSS, then wouldn't they have come for nothing?

Regardless of whether they could snatch it or not, they had to try.

Very quickly, the flames of war were ignited all over the scene.

In order to fight for the real-name BOSS, all parties began to fight.

It was just that on Zhang Shan's side, no one dared to come over and snatch it.

not to mention now, even in the past, no one had dared to steal zhang shan's BOSS.

Especially just now, after Zhang Shan had displayed his super strength, no one dared to come to their side to find trouble.

zhang shan and his teammates surrounded the demon representative higlari and began to attack him continuously.

Under their attacks, demon representative higlari's HP was constantly dropping.

As Zhang Shan fired, he looked at the chaotic battlefield around him.

god of war li jing led his guild members and happily surrounded the demon representative. no one dared to harass him.

The strength of the war god Guild was also deeply rooted in people's hearts. Under normal circumstances, no one would dare to provoke the war god Guild.

As for the remaining five demon representatives, they weren't so calm.

At the position of each demon representative, there were thousands of people fighting.

Soon, after a short and intense fight, the various battlefields had their own victors.

In reality, the difference in strength between the various guilds was very obvious.

For Guild domination and Guild peerless, they quickly defeated the harassment from the others and began to fight the BOSS steadily.

Although the other three guilds were in a miserable state, they also managed to push back their competitors.

The guilds that did not manage to snatch the BOSS quickly left the scene after a round of failure.

They didn't fight to the death.

in fact, everyone knew their own strength. they were just a little unwilling, so they wanted to try and snatch it.

In the end, he couldn't snatch it, so he naturally didn't continue.

...

If the war expanded, it would not benefit anyone.

If a war were to really break out, it wouldn't be a chaotic battle of a few thousand people.

If they called their friends, they would probably be able to gather millions of people.

if things really got to that point, then no one would be able to safely defeat the BOSS.

Not only that, but it would also be impossible for him to farm monsters safely in the future.

If all parties were to fight each other, it would not be so easy to end it.

They probably wouldn't give up until a few days had passed.

As such, even though all parties were fighting for bosses, the fight wasn't particularly intense.

After a round of probing, they realized that they couldn't win and directly retreated.

Very quickly, only the seven guilds were left in the area. Each of them was pulling a BOSS and fighting it.

The other guilds that did not manage to snatch the BOSS went to fight the red BOSS.

...

Even if they couldn't get the real name BOSS, they still had the red BOSS.

in any case, there were quite a number of red bosses that spawned during monster sieges.

As long as they wanted to, there was still a fight to be fought. They would not do nothing in the event.

.....

Zhang Shan took a quick look and ignored the other battle situations. He focused on attacking higrai.

Under their violent attacks, demon subordinate higlari's HP was dropping very quickly.

In a short while, higlari's HP was about to be reduced by 10%.

Seeing that the BOSS's HP was almost at 90%, Feng Yun realm waved his hand and said.

"Let's retreat and avoid the BOSS's skills."

after feng yun realm finished speaking, the rest of them quickly retreated.

He had to admit that the other guilds were really smart.

Everyone had fought these seven demon representatives a few times, so they were very familiar with the BOSS's skills.

In comparison, this chigral was the most difficult to deal with.

The other guilds pulled away the bosses that were easy to deal with, leaving the most difficult one, chigral, to Zhang Shan and the others.

It had to be said that these big shots were all very cunning.

However, Zhang Shan did not mind. Higrai was difficult to deal with, but that was relative to the others.

To Zhang Shan, there was no difference between these seven demon representatives.

None of them could last more than ten minutes under his gun.

As such, when the other guilds pulled away the other six bosses that were easy to deal with, Zhang Shan did not stop them.

so what if he let them take a little advantage of him?

As for why higrai was the most difficult to deal with?

This was because higrai's second skill was also an AoE skill.

higlari's second skill, [scattered shot], would randomly deal three times the damage to the surrounding targets.

a level 80 real name BOSS had an attack of 200000, so triple the damage would be 600000.

