

Peasant 161

Chapter 161: She Will Wake Up

He only felt that it was very easy and comfortable to get along with Ye Muyu. In addition, Madam Ye's previous personality was too annoying.

Everyone now was happy to get along with Ye Muyu and would not doubt why she had changed.

Chu Heng thought about it carefully. With his intelligence, he would naturally be able to find the loophole.

The corners of his mouth suddenly curled into a somewhat sad smile. "I still don't know who you are."

"I thought that the damned heavens wanted to torture me again, but it turns out that they wanted to compensate me."

Chu Heng gently rubbed Ye Muyu's soft hand, leaned over, and kissed her lips. Their breaths intertwined, and when he felt the other's breathing, there was indeed a change, although it was very subtle.

Chu Heng's eyes flashed with joy. He quickly picked up the ginger soup beside him and fed the medicine over and over again.

Seeing Ye Muyu drink the medicine, Chu Heng's worry lessened. However, as long as Ye Muyu did not wake up, he would be worried.

"Father, can I come in?" Chu Ziluo knocked on the door.

Chu Heng straightened his body and walked to the door with the bowl of ginger soup. He looked down at his daughter and said, "Come in, look after your mother."

“Got it, Father.” Chu Ziluo nodded obediently. Her eyes were still red. She had been accompanying her brother previously. Now that her mother had not woken up, she felt as if something was missing in her heart. She was in a daze and almost fell down when she was walking.

Chu Ziluo ran to the bedside and held Ye Muyu’s hand tightly. She kept repeating in her heart that she hoped her mother would wake up.

Chu Heng took two steps, turned around, and said, “You can talk to your mother. Perhaps she will wake up when she hears you.”

Chu Heng thought that what Doctor Lu had said was to ask his family to wake Ye Muyu up and let her work hard to wake herself up.

He had to think rationally that perhaps the two children were closer to Ye Muyu than he was.

However, when he thought of this, he instantly frowned. He instinctively did not want to accept this answer.

Chu Heng carried the bowl and left.

After letting Doctor Lu go, he brought a basin of hot water into the room and used a towel to slowly wipe Ye Muyu’s hands and feet.

“Father, Mother’s hands are so cold.” Chu Ziluo mustered her courage and said.

Chu Heng frowned. “Just hold her hand. Your mother will wake up when she’s not cold anymore.”

“Really?” Chu Ziluo widened her eyes in surprise.

Chu Heng nodded, his voice firm. “She will wake up.”

He did not know if he was talking to Chu Ziluo or himself.

Chu Heng wiped Ye Muyu again and again, not feeling tired at all. Chu Ziluo was talking to Ye Muyu at the side.

Soon, it was nighttime...

Old Woman Ye and Ye Zhao returned, followed closely by Madam Liu and Chu Lin.

"Old Third, how's Madam Ye?" Madam Liu entered the courtyard and asked hurriedly.

Chu Heng walked out of the room. "She hasn't woken up yet, but she will."

When Old Woman Ye heard that Ye Muyu had not woken up, she instantly wiped her tears and slapped her thigh. She was not even happy that she had won the war. "Why is my daughter so miserable to be targeted by such a vicious woman?"

Chu Liushi was also worried about Ye Muyu, so she agreed with Old Woman Ye's words. "In-law, don't worry. Doctor Lu said that Madam Ye is blessed and will definitely wake up."

"Let's go sit in the central room and have some tea. It's getting late, so you and Ye Zhao can stay and go back tomorrow.."

Chapter 162: Old Woman Ye's Battle Record

"This..." When Old Woman Ye heard that she would stay, she instinctively felt a little uncomfortable. However, when she thought of her daughter still not waking up, she was also worried. Even if she was afraid of Chu Heng, she still nodded. "Alright, then I won't stand on ceremony and stay. When my daughter wakes up, I'll go back."

“Sure.” Madam Liu originally looked down on Old Woman Ye.

However, when she thought of today’s battle results, she had to say that the wicked had to be tortured by the wicked.

Mrs. Tang had a bad reputation in the village because she was overbearing and liked to act shamelessly. Her curses were even worse.

Who knew that such a local tyrant would actually be scolded by Old Woman Ye until she could not even raise her head, and even revealed loopholes time and time again?

