

Perfect WD 1051

Chapter 1051 - Enemy

This was a group of men, every single one of them unordinary, not people who grew stronger through seclusion and cultivation, but rather powerful individuals who crawled out from the battlefields and piles of corpses.

When these types of people reached the Heavenly Deity Realm, the results were extremely terrifying. They possessed experience far greater than that of ordinary people, their fighting strength more terrifying.

It was because they were terrifying experts sharpened through death.

Normal heavenly deities were already high above others, representing great power, while this group of individuals were like wolves, death gods among heavenly deities, even more horrifying.

However, Shi Hao wasn't an ordinary person either. He had experienced too much, the number of enemies he had faced even more so innumerable, the number of heavenly deities he killed himself not a small amount.

He didn't hesitate. Over a hundred willow branches rushed out from behind him, every single one of them sparkling, releasing golden light, quickly rushing outwards. In addition, his right hand held the Everlasting Immortal Sword, hacking outwards.

If they were truly going to fight, then his battlefield experience wasn't inferior to anyone. The number of heavenly deities he killed wouldn't be much less than the ones before him.

"Ao..." Those people rushed over, not stopping because of his actions, instead displaying even more might. They stirred on their mounts, releasing a heavy blow.

A middle-aged man with disheveled hair rode on a blood-horned beast, his eyes flickering with scarlet radiance, in his hand a great blood-colored halberd that hacked downwards. He was the leader of this group.

There were a few others at his side, their mounts all like small mountains, every single one of them flickering with crimson radiance, carrying unruliness and a type of bloodiness. They all displayed secret methods to kill the youth before them.

Hong!

Over a hundred willow branches danced about, releasing brilliant golden light, stopping the group of people. Astonishing fluctuations erupted. Power at the heavenly deity level definitely wasn't just hot air.

Battles at this level were enough to make the entire great earth cave in and completely collapse, destroying this expanse of mountain range and even the ancient forests further out.

However, there were many historical remains here, ancient formations left behind, not that easy to destroy.

Sure enough, mysterious formations erupted from the great earth, immediately fixing the mountain ridges and others in place, protecting this place.

Shi Hao was shocked. It wasn't this great era's bone texts, but rather mysterious dao symbols that belonged to the last great era.

Kacha!

In the interweaving lightning, under the clash of precious techniques, the over a hundred golden branches wrapped around those secret treasures attacking him, stopping them in midair.

Meanwhile, Shi Hao was like a vicious tiger, his entire body erupting with golden patterns, illuminating this piece of the void. He rushed over while holding the Everlasting Immortal Sword, facing the leader alone.

Qiang! n.)0ve/bIn

Sparks flew in all directions. That blood-colored great halberd was struck by the sword core until there were knicks everywhere, as if it was going to break. It bounced out, producing a cut between that heavenly deity's fingers, causing blood to flow out.

Both sides were shocked.

Shi Hao looked at that great halberd, greatly surprised that it didn't break. One had to understand that the weapon in his hand was unstoppable, forged from many types of Immortal Gold.

Soon after, he understood. The other party's weapon was special, containing sect master level symbols, previously refined by a great figure. It was a half sect master level weapon.

Chi!

That leader was even more shocked than Shi Hao, but he didn't waste time. His battle experience was abundant. The instant the great halberd was blasted up, he brandished his arm, the scarlet halberd blade hacking down diagonally. The bone texts appeared layer after layer, drowning Shi Hao underneath.

Shi Hao moved the sword, operating Reincarnation symbols. This was his own supreme being precious technique, now displayed through this sword.

Dang!

The Everlasting Immortal Sword clashed with the blood-colored great halberd, leaving behind several cuts on its surface again. When bone texts spread out, it attacked all directions, surrounding that leader.

However, that great halberd really wasn't ordinary. Sect master symbols rushed out, weakening the reincarnation force.

However, despite this being the case, that male's hair became white, aging considerably. His vital energy immediately declined, falling from the peak state of his life.

Chi!

Shi Hao raised the sword again, slashing outwards, Reincarnation symbols surging.

Dang!

This male opened his mouth, activating a talisman that was grayish-dark, not looking that special. However, when the sword core descended, it exploded, bursting like a black sun, destroying this place, throwing everything into chaos.

Shi Hao's qi and blood surged. Apart from Ning Chuan and a few others, this was the first time he was pushed back this greatly when facing heavenly deity level strength. He wasn't able to immediately cut down the other party.

Qiang!

A sword cry sounded. Shi Hao went against the power of this explosion, the sword core shooting straight out, aimed at the space between the other party's brows.

Dang!

The halberd stopped it, blocking in front. It finally couldn't hold on, half of it removed by the sword.

Then, Shi Hao rose up, the long sword sweeping outwards. Bone texts surged, radiance dazzling like comets flying through the sky, too glorious, blinding to the point where people couldn't open their eyes.

On the side, the others shouted, taking action together. However, over a hundred golden branches shone resplendently, forming a web, surrounding this place, imprisoning this area, the others unable to approach.

Dang!

This person threw out the broken halberd, colliding with the sword core. In addition, he spat out a streak of blinding light, the innate spiritual essence he condensed from his cultivation.

The sword core was stopped, blocked by a wave of formless power.

That person withdrew in the air. Even though he was a battle-hardened veteran, he still wouldn't rashly throw his own life away. Since he was able to live, he naturally wanted to retreat.

Chi!

However, Shi Hao pressed forward ferociously, not willing to let him go. He hacked apart that streak of light, forcefully breaking through, and then he ferociously brandished the sword core.

Pu!

The sound of blood flying through the air could be heard. An arrow of blood shot out from that leader's mouth, body in flames. He wanted to protect his primordial spirit.

Chi!

Unfortunately, a streak of sword energy swept across. His head flew, and then the void exploded, his primordial spirit unable to escape.

Those on the side were all stunned, never expecting this youngster to be this formidable. They had secret treasures that allowed them to sense his age, cultivation realm, and other things.

This youngster was only around twenty years of age, shouldn't have reached the Heavenly Deity Realm, yet possessed such terrifying combat strength, killing their leader.

These changes happened too quickly, the results exceeding everyone's expectations.

In reality, Shi Hao was quite shocked as well. After experiencing Holy Sacrifice, his strength became comparable to that of a heavenly deity. Together with the fact that he had experienced lightning tribulation, had three strands of immortal energy, and other things, his power should be far greater than this cultivation realm.

It was just like the foreign cultivator Lin Tian, able to kill the heavenly deities of hundreds of provinces, few people able to take even ten blows from him. Shi Hao naturally also had this strength.

Only, he never expected this person to be this strong, continuously blocking his vicious attacks.

"Quite strong!" He said seriously. He had only just entered the forbidden region depths, yet he already encountered an army with such astonishing murderous energy and domineeringness. It left him shocked.

However, in the ears of others, it sounded like mockery. This was just a youngster around twenty years of age, yet he killed their leader so quickly, it truly left them speechless.

"Kill!"

One of them roared. They activated a brightly-colored stone together, quickly arranging formations, wishing to kill Shi Hao here. One had to bear in mind that this was a group of heavenly deities, the formation they arranged together no small matter.

Only, how could Shi Hao just sit and wait for death? In that instant, Kun Peng wings appeared, rising to the extreme. Then, he used his own various types of precious techniques, unleashing a bloody massacre here.

"Who exactly are you all? Why have you decided to kill me after learning that I came from the three thousand provinces?"

"There is no grudge between us, I only wish to find that ancient city, never provoking you all, so why do you harm me?"

Shi Hao continuously asked questions. He didn't know how he offended these people.

However, these people didn't speak a word, only attacking.

Pu!

One person was hacked in half, blood flying everywhere, his mount killed along with him.

Pu!

The other person's head flew up, falling several dozen zhang out.

Shi Hao unleashed a great slaughter here. Since others wanted to deal with him, wanting to kill him, he naturally wouldn't show mercy.

These people were vicious and ruthless, but they were also killed one after another until they became scared, starting to run.

However, Shi Hao was determined to keep them here. He split into six or seven spiritual bodies to chase after them, suppressing them.

In the end, not a single person escaped, all of them intercepted.

"Why?" Shi Hao asked.

However, unusual things happened to all of these people. Their eyes became blood-red, as if they were going mad. They roared frantically, shouting that they didn't fear death.

Shi Hao saw that these people's eyes were too strange, a bit similar to the eyes he saw in the hazy mist within that Immortal Ancient dream.

Shi Hao's rage immediately surged. The fall and sadness of his friends he experienced not long ago caused the killing intent he felt inside to erupt.

He forcefully endured his rage, catching one of them, wishing to explore his primordial spirit. As a result, that person directly died, his primordial spirit igniting, thus exploding, almost injuring him.

Shi Hao didn't show mercy. The long sword moved out. Even though these people were crazy, their eyes red as they attacked frantically, they were still killed one after another, not a single one able to escape.

"Close, I'm not far from them!" Shi Hao gritted his teeth, feeling that he wasn't that far from his enemies.

He couldn't forget the scene of Immortal Ancient's heroes falling. Whenever he thought of it, his heart would always ache with pain.

"Am I close to the Desolate Border? The infiltration of the enemy has succeeded?"

Shi Hao said to himself. Moreover, at this time, he broke out into a cold shiver.

Could it be that the Desolate Border had been broken, those people passing through?

He thought back to the battle that happened not too long ago. He had previously fought a bloody battle against that eyeball, barely killing it. That eyeball had said that their great army was definitely going to cross over, and it was going to happen soon.

Shi Hao was stunned by his own thoughts. Was the Desolate Border broken? Could it be that the flames of war, the chaos was going to start here?

If that was the case, then that would definitely be a huge disaster. Troubled times were coming.

Shi Hao felt his body break out in a cold shiver. He still hadn't made his preparations yet, not reaching the peak. If he encountered those creatures just like that, would he be just like phoenix girl and the others, carrying unwillingness as they were killed before they matured?

He was unwilling to accept this. The dream back to Immortal Ancient was still fresh in his memory. He wanted to get revenge for those friends, and not be killed as well.

Shi Hao remained silent for a moment, deep in thought. He didn't turn around to run, instead turning into a strand of smoke, speeding alone. He was going to take a look to see what exactly was in the forbidden region's depths, what exactly had happened.

Several days later, Shi Hao had walked who knew just how many tens of thousands of li. He traveled through countless mountains and rivers, finally entering a strange land.

Even from far away, he could see an enormous castle from the horizon. It was grand and majestic, imposing and vast, as if an imperial capital rested there.

