

Perfect Match: Irresistible Desire For You - Chapter 7

When Charlie went into the suite's bedroom and turned on the lights, he found a naked woman lying on the large hotel bed. The red satin sheets showed off her fair, lush body to perfection, and he felt his anger evaporating at the alluring picture.

He padded softly toward the bed. The woman's figure was indeed bewitching. When he saw the woman's face, which was slightly obscured by her hair, he couldn't help the short bark of laughter escaping his mouth. This woman was an employee in his company named Lina Graham, a well-known office beauty who was in Ashley's department. Lina boasted of delicate features and an impeccable fashion sense.

In fact, Charlie had known for a while that Lina was interested in him. During the times when he visited Ashley in her department to take her to dinner, Lina would sashay around Ashley's office, swaying her hips enticingly. Although Ashley didn't notice that, Lina trying to seduce him gave him a sense of superiority.

Charlie had no intention of messing with Lina. After all, he had the feeling that she was only after his money. If he got involved with her, she would only pose a future problem. Besides, it would do him no good if his father found out that he dallied with women in the company.

Last and not the least, even with her charming countenance, Lina lacked the elegant temperament of Ashley, so she suffered harshly in comparison. Thus, Charlie was not interested. Lina was surprisingly impatient. Well, she was the one who came and offered herself to him, and he was a hot-blooded man in his prime. Now that having sex with Ashley was out of the question, the woman on his bed was offering the perfect chance to slake his desire.

With these thoughts, Charlie stripped off his clothes and threw them willy-nilly that they soon ended up scattered all over the bedroom floor. Charlie slipped on top of Lina and kissed the woman passionately. His hands started to roam her curves. Her smooth skin and heady perfume stoked his excitement, and his movements grew more aggressive.

At that moment, Lina

finally woke up. When she opened her eyes and found Charlie's handsome face hovering over hers, all of her drowsiness vanished. Before she could say anything, Charlie became even more excited at the sight of her big, dewy eyes, and he quickened his grinding on top of her body.

“Ah, it hurts!” Lina cried out when Charlie finally pierced her body.

Charlie felt the barrier, and satisfaction flashed in his eyes as he watched the tears gather in Lina’s eyes. He murmured comfortingly, “Good girl. It will be okay in a moment.”

Lina did not expect her first time to be that painful, but she was comforted by the thought that she was finally giving herself to Charlie. At the prospect of becoming the future hostess of Synder Group, she endured the pain and lowered her head, her eyes averted.

As Charlie plunged into her body into her multiple times, Lina finally felt the discomfort fade and be replaced with lust. Finally, she gasped out in a throaty voice, “Oh, Mr. Synder, it feels really good!”

Charlie watched the woman’s heavy-lidded eyes and her flushed face. Her obvious desire for him stroked his male ego, so he worked her body even harder.

In the morning, Charlie woke up refreshed from a particularly vigorous night of sex. Barely sparing one look at the woman sleeping in the bed, he pulled on his clothes and walked out of the suite. She was just a woman who satisfied his body’s needs. He didn’t need to care about her. After summarily dismissing the woman from his mind, he drove to the company to work.

Charlie recalled the events of last night as he sat in his chair, lost in thought after Ashley walked out of his office. Ashley’s words came back to him. ‘Break up? She is just an ordinary employee. How dare she break up with me?’ Besides, she had sex with another man. It was ridiculous how she made it seem like she was the one who was wronged. ‘Whatever! Break up or not, I don’t care!’

Slightly mollified by the thought, Charlie put away all of these thoughts in the back of his mind and started to focus on his work.