Madam Liu saw it clearly. How could she not know that Old Woman Ye had directly blocked Mrs. Tang’s path?

Mrs. Tang was unreasonable, so Old Woman Ye was even more unreasonable than Mrs. Tang. In addition, the Tang family was already afraid of the Chu family. As a result, they became weaker and weaker.

“Mother, mother-in-law, Ye Zhao, Big Brother, have some tea.” Chu Heng poured tea for them and sat down.

Old Woman Ye saw Chu Heng personally pouring tea for her and felt a little guilty. However, thinking that her daughter was injured this time because Chu Heng did not deal with that woman well, she quickly encouraged herself in her heart to not be afraid.

Thinking of this, Old Woman Ye straightened her chest and looked aggressive.

How could Madam Liu not see the change in Old Woman Ye’s mood? She smiled for a moment and spoke first, “Chu Heng, the matter has been resolved. The Tang family has paid ten taels for the medical expenses.”

“The Tang family also needs to marry Tang Rou off within a month. In addition, Tang Bao can no longer attend the village school and needs to personally apologize to Lil’ Jin.”

This result was considered beautiful.

In the past, when such things happened in the village, at most, both sides would insist on their own words, or the child who pushed the person in the end would take the initiative to apologize and compensate him with some copper coins. There would not be a huge sum of ten taels.

However, they could not handle the fact that Madam Liu and Old Woman Ye had come prepared and cooperated together. The Tang family was already guilty and naturally could not take it unless they did not want to stay in the village anymore.

“Are you satisfied?” Madam Liu did not forget to ask.

Chu Heng glanced at the east wing. “If Madam Ye can wake up, then it’s fine. If not, they should pay with their lives.”

Madam Liu’s eyelids twitched, and Chu Lin was even more shocked. Although he did not want anything to happen to Ye Muyu, he did not expect his third brother to say such cruel words.

Old Woman Ye was even more shocked. Originally, she felt that she was happy that Chu Heng was so protective of her daughter, but she felt guilty. After all, she had taken a lot of things from the Chu family- If Chu Heng were to hold a grudge, would she be in trouble? How could she not tell that this kid even dared to take a life?

In short, Old Woman Ye was frightened. She kept praying that Ye Muyu would wake up. She needed her daughter to protect her. Otherwise, she was afraid that she would lose her life.

Ye Zhao looked at Chu Heng in surprise. “Brother-in-law, but murder is against the law.”

“Who said I killed him personally? There’s always other ways.” Chu Heng said.

Ye Zhao was young and bold, and he had a good relationship with Ye Muyu, so he was the only one who was happy when he heard Chu Heng’s words. “Brother-in-law, tell me about it later.” Ye Zhao asked innocently.

Chu Heng glanced at him and said, “Sure..”

Chapter 163: Help Her Cover Up

Old Woman Ye trembled again and winked at her son beside her. Unfortunately, this silly boy did not notice her expression at all.

Madam Liu then said, “Old Third, in the past few days, other than the elder brother, the fifth brother also went. The second brother and the other four families also sent their children to help.”

“When Madam Ye wakes up and the situation stabilizes, the two of you can discuss and prepare some gifts.”

“Yes.” Chu Heng had never been stingy with his clan. Of course, this was also on the premise that the people in the clan knew the rules.

Seeing that he did not want to talk, Madam Liu thought for a while and asked, “When are you going to school?”

“I took three days off, so let’s wait for Madam Ye to recover.” If it was the Madam Ye in the past, Chu Heng would never have cared so much. At most, he would have asked Madam Liu to take care of her. However, after realizing that his wife had become Ye Muyu, his feelings had changed.

“Alright, then I’ll go cook.” Madam Liu did not stand on ceremony. She had never thought about whether Chu Heng knew how to cook. She only thought that Chu Heng only knew how to hold a pen. Since she was here, as a mother, she had to cook a meal.

“Third brother, Mother, should I go back first?” Chu Lin finally spoke.

Chu Heng stood up. “Big brother, it’s not too late to stay for dinner. I’ve troubled you guys today.”

“It’s no trouble. It’s what I should do.” Chu Lin felt that Chu Heng’s aura had become stronger. Although he did not know why, he did not have the confidence to confront Chu Heng at all. Of course, he also felt the sincerity in Chu Heng’s words. With this, he did not need to think too much. Anyway, the two of them were brothers. No matter what happened to his third brother, no matter how well he developed, the relationship between him and his third brother would never change.