"I've arrived, finally found it!" Shi Hao's expression was grave. He wanted to see what there was there, what kind of unforeseen events happened.

Chapter 1052 - A City

A city!

This was a field. Even though there were ancient trees, they were extremely sparse. The earth was dry and hard, without mountain peaks separating them, and that was likely why a city was constructed here, appearing more powerful and imposing. n0ve)ll-In Shi Hao was stunned. He found it just like that?

Was this the place of the Archaic Contract of Alliance? It was so solemn and respectful, grand, exuding a type of unmatched great aura.

Did reaching here mean that he was approaching the Desolate Border? Or was this to say that this was the outermost region?

Shi Hao's heart rose and fell greatly, his expression complex. From the last great era until now, this region had probably remained a land of conflict, right? It was definitely frightening.

Throughout the long river of history, there were definitely many exceptional heroes who roamed about this place, with quite a few of them buried here. Those inspiring and tragic past events were worth reminiscing about.

These were things that perhaps happened too long ago, but they were inextricably linked to the present, because those enemies were still there, to be more precise, their descendents were still in this world.

It was to the extent where the original enemies were also still alive!

And they were going to come over precisely through the Desolate Border.

Shi Hao wanted to know what kind of people these were, or to be more precise, what kind of creatures they were. It was because he wasn't sure they were people, even if there might be large amounts of humanoid beings.

Even though he experienced that Immortal Ancient dream, he saw too little. Those creatures were covered in gray mists, only claws and scales occasionally appearing, humanoid figures hurriedly flashing past.

"I have to get closer to this city and get to the bottom of this."

On the plains, ancient trees were sparse, but all of them were tall, every single stalk several hundred zhang tall. They were like small green mountains.

As he got closer, he discovered that the city was quite populated, seemingly still lively enough to be considered bustling. It was because there were all types of noises that sounded, the voices not that soft.

"En?!"

Soon after, Shi Hao saw a group of men that rushed out from the city, rushing in his direction.

Was he discovered? Shi Hao's eyes became serious.

Fortunately, they then rushed in another direction. They were similarly a group of armored mounts, with a heavenly deity leader. This was quite shocking, this place really did have experts everywhere!

What made him feel a bit better was that when he looked inside the city, there were quite a few people whose cultivations weren't that high, some even at the supreme expert level.

In this type of strange city, people with weaker strength like this were few in number.

It was because in Shi Hao's imagination, regardless of whether this city had fallen or if the people of the higher realms controlled it, there should be large amounts of experts. It would be difficult for any weak individual to survive here.

Then, he saw one person, witch!

She was inside the city, just as weird as usual, beautiful to a ridiculous degree. However, no matter how he looked at how she was acting, she looked like she was leisurely strolling about, not feeling any sense of nervousness.

Shi Hao was stunned. How did this fella muddle her way through? She even seemed to be so carefree, not worried about anything at all.

Moreover, most importantly, how did she end up getting here before him?

This place wasn't that far from the city gates, so Shi Hao could see everything inside clearly. The number of people here really wasn't small, with many different races. There were extremely powerful creatures, as well as weak individuals.

However, the witch already transmitted sound, saying, "Little brat, stop hiding, I noticed you a while ago."

Shi Hao was shocked. In the end, he stopped, looking at the witch who was already leaving the city and coming over. He had all types of questions.

"Hey, hey, hey, stop staring at me as if we've never met. Staring blankly like that, it's as if I'm facing a piece of wood." The witch was beyond beautiful, but her mouth was just as sharp as always, without any restraint.

"You defected?" Shi Hao asked. Of course, he didn't believe it much himself, but he understood in that instant. He made a huge mistake, this city was definitely different from what he had imagined.

"What kind of nonsense are you spouting? So weird, just like you." The witch ridiculed.

Shi Hao understood, this city hadn't been captured.

"How did you get ahead of me, arriving even before me?" Shi Hao then continued to ask.

"Young man, what are you implying?" The witch shot him a sidelong glance, feeling extremely discontent and a type of provocation, as well as a type of smiling expression, saying, "Could it be that you felt that you are quite lacking, cultivating three strands of immortal energy, yet still ended up arriving after me? Feel extremely unsatisfied? But this is reality, brat, you are still too far off."

Shi Hao was given a harsh lashing with words, but he truly couldn't say anything in retaliation. He indeed had these types of thoughts, feeling that he was quite strong, already arriving fast enough, yet still ended up falling behind.

"Yi, why aren't you acting all cocky like usual? Could it be that you realized the distance between the two of us? Little fella, work hard then!" The witch put on a proud and experienced look, and after saying this, she couldn't help but laugh.

"What kind of methods do you have? How exactly did you end up ahead of me?" Shi Hao asked, still somewhat unwilling to accept this.

"Did you forget the three great supreme beings flung us out to different spots? I was sent to the very front, so of course I'm a bit faster." The witch said candidly.

Shi Hao didn't believe this, because the three great supreme beings would at most send people out a million li, while the path he had walked the past few months crossed who knew how many millions of li, difficult to assess.

He believed that he could overtake anyone in front of him, thus he didn't believe the witch's words.

"As luck would have it, the place where I landed on had an ancient transport formation, directly sending me to this city." The witch explained a step further.

Shi Hao was speechless. This was a bit too unfair right? He went through nine deaths one life, encountering all types of dangers along the way, while the witch reached here with a single step, just too easy.

"How did you notice me?" Shi Hao asked. He was quite confident in his own concealment methods, yet the witch found him while he was outside the city.

"Because you're too weak, if I wanted to find you, I could do so with just a turn of my hand."

When Shi Hao heard these words, the root of his teeth directly began to itch. The witch was intentionally acting smug, leaving him quite annoyed.

“Speak, what is going on?” Shi Hao’s expression was unkind, putting on an appearance like he was going to take action.

“You had a damaged pagoda on you, while I have a stone bead on me. You should remember that those two fellas know each other.” The witch said.

When Shi Hao heard this, he became a bit disappointed and frustrated. The little pagoda had left for a long time, following Willow Deity into the Primordial Gate. Where was it now? Where did it go? Did it truly arrive at the very forefront of the battlefield?

Or was it to say that they broke free, entering the holiest place?

Shi Hao wished to see them again, only, he knew that it wasn’t likely. At the very least, he didn’t have that type of ability right now.

It was obvious that the stone bead on the witch detected Shi Hao, and that was why she was able to immediately sense his arrival.

“Why are you acting all sneaky and secretive outside, not daring to go in?” The witch asked.

“Can’t you use better words? Why would you call someone like me sneaky and secretive? You actually have the nerve to talk about a heroic person like me in that manner?” Shi Hao glared at her.

“A foodie, a little thief!” The witch muttered.

Then, Shi Hao learned about some of the truth from her mouth. This city was quite special, but it still wasn’t the enormous city they were looking for.

He was thus shocked. A massive city like this wasn’t even their destination?

“Are there many ancient cities like this in the forbidden region?” He found this hard to understand. It was the uninhabited region, so how could there be so many cities?

“There aren’t that many, the amount rather few.” The witch said.

She told Shi Hao that the true ancient city was over a hundred times more grand than this one, incredibly imposing like a Heavenly Emperor’s city, standing tall at the border.

“You should already know that from the past until now, there had always been exceptional figures entering that city to fulfill the Archaic Contract of Alliance. Meanwhile, they also have disciples, their later generations also taking root in this region.”

“You are saying that the city before us is a place where the descendents of those exceptional figures reside?”

“Correct, the population grew larger and larger, thus becoming a city.”

Shi Hao suddenly understood. This city similarly carried special meaning, because since they found this place, then that meant they weren’t far from the true enormous city.

“Why aren’t you leaving then?” Shi Hao was confused. Since the witch already reached this place, it made more sense for her to continue towards the true enormous city.

Soon after, he obtained a piece of shocking information. There were opportunities in this region, rumored to have a Qilin egg.

“Pure blooded Qilin?” Shi Hao asked with shock.

“Correct, there have been some irregular sights recently, sometimes in the mountains and valleys, sometimes underground. Many people saw a white little Qilin appear in the void.”

When he heard the witch’s words, Shi Hao couldn’t remain calm any longer. It was because he thought back to the little girl in the Immortal Ancient dream, she had previously carried a little White Qilin.

Shi Hao entered the city with the witch, telling her along the way that he had previously been cut off by a group of experts.

“There were these type of people after all!” The witch was also shocked.

She learned of many things from here. In recent years, a terrifying aura seeped out from the Desolate Border, making a few people go mad. To be more precise, their minds were invaded, their intelligence confused.

Only, this type of people hid rather well, normally difficult to find.

Meanwhile, this time, Shi Hao unexpectedly encountered a group of people that belonged to the city’s experts. This situation was extremely serious.

“The Desolate Border is about to become chaotic, they are about to pass through as expected!” Shi Hao said to himself.

The witch’s expression was also grave, feeling that great chaos was coming, the situation terrible to the extreme!

Shi Hao entered the city, not leaving immediately, instead temporarily staying here. It was because he also wanted to look for that Qilin egg.

In reality, many people in the city were looking, because recently, that White Qilin irregular scene would appear from time to time, many people now knowing about it.

“Cannot let Six Crown King obtain it!” Shi Hao said. Ning Chuan had Qilin patterns upon birth, so if he encountered the Qilin egg, there were too many unpredictable things that might happen.

Just two days later, Shi Hao also saw the irregular scene. In the distant mountain valley, there was auspicious light that surged. A little White Qilin appeared, vivid and lifelike.

The cultivators all went mad, all of them rushing over, Shi Hao no exception, rushing forward.

Then, his mind was shaken, immediately becoming stupefied. That irregular scene’s little Qilin was clearly the one he saw from Immortal Ancient, there was no mistake!

What left him the most shocked was that there was another sound that rang out in his mind, an immature voice, saying, "Why do you look a bit familiar?"

"We met not too long ago! You didn't die, surviving?!" Shi Hao's voice was even shaking.

"Nonsense, I slept for so many years, how could I have met you before?!" The little Qilin said.

"A dream back to Immortal Ancient, we met before in Southern Sea Purple Bamboo Forest, you were carried in a young lady's arms!" Shi Hao said.

"What, it's you, you... were actually in this era!" The little Qilin cried out, and then it began to cry, feeling incomparably grieved, saying to Shi Hao, "I was waiting, waiting for so many years, waiting for her to appear again, but she's gone, never coming to find me..."

Chapter 1053 - Demonized

Everything happened too suddenly. There were always things that exceeded the imagination.