As long as higlari released his scattered spear skill, no one on the scene except for Zhang Shan would be able to withstand it.

That was why Feng Yun realm ordered everyone to retreat in advance.

Anyway, Zhang Shan was alone and could easily tank the BOSS. He did not need the support to heal.

After Feng Yun realm led his men to retreat, higlari used his [scattered spear] skill.

Countless spear shadows scattered in all directions.

However, in front of the BOSS, only Zhang Shan was there.

higlari's scattered spear skills could only hit him, and not hurt anyone else.

To Zhang Shan, a three times damage scattered spear skill was nothing to worry about.

it was nothing more than 600000 damage. compared to zhang shan's current hp of close to 6 million, it was child's play.

After the BOSS's scattered shot skill ended, his teammates quickly moved forward and continued to attack.

at this time, zhang shan's god's descent state was still in effect. one minute was not a short duration.

Under the blessing of the God's descent, Zhang Shan's damage was extremely high.

Even though there were 50 of them, they were attacking the BOSS together.

However, he was the only one who took all the damage.

Although the other bosses in the team could also deal some damage, the damage they dealt was nothing compared to Zhang Shan's.

Their levels were still relatively low, and they were all around level 50.

Facing the level 80 demon representatives, the bosses of the team were greatly suppressed.

Other than Zhang Shan's friends, the damage that the others dealt was basically less than three to five thousand.

Compared to Zhang Shan's 600000 damage per shot, their damage was insignificant.

Even though the others did not deal much damage, it did not affect their progress in fighting the BOSS.

With Zhang Shan dealing damage alone, it was enough.

Even demon representative higlari only had 2 billion blood points.

In the past, everyone would have thought that a BOSS with two billion HP was an exaggeration.

but now that the game had been open for so long, everyone had fought all kinds of powerful bosses.

A demon representative with two billion blood wasn't really that powerful.

Especially for the current Zhang Shan, the BOSS's two billion HP was nothing at all.

In the city of ruins, the zombies he had killed all had two billion HP.

Zhang Shan could not even remember how many he had killed. It was a zombie monster with two billion HP.

To him, two billion HP was nothing more than a matter of minutes.

and that was only because higlari was the only BOSS in front of him. his catapulting skill was passive and couldn't be used.

if there were two demon representatives in front of him, zhang shan would have been able to kill them after activating his ultimate move.

In less than two minutes, he could blow up the two demon representatives.

Although the ejection was passive and could not play its role, it had greatly affected Zhang Shan's damage efficiency.

But that didn't matter, it was just a waste of time.

With his current damage ability, even without the passive boost from catapulting, it would probably take him less than 10 minutes to take out the BOSS's 200000000 HP.

furthermore, zhang shan was not alone. he still had his teammates with him, even though the big boss in the team could not deal much damage.

However, with so many people, they should be able to kill some.

Under their continuous attacks.

After a short while, demon representative higlari's health had dropped to 80%.

When higlari's HP dropped to 80%, a huge Demon God's shadow slowly rose from behind him.

Everyone's HP started to drop rapidly.

They were not the only ones losing HP. All the players who were participating in the event and fighting the BOSS outside Heaven's Gate were losing HP rapidly.

However, things were different now.

Right now, everyone's level was basically around 40 to 50.

after changing into level 40 or 50 capes, players who dared to participate in monster sieges and fight bosses outside heaven's gate would basically have more than 70000 hp.

Now that everyone was facing the demon God's will skill of a real name BOSS, it was no longer as difficult as it was before.

as long as there were support players around, everyone would be able to survive.

as for zhang shan and the rest, there was no harm.

feng yun qing qing erected a totem in the middle of everyone, and very quickly, everyone's hp was restored.

Higlari's Demon God's will skill was not a threat to anyone, and it was even more so for Zhang Shan.