Chu Lin thought about it and went into the kitchen to help with the fire.

Old Woman Ye also wanted to help, because she really did not want to be alone with Chu Heng.

However, Madam Liu felt that she was a guest and did not give her a chance to interfere.

Madam Liu and Chu Lin went into the kitchen to prepare dinner.

Chu Heng entered the east wing and continued to guard Ye Muyu.

Ye Zhao also went in to take a look.

Old Woman Ye saw that her son had gone and went in to take a look. She was also worried, but when she saw that Chu Heng was there, she felt guilty. She had to go out of the room and return to the central room to drink tea again and again.

For dinner, Madam Liu did not just casually cook. Instead, she seriously cooked five dishes.

Fish with pickled vegetables, stir-fried meat with vermicelli, scrambled eggs with tomatoes, stir-fried meat with green peppers, and tender cucumbers with garlic.

The cooking methods of the few dishes were basically learned from Ye Muyu.

As soon as they were on the table, Old Woman Ye smelled the fragrance and instantly inhaled it. She asked curiously, "In-law, why is your food so fragrant?"

"Hmm? I learned these dishes from Madam Ye. Didn't she learn her culinary skills from you, in-law?" Madam Liu was a little surprised.

Chu Heng thought of an excuse and said, "I accidentally got a recipe book. Madam Ye is smart, so she learned it from the book."

The suspicion in Madam Liu's heart was dispelled. She knew that Chu Heng indeed had a lot of books.

"I see. I told you that Madam Ye is actually very smart. She can learn anything with patience. "

"In-law, try it. When there's a chance in the future, ask Madam Ye to make it for you personally. It tastes good."

"Your daughter taught me well, and I've been enjoying life with her. During this period of time, when Madam Ye has new dishes, she'll bring them to the old residence. They taste so good. The women in the village are all envious that I have a good daughter-in-law.."

Chapter 164: A Pleasant Talk

Madam Liu kept praising Ye Muyu. Old Woman Ye smiled happily. "That's right. My daughter is so good. Back then, I said that marrying my daughter would definitely not be a loss."

"This fish is really delicious. And this vegetable, why is it sour and so appetizing?" Old Woman Ye and Madam Liu were much closer because of today's situation.

Naturally, Madam Liu patiently explained to her.

"This dish is made from cabbage. It's called pickled cabbage. It can be made into fish soup or stir-fried. The buns with pickled cabbage filling are very delicious. This is also made by Madam Ye. Speaking of which, we usually have so many cabbages in the field, but only a small portion is used to make pickled vegetables."

"In-law, do you want to make it at home?" Madam Liu asked.

Old Woman Ye nodded quickly. "Yes, why not? I have a lot of cabbages in my house. It's just that the cabbages are a little old at this time. I don't know if they can be made into pickled cabbage."

"Of course..." Madam Liu and Old Woman Ye were chatting happily, talking about the matters in the fields. They were extremely harmonious.

Chu Lin did not like to talk and just ate quietly. Although his family's conditions were not bad, they would not eat four dishes of meat and eggs for a meal. He did not show any heartache when he saw his third brother.

Chu Lin could not help but sigh. Although his family had a shop and seemed to have the most money among the three brothers in the family, in reality, his third brother could always get money. Even now, his third sister-in-law had more ways to earn money than them.

Chu Lin also felt a sense of urgency. He did not want to be left too far behind by his third brother's family.

He was thinking about what other ways he could think of to earn money.

Ye Zhao also buried his head in his meal and did not speak.

Chu Jin had also woken up. He sat at the side and did not dare to speak. He ate his meal quietly and was a little depressed. He already knew that his mother had not woken up until now because she had saved him.

He had always been heartless, but he felt a little unhappy. He also wanted his mother to wake up.

Chu Ziluo held her bowl and ate quickly. She had to finish her meal quickly and go to watch over her mother. If her mother woke up halfway and they were not around, how would they know what her mother needed? One had to admit that a daughter was indeed a gentle and attentive.

Chu Ziluo finished her meal in just 15 minutes.

After they finished eating, they went to Ye Muyu's room in the east wing. Chu Heng put down his bowl and chopsticks at the same time and followed behind.