Shi Hao never thought that he would meet that snow-white little Qilin again. Even though he didn't feel like it had been that long since he had last seen it, for this Qilin youth, endless years had already passed.

When he heard the little Qilin's sobs, the wails of grief, Shi Hao's heart also moved. He had always been thinking about this matter in the last few months, questioning whether the things he had experienced were real.

He had previously met them, the phoenix girl, young man with Radiant Immortal Gold Sword, the young lady who carried the little Qilin all fell into pools of blood one after another, killed in Southern Sea Purple Bamboo Forest. He had since always felt broken hearted. He watched as those miserable scenes played out one after another, yet was powerless to change anything, his heart full of grief and pain.

Now that he saw this little Qilin, everything was proven true. His experiences back then weren't fake, but real.

Shi Hao's eyes were sore, his heart in great pain. He truly went on a mental journey back to Immortal Ancient's last days, becoming friends with those people, yet the ending was so cruel, watching them die one after another.

"I was still waiting, wishing for her to come back, wishing for her..." The little Qilin wept with wuwu sounds, bringing Shi Hao's thoughts back to Immortal Ancient.

Even though he hadn't interacted with those people for a long time, it was still an unforgettable experience!

"Don't cry anymore, just come with me. The Desolate Border is about to become chaotic, I'll bring you out to kill the enemy, get revenge for them!" Shi Hao said, staring at the snow-white little Qilin in the void.

He felt a wave of fighting intent that surged like flames. He was going to ascend onto that battlefield! The dream back to Immortal Ancient left him with regrets, a feeling of helplessness. Now, in this era, he was going to fight a glorious battle and slaughter his way into the Desolate Border!

“No, I want to wait for her, wait for her to appear and come back!” The little Qilin was extremely firm, not willing to display its real body, using that void image to communicate with him.

“I want her to come back too, but she cannot appear again.” Shi Hao said. Even though his voice was calm, that was definitely not the same on the inside.

That great era was full of sadness and grief, all of the young supreme beings withered away. They were all so stunning, no lack of people like phoenix girl and the others who cultivated three strands of immortal energy. If they lived to this world, regardless of whether it was Shi Hao or Ten Crown King, neither of them would be able to hold the highest spots.

That was a glorious era where talents emerged in large numbers, the final days that left one in grief. Those powerful heroes emerged group after group, yet before they could even grow up, they withered away prematurely.

How tragic of an era that was, a period of sadness and tragedy.

“No, I don’t believe it, she will come back, she will appear again to find me in this mountain valley!” The little Qilin cried out, full of emotions, eyes carrying tears, crying painfully.

Even a young beast was like this, let alone a grown-up Shi Hao. He released a long sigh, gazing into the heaven and earth, into the distance.

He was greatly touched by the little Qilin’s loyalty, also feeling powerless for the past. Everything went by just like that, the lamentable and sad Immortal Ancient Great Era gradually faded away just like that.

“You will grow up, should accept reality a bit earlier.” Shi Hao said. Even though it was cruel, he still wanted to wake up the little Qilin from its dream.

It was because it was a pure-blooded Qilin, and once it grew up, its combat strength would be heaven overflowing, its bravery oppressing the world, a future great force. He couldn’t leave it in this type of perplexed state, still muddle-headed.

“Even though I’m small, I am still clear headed. I believe she will definitely appear.” The little Qilin’s tone was resolute.

Shi Hao was shocked. Even though he didn’t believe, he still asked, “Why?”

“Even you could dream back to Immortal Ancient, why can’t she appear in this world?” The little Qilin said softly.

Shi Hao remained silent. The reason he could return was because of Without End great one turning back the flow of time, using that bell of time to guide him on a mental journey.

It was to the extent where Six Dao Reincarnations Immortal King had taken action, and with him using his method, there was definitely immeasurable power in effect.

In that instant, Shi Hao realized something.

Right, he only thought about time, forgetting about Six Dao Reincarnations King. His methods, his dao, if it was developed to the extreme, perhaps it might be able to do something.

“How did you end up surviving?” Shi Hao asked the little Qilin, wishing to understand how it didn’t die first.

“Someone cut open space and sent me out, buried in a pile of undying matter and then slept for endless years, only waking up again recently. Time cannot take my life!” The snow-white little Qilin said.

This left Shi Hao shocked. Undying matter, this was something many great figures in this world were gathering. If one couldn’t become a long life being, then that type of matter could undoubtedly preserve one’s life, preventing death.

Then, regardless of what Shi Hao said, the little Qilin wasn’t willing to get up, only telling him that others couldn’t find it because of an Immortal Ancient secret treasure.

It went into hiding, not appearing any longer.

Then, it only left behind one sentence, saying, “I am going to wait for her, wait for her to come back and appear in this world again.”

This left Shi Hao feeling a wave of melancholy, a wave of perplexity. Would that little Qilin really be able to wait until that young lady came back? He felt like it was unrealistic. There was no reincarnation in this world, was it still living in its dreams?

However, Shi Hao still carried hope as well. If that little Qilin really waited until that young lady was alive again, or if there were other creatures from that great era who returned, the significance behind this would definitely be tremendous. Even if the Desolate Border was pierced, it wouldn’t be as depressing!

The city was extremely large, Shi Hao came back again.

In reality, the others also returned, going on a wild goose chase again, no one able to find where the little Qilin was, to the extent where even though many people used magical force to move mountains and valleys, digging up the underground rivers, it was all still futile.

That was why everyone believed that the so-called Qilin egg wasn’t that close, but rather in an extremely distant place, having a strange treasure that allowed it to protect itself.

In the city, more people appeared. It was because not only did Shi Hao and the witch arrive, there were a few other outside cultivators, every single one of them extremely powerful.

They came from different ancient cities, all of them, after hearing news of a Qilin’s appearance, wishing to capture that young beast.

“It is rumored to be a little Qilin, returning to an egg due to rebirth. Once it is obtained, that would mean that one would have a great divine beast at one’s side.”

This was the information these people obtained. They all flocked over as a result.

In the depths of the forbidden region, there weren’t many ancient cities, but they were all extremely large, with groups of experts. They set out one after another, this naturally triggering a huge commotion.

Every single city had a glorious past, established by the world shaking experts of the past, all of them unmatched in the higher realms during their era.

However, those people all fell one after another, only the ancient cities and their descendents left.

"You don't seem to care that much, you aren't interested in that little Qilin anymore?" The witch asked Shi Hao.

"You should listen to my advice and head out together with me, hurry and reach that emperor city by the Desolate Border. It's best if we don't forget the original purpose for coming here." Shi Hao said, telling her that there is no hope of obtaining that little Qilin.

Of course, he didn't mention the matters of conversing with that little Qilin, because this type of thing was just too shocking. To form friendship with a group of people in Immortal Ancient, regardless of how one looked at it from, it seemed a bit ridiculous. If he told others about it, others would definitely think that he went mad.

"Are you sure that the Qilin youth here cannot be obtained?" The witch asked.

"I am sure." Shi Hao replied calmly.

The witch looked at him, and surprisingly spoke resolutely, saying, "Since that's the case, let's go then. We should hurry to the Desolate Border and find that city."

Upon hearing news about a Qilin, not many people could remain calm, especially someone like the witch who had the mysterious bead on her, with such great power to rely on. Yet now, she actually gave up just like that.

Shi Hao gave her a look, never expecting her to leave just because he told her to.

"What kind of look is that? Could it be that you want me to stay behind?" She shot him a sidelong glance.

"No, I just never expected you to be so straightforward."

This time, the two of them went on their way together, leaving the enormous city and proceeding deeper into the forbidden region.

When they traveled several tens of thousands of li out, there were sounds of armored horses galloping, chasing over from behind. The group numbered at least ten, their eyes red like vicious beasts, carrying heaven overflowing killing energy, chasing up to here.

"It's this type of people again!" Shi Hao had previously killed a group of heavenly deities, all of them in this type of state, eyes crimson red, losing their sense of self.

"It seems like something is greatly wrong with the forbidden region depths, so many experts infected, all of them daring to attack so openly, it's clear how domineering they are." The witch said.

It was clear that these people had shortcuts to take, allowing them to immediately rush at Shi Hao's group.

Otherwise, with their speeds, there was no way they could compare to Shi Hao, impossible to catch up.

“You killed squad nineteen’s people?” On the other side, the leader stared coldly at Shi Hao.

“You all are even sensitive to each other? Can even sense the fact that I killed a team?” Shi Hao asked.

At the same time, this was the same as admitting that he had killed a group of infected experts.

Standing about in this forbidden region depths was extremely dangerous. The mist that spread over from the Desolate Border could confuse one’s mind, corrupt them.

“Making us your enemies, there is no place in this forbidden region for you to walk!” That leader shouted. Behind him, more than ten people’s weapons shone.

“How extravagant! A team of heavenly deities, this forbidden region really is unimaginable, the numbers even though not that astonishing, there are too many experts!” The witch sighed in praise.

“I already traveled over ten thousand li, what do you mean no place to walk?”

“From my intuition, I can tell that you are strong, but you still aren’t a great figure. Without being able to grow up, you will undoubtedly die!” That leader said, the vicious beast he sat on roared, eyes also blood red.

“Is that so? Then you all can feel free to give me a try.” Shi Hao said.

“Being able to wipe out squad nineteen’s men means that we might not be your opponent, but you still won’t be able to continue living.” That leader said. Then, he chanted an ancient language, as if he was carrying out some type of sacrifice.

“I invite great one to descend!” Someone said.

Right at this moment, a stone mountain not far out cracked apart, revealing a blood-colored altar soaked in blood. It was entirely red, extremely striking.

“It can’t be, right?!” The witch’s expression even changed. Even though she heard that the Desolate Border was unstable, she never thought that it would be terrible to this degree.

“What are they trying to do?” Shi Hao asked.

“These people originally belonged to the three thousand provinces, only being demonized. However now, the blood altar they made really might cause the creatures on the other side of the Desolate Border to descend!” The witch’s expression was serious.

Shi Hao felt a headache. This really was a huge problem.

Those people chanted the incantation, each of them slitting their own wrists, pouring their heavenly deity blood over the altar as an offering.

“Who is calling me? Can my original body cross over?” Right at this moment, a lazy voice sounded from the altar. It was quite young, but also possessed a type of great pressure!

Chapter 1054 - Blood Sacrifice Altar

The mountains split apart, revealing a blood altar.

That sound was extremely careless, as if it didn't really care much about anything, giving one a rather sinister feeling.

"We pay our respects to the great one!" That troop shouted together. At the same time, their eyes became even more red, as if they were dyed in blood.