He had even faced a few Spears from the demon God Himself, so how could he care about the demon God's apparition?

After a short while, Zhang Shan's God's descent state ended.

The effect of Zhang Shan's damage was reduced by more than half.

at this moment, higrain's hp was only left with less than 60%.

In other words, Zhang Shan had taken out 40% of higrain's health within a minute of the skill's effect.

big moves were fierce.

After a short while, when higrain's HP was almost reduced by half ...

Once again, Feng Yun realm led the rest of the team to retreat.

Only Zhang Shan was left at the scene. Bearing with the damage from higrain, he attacked madly.

Furthermore, he was no longer in the God's descent state.

However, Zhang Shan did not mind. He did not use the refresh ball to reset the skill.

There was no need for that.

higrain's ultimate move might be terrifying to others, but to Zhang Shan, it was nothing. it was not even worth mentioning.

even if Zhang Shan did not use his god's descent skill, his hp was still more than 2.7 million.

They could easily survive the BOSS's ultimate skill.

When higrain's HP dropped to 50%, he used the myriad manifestations.

Countless BOSS incarnations appeared around Zhang Shan.

Zhang Shan quickly activated his fanatic skill, and the violent bullets swept towards higrain.

Even if there were seven to eight BOSS incarnations at the same time, attacking Zhang Shan at the same time.

However, his lifesteal effect was still able to absorb all the blood.

Zhang Shan withstood the damage from higrain's big move, but his own health bar did not seem to move at all.

Every time the health bar dropped a little, it would be quickly absorbed back by him.

Five seconds passed, and higrain's big move ended.

The others quickly ran forward and continued to attack the BOSS.

After surviving the BOSS's big move, everyone no longer had any worries and started to attack madly.

After another 4 – 5 minutes, the health bar of demon representative higlari was almost empty.

Zhang Shan saw the opportunity and controlled the Panda ball to move forward. He used a combo skill and directly blew up higrari.

Under Zhang Shan's strong damage output, their team of 50 people quickly defeated a real-name BOSS.

In the entire BOSS battle, they had only used about seven to eight minutes.

The BOSS fell to the ground, and everyone was very happy.

Killing a real-name BOSS meant that at least one divine weapon mold would be dropped.

If he was lucky, he might even get another divine weapon.

However, Zhang Shan did not care about this. No matter what item it dropped, he did not need it.

zhang shan had now obtained the full set of divine artifacts. other than the saint's relics, he could almost be said to have no more desires.

He would let the big shots in the team distribute it. Whoever got a God-tier item would be given some gold coins.

He couldn't let him do it for nothing. He believed that those big shots were sensible people.

After Zhang Shan had defeated the BOSS, he turned his head to look at the other battlefields.

It had only been seven to eight minutes since the seven real name bosses had appeared.

The other guilds were still in a stalemate with the BOSS.

The war god Guild was slightly faster. They had already taken down the BOSS and had more than 40% of its health left.

As for the other five battlefields, the battle was a little slow.

They had basically just killed the BOSS and had about 20 to 30% of its health left.

If they wanted to defeat the BOSS before the event ended, they would have to speed up.

Otherwise, the BOSS would have been killed after the event.

if that was the case, they would have wasted their efforts.

However, Zhang Shan only took a casual glance and did not pay too much attention to it.

Everyone had their own way of living.

Those guilds that dared to fight a real-name BOSS would naturally have some skills. Zhang Shan did not need to worry about them.

After higlari fell to the ground, Feng Yun realm quickly displayed the items dropped by the BOSS on the party channel.

Zhang Shan took a look. This wave was not bad.

Other than the red equipment and red materials, a divine weapon mold and a divine weapon mission item dropped at the same time.

It was definitely a huge explosion.

Zhang Shan took a look at the two God-level items that higlari had dropped.

The divine weapon mold was a strength-type boot. As for the divine weapon quest item, it was probably a Berserker's axe.

[mysterious axe blade fragment: this is an axe blade fragment of unknown origin, emitting a mysterious aura.]