When Madam Liu saw this, she sighed in her heart. From the looks of it, Chu Heng was still satisfied with Madam Ye. Then, the divorce that was previously proposed... Madam Liu quickly suppressed this thought in her heart. She felt that it was best not to mention this matter again and pretend that it never happened.

At night, after dinner...

Chu Liushi arranged rooms for Old Woman Ye and Ye Zhao.

Old Woman Ye and Chu Ziluo slept together in the east wing, while Ye Zhao slept in the same room as Chu Jin.

There were two spare rooms in the Chu family's house, but they had not been cleaned up yet. It was not convenient to clean up at night, so Madam Liu simply let the two of them share the room.

Old Woman Ye and Ye Zhao naturally would not mind.

After that, she boiled some hot water and boiled Ye Muyu's medicine. Only then did Madam Liu get up with Chu Lin.

Old Woman Ye and Ye Zhao also squatted in the kitchen to brew medicine for Ye Muyu.

Ye Zhao sat on a small stool beside her and suddenly said, "Mother, actually brother-in-law is quite good to Second Sister."

"Big Brother-in-law is also good to her, but his life isn't too good.."

Chapter 165: Wake Up or Leave

"I thought you were stupid. Your Second Brother-in-law...She's good to Lan'er, but your second sister's health is not good. I'm just afraid... In any case, your second sister must endure this time. Good days are still ahead."

"I get angry when I talk about this matter. I should have beat that Mrs. Tang up again."

"How did she even teach her son? He actually wanted to snatch things. After snatching it, he even pushed Lil' Jin into the river. He's simply black-hearted," Old Woman Ye said angrily as she handed over the firewood.

"Mother, Mrs. Tang has already been beaten black and blue by you."

"Hmph, that's a light punishment. It's her fault for not disciplining her son." Old Woman Ye scolded Mrs. Tang in her heart.

"Mother, then let's warn the Tang family again before we leave, lest they keep bullying Second Sister," Ye Zhao said.

"Alright." Old Woman Ye thought about it and agreed.

After a while, the medicine was ready.

Chu Heng appeared at the kitchen door. "Mother-in-law, Ye Zhao, go rest. I'll take good care of her."

"What? Oh, alright. If you need anything, just call me." Old Woman Ye was satisfied with Chu Heng's attitude toward her daughter. Naturally, she did not disturb the two of them.

This time, the Chu family supported Ye Muyu, which made Old Madam Ye very satisfied. Naturally, she did not want her daughter to get a divorce.

Old Madam Ye fetched some water and went to wash up. Then, she brought Chu Ziluo back to her room to rest.

When Ye Zhao saw this, he also brought some water and went back to the room to wash up with Chu Jin.

The lights gradually went out, and only the east wing was still lit.

Chu Heng fetched some water and wiped Ye Muyu's face, hands, and feet before washing his own feet and face.

Ye Muyu felt like she was in darkness. She remembered that she was saving Lil' Jin.

Her body was very cold, and her consciousness went black. She then appeared here.

She did not know what was wrong with her. Did her soul leave her body again?

Ye Muyu frowned and squatted down. She found that she was getting colder and colder, and her consciousness was getting blurry.

Suddenly, her body started to heat up. It was a very subtle change, and she did not know how she noticed it.

However, there was someone talking to her in her mind.

“Ye Muyu, do you want to stay?”

‘Where I came from? Is it the modern era?’ Ye Muyu subconsciously thought of the days she lived in the Great Chu Dynasty. Did she like it? There was no doubt that she liked it.

How about the modern times?

Actually, she did not have much nostalgia. She had been independent since she was young. Her parents did not ask for much of her. They did not even see each other once a year. She did not seem to have longed for her parents’ love since she was young.

Moreover, she remembered that she had been in a car accident. Perhaps even her body had been cremated. Where could she go back to?

“Where do you want to stay?” The voice came again.

At the same time, she vaguely heard a man talking to her. Oh, she remembered now. This was Chu Heng, the proud and outstanding Great Chu Scholar. Although he doubted her, he respected her.

“Mother, mother... This was Ziluo?

Lil’ Jin?

Hearing the voices of the two children, Ye Muyu felt a rare sense of nostalgia.