Shi Hao was quite shocked, actually encountering this type of blood altar here. It was clear that it wasn't connected to the three thousand provinces, but rather the most terrifying Desolate Border end!

This was too sudden, and it also left one feeling extremely shocked!

He knew that the war was coming, that it would sweep through the sky above and earth below, the Nine Heavens and Ten Earths unable to free themselves from this disaster. However, only when he truly came into contact with it did one understand how stifling it was.

One had to understand that Immortal Ancient was buried precisely by those enemies. This time, they came again, so who could stop them?

At the very least, there were the Vicious Ten, Willow Deity, Without End, and Six Dao Reincarnations King back then, but now, who was left? Those unmatched experts were no longer in existence!

When he thought of the scene of the enemy breaking through, even Shi Hao's mind was shaken up. This was just too fast, he hadn't even made his preparations yet, not having truly risen up.

The witch's expression was also grave, her eyes deep, putting away the normal frivolous attitude she carried. Now, she looked like an ice-cold demon god!

She never expected this day to come so quickly either. The blood altar had long been built, the one on the other side able to use this to travel over.

Now, it was clear that the other side had prepared for many years. When they were truly going to attack, there were definitely going to be altars everywhere, an endless army rising up. Just the thought alone made one's scalp go numb and feel great fear.

Shi Hao took action, the Willow Deity appearing the moment he raised his hand. A thick golden willow branch shot out like a divine chain of order, rushing towards the altar to destroy it.

"Even with this one here, you dare act impudently?"

That voice on the blood altar was still indifferent, not treating this matter like anything important at all. In addition, the altar shone, the diagrams and other things on its surface becoming vivid and lifelike, as if reviving.

The barrier this altar produced blocked Shi Hao's strike!

The witch took action. With a raise of her hand, her ten long and slender fingers all shone, shooting out strand after strand of rainbow light. This was Sky Severing Technique, she immediately used her sect-protecting precious technique.

However, she didn't attack that altar, but rather those mounted soldiers.

Pu!

There was immediately someone killed by her, blood splashing outwards. The witch was quite calm and unhurried, not displaying any fluctuations in emotions.

This allowed Shi Hao to see a different side to her. She was normally laughing and giggling, always behaving strangely, but when she truly took action, she had the appearance of a female asura added to her witch style.

What was strange was that the dead heavenly deity's blood all flowed towards the altar. Even though the witch tried to stop it, the bloody mist still flowed along, entering that altar.

"Kill them!"

That witch shouted. Even though he was willing to die, he wasn't afraid of death. This group of individuals all seemed to have gone mad like this.

It was because their souls were already no longer pure, already corrupted and completely fallen into demonification.

Chi!

Shi Hao took action, temporarily giving up on the altar and attacking these people with full force. Meanwhile, the witch also moved, fighting a great battle against these experts.

The two people were incredibly powerful when they joined hands, both of them cultivated immortal energy, power exceptional. Even though these people were powerful, veterans that crawled out from piles of corpses, they still weren't a match.

Following pu pu sounds, heads tumbled one after another, forcefully cut down by these two.

However, the bad thing was that these individuals' blood flowed towards the altar. Even if they were crushed apart, they would still turn into bloody mist and rush towards the altar. This was the same thing as sacrifice.

One had to understand that these were heavenly deities, their blood essence comparable to that of tens of millions of creatures. Now that so many of them had gathered together, the concentration was shockingly great.

Shi Hao and the witch wouldn't allow them to do as they wished. They used precious techniques to condense the blood, forcefully collecting it into some spatial magical artifacts, not allowing the altar to absorb it.

All of the heavenly deities were killed. The spiritual essence they scattered out had all been refined and collected, only a small amount absorbed by the altar.

However, Shi Hao and the witch's expressions were grave, staring at this blood altar. It wasn't that grand, unable to let the one on the other side cross over easily.

However, one could well imagine that if the conditions were right, this would become a gate, a passage for the most powerful and terrifying creatures to slaughter their way out.

“Not bad hm? Ending the battle so quickly, opponents that’ll allow me to enjoy the thrill of the hunt, not that much inferior to those so-called young supreme beings from Immortal Ancient.”

This kind of voice sounded from the altar. He was extremely young, sounding not concerned in the slightest, unbridled and brash.

“If you have the skill, then just come over.” Shi Hao said, staring at the altar.

“Haha...” That person’s laughter sounded from the altar, extremely carefree, but becoming a bit cold.

“Not any random cat or dog can make me take action. However, you two can make me move.”

“Less nonsense. If you dare fight, then come over. If not, then get lost!” Shi Hao berated.

“Fool, are you looking for death?” On the other side, that person said coldly.

At the same time, this altar shone, rumbling with noise, releasing streak after streak of scarlet lightning. Simultaneously, the diagrams on the altar all revived, on the surface carved diagrams of all types of creatures from the three thousand provinces. As a result, they all rose and fell, worshiping towards the altar.

Qiang!

A creature appeared on the altar. It was wrapped around by a black metal armor, only a humanoid figure visible. A domineering and berserk aura immediately seeped out.

This type of aura directly tore apart the heavenly dome, collapsing the great earth.

“Am I, Lao Mu, the first powerful being to once again rule over this great earth after endless years?” He said to himself.

These words were brash, and even more so carried a type of domineeringness. At the same time, it leaked a lot of information, telling Shi Hao that no one had truly crossed over yet, that he might very well be the first.

This meant that even though the situation was critical, it still hadn’t reached an irremediable state.

Dong!

The altar swayed back and forth, blood-colored multicolored light flickered. It began to crack apart, unexpectedly about to be destroyed.

“No!”

The one on the altar cried out loudly, the figure of the one named Lao Mu became dim, about to disappear.

It was clear that there was something wrong with this altar, not considered complete yet. Otherwise, a large scale offensive would have been carried out from the other side a long time ago instead of gathering power in secret like this.

Kacha!

That person finally disappeared, carrying unwillingness, saying, "The events of today haven't ended, I will cross over!"

Then, streak after streak of blood-colored multicolored mists appeared, an individual gathering by the altar. Only, the armor became a blood-color.

"Come, let me see just how strong the two of you are. I only have a bit of power right now." Lao Mu was extremely self-confident and powerful, challenging like this.

On the altar, the figure that was gathering finally completely appeared.

He walked over step by step, saying, "Even though I'm not in my peak state, only producing an incarnation, it should be about enough to deal with you two."

Lao Mu's incarnation condensed from essence energy rushed over just like that, rushing out from the altar and throwing itself towards Shi Hao, decisive and forceful.

Honglonglong!

This palm of his was extremely special, the baseless fingers suddenly becoming coming pitch black, absorbing all of the surrounding radiance, even the mountains, valleys, grass, and trees were greatly affected.

Hong!

Shi Hao released a first, golden light erupting endlessly from it, rushing into the sky. The two clashed, fist with fist, a collision of the extremes.

It was because one of their hands was pitch-black like an abyss, while the other's was brilliant like a sun, illuminating all directions.

This type of collision was truly opposing each other with equal harshness!

"A bit interesting!" Lao Mu was shocked. Just how great of power his incarnation currently contained was completely unknown.

"Interesting?" Shi Hao laughed coldly. When he took action again, he never expected this so-called great one would only be a heavenly deity as well, not as terrifying as he had previously thought.

That was why he directly pressed forward, immediately raising his hand to suppress the other party. As if he was an adult teaching a child, a palm crushed downwards, the hand covering the other party's entire body as it descended.

Peng!

They exchanged another round of attacks. That person was blasted until his figure went dim. After all, it wasn't his true body.

"Just this bit of skill, yet you dare boast shamelessly?" Shi Hao sneered.

"Kill!"

This person released a shout, and then his eyes shone, unexpectedly shining like two stars. One was of the great yin, while the other great yang. Eventually, his entire being erupted with a wave of strange energy.

Hong!

Massive energy swept out in all directions, battering in this direction, incomparably crazy.

Those were two immortal seeds, now completely activated, yin and yang carried together, forming a small expanse of cosmos, directly crushing downwards like that.

“Wu, not all that special though, the same type of cultivation system as those experts of Immortal Ancient Great Era.” Shi Hao said, taunting this person.

“Hahah, didn’t you know? This is the method I obtained from the so-called young supreme being, it’s quite ordinary!” Lao Mu laughed coldly.

When the two clashed this time, it was as if thousands of streaks of thunder erupted at the same time, absolutely deafening.

The small cosmos was split apart, stars growing dim one after another, thus disappearing.

Pu!

However, Lao Mu was injured. Even though it was an essence energy incarnation, not possessing the flesh of a true body, it still coughed, as if it was coughing out large amounts of blood.

“So nothing more than this.” Shi Hao said.

“I merely sent over a bit of essence energy, not my true body at all, the method I displayed also a bit of your world’s methods. If my true body comes over, what young supreme being? All nothing more than chickens and dogs!”

Lao Mu said coldly. It was clear that even though he was injured, he still found it hard to stomach this result.

“Then just directly accept suppression and death!” The witch said.

Just like that, Shi Hao rushed over, fighting an intense battle against him. In the end, with a point of his finger, the space between his brows split apart, concluding this battle.

Hong!

The altar swayed, the black armor flickering with cold light again. That true body appeared again, only, it still wasn’t stable. His feet were still within the void, unable to truly cross over.

He carried cold intent, body releasing world shocking fluctuations, taking action against Shi Hao.

“Truly quite strong, are you a young supreme being from the Desolate Border side?” The witch was moved, extremely shocked. It was because this type of aura was too frightening.

Before Shi Hao took action, the witch moved, activating the stone bead, blasting towards the altar.

"You..." That person's expression changed. Even though he tried to protect himself, he couldn't change anything. He had to cross this trial first.

Kacha!

The entire altar was blasted through. Lao Mu's entire body coughed out blood, blasted by that strange wave of power, now appearing quite weak.

"When I truly descend into this world in the future, neither one of you will be able to live!"

Unfortunately, he was too fast, Shi Hao not fast enough to catch him.

That person, even though the altar broke apart, his true body still survived, so he could still come back again.

"You what you? Just beat you up again!" The witch said.

Then, this place became quiet. The altar was destroyed, a passage blocked. Otherwise, in the future, a great disaster would definitely appear.

"Let's go!" They went on their way, advancing towards the so-called heavenly emperor's city.

Chapter 1055 - Emperor Bone Ocean Region

Shi Hao and the witch went on their way, heading towards the ultimate city of the forbidden region.