Please take it with you and consult an informed person.

This axe blade fragment should be pretty good.

A Berserker's weapon had always been one of the most valuable pieces of equipment in the game.

Not to mention that it was a God-level weapon.

Although it was only a quest item, he still needed to find an NPC to activate the quest and complete it before he could create a real divine weapon.

Even so, this mysterious axe blade fragment would still be very popular.

after feng yun realm displayed the items, the berserkers in the party were instantly excited.

other than windcloud blade, none of the other berserker bosses in the guild had ever gotten their hands on a divine-level axe.

How could they not be excited when they finally managed to get one?

The most important thing was that they only had a team of 50 people this time, and they came to fight the BOSS together.

On the other hand, aside from wind and cloud blade, their party only had seven Berserkers.

In other words, only the seven of them were participating in the distribution of this mysterious axe blade fragment.

Since there were seven of them rolling for an item, everyone felt that their chances of winning were very high.

How could they not be excited when they were about to get a divine weapon?

Chapter 570 Heart of the Magic Dragon

Demon representative higlari dropped a God-tier item for Berserkers.

This made the team's Berserker boss's heart burn with passion.

There was no other item that could make them more excited than this.

A divine weapon was definitely a super qualitative change.

As long as they could make the divine weapon battleaxe, their combat strength would immediately rise to a whole new level.

More importantly, there weren't many Berserkers in their team.

aside from windcloud blade, there were only seven berserkers.

If seven people rolled for an equipment, the probability of getting it was very high.

Not long after Feng Yun realm displayed the item, the party's Berserker bosses urgently informed Feng Yun realm.

boss, hurry up and arrange the roll. I can't wait any longer.

you guys get out of the way. This axe blade fragment is mine.

"F * ck you, just because you say it's yours, does it mean it's yours?"

"That's a must. Watch me, the God of dice."

"Come on, you want to ROLL for the axe blade shard with your rotten luck? I'm afraid he's still sleeping."

While these Berserkers were still bickering with each other, Windcloud blade interrupted.

"Look at you guys, you're so useless. Isn't it just a divine artifact mission item? Why are you guys so excited?"

"F * ck, you swordsman, you got a set of godly equipment and you're still making sarcastic remarks."

ignore him. He's a swordsman with one strike. The more you care about him, the more he'll get angry.

yeah, ignore him. Let's ROLL for it first.

"boss, hurry up and roll."

Feng Yun realm said.

let's make this clear. Whoever rolls a God-tier item must remember to give a big red packet.

don't worry, the red packet is a small matter. As long as I ROLL for the axe blade fragment, I will give you a red packet of 10 million gold coins.

"f * ck, the boss is generous. i wish the boss can roll for the axe blade fragment in advance."

10 million it is. I'll give you a red packet if I get it.

"Boss, speed up."

Feng Yun realm did not dwell on it and quickly rolled for the mysterious axe blade shard.

All Berserkers in the party, with the exception of Windcloud blade, could participate in the roll.

After Feng Yun realm started the ROLL mode, the seven Berserkers in the party rolled their dice one after another.

82,65,91,90.....

In the end, a Big Shot named God-slaying wind and cloud won the game with a slight advantage in points.

haha, I've got 91 points. This axe blade shard is mine.

"F  k, a vile person intoxicated by success."

"Whatever you say. I know you're jealous, so I won't argue with you."

f * ck, just a little bit more. I'm really f * cking done.

After seeing everyone's points, God-Slayer Feng Yun excitedly told Feng Yun realm.

"Boss, hurry up and give me the axe blade fragment."

Feng Yun realm gave the axe blade shard to wind cloud divine behead and reminded him.

"Remember to give out red packets, big red packets."

"Yes, send me the 10 million red packet as soon as possible."

"That's easy, wait a moment."

God-slaying wind and cloud kept the axe blade shard and sent out a red packet of 10000000 gold coins in the party channel.