It was undeniable that the two children’s dependence on her had made her confused heart stop,

"If I go back, won't Madam Ye be unable to come back?" Ye Muyu thought of her original host and felt envious. If she had a child, perhaps she would have some nostalgia of her previous life.

"She is you, and you are her.."

Chapter 166: Chu Jin Reflects

Ye Muyu frowned. She was confused and wanted to ask something.

However, the voice in her mind gave her an ultimatum. Should she leave or wake up? It seemed that as long as she did not choose, she would sleep forever and never wake up again.

"Mother..." "Madam Ye..."

'Mother, sob...

Ye Muyu suddenly heard a familiar voice. With her last bit of consciousness, she heard herself say a few words firmly, "I want to stay."

Ye Muyu felt his body relax.

In the next second, she felt the sound of crying in her ears. Her hand was held tightly by someone, and there seemed to be water droplets on her neck...

Ye Muyu woke up in a daze.

When she opened her eyes, she saw a head. The smell was very familiar. Was this Chu Heng?

Ye Muyu's ears were a little red as she pushed him weakly. "Chu Heng, let go..."

"Madam Ye?" Chu Heng's eyes widened and he raised his head to look at the woman in front of him.
"You're awake? You didn't die?"

"You're the one who's dead." Hearing this, Ye Muyu's face darkened and she refuted.

Unexpectedly, Chu Heng suddenly hugged her back and hugged her very tightly. His body trembled, and she could even vaguely hear his sobs.

Chu Heng was crying?

Ye Muyu felt that she had only slept for a while. Why did this man change so much?

"Lan'er, my Lan'er." When Old Woman Ye heard Doctor Lu say that Madam Ye had stopped breathing, a huge wave of sadness surged over her. Before she could cry, she heard Ye Muyu's voice.

Her heart, which was already frightened, was immediately relieved. However, tears flowed down as she hugged Ye Muyu's hand and cried.

Madam Liu, Madam Zhang, and Madam Wang were stunned. They could not believe that Madam Ye had passed away just like that.

Who knew that things would turn around and she would actually wake up?

The three of them were so worried that their hearts were stuck there, and their sad emotions were stuck in their chests, almost suffocating them to death.

"Scholar Chu, let go of me, I'll take a look at Lady Ye." Doctor Lu quickly said." Chu Heng heard the voice and stood up.

Chu Ziluo and Chu Jin were also looking at Ye Muyu, but no one wanted to disturb Doctor Lu.

Doctor Lu looked, heard, asked, and finally confirmed that Ye Muyu had really woken up.

His heart also relaxed. He looked at Ye Muyu, who was still a little weak after waking up, and said with a smile, "I knew that Lady Ye was a blessed person. How could she die like this? It's good that she's awake. In the future, she just needs to slowly recuperate."

"Doctor Lu, this way please," Chu Heng said.

Doctor Lu picked up the medicine box and nodded. He followed them out of the door to write a prescription for Ye Muyu.

"Yates, it's good that you woke up. You looked fine yesterday, but why did you suddenly stop breathing this morning? You gave me a shock," Madam Liu said with lingering fear. Now that she finally reacted, her worried heart was also relieved.

"Mother, I've made you worry." Ye Muyu smiled faintly.

"I'm relieved that Lil' Jin is fine."

"Mother, it's all my fault. I shouldn't have gotten too close to the river, and I shouldn't have fought Tang Bao when I knew he had a bad temper."

"If I hadn't fallen into the river, mother wouldn't have been in trouble." Chu Jin's small face was tightly wrinkled and he slowly regretted it. He had already been taught a lesson by Chu Heng once and knew where he had gone wrong. He regretted it even more now, especially when he heard Doctor Lu say that his mother would never wake up again..

Chapter 167: Alone

Chu Ziluo said to Chu Jin seriously, "Little brother, Mother is right. In the future, you must prioritize your own safety. If anything happens, Mother will definitely save you, but I also don't want something to happen to Mother." "I will also protect myself in the future to avoid implicating Mother."

Ye Muyu was a little teary. Looking at the two sensible children, she was glad that she had chosen to wake up. Otherwise, the two children would be so sad.

"Mother is fine, don't worry," Ye Muyu said gently.

"Mother, I was so afraid that you would disappear." Chu Ziluo hugged Ye Muyu's arm and said coquettishly, "I won't leave you in the future. I'll go wherever you go. I have to grow up quickly and protect Mother."