It was rumored that there was an emperor city there that was majestic and grand, suppressing the Desolate Border, ensuring the peace of the three thousand provinces!

Meanwhile, this information was not circulated that much through the three thousand provinces, Shi Hao and the witch only hearing about all types of legends after entering the forbidden region's depths.

Wu...

Before a vast body of water, a strange sound could be heard. All types of creatures trembled with fear, and the vicious beasts along the way even more so all knelt down onto the floor.

This was the forbidden region depths. There was unexpectedly a sea here, the jade ripples boundless.

A sea snail appeared in the sea, this was the creature that was crying out, releasing ripples that rose and fell, ocean waves striking the skies.

"What kind of sea snail is this?" Shi Hao felt quite shocked after seeing this scene from the distance. Even he felt his body trembling slightly, a bit unable to control himself as well.

Then, they became even more shocked. The heavenly dome split apart, the great earth caving in. All types of divine beasts and vicious birds cried out, rustling sounds falling, stirring up an endless storm.

This type of scene was a bit inconceivable, impossible for him to understand!

"That is a bugle born, once blown, heaven and earth will split apart, able to destroy the sun and moon." The witch said.

When Shi Hao heard this, he frowned. After opening his Heavenly Eyes, he saw that the scene was only an imprint and not something that was truly happening. This made him release a breath of air.

“In the battle of the last great era when the bugle horn sounded, it was precisely this scene. At that time, it truly was mountains collapsing and oceans roaring, stellar streams trembling.” The witch said. This was what she had seen before from bone books.

Moreover, there were more than one or two of these Sea Snail Bugle Horns, so one could imagine just what kind of scene that was, the sound reaching into the heavens, the cosmos shaking in response.

Meanwhile, that wasn’t even the true great battle, just the beginning.

When the battle truly began, just how terrifying were those undying individuals? It was simply unimaginable. No wonder a perfect world was blasted into Nine Heavens and Ten Earths.

“The great battle is truly going to arrive. The imprint left behind by the bugle horn is sounding on its own, meaning that day isn’t far off. This world might repeat Immortal Ancient’s disaster.”

Chi!

Sword energy suddenly appeared streak after streak from the ocean, every single streak cutting open the great earth. The streaks of light were incredibly thick, the radiance everlasting.

This wasn’t some imprint, but a true attack!

Shi Hao and the witch dodged, immediately moving back a great distance from a single retreat, avoiding this angry sea. The sword radiance brushed past their bodies as it shot past, shaving off large amounts of mountain peaks.

As for up above, there were endless streaks of sword energy, the chaotic sword attacks shattering the sky, meteors smashing down from outer space.

What kind of place was this?

The two of them looked at each other in dismay, still feeling lingering fear. If they retreated a step late, they would have definitely been blasted into ashes.

“There might be some ruined fragment of an immortal artifact buried in the ocean that activates from time to time, triggering this result.” They speculated.

After all, they saw the bugle horn’s imprint, from this knowing that there was definitely a battlefield that had taken place here with ruined weapons left behind. As such, it wasn’t all that strange for there to be this type of scene.

This sea was impossible to cross. Later on when they passed through a city, they learned from those creatures that the place was indeed an ancient battlefield.

There were all types of strange things in the ocean, few people able to safely make it through. Even those as powerful as sect masters would undoubtedly die after entering, unable to stop the heaven reaching sword.

In the restricted area depths, there weren't many cities, but every single one of them was unique and shocking, with countless experts within them.

This sea was also who knew how many tens of thousands of li large. Shi Hao and the witch took a detour around, not reaching the end even after moving along the coast for half a month, from time to time running into dangerous situations.

More than ten days passed by in a flash. Along the way, Shi Hao and the witch encountered danger several times, but they made it through, not falling.

In reality, forget about them, even the descendants of the most powerful experts residing in the forbidden region depths rarely made a long and difficult journey like this. It was because the more they understood, the more clear they were on how dangerous this place was.

They finally made it through that sea. They moved quickly, advancing forward with only one goal in mind, the so-called forbidden region emperor city.

Only by reaching that place could they enter the heavenly deity institution and cultivate a step further, make themselves rise up and become even stronger.

"The three great supreme beings have their own special paths to take, do you think they already arrived?"

"They definitely have ancient transport formations that are linked up to that city. I believe they've already entered a while ago."

Shi Hao and the witch had their suspicions.

Along the way, they did everything outside, running day and night, yet they still didn't find that city.

The two of them even began to doubt if they went the wrong way, deviating from the right path.

Only when they encountered an ancient city and asked the creatures there did they understand that they were still on the path, the direction not wrong, just that they still hadn't reached that emperor city.

"Do you think we'll arrive first?" Shi Hao asked.

"That's hard to say, I was in front of you even without using that much energy, if others also happened to have entered strange transport formations, they might already have reached the destination." The witch said.

Shi Hao nodded. Sometimes, luck was also a part of strength.

They already traveled this far, so they had to continue forward and press ahead. Soon after, they saw an expanse of scarlet redness that sealed off the great earth, one's eyes unable to see the limit.

What was this? Another sea?

Shi Hao and the witch were stupefied, a grand scene stretching out as far as they could see. Scarlet waves were surging, roiling heat blew against their faces, leaving them shocked.

The plants and trees had long disappeared from this place, mountain peaks and others even more so gone from existence. This was as blazing hot ancient land.

That was magma!

However, it was comparable to an ocean, too vast without end. It was a scarlet red expanse, magma surging, red like blood.

“What kind of place did we arrive in?” They were completely shocked. This magma was just too vast right? Condensing into a lake was one thing, but this was an ocean!

This time, they didn’t make their way around, because there was a damaged tablet on the side that recorded this place wasn’t too dangerous, instead might having opportunities.

The two of them moved above the magma, quickly advancing.

An enormous beast turned over, producing an expanse of fiery red radiance, striking towards Shi Hao.

A fish!

That was an enormous scarlet fish that carried golden light. It moved in the magma, its size enormous like a small mountain.

“We’re rich!”

Shi Hao wasn’t shocked, but instead feeling overjoyed. It was because he recognized that this was Yang Fish, containing rich divine essence, an extremely rare creature.

Unfortunately, this creature had long become a heavenly deity for many years, its divine senses sharp. When it saw a great hand reach towards it, it immediately shrunk, and then entered the magma sea depths, quickly disappearing.

Shi Hao frowned. His large hand reached into the magma, fiercely moving about, yet unable to grab anything.

“A bit strange, there is a damaged formation at the ocean floor that is stopping my divine senses.”

“That stone tablet has said that there isn’t any great danger, but that also implies that there are still some dangers, just that it is not excessively challenging. Of course, if it was an unmatched existence that left behind that message, pretend I never said anything.” The witch said.

The two of them gave each other a look, feeling like the situation wasn’t too good, that they acted a bit carelessly. It was because if a sect master level figure or even greater said there were no dangers, it still wasn’t necessarily a road for normal people.

“We already came inside, so we can’t look forward and back like this. We should just advance as fast as we can. Even if there are dangers, we should still be able to avert the disaster if we work together, at worst we’ll just run.” The witch was quite serious, but then she said this while laughing.

Shi Hao nodded, moving quickly with her.

Several days later, a terrifying large claw reached out, grabbing towards them. It was a deathly white, an enormous claw, directly crushing space as it reached out.

The two of them were shaken up, activating precious techniques and doing everything they could to move outwards, and then they quickly fled.

It was because they sensed that the skeleton was too domineering, even if a sect master figure had arrived. If they fought against it head on, they would likely be slapped down.

Meanwhile, this was just a skeleton. There was only a weak light flickering inside of its skull, proving that it didn't have a pure consciousness, only a hazy bit of soul light.

The reason it was powerful was because the skeleton itself was a hundred thousands zhang in size. It towered in the sea of magma, a bit bewildered, only wishing to capture Shi Hao and the witch.

Hong!

Heaven and earth were shattered, the skeleton's power too great.

"Freeze!"

The witch took action, activating that stone bead, finally stopping that deathly white hand that was reaching out, blocking that white skeleton.

"This is definitely a terrifying creature that was killed in battle during the Immortal Ancient Great Era. Just the skeleton alone is enough to kill heavenly deities, how powerful was it back then when it did have flesh?" The witch was shocked.

Fortunately, the Soul Suppressing Bead was unordinary, the hundred thousand zhang tall snow-white skeleton stared at the bead in a daze, and then slowly laid down into the sea of lava, slowly sinking, thus disappearing.

"This skeleton hadn't decayed after all this time, truly astonishing!" Even Shi Hao could only sigh in praise like this.

Soon afterwards, they saw a shoal rock with some ancient words carved on top, warning later generations.

"Emperor Bone Ocean Region."

Shi Hao frowned. There was danger up ahead. According to what was written on this shoal rock, there were some matchless existences buried there in the past, their skeletons resting beneath.

"Emperors, perhaps already became immortals, or are maybe still striving in the mortal world. All those who dared use the word Emperor for their name are definitely the most powerful individuals of a clan." The witch said. This was something she previously read from Sky Severing Sect's scripture storage pavilion.

This 'Emperor' wasn't the Emperor of the human world dynasties, but rather the Emperor of the cultivation path.

“The region where emperor bones are buried, could it be that there are some great emperor’s remains there?”

The two of them stopped, not daring to recklessly enter that place.

Shi Hao opened his Heavenly Eyes, hoping to notice something. However, he only saw the scarlet magma sea surge, a few skeletons seemingly laying in disarray on the ocean floor. They were even more intimidating, even more terrifying.

One of them was in a seated position, not that tall, but it was brilliant like a great sun, shining at the bottom of the magma sea. It sensed Shi Hao and the witch’s aura.

Secret force began to move about on its own on the skeleton’s body.

Chi!

In addition, the surplus of blood energy above its skull rushed out.

“Heavens!”

The witch cried out in alarm. This extra blood energy turned into scarlet multicolored light, piercing through the heavenly dome, causing several stars to fall out from above.

This left both of them shocked and shaken up!

The Emperor of a clan, was this their power? They didn’t even approach, yet they already saw this type of scene from the distance. One had to understand that they had already been dead for countless years, the bones left behind still possessing such matchless might!

“These great emperors were killed in battle!” The witch said with a certain tone.

Shi Hao was speechless. The events back then were truly too cruel.

The most powerful expert from past to present, only someone like that could be called a Great Emperor. Some had long achieved long life, some still striving to make it across, regardless, all creatures who dared call themselves Great Emperors were all world shocking existences.