After the red packet was sent out, everyone started snatching it.

With only 50 of them fighting for a red packet of 10000000 gold coins, as long as their luck wasn't too bad, they could basically get a considerable amount of gold coins.

haha, I got 500000 gold coins.

you only stole 500000 gold coins, and you still have the nerve to come out and make a fuss? do you know how much I stole? "

"F * ck, aren't you just 50000 more than me? What's there to be smug about?"

"Isn't 50000 gold coins money? Who would dare to snatch more than me?"

"f * ck, why did i only get 10000 gold coins? this is so unfair. "

"D * mned b * stard, a red packet of 10 million gold coins. 50 people were fighting for it, and you only got 10000 gold coins? He had the nerve to say this. If I were you, I would have dug a hole and buried myself."

haha, it's a good thing I got 100000 gold coins. I didn't make a loss this time.

zhang shan opened the red packet.

Three million gold coins.

It was alright.

zhang shan took a look at everyone's red packet snatching records. he was actually the one who snatches the most.

From the looks of it, after failing to upgrade to a divine weapon several times in a row, his luck today had returned.

zhang shan's action of snatching the three million gold coins was quickly discovered by everyone.

f * ck, the six-barreled boss got three million gold coins? "

"F * ck, there's only 10 million gold coins in red packets and Big Boss six-barreled took one-third of it. No wonder I only managed to get a few tens of thousands of gold coins."

f * ck, is the hand of a six-barreled Big Shot that red? " what the f * ck. Not only does six-barreled boss have powerful equipment, but he's also so fierce when it comes to snatching red packets? " sigh, Big Boss is really powerful in all aspects. We can't even compete with him in snatching red packets.

"I won't say anymore, it's just tears."

quickly distribute the equipment and go kill some red bosses. There are still about ten minutes before the event ends, so we have to hurry.

After everyone was done snatching the red packets, Feng Yun realm quickly distributed the other items.

With the axe blade fragment in front, everyone was less excited about the items behind.

Although there was still a mold for a divine artifact among the later items, there was still a mold for a divine artifact.

However, compared to a God-level weapon, a helmet mold was not worth everyone's excitement.

Soon, everyone had finished distributing the remaining items.

the divine weapon mold was rolled for by one of the big shots in the team.

After receiving the helmet mold, the Big Shot also sent a red packet of five million gold coins on the team channel.

Zhang Shan grabbed another million gold.

His luck made everyone very envious.

After distributing all the items, Feng Yun realm waved his hand and said.

“Let’s go and kill some more red bosses.”

brothers, let’s get moving and kill a wave of red bosses. Let’s see if we can get some good stuff.

don’t think too much about it. What good stuff can a red BOSS drop? ”

“Don’t say that. What if we’re lucky?”

“Hurry up and leave. Stop dreaming.”

zhang shan and the others quickly left on their horses, leaving behind the envious gazes of the other six guilds.

They had not even reached half of the BOSS’s health, and the wind and cloud Guild had already killed the BOSS and left.

Each of their guilds had at least a thousand players fighting a BOSS together.

On the other hand, the wind and cloud Guild only had a team of 50 players.

There were thousands of them, but their speed of killing the BOSS was not even half of the speed of the wind and cloud Guild.

It was simply unbearable.

Under Feng Yun realm’s lead, they quickly found a red BOSS and started fighting.

As Zhang Shan fired, he checked the city defense contribution board.

Although he had arrived late and had only fought the BOSS for less than ten minutes, he was still firmly at the top.

Not only that, but Zhang Shan’s contribution to the city defense was more than half of the second place’s heart moves with me.

There were only about ten minutes left in the event, and it looked like his first place was in the bag.

The rest of the time, he would just hang around.

For the rest of the time, everyone was wandering around outside Heaven’s Gate.

Almost every three to four minutes, they would be able to take down a red BOSS.

Time passed by quickly.