Chu Jin regretted it and felt even more guilty. He stood obediently at the side and quickly said, "Mother, I will never argue with others in dangerous places again. I will prioritize protecting myself and not implicate Mother in any more injuries."

Ye Muyu's heart softened when she saw the proud little one's eyes filled with tears, stubbornly refusing to let them flow. She reached out to wipe his tears and said, "Lil' Jin, Mother saved you because Mother doesn't want anything to happen to you. It's your mother who loves you, so there's no need to be involved. If you don't make Mother worry, then Mother will be very satisfied."

"Yes, Mother." Chu Jin nodded seriously. He had always been domineering and heartless, but he had already placed Ye Muyu in a very important position in his heart.

Chu Heng appeared at the door with a bowl of medicine in his hand. His voice was rather domineering.

Chu Ziluo and Chu Jin were unwilling to leave.

They roared, "Dad, we have to accompany Mom."

"Get out. Didn't you see that she looks terrible? She needs to rest and drink medicine?"

“Let’s talk about it later.”

The moment Chu Heng revealed a serious expression, the two children were extremely afraid. Naturally, they did not dare to refute it.

Perhaps it was because they were frightened by this incident, but neither of them could bear to leave Ye Muyu.

Ye Muyu coughed lightly and wanted to say that she wanted to let the two children stay.

At this moment, Madam Liu appeared.

She said gently to Ye Muyu, “Third Daughter-in-law, you just woke up and your body is weak. You must have a good rest. I’ll take care of the two children for you. Don’t worry. Take care of your body and this disaster will be over.” “Li’ Jin, Ziluo, do you want to personally cook porridge for your mother?”

Madam Liu’s words made the two children, who were unwilling to leave, suddenly stand up and fight to cook the porridge.

“Let your father feed your mother the medicine. We won’t disturb you.” Madam Liu smiled. Ye Muyu watched the two children leave. Her gaze met Madam Liu’s eyes and saw their teasing.

She was stunned for a moment, but she quickly reacted. Was Chu Liushi trying to create an opportunity for her and Chu Heng to get along?

Ye Muyu stared blankly at Chu Heng.

The man was wearing a black robe, concealing his cold temperament. His face was no longer cold, but gentle. Even his cold facial features had softened, making him look different.

“Chu Heng?” Ye Muyu leaned against the pillow and called out in surprise.

Just as Chu Heng was satisfied that his mother had come in to take the two children away, leaving him alone with Ye Muyu, he heard Ye Muyu's voice.

He quickly sat by the bed and looked at her worriedly. "What's wrong? Where do you feel uncomfortable?"

"No, I just feel a little weak and sleepy now." Ye Muyu's voice sounded weak..

Chapter 168: Chu Heng Reflects

Since she had already decided to stay, she would naturally take good care of her body. Her gaze fell on the bowl of medicine Chu Heng was holding. "Is this my medicine? Give it to me."

"No need, I'll feed you." Not only did Chu Heng not give the bowl to Ye Muyu, but he also took the spoon and took the initiative to feed her.

Ye Muyu felt that Chu Heng was different. She did not open his mouth but looked at him cautiously. "You don't have to feed me. I can drink it myself. You should be going to school, right? I'm sorry to have delayed you. I'm already awake, so there shouldn't be any big problems. Go back and study early.

Studying is very difficult, so don't delay it."

Ye Muyu spoke very seriously. She had also seen some of the work that Chu Heng had done. Other than the knowledge that could be memorized, the difficulty of writing an article was comparable to that of a thesis in the modern days.

Moreover, he had to write it within four hours. The entire essay quoted the classics without any nonsense. It had to be said that it was really difficult to study at this time.

Moreover, if one was not well-read, one would not even understand some of the allusions in the questions.

In her previous life, students only needed to read ten or twenty books. In this era, students who participated in the imperial examination had to read at least twenty books.

No wonder the imperial examinations were difficult, but there were always talents who could take the examinations.

No matter which era it was, there would always be top figures.

Ye Muyu was worried that she would delay Chu Heng's studies and affect their marriage.

She had been working hard to guide their marriage in a mutually beneficial direction.

However, as soon as Ye Muyu finished speaking, she noticed that Chu Heng's expression had changed.