Meanwhile, in this place, there were actually people like this buried, with more than a single set of skeletal remains here.

Chapter 1056 - Phoenix Mountain

These creatures really were powerful. Shi Hao looked at these skeletal remains at the bottom of the magma sea. Just the blood energy that remained alone shooting out from the crown of their skull was powerful enough to blast down stars. It was too shocking!

This magma sea was extremely vast, just the region Shi Hao and the witch walked through alone was already who knew how many tens of thousands of li. Stars fell, blasting against the sea of magma, creating enormous rumbling sounds, ocean waves blasting the skies.

However, there were several sets of emperor bones here, so the ocean wasn’t allowed to stir about too violently.

One of the emperor bones was smashing apart the stars. The great stars that fell turned into broken pieces, becoming a part of the magma.

"This..." Even the witch was stupefied, her bright red little mouth widened, charming large eyes round. Her tall and graceful figure moved about as she stared forward, her chest rising and falling as she breathed heavily.

Just how great of a divine ability was this, how heaven defying?

Shi Hao raised his head towards the starry sky, and then he looked towards the skeletons in the Emperor Bone Ocean Region. The blood energy that was left of their consciousness was heaven defying, blasting down suns and moons, it was too shocking.

He began to wonder just how powerful these creatures were when they were still alive.

Unfortunately, there was no way for him to even try to gauge their strength, because their level of cultivation realm was beyond what he could comprehend. Without truly reaching it, it was impossible to understand.

The main thing was that his present cultivation wasn't high enough, not transcending above. Otherwise, he would definitely understand what kind of individuals these were.

"Sigh, I've heard a long time ago that those who dared call themselves Great Emperors were existences that shocked past and present, turns out this really was the case." The witch released a great sigh, feeling shock for their strength, but also feeling sadness for their conclusion.

Even such a powerful creature died in battle in the end, just how intense was the battle back then? Simply unimaginable.

"Is there an emperor treasure here?" The witch's eyes moved around, looking like she wanted to do something bad.

The so-called emperor treasures were definitely all artifacts that left their names in history. The power of an entire clan was used to cast an artifact, so if any one of these appeared, it would definitely shake the world under the sky.

The so-called Great Emperor, some of them possessed immortality, while some stood at the peak of the mortal world, every single one of them overlooked their era, unmatched during their period. Together with great fate added, the treasure that was refined would naturally be insurmountable.

Shi Hao was also looking around. He opened his Heavenly Eyes, sweeping them over the magma sea floor.

"There really is something!"

Soon after, Shi Hao saw the damaged weapons on the magma floor. Even though they were still extremely far away, there was still an ice-cold aura that could be felt. That damaged artifact seemed like it could tear apart the stellar domain.

"Sigh, I think it might be better if we just forget about it. There's no way for us to obtain it." The witch sighed, accepting reality.

It was because the strand of blood energy the damaged bones shot out just now could even hack down the sun, moon, and stars, so if they tried to touch their emperor treasures, they would likely be bringing a great disaster upon themselves.

They observed here for a long time, surrounding this region and watching it closely.

"This place might not be used now, but it might become a battlefield in the future." Shi Hao said. He gazed into the Emperor Bone Sea Region, and then looked at the endless starry sky, his mind drifting a bit.

"What do you mean?" The witch asked.

"Sooner or later, a battle will start. These people were killed in battle back then, their hearts still carrying unwillingness, emperor bones still here, so in the future, if enemies are guided here, who knows, they might be able to help us out." Shi Hao said.

Even people as powerful as the two of them made their way around this ocean region, continuing forward, speeding along. They wanted to reach that enormous city in the innermost depths as soon as possible.

"Yi?" The witch was shocked.

After traveling several million li across the scarlet magma, they felt a wave of pressure, and even more a feeling of vastness.

In the depths of the magma sea, it was dusky and overcast, as if a massive island rested before them. Even though it was still at the limits of the sea level, he could already vaguely make out something.

"Is it an island or did we reach the ends of the sea?" The witch asked.

"We are still in the ocean!" Shi Hao said.

The two of them quickly proceeded. That overcast scenery gradually became clear, and the two of them were stunned.

What end of the sea? That was an enormous mountain that was incomparably majestic. It reached into the clouds, appearing more majestic and magnificent the closer they got to it.

It became more and more clear, no longer blurry, now already clearly visible.

This mountain was just too large, almost not like a mountain but instead a great continent that was merely mountain shaped. It towered in the magma sea.

Not a single blade of grass grew in this place, dusky and overcast, incredibly silent. It was like a dead volcano.

The two of them opened their Heavenly Eyes to observe the situation, this... really did seem like a volcano, only, it was ridiculously large, simply unimaginable.

This mountain seemed to have reached into outer space, it was just too massive.

It was to the extent where both of them suspected if this sea of magma was released precisely by this massive volcano.

The mountain was too large, its height who knew how many li tall. Towering into the clouds, bordering the stars of outer space.

“Phoenix Mountain!” n-)o./v)(E--l-.b(-l.-n

Shi Hao was shocked. There were three ancient characters on the mountain, causing him to reveal a look of surprise.

“Aiyaya, can tell it’s a good place just from the name. We have to go take a look!” The witch cried out.

True Phoenix, what kind of existence was that? That was a creature ranked at the forefront of the Vicious Ten, its power oppressing ten thousand clans, in the past unmatched in the heavens above and the earth below, known as an undying creature.

Now, there was a mountain peak named after it, so it naturally made one’s imagination run wild.

This was especially the case with how magma roiled here, gathering into a sea, making one develop even crazier fantasies. Legend had it that the phoenix underwent rebirth through flames, and now, this sea was overflowing with fiery light.

The two of them gave each other a look, and then they both ascended the mountain.

Instead of saying it was a mountain, it was better to call it a great continent. When they truly approached and walked on its surface, they felt that it was just too massive.

Only by going into the sky and looking down could one appreciate the magnificence of this enormous mountain.

It rose up from the sea, forming an enormous and majestic tall mountain that towered into the sky domain, truly astonishing.

“An ancient city!”

When they arrived at the top of the mountain, they found that this place was extremely level, and there was also an enormous city here. One easily associated this place with the possibility of it being a True Phoenix ancient city.

One had to bear in mind that there were pure-blooded phoenixes in the past that resided in immortal earth.

Now, being able to find their historical ruins wasn’t that uncommon either.

The witch released a sigh of admiration, because she saw many Parasol Trees inside this city. Even though they had long died, naked and bare, they still didn’t rot, flickering with luster as if cast from gold.

The enormous mountain was gray, the ancient city deathly still, as well as the withered Parasol Trees, all of these things pointed at what kind of place this was.

The phoenix rested above Parasol Trees; there were too many of these types of legends .

Only, this place was too quiet, a deathly still expanse, nothing left behind.

“Yi, something’s not right!” The witch was inwardly alarmed.

Shi Hao had long discovered that something wasn’t right as well. He pulled on the witch’s snow-white wrist, quickly jumping backwards.

Mists rose, everything became blurry.

In a flash, he stood on the street, entering the city.

“Not good, we’ve accidentally entered the ancient city!” The witch’s expression changed.

They were originally outside the city, but just now, they ran in too much of a rush, activating a formation, mysteriously entering this ancient city.

It was clear that there were exceptional great formations here.

The two of them attacked several times, but in the end, they found that they couldn’t leave at all, to the extent where even if they found the city walls, they couldn’t climb out, instead be blasted backwards.

As soon as they tried to rush into the skies, they were suppressed by a wave of power, blasted back.

The two’s expressions changed. Three days passed just like that, trapped here.

This True Phoenix ancient city was a bit strange, difficult to escape from.

Suddenly, on the fifth day, an enormous sound rang out from this city, from a deathly stillness to a great vibration. It was extremely sudden, making both of them quickly raise their heads, turning towards the source of the sound.

Vaguely, there was an enormous monster that only had a single foot, moving about there. However, the mists were too dense, covering the Heavenly Eyes, preventing them from seeing it clearly.

They could only tell that it looked like a human, yet wasn’t. It was several thousand zhang tall, in its hands a wolf teeth club.

Dong!

It smashed it downwards. The houses, Parasol Trees, and other things in the ancient city were all blasted apart.

Shi Hao and the witch were alarmed, because they had previously tried to collapse the ancient city and escape, yet all of their efforts failed, unable to destroy the constructs with formations protecting them and other things.

This single-footed monster was extremely powerful, at the very least, many times stronger than the two of them.

Hong!

Another expanse of structures were collapsed, sending rocks and rubble everywhere. Smoke and dust rushed into the sky. This monster continued walking, destroying everything in sight.

However, this True Phoenix ancient city was extremely strange. After those structures were destroyed in large amounts, when that single-footed creature left, they would restore themselves.

Shi Hao and the witch hid themselves, because they saw that the monster was rushing in this direction.

Hong!

The several thousand zhang long wolf teeth club swept right above their heads, smashing all of the buildings apart. This fella was too strong, incomparably terrifying.

Finally, after going on a rampage for a long time, it slowly disappeared, evaporating into thin air.

Shi Hao and the witch looked at each other in dismay, but they saw everything with their own eyes. In the end, that enormous monster disappeared just like that, as if nothing had ever happened.

Then, after another half month passed, the two of them were left extremely helpless, silent and speechless. It was because they couldn't find a way out.

Shi Hao wanted to ask the Divine Striking Stone to come out, but this fella was sleeping, forming a stone cocoon around itself, currently undergoing a crucial transformation, impossible to wake up.

Being trapped in this city of death for more than ten days left them extremely anxious, fearing that they might miss the opportunity to enter that heavenly deity institution. This time, they were a bit careless.

"There's someone!"

They finally saw another strange scene, vaguely seeing a person.

They turned around, climbing onto the tallest building to look in that direction.

He was like a ghost, drifting about, silent and taciturn, not carrying a bit of divine force fluctuations, as if a blade of grass was blown up, leaving the ground surface.

This was an elder, shriveled and wrinkled, his eyes caved in, eyes closed.

He was all skin and bones, shriveled skin yellow, as if forged from brass.

It was as if an ancient skeleton walked out from the earth.

"He's already dead!" The witch said softly.

Even though this person was moving, he was like a ghost, without a bit of aura, only cold and terrifying.

"En?!" Soon after, Shi Hao and the witch's eyes widened.

This elder raised its head. When it looked into the skies, it reached out its hand, plucking two stars, directly refining them into two pearls, placing them in his palm, letting them swirl in place.

Shi Hao and the witch were stupefied. This was just too ridiculous!

This was a dead person, so how could he still possess such great divine might?