At nine O’clock in the evening, the active monsters outside the city disappeared.

The event ended.

everyone opened their mail and took out the treasure chest that they had received as a reward.

Zhang Shan opened the mail and took out a shiny treasure chest.

The first place on the city defense contribution rank would be rewarded with a 5-star Treasure chest.

There was a one in ten thousand chance that a God-tier item would appear in a five-star Treasure chest.

The divine artifact items mentioned here were not just divine artifact mission items or divine artifact molds.

Some super awesome skill books or special items should also be considered God-tier items.

However, it was too difficult to get a truly amazing item from a treasure chest. The probability of one in ten thousand was really too small.

from the start of the game until now, zhang shan had opened a total of eight 5-star treasure chests.

The best thing he got was a divine artifact.

Zhang Shan had used that item to repair the Tear of the Sky Eagle King.

As for the other 5-star Treasure chests, most of the items that came out of them were ordinary.

Although it couldn't be considered trash, it was still far from being a God-tiered item.

Zhang Shan looked at the treasure chest in his hands and could not help but think.

His luck today seemed to be pretty good. He wondered what he would get from this 5-star Treasure chest.

He hoped that he would get a more impressive item, even if it was not for his own use.

As long as the item was good enough, even if Zhang Shan could not use it, he could still sell it for money.

It was not for anything else but the feeling of opening treasure chests and obtaining awesome items.

Zhang Shan opened the treasure chest.

A dazzling red light flashed across the sky and extended into the distance.

Not only that, the red light continued to envelop Zhang Shan's surroundings, not dissipating for a long time.

At this moment, his teammates were also opening treasure chests.

When they saw Zhang Shan causing such a huge commotion, they could not help but be shocked.

Wind and cloud blade asked Zhang Shan.

" boss, what did you get this time? why is there such a huge commotion? " that's a little exaggerated. The sky is covered in Scarlet clouds? " did six-barreled boss get another divine weapon mission item? "

I don't think so. There wasn't such a commotion even when the divine weapon mission item was opened.

What the hell is that? It feels like this is even more ridiculous than opening a divine-rank item.

"Six-barreled Big Shot, what did you get?"

At this moment, Zhang Shan was also a little confused.

It wasn't his first time opening a treasure chest, but he had never seen such a huge commotion.

What kind of heaven-defying item did he get?

Zhang Shan opened his backpack nervously. He wanted to see what he had gotten from the treasure chest.

After opening his backpack, Zhang Shan quickly realized that there was an additional blood-red bead in his backpack.

He took out the red bead and examined it in his hand.

[demon dragon's heart (special item): condenses the life essence of an ancient demon dragon, hp +2000000, increases hp recovery speed by 100%, bound after equipping.]

F * ck.

There's such an awesome thing?

After reading the description of the heart of the demon Dragon, Zhang Shan could not believe his eyes.

This was too heaven-defying, right?

A special item that could heal 2000000 HP was simply too powerful.

If a Guardian were to equip the heart, they would have over 5000000 HP.

Guardian Warriors had a Guardian's Heart skill, which doubled their HP.

If a Guardian warrior were to be equipped with the heart of the demon Dragon, it would directly increase their HP by 4000000.

Looking at the heart of the demon Dragon in his hand, Zhang Shan thought to himself.

If he were to sell such a heaven-defying item, the price would probably set an unprecedented record.

Such a heaven-defying thing, if he really wanted to sell it, one or two billion would not be considered a lot.

There would even be big shots willing to pay a higher price.

This was definitely a special item that could change one's fate.

Think about it, if people like God of War Li Jing and little Secretary Feng Yun had the chance, they could buy the heart of the demon Dragon.

zhang shan believed that no matter how high the price was, they would not even bat an eye.

This heart of the demon Dragon was a super equipment for all players.

This was especially true for Guardian Warriors.

As long as they equipped the heart of the demon Dragon, there would be no BOSS in the game that they could not defeat, except the demon God.