Chu Heng sat by the bed, his attitude unyielding. "I'll feed you. You're my wife. It's my duty to take care of you."

"Oh." Ye Muyu was surprised by his stubborn tone. It was the first time she had seen Chu Heng like this,

In the past, he was either very cold or very calm, or there was a hidden meaning in his words. She really rarely saw him as persistent as he was now.

Ye Muyu was not a person who liked to force herself. Since someone was feeding her, she would just enjoy it.

Leaning on the pillow, Chu Heng fed her a mouthful, and Ye Muyu drank a mouthful. They were extremely cooperative.

Chu Heng's originally unhappy heart slowly calmed down, and he fed her very smoothly.

After drinking the medicine, Chu Heng took out a candied fruit from somewhere and fed it to Ye Muyu.

“So sweet.” Ye Muyu looked at Chu Heng in surprise.

Chu Heng looked at her calmly and regained his composure. He did not feel guilty at all. “This medicine is very bitter.”

“It’s alright. There’s no medicine that isn’t bitter.” Ye Muyu’s habits were the exact opposite of Chu Heng’s. She did not like sweet food very much, and she only liked sweet and sour sweets. Therefore, she was a little surprised when he suddenly gave her a candied fruit.

“If the medicine is bitter, eat candied fruit. Then it won’t be as bitter.” Chu Heng frowned.

Ye Muyu was surprised. Did he think she was afraid of hardship?

Although the other party had misunderstood, seeing that Chu Heng had good intentions, Ye Muyu did not intend to explain. She went along with his wishes and did not say much.

“Do you want to rest?” Chu Heng asked.

“I don’t want to sleep now. Tell me what happened last night.” Ye Muyu only felt uncomfortable and her nose was a little blocked. It was obvious that she had caught a cold. Her body was weak, but her spirit was not too bad. Perhaps she had slept for too long and did not want to sleep.

“Don’t force yourself.” Chu Heng frowned. He felt that she was worrying too much. She had just woken up, so why should she care about those mundane things?

Was it because he was not home that she had to worry about everything?

Chapter 169: Testing Each Other

At this moment, Chu Heng felt a little guilty. He seemed to be a little too irresponsible...

Everyone else had a husband at home.

Only Ye Muyu did not.

Everyone else had the male lead outside and the female lead inside, but Ye Muyu had to be in charge of both the matter outside and inside.

If he had been at home yesterday, then he would have been the one to pick up Lil' Jin. He would have been able to save her in one piece, and there would have been no need for his wife to jump into the river to save the child.

Chu Heng was a very decisive person. Since he had reflected on his mistakes, he would immediately correct them.

Since that was the case, he would just move back.

Ye Muyu did not know that a casual question from her had caused Chu Heng to make a decision that surprised the whole family.

"I'm not forcing you. Otherwise, why don't you call my mother in?" Ye Muyu felt that the current Chu Heng was a little strange. She felt more comfortable talking to Old Woman Ye without considering what the other party was thinking.

There was also a little awkwardness between the two of them that she did not notice.

Chu Heng's face darkened again.

How could he not tell that Ye Muyu despised him?

Chu Heng took a deep breath and decided not to argue with her.

He had to give in to the patient.

Moreover, she was a woman.

Combining these two factors, Chu Heng expressed that adults should not hold a woman's fault in mind. A gentleman should be magnanimous. "I'll call your mother over."

"However..."

Chu Heng changed his tone and looked at Ye Muyu with a deep and serious gaze.

"Hmm?" Ye Muyu did not know why, but her heart suddenly beat faster. She felt that what the other party was about to ask was something she did not want to answer.

As expected, while she was feeling uneasy.

Chu Heng said in a low voice, "You're not from the Madam Ye I know."

"You are someone else."

The man's tone was firm, and there was no doubt or curiosity from before.

Ye Muyu was shocked. Could it be that something had happened to Chu Heng while she was unconscious?

Her heart was on tenterhooks. Chu Heng's intelligence was definitely the one she needed to guard against the most.

She had read the cases in the Chu Law before. It was said that someone had a sudden change in personality. The family hired an eminent monk to perform the ritual, and in the end, the young master's temperament recovered.

Although there were no detailed records, it made Ye Muyu realize that there was a higher being.

She did not want to be treated as a lonely ghost by others. After all, it was not easy to live. Although she could not explain why, there was a voice in her heart telling her that if she left, this body would really die.