In reality, this person really had died, the space between his brows pierced through, connected front to back as if he had been stabbed by a sharp weapon there.

Now, he was moving on a type of instinct, still appearing in the True Phoenix's ancient city.

An ancient corpse!

However, it was different from Underworld Earth's creatures, from its appearance, it was quite special. It seemed like it had a spirit, yet it also seemed like it didn't, it was dead, yet could still move.

"A type of instinct, this is a will left behind before his death, preventing his flesh from decaying, still wandering about like a ghost. However, this creature is definitely terrifying! If there is a battle in the future, he might be able to display unimaginable power." Shi Hao said.

Fortunately, this creature roamed about, not noticing Shi Hao and the witch. It moved along an ancient path, wandering about like a ghost.

"What kind of person do you think he is? Don't tell me he is precisely that phoenix of the Vicious Ten?" The witch asked.

Shi Hao's mind jumped. This might very well be the case.

"I actually saw one of the Vicious Ten today?"

"It's hard to say."

The two of them muttered.

A month passed by in a flash. The two of them had been trapped for thirty days, truly making them feel anxious. By getting caught in this place, it was the same as wasting time and life.

"Neither of those two monsters injured us, it's quite strange." The witch said.

Finally, after another half a month, they found a few clues. When they were roaming about a few ancient buildings, they came into contact with a few great formations that might be able to open up this place, allowing them to leave the ancient city.

However, in the following few days, when Shi Hao and the witch tried to activate the great formation, their bodies suddenly became dim, transported away.

This was a cave that was filled with chaotic energy, immortal light shining everywhere.

Was this still in the city?

Or was it to say that this place was only connected to that ancient city.

The most shocking thing was that this cave had an egg inside.

Soon after, they sensed a wave of powerful life force. Inside that egg was a sea of life spiritual essence.

"En, this shouldn't be a phoenix egg, right? Please don't tell me that we ended up running into some tremendous luck, that we are going to bring out an unmatched True Phoenix!"

Shi Hao thought of many things. In a daze, he felt as if this egg that was suspected to belong to a phoenix indeed had been hungry for many years.

The egg shone brilliantly, and it was large as well, but Shi Hao seemed to vaguely sense the phoenix girl's aura from the dream back to immortal ancient, the girl who cultivated three strands of immortal energy.

"There's no way it's her, I clearly saw her fall myself." Shi Hao shook his head.

Chapter 1057 - Immortal Egg

An egg, sparkling and translucent, five-colored divine light rushing into the heavens.

Shi Hao truly suspected that this egg might have something to do with phoenix girl, because it gave off a familiar feeling. It seemed real yet fake at the same time.

However, in the dream back to Immortal Ancient, he clearly saw that the phoenix girl with three strands of immortal energy was killed, falling like that, turning into blood and bone.

How could an egg appear?

"You recognize it?" The witch's looked over with widened eyes. Who was she? She was extremely sharp, able to guess at many things from just a few words.

"She is a friend of mine." Shi Hao sighed. He thought back to that person, thinking back to those matters, back to the mental journey into the last great era. That young supreme being died, leaving him feeling great regret.

It truly was too much of a pity, so many great heroes, some of them even cultivating three strands of immortal energy!

After associating with them for a few months, he found them extremely agreeable. Even though they had only interacted for a short while, he felt as if he had become intimate friends with these people, greatly enjoying each others' presence.

When they reached his level, wishing to find similar opponents to exchange pointers with wasn't easy. Meanwhile, there was a whole group of people in that glorious era!

What a pity, they fell just like that. Shi Hao could only watch helplessly as they died.

"Your friend? When did this kind of thing happen?" Even the sharp witch couldn't guess at what happened. After all, a mental journey to the last great era was too strange, difficult to believe, let alone be guessed at.

"It's been a long time, but it feels like yesterday, those people... they were true supreme being heavenly talents, every single one of them with great prospects. They were all peaceful without any evil thoughts, associating with them felt extremely joyful and comfortable." Shi Hao said.

He just always had the feeling that those people were the true dao seekers, their temperaments extraordinary. Only, they were born in that era, for them, this was a great tragedy.

Perhaps their greatest regret was being born too late. If they were given time and grew up, the battle in Immortal Ancient might not have ended the way it did.

"You are speaking quite mysteriously, don't tell me you can't tell what kind of place this is? This is a cave left behind from Immortal Ancient Great Era, something left behind from countless years ago, how can it have anything to do with your friend?" The witch rolled her eyes at him. Even though she was intelligent, she still wouldn't think about such ridiculous matters.

"Perhaps." Shi Hao said, declining to comment on this subject.

"If it was true, then what era are you from? Do you not belong to the present, this world?" The witch revealed a smile that was yet not a smile.

"Who could say for sure? Perhaps some day in the future, the great dream ends, and it turns out that I truly don't belong to this place." Shi Hao said with a laugh.

The witch pursed her lips and laughed, obviously laughing at him.

Shi Hao also laughed loudly, shaking his head.

Soon after, he temporarily put away his melancholy and regret, surrounding this egg and giving it a look. It was extremely bright and brilliant, nurturing powerful life spiritual essence.

"The phoenix can undergo nirvana and be reborn, is this legend reliable? Should be true, right?" Shi Hao asked.

When his mental journey brought him back to Immortal Ancient, even though he saw phoenix girl collapse into a pool of blood, and then everything exploded, wiping out body and spirit, she was a phoenix, known to have an undying body! She could be reborn through flames, so there might really be a gleam of hope for resurrection.

Shi Hao's mind was jumping with peng peng sounds. For some reason, he sensed phoenix girl's aura from this egg, and apart from this, he couldn't find any suitable explanation.

"Wu, correct, the phoenix is the most terrifying type of existence, fighting strength tyrannical, absolutely unstoppable. Back then, it was the greatest race, supreme being regardless of where it went." The witch nodded. She naturally wouldn't doubt the legends about phoenix's rebirth.

Shi Hao opened his Heavenly Eyes, carefully looking at it. He wanted to see if there was a soul inside this divine egg, the phoenix girl he had met in the past.

His eyes formed symbols constructing the most fantastic natural laws, and then they produced ripples, moving outwards, all of them entering the egg. He was searching for something.

He wanted to know whether he could see someone from the past in this world. This might be able to overturn something!

Even if it wouldn't completely overturn anything, it was still a type of hope.

However, soon after, Shi Hao was left in despair. This egg shone like a sun, incomparably brilliant, fiery light overflowing, containing within it world shocking life spiritual essence.

However, upon closer inspection, there were no soul imprints.

It had life spiritual essence, able to nurture a life. To speak bluntly, it was better than most divine medicines, perhaps even comparable to a long life medicine!

Only, inside of the brilliance, it truly lacked a soul, not having any imprints left behind.

For an immortal egg like this, this should have been something completely impossible. Normally, regardless of whether it was a phoenix giving birth through an egg, or when a Heavenly Phoenix underwent rebirth, there would always be imprints without exception.

Shi Hao was stunned, feeling incredibly dejected.

“Why is it like this?” He said softly to himself. It was different from what he had thought, lacking phoenix girl’s imprints.

This life object had her aura, yet didn’t have her soul. What was going on?

Soon after, the witch knew something was wrong with this egg. There was no soul imprint, only an egg that was lacking. There was no way it would produce a true divine phoenix.

“Wu, I understand. Someone underwent rebirth, but failed, in the end, the soul disappeared, only the divine substance that merged with the egg left behind.” She came to this conclusion.

Phoenix girl failed, died just like that?

Shi Hao was shocked. He originally thought that he would see this egg, a chance for her to be reborn, never expecting reality to be this cruel.

“This egg has great use, equivalent to long life medicine, a priceless treasure!” The witch said, her large black gemstone-like eyes flickering with light, putting on a miserly look.

“This egg can’t be touched.” Shi Hao said, his voice quiet, but resolute. Regardless, he wasn’t willing to destroy phoenix girl’s final hope.

The witch opened her mouth, but nodded in the end, saying, “Alright, this egg is yours.”

She was quite sensible, not willing to fight against Shi Hao. She had guessed at his mood too, therefore rather generously moving to the side, not asking them to divide it evenly.

Moreover, the witch had some other suggestions. “If you really carry a last hope, you can hand it over to a fire attribute expert. By carrying it at their side, cultivating together, it will be beneficial for both the egg and the cultivator.”

From what the witch said, if this egg still had a bit of true spirit, perhaps it could be awakened, moreover bringing the one who cultivated with it tremendous benefits, their fire attribute skills advancing by leaps and bounds.

Shi Hao immediately thought of Huo Ling’er. She was fire attribute, wishing to give her this egg, but now, there was no time to return, and he had to go to the heavenly deity institution soon, unknown when they would meet again.

It was to the extent where if they fought in the Desolate Border or even left the Three Thousand Dao Provinces, he wouldn’t even know what it would produce. When would he be able to see it again?

The entire country was going to be covered in blood and flames, not even sect masters able to preserve their lives, let alone others.

“Why do I feel like this egg matches Huo Ling’er?” Shi Hao said softly, suddenly feeling a flash of realization, an instant of intuition. He seemed to have grasped time fragments, but soon after, it escaped from his grasp again.

“Let’s go, we’ll search through this place again, and if there’s no more secret treasures, then we should leave.” The witch said. noVeLBIn

This cave was quite vast, chaotic energy rich, even more so having immortal dao energy. However, it was quite the pity, not having any artifacts and other things aside from this.

The so-called immortal artifacts, secret treasures and other things were similarly lacking, only a single egg here.

In the end, Shi Hao put this egg away, walking out from the cave with the witch.

With a shua sound, they discovered with shock that they were standing outside the ancient city, freed from that city.

“That cave was precisely in the city, but it couldn’t be seen, only able to enter through special karma.” The witch muttered.

Shi Hao stared blankly. No one else saw this when they came? Why were they able to find it then and even able to bring this egg away? After carefully thinking about it, the only thing special about him was that he had spent a few months with phoenix girl during the mental journey back to Immortal Ancient.

Could it be that it had something to do with this?

He couldn’t help but think back to the scene of when they separated. Those people were full of sadness, previously saying that they hoped that after endless years passed, in a certain era, some of them could still appear again and meet him.

Was this what they meant when they said that back then? And now, could it be said to have been fulfilled?

Shi Hao and the witch made a circle around the ancient city, and then walked down from this dusky and overcast great mountain, once again entering the sea of magma, making their way to the other shore.

This sea really was too big. Only after using up another half month of time did they truly cross it.

