

Passive Skills 86

Chapter 86 The demonized army ants

Calling wind and cloud blade:

” brother one blade, how’s your dungeon BOSS going? how long do you need to clear it? ”

it’s still early. All of our people are dead. Only the boss, the tank Secretary, and the support are standing far away, so many of them are alive.

What?

There was only a magician and a tank left to deal damage. Could they kill a BOSS with 10000000 HP?

no way! If you guys are all dead, then there are only two people left. Can they kill the BOSS? ” they can. The BOSS is in a berserk state now. They can deal more damage than the BOSS can heal. It’s just that they’re taking too long. I think it’ll take about an hour.

“then what if BOSS imprisons the secretary? He’ll be dead for sure.”

it’s fine. He’s already died many times. If he dies, we’ll have the support revive him. There are many supports and four resurrection skills. We can revive him once every minute.

“You guys are really hard-working.”

there’s no other way. Without you, the damage output is too low. We can only slowly grind it out. Actually, this is the normal way to fight a BOSS. Your abnormal damage output is a BUG.

you guys should finish your battle quickly. I’ve found the wolf King again. I’ll guard nearby and wait for you guys to come over.

f * ck, the wolf King has respawned again. We just finished it not long ago. It hasn’t even been 20 hours. How can it respawn so quickly? ”

I don’t know. I just saw it. I can’t be wrong.

guard the wolf King well. Don’t let others hit you.

“Don’t worry, no one will find this place. There are as many monsters as there are rice here, and no one will be able to come here.”

“you just guard the wolf king. we’ll come over after we finish the dungeon.”

“There’s no hurry. I’ll be farming monsters nearby. You guys focus on clearing the dungeon first.”

“I understand.”

After ending the call, Zhang Shan circled the wolf King from a distance to farm monsters. He always kept the wolf King within his line of sight.

Red bosses in the wild were extremely rare, and every one of them meant good equipment and skill books.

he had to guard it well.

after feng yun realm and the others had cleared the dungeon, it would probably take more than an hour to get here. they could just wait slowly.

Zhang Shan's wild wolf passive had been refreshed. Actually, there was no need to refresh it here. It was just that he was currently in a red name state, and it was not convenient for him to run around.

He also had to guard the Wolf King.

He would refresh it first and search on the forum. After his red name disappeared, he would be ready to find the next passive refresh.

After the war with traversing Four Seas, Zhang Shan felt that he needed a passive skill that could suck blood.

He just didn't know if there were such monsters.

Zhang Shan had always been paying attention to the various posts on the forum about monsters. He had never heard of any monster that had a lifesteal effect.

He didn't know if the New World didn't have such a setting or if it hadn't been discovered by the players yet. He would slowly look it up on the forum.

Without the blood sucking effect, his ability to sustain combat was much worse.

Although Zhang Shan had joined the wind and cloud Guild, he was alone most of the time.

Other than fighting big bosses or Dungeons and other activities, Zhang Shan would usually not form parties with the other members of the Guild to farm monsters.

His level and equipment were far superior to others, and forming a party with others would not help him at all. It would only lower his efficiency.

if a person were to act alone, the ability to sustain their battle would be very important.

The dozen or so traversing Four Seas 'Warriors had surrounded him and hacked at him with their kitchen knives, taking away one of his lives.

If not for his rebirth skill, he would have been screwed.

If he had a lifesteal effect, the result would be completely different. With his powerful damage output, he could completely withstand the warrior's attacks.

As a man who dreamed of one day taking on a Demon God alone, no matter how strong his equipment was, he had to have a lifesteal effect.

He didn't believe that he wouldn't be able to find a monster with a passive lifesteal effect.

He opened the game forum.

Zhang Shan realized that he was now a famous person in the game.

People from all walks of life were engaged in a war of words on the forums regarding the war between him and traversing Four Seas.

Some people supported Guild traversing, saying that if they had really won, they would have already killed Zhang Shan and sent him back to the city. They were even locked up in a small black room now.

The majority of the people still believed that Zhang Shan had won, as the outcome was obvious. The members of traversing Four Seas did not dare to speak up after that.

No matter how the world Channel called, no one replied. They were clearly feeling guilty.

Originally, Zhang Shan had planned to upload the video of his battle with traversing Four Seas to the forums.

After some consideration, he decided not to do so. There was no need for that. He didn't need to prove anything to anyone. He just had to have fun.

he took a closer look at the forum and realized that no one had uploaded any information about the guild war.

Why don't he just upload it and set up a fee-charging post to earn some money?

Although he was not short of money now, no one would complain about having more money, right?

Thinking of this, Zhang Shan immediately opened a thread on the Guild challenge information in the Guild section, charging 10 copper coins for one time.

...

And this time, Zhang Shan had even played a shocking game.

" shocking! so this is how the guild challenges in the new world are played. "

Hehe, done. Next, it's time to get down to business. I'll look for posts about monsters.

there were a lot of posts on the forum about monsters. zhang shan tried to filter through the monster skills and see if there were any lifesteal skills.

However, even if he didn't find it, it was possible that there was. If the post didn't emphasize the description, he wouldn't have been able to filter it.

i'll filter them out according to their level. i'll filter out all the information on monsters above level 30.

He read the posts one by one.

Not all monsters had passive skills. Most of the skills of the small monsters were active.

Only a small number of monsters had passive skills.

Zhang Shan continued to check dozens of posts, but he did not find any useful information. There were either active skill monsters or just random posts.

It was all talk, and the monster's attributes were not even shown.

...

suddenly, zhang shan saw a useful post.

Eh? This kind of ant monster was interesting. Just like the rabbit in the novice village, it was actually a passive that added attack power.

[demonized giant army ant: level 40, attack 2400, health points 12000, skill: ant strength (passive)]

[ant strength (passive): greatly increases attack power.]

Although ants were small, they were born with immense strength and could carry items that were dozens of times heavier than themselves.

This skill was good. It was probably the same as rabbit's passive skill. As long as he could get it, it would increase his attack power by 10%.

His current attack power had reached three thousand eight hundred. An increase of ten percent would mean an increase of nearly four hundred attack power.

Compared to the average accessory, the attack bonus was much higher.

he had to find a way to get this skill.

it was just that the level of these army ants was a little high. zhang shan was only level 25,15 levels lower than the army ants.

Under the level suppression, his damage output would be reduced by half.

If the Army ants were too dense, he would not be able to farm them.

no matter what, he had to write it down first. when his red name disappeared, he would go and take a look.

he had to try. it didn't matter if he was slow. his level was ahead of the others by a lot, so he wasn't afraid of being caught up.

Moreover, having a powerful passive skill would be of great help to him in the future.

He didn't find the lifesteal passive skill, but he did find a skill that increased his attack power, which was not bad.