Even if it was a Demon God, they might be able to try to resist it.

As long as they could level up, they could use the heart of the demon Dragon to increase their HP.

They could also try to challenge the demon God.

Moreover, in addition to increasing his HP by 2000000, the demon dragon's heart also increased his HP recovery speed by 100%.

The health recovery speed of a strength-type profession was very fast.

With an additional 100% health recovery rate, they wouldn't even need a healer to fight a normal BOSS.

he could recover by relying on his own health.

Looking at the heart of the demon Dragon, such a heaven-defying attribute, Zhang Shan was both happy and conflicted.

he didn't know if he should sell this thing.

Even though Zhang Shan was not short of money now.

But that was only a small amount of money.

The current Zhang Shan could only be considered to have a little bit of money. Compared to the truly rich bosses, he could not be compared.

If he were to sell this heart of the demon Dragon, he would earn a lot of money.

As long as Zhang Shan's heart was black enough, he could sell it for three to five billion gold.

After this period of time and his understanding of the game, Zhang Shan had never doubted the spending power of the big shots in the game.

In the eyes of those big bosses, they were not afraid of him not having money, but they were afraid that you didn't have good goods.

It was possible to sell a heaven-defying good item like the heart of the mystic Dragon at a high price.
of course.

Zhang Shan had the idea of selling the Magic Dragon Sword, but it was not suitable for him.

It was not that Zhang Shan did not like equipment that increased health.

In reality, in the game, having more HP was the way to go. How could Zhang Shan not like it?

However, this heart of the demon Dragon was not like the killer book and the respawn ball, which could be activated as long as it was in the backpack.

The item description for the heart of the demon Dragon did not mention this.

this meant that the heart of the demon dragon still had to be equipped on his body for it to be effective.

If Zhang Shan wanted to equip the heart of the demon Dragon, he would have to remove the hand of Madas.

He could only equip one of the two special items at a time. He could not equip them at the same time.

Maedas 'hand could increase attack speed by 50%. This was very important to Zhang Shan.

From the perspective of farming monsters and dealing with normal bosses, the hand of Madas was much more helpful to Zhang Shan.

however, the heart of the magic dragon, the terrifying increase in blood volume, was also very important.

Especially Zhang Shan, who still wanted to challenge the demon God.

In that case, he couldn't sell the heart of the demon Dragon.

With the demon dragon's heart, Zhang Shan could truly have the confidence to challenge the demon God.

The heart of the demon Dragon increased his HP by 2000000, and Zhang Shan also had many passive skills and set attributes that increased his HP by 100%.

With all these effects added together, it could even double Zhang Shan's HP.

In other words, if Zhang Shan was equipped with the heart of the demon Dragon, his HP would probably reach more than seven million, or even higher.

With such a high HP and the king's Cape, it could still be raised a little more.

It should not be too difficult for Zhang Shan to increase his maximum HP to more than ten million.

If that was the case, Zhang Shan would not be far from challenging a Demon God.

Zhang Shan hesitated for a long time, but he still made up his mind.

He couldn't sell the heart of the demon Dragon.

Just keep it.

not for any other reason.

In order to defeat the demon God in the future, he had to keep the demon dragon's heart.

A heaven-defying item like the demon dragon's heart was simply made to deal with demon gods.

Initially, Zhang Shan was still having a headache over how he could increase his HP.

After the last test, Zhang Shan knew that if he wanted to challenge the demon God, he would have to increase his maximum health.

Otherwise, there would be no chance at all.

Last time, Zhang Shan had used his big move and could only block two or three slashes from the ninth Demon God.

And this was the demon God, who did not have a critical hit, nor did he use any skills to deal damage.

The demon Lord's scythe alone dealt close to 3000000 damage.

Although Zhang Shan's current HP was indeed ridiculously high compared to other players.

However, he was still far from being able to challenge a Demon God.

Zhang Shan felt that if he wanted to challenge the demon God, his maximum HP should be close to ten million.