She was selfish, but she really wanted to live well. In addition to this incident, she felt that she was becoming more and more compatible with this body. The words in the dark, 'she is you, you are her', made her feel a little attached to this place.

"I told Mother and Mother-in-law that you know how to cook because I was the one who found a recipe book," Chu Heng stood up and suddenly said something that seemed unimportant.

Ye Muyu suddenly understood.

Chu Heng was protecting her.

Why was he protecting her and not threatening her?

Ye Muyu could not produce any evidence, but she had this feeling.

"Can I change my name?" Ye Muyu spoke out as a test. Since Chu Heng had already seen through it, it would not be appropriate for her to continue hiding it. If Chu Heng was willing to protect her as a husband, this would be a secret that only belonged to the two of them.

"Sure. I didn't like your previous name either." Chu Heng smiled.

Ye Muyu looked at the smiling man in front of her. His smile covered the darkness in his eyes. What a handsome man.

“My name is Ye Muyu..”

Chapter 170: Give Her Honor

Ye Muyu heard herself say this.

“Alright, I understand.” Chu Heng’s lips curled up into a smile. He looked at her and his smile slowly widened.

Even after Chu Heng left the room, Ye Muyu was still a little stunned. Although she was sure that Chu Heng was on the same side as her, she did not understand the meaning of his last sentence.

He did not hate her arrival? He did not care about her arrival?

Ye Muyu could not understand, but her heart somehow calmed down.

Old Woman Ye walked in from outside the room with a big smile on her face. However, her eyes were a little red, but there was no trace of sadness on her face. Instead, she was happy.

“Mother, come over and sit down.”

“Lan’er, let me tell you something good.” Old Woman Ye held Ye Muyu’s hand and laughed heartily.

“What good news?” Ye Muyu asked.

Old Madam Ye winked at her. "I didn't expect this. My son-in-law has always looked like a piece of iron and is so cold, but he actually has such deep feelings for you, Daughter."

"Chu Heng?" Ye Muyu was suspicious, but she did not urge Old Woman Ye. She knew that Old Woman Ye was someone who couldn't hold back her words.

Sure enough, Old Madam Ye told him the news without Ye Muyu urging him, "Just now, I was talking to my in-law in the main room. My son-in-law came out and told us that he wanted to hold a banquet to treat relatives and friends to a meal. Firstly, it's to celebrate your awakening. Secondly, he wants to change your name and give you his surname."

Ye Muyu was also surprised that Chu Heng would publicly announce her name change and even hold a banquet.

However, she did not understand Old Woman Ye's joy.

"Mother, perhaps it's because I survived a great disaster, so husband wants to have some good news at home and go to get rid of bad luck." Of course, the most important thing was to return the favor.

"No, no, no. Daughter, why are you so calm? A husband personally naming you means that a woman is valued and accepted by her husband's family." "In the past, although you were on the genealogy, there was only 'Madam Ye' written on it."

"Now, my son-in-law has personally given you a name. This name will be recorded in the genealogy. In the future, your name will be written behind my son-in-law."

"Let me tell you this. In the entire Xingshui Village, no woman has this honor. Do you understand?" When Old Woman Ye was talking excitedly, she even stood up. The crowd was excited. Those who did not know would think that it was a happy occasion for her.

When Ye Muyu heard Old Woman Ye's words and saw how happy she was, she knew that this honor was something every woman wanted.

She only wanted to declare that she would work and cooperate with Chu Heng.

However, Chu Heng had given her such a great honor.

“Daughter, are you happy?” Old Woman Ye almost laughed out loud with her hands on her hips. Her face was full of wrinkles. It was needless to say how happy she was.

Ye Muyu could not deny the joy in her heart.

‘Chu Heng was indeed a treasure trove.’

Ye Muyu thought to herself. She pursed her lips and nodded, “Mother, I’m very happy.”

“Hehe, I knew it. How could you not be happy about such a joyous occasion?”

When I get home, I’ll call your father to come and eat. Your father is too lazy. He doesn’t even want to leave the house.” Even though Old Woman Ye said that she despised her husband, the joy on her face could not be concealed.

At the mention of Ye Dejiang, Ye Muyu thought of asking Old Woman Ye to make pickled vegetables and sell them..
