

Peasant 25

Chapter 25

Her Attitude

“Madam Ye, I know that what Ah Yun did at your father’s birthday banquet was wrong. Mother should indeed apologize to you on behalf of Ah Yun, but you were also in the wrong. If you are willing to change, Mother will be very happy.”

“Of course, Ah Yun must change too. You two are family, how can you treat each other like enemies?”

Although Ye Muyu felt that her original host was indeed courting death, she had lost her life. It was not too much to ask for a sincere apology from the two of them.

“Mother, I understand what you mean. You can see what happens to me in the future.”

“I hope you can keep your promise too.” Ye Muyu lowered her eyes and spoke in a gentle voice, but Madam Liu could hear the hint in her words.

Although Madam Liu felt a little uncomfortable being suspected of favoring her daughter, she did not say anything and nodded in agreement. She was indeed biased toward her daughter, but she had to give her daughter-in-law face.

Giving face to her daughter-in-law was giving face to her son. Madam Liu knew this very well.

“Naturally, I will do as I say.”

After hearing Madam Liu’s words, Ye Muyu was relieved. Only by seeking justice for the original host could she live without guilt.

After saying this, Madam Liu lowered her head and saw Ye Muyu slowly making shoes. Although the speed was slow, the needlework was more meticulous than before. It was obvious that he had put in a lot of effort.

Madam Liu also nodded in her heart, thinking that perhaps her third daughter-in-law was really going to change.

“By the way, when I walked over today, I heard the gossip in the village.” Madam Liu suddenly thought of Tang Rou and asked. She subconsciously looked at Ye Mu Yu’s reaction.

“Mother, what did the villagers say?” Ye Muyu asked.

Madam Liu wanted to ask Ye Muyu what she was thinking, but she was asked back. Her gossipy nature made her unable to hold back and tell Ye Muyu all the rumors in the village.

Ye Muyu frowned when he heard that. She regretted what she had done earlier.

“Mother, I’ve troubled you again.” Ye Muyu apologized immediately. She never liked to cause trouble for others, but from Madam Liu’s words, she realized that the original host’s understanding of this world was not comprehensive.

For example, if the host were to encounter this, she would probably think that the villagers were jealous of her and would not care about it.

However, Madam Liu’s words made Ye Muyu wake up. The original host did not have much knowledge, so her current knowledge was limited. However, she could not make such a mistake again.

If Chu Heng really managed to pass the high scholar examination in the future, there would probably be more rules. If she acted recklessly now, there would probably be some hidden dangers in the future.

It was the first time that Madam Liu received Ye Muyu’s apology. She felt very awkward and was not used to it. She felt that it was as rare as red rain from the sky.

At the same time, she felt very comfortable. Although she was thinking for Ye Muyu and for her son, Ye Muyu never understood her feelings and even made a stupid mistakes repeatedly previously.

Ye Muyu's words made Madam Liu feel extremely comfortable.

She felt embarrassed to be too strict with her.

"I'm satisfied that you can understand the reason why I'm doing this." Madam Liu gently patted Ye Muyu's hand. She said this very sincerely.

"Mom, I wasn't thoughtful enough. I agreed to bring Tang Rou back because I wanted to see what she was planning to do to me."

"I didn't consider the villagers' opinions and helped Tang Rou instead."