Only then would he have some confidence in withstanding the ninth Demon God's damage.

Before this, to Zhang Shan, the biggest difficulty in challenging the demon God was that his health limit was not enough.

The other aspects were still fine, but this maximum health was very difficult to increase.

After all, in this game, the cloak was the only piece of equipment that gave a fixed amount of health points.

Other defensive equipment would also add some health points, but they were not much.

The key was that whether it was the cloak or the defensive equipment, Zhang Shan had already made them into godly weapons.

It could be said that other than the king's Cape, which could be upgraded, Zhang Shan's health points had almost no way of increasing.

no matter how much zhang shan wanted to increase his maximum health, it would be difficult to find a way.

Of course, he still had another option, which was to farm for passive skills.

As long as he could obtain a passive skill that increased his health points by a percentage, his health would increase by a lot.

However, passive skills weren't easy to find.

In particular, passive skills that increased health points were extremely rare.

It wasn't that he could farm them just because he wanted to.

The heart of the demon Dragon could solve this problem perfectly.

As long as he was equipped with the heart of the demon Dragon, Zhang Shan's current HP would reach at least seven million.

if zhang shan could upgrade the king's cape a few more times.

Then it wasn't impossible for him to increase his HP to over 10 million.

Thinking of this, Zhang Shan made up his mind.

He kept the heart of the demon Dragon for himself.

Sell what?

It wasn't like Zhang Shan didn't have money to eat.

He still had the demon-suppressing city, so he didn't have to worry about money.

As the players' levels increased, the income of the demon-suppressing city was entering a period of high development.

In the past, Zhang Shan's demon suppressing city would earn tens of thousands of gold coins every day.

Most of the players had already reached level 40 or 50. If they wanted to kill monsters, they would have to teleport to demon suppression city first.

He would find a place to farm monsters in the demon-suppressing city.

The level of the monsters in demon suppression land started from level 50, which was just right for the current players.

In the entire Heaven's Gate map, there were also level 50 to 60 monsters in other places.

However, those places were really too far away. It would probably take days for everyone to make a trip.

Who would travel for days just to farm monsters?

Therefore, everyone would first teleport to the demon-suppressing city, and then find a place to farm monsters near the demon-suppressing city.

recently, there had been a large number of players teleporting to the demon suppression city every day. zhang shan's hands were tired from collecting teleportation fees.

Each person who came would have to pay a teleportation fee of 200 gold coins, and half of the profits would go to him, the city Lord.

In addition to the teleportation fee, he could also collect a lot of taxes from the demon-suppressing city.

after all, everyone had come to the demon-suppressing city to farm monsters, repair their equipment, and buy supplies. they couldn't go back and get them.

that would be so strenuous.

More importantly, they would have to teleport back again after they returned, which would cost them another teleportation fee.

No one would be so stupid.

When everyone was farming monsters in the demon-suppressing city, they wouldn't go back unless there was an urgent matter.

the players would slowly take root in the demon-suppressing city.

hence, the players' spending in the demon suppressing city was increasing. this allowed zhang shan to receive a huge sum of tax money.

With the teleportation fees and taxes added together, Zhang Shan's daily income in the demon suppressing city was basically more than a million gold coins.

With the demon-suppressing city as a treasure trove, he didn't have to worry about money at all.

If that was the case, why did he still sell the heart of the demon Dragon?

Even if the heart of the demon Dragon wasn't of much use to him when he was farming monsters, he still couldn't sell it.

Zhang Shan could keep the heart of the demon Dragon in his backpack and change it at a critical moment.

Usually, when he was farming monsters and fighting bosses, he would still use the hand of Madas.

When he went to challenge the demon God or met a tough opponent, he would exchange the heart of the demon Dragon for it.

He could rely on his high maximum HP to withstand a wave of attacks. As for the rest of the time, he would just pretend that he didn't have this thing.

It was decided.

Not for sale.