One had to bear in mind that they were extremely fast, and used up such a great amount of time, so one could imagine just how vast the scarlet red magma ancient land was.

During this process, they encountered danger several times. There were mysterious things inside the ocean, for example, dead departed spirits and other things that were still roaring after endless years, as if they wanted to exterminate all creatures.

Finally, they arrived at the other end of the scarlet great lake, going ashore.

“Sigh, after being trapped for so long in the ancient city, there’s definitely people who made it there before us.” The witch said, feeling quite discontent.

They were originally definitely at the front, yet in the end, they were trapped for such a long time, so there were definitely people who passed them during this period of time.

“Let’s go, we should head into the forbidden region depths a bit earlier to give this so-called emperor city a look, understand what kind of thing the Archaic Contract of Alliance is.” Shi Hao said.

Just like that, they continued along, unexpectedly traveling another three months!

“We were told that we were almost there before, so why did we use up so much time again?” The witch grumbled.

“En, we truly arrived!”

That day, Shi Hao was shocked, because he could already feel a mysterious aura pervading the air that made one feel reverence and shock.

In a daze, they seemed to have returned to the opening of the world, witnessing the birth of all creatures.

At the ends of the great earth, there seemed to be an incomparably magnificent scene waiting for them, as if it was calling out to them.

“Forbidden region emperor city, it is definitely this place!” Shi Hao said with a confident tone.

“Finally! I want to see just what kind of place it is, what kind of final point we made it to.” The witch shouted happily. After using up all this time, experiencing so many dangers, they finally made it here. It truly wasn’t easy.

When they got closer, Shi Hao’s body suddenly trembled, because there was something on him that was reviving, releasing a mysterious aura, colors shining brilliantly. A tremendous aura surged, as if it could link up the past and present!

A drop of blood!

It appeared from his body, illuminating the bright colors of endless time, indescribably mysterious.

The witch recognized it with a single look. This was definitely not something she was unfamiliar with. This was brought out from Immortal Ancient Remains, previously buried in the All Life Earth.

Chapter 1058 - Forbidden Region Emperor City

The drop of blood!

Mottled scenes of the past were played one after another.

It was incredibly sparkling and resplendent, as if it would shine for all of eternity.

Shi Hao naturally knew about it. When searching for the Heavenly Deity Tree, he had previously entered a pure land, digging the witch out from All Life Earth, and at that time found this drop of blood.

This drop of blood fell from a cauldron, that three-footed two-eared round cauldron.

“What kind of mysteries does this drop of blood have? It even resonates with that city?” Shi Hao was stupefied.

While staring at this drop of blood, it felt as if there was a Heavenly Emperor who descended into this world, resurrecting, overlooking endless time and worlds, seeing through the past, present and future.

A great desolate and bleak feeling swept over from the distance. Meanwhile, inside of this drop of emperor blood, shouts of war shook the heavens, as if a great battle was being carried out, endless experts tearing at each other.

The witch’s beautiful eyes had long been widened as well. Everything she saw today was extremely strange, even more shocking than when they first discovered this drop of blood before. Why was it related to this place?

Both of them were shocked, because this drop of blood released sounds of war. It was too shocking, as if the Immortal Ancient Great Era battle had reappeared, and also as if this was the start of what was to come.

The two of them were a bit stupefied. They seemed to have seen a mottled and dismal painting from that drop of blood.

“Entering the emperor city like this with the drop of blood isn’t too good. If others discover it, there’ll likely be some unforeseen events that’ll happen, right?” The witch said.

This drop of blood was extremely strange, the irregular scenes too shocking. If they brought it in like this, it would definitely draw the suspicions of others. Shi Hao tried to calm down, doing his best to adjust his mental state. Then, this drop of blood unexpectedly slowly went in hibernation, the irregular scenes fading.

Luckily, it could be controlled!

Regardless, they knew that this drop of blood had a mysterious connection with that city.

“Perhaps it might only be related to the Desolate Border!” The witch analyzed a step further.

Shi Hao nodded. This was entirely possible. Those shouts of war, the scenes of unmatched experts confronting each other, they could all be reflected from this drop of blood, where else would these things come from? Naturally the Desolate Border.

Soon after, they arrived in the depths of the great earth, seeing a city!

“What I am looking at... is a city?” Shi Hao felt dizzy, somewhat lost in thought.

What exactly did he see? The limits of the horizon were dusky and overcast, were those buildings? It was just too enormous, massive to the point where one couldn’t be sure if it was real or just an illusion.

That dusky and overcast expanse connected heaven and earth, occupying every bit of space here. It reached into outer space, existing throughout time.

This city was just too large, only by using the Heavenly Eyes, understanding the origin could one see through it and understand it. That was an enormous city that was incomparably vast, as tall as the heavens, reaching into the heavenly dome.

If one only used ordinary eyes, they would only see a dusky and overcast wall that connected heaven and earth, vast without end.

Coming here truly made one feel insignificant, because it was just too vast.

In the city's surroundings, great stars swirled about one after another around it. It was unknown just how many tens of thousands of li this city was. This kind of place rested here just like that, towering for endless years without falling.

The city stretched on for as far as the eyes could see, as if they arrived at a time before the heavens were opened, feeling that type of grandness and magnificence.

"Is this still a city?" The witch also couldn't help but say quietly.

This was just too ridiculous, a city whose end couldn't be seen. Just how enormous was this? Even the stars circled about it! It truly made one wonder just how it was constructed back then.

"If you look carefully, you'll see that the city's bricks seem to be like..." Shi Hao was stupefied.

"Stars, meteorite!" The witch naturally also saw this. She couldn't help but feel shock.

This enormous city wasn't made from a normal type of brick, but rather refined from great stars and then layered on top of each other, forming this type of majestic emperor city.

This was something of a gargantuan scale! How could ordinary people do such a thing? They wouldn't even dare think about it.

The two of them stared blankly. Was this the emperor city in the forbidden region depths?

It protected one side, stopped a world?

One could see that this city stood guard here, not collapsing after endless years. It suppressed the entire region ahead, stretching across the limits of the horizon, as if cutting off the road ahead.

Desolate Border?!

Was what rested on the other end of the city that terrifying world? Only with this city's protection would the peace of the three thousand provinces be ensured?

Shi Hao and the witch's hearts were rising and falling greatly. From the past until now, did all of the battles start from here? If they wanted to enter the three thousand provinces, did they have to break through this city?

No wonder there was this Archaic Contract of Alliance. In that instant, he was able to guess at many things.

"Archaic Contract of Alliance, those people were designated to protect this place, required to participate in the battle. What kind of people will they be fighting then?" The witch asked.

However, when Shi Hao woke up from his daze, he then frowned, thinking of some other things.

“This isn’t that city!” He shouted inwardly.

It was because he had previously chased after the ‘ominous and inauspicious’, getting onto that terrifying black ancient boat in the void that was dyed with blood. There was an altar there that had previously displayed scenes of the Desolate Border.

“It isn’t the ancient city the seven kings defended!”

Shi Hao said quietly. He didn’t know why, but this wasn’t that city.

This was different from what he had imagined. Some of the seven great kings had already fallen while guarding the Desolate Border, he didn’t know how many of them were left.

This was definitely not the city he saw on the blood-dyed black ancient boat.

That city was far from being as imposing and large, inside only a group of sinner’s blood individuals. They fought fiercely, protecting the city with their lives, not allowing those creatures to cross.

Shi Hao sighed. It seemed like this so-called Desolate Border was even more mysterious than he had imagined. There were too many stories hidden.

What he saw right now still wasn’t the very forefront of the battlefield!

“Perhaps everyone already forgot about that place, right?” Shi Hao said softly. He released a sigh, because from what he knew, there were secrets best avoided.

“What are you saying?” The witch asked. She was extremely sharp, able to guess at many things from just a bit of information.

“It’s nothing. I was wondering how cruel the battle in the future will be. Look, this city is made from pieces of stars, incredibly sturdy with unmatched formations. One can imagine just how terrifying the enemies are. Otherwise, why would one need this type of city?”

The two of them got closer, finally about to reach their destination. However, the closer one got to this city, the more insignificant they felt.

They were like ants gazing into the heavens, not on the same order of magnitude at all!

Moreover, as they got closer, they sensed a great pressure that was difficult to resist, as if a group of Great Emperors were standing on the city wall, overlooking the world.

“This city is too large, the pressure extremely great, difficult to endure.” The witch shook her head. Even someone as strong as her couldn’t really take it, having no choice but to take out the stone bead.

In fact, after Shi Hao moved forward a set distance, he couldn’t get any closer again either.

This place had mysterious formations arranged even outside the city, releasing a great pressure in this world. No one could easily approach.

Then, they saw a stone monument. Only those who had agreed to and signed the Archaic Contract of Alliance could enter. Everyone else who tried to forcefully enter would definitely have their body and soul wiped out.

This city was boundless and imposing, not many things able to compare to it.

Were there no creatures in that city?

They watched quietly, looking into the distance with their Heavenly Eyes. That city was too quiet, not a trace of activity, no life fluctuations detectable.

This was like a city of death!

Celestial Clan's old Celestial entered this place already. What was he doing inside now?

This place was incredibly mysterious, impossible to see through.

"Hey, is there someone here? We already arrived!" The witch shouted in a lovable manner, her voice charming.

Shi Hao sneered, saying, "This type of voice seems about right if you are trying to entice me, we can privately interact with each other later if you want, you think it'll be useful against the people inside the city at all? If I didn't guess wrong, there is a group of old men inside, for example the last one of the archaic Six Great Celestials, or the War Clan's old War Emperor, haha."

Shi Hao couldn't help but laugh, mocking the witch.

"You want to die?!" The witch rolled her eyes at him, her expressions truly endless.

The city was silent, still without sound. Perhaps it was because it was just too large, even if they used lion roars, True Hou howls, they still might not be able to transmit any sound in.

Only, Shi Hao still had a feeling that this place was too quiet, too lifeless.

It was truly unknown what those individuals who had to comply with the contract of alliance did after they entered.

When he thought about these things, Shi Hao couldn't help but think about Ye Qingxian. That young lady was extremely mysterious. If she could enter the city, by what qualifications did she have to do so? Was it the 'Immortal Dao Divine Projection'?

That white-clothed woman was a great mystery!

Shi Hao knew that she was definitely someone who carried great stories, someone his age who could move freely through the forbidden region. no 17e.1B)In

"We made it here, yet no one received us and we can't enter the city. What is going on?" The witch was discontent.

"Let's walk around the city and see what exactly is going on." Shi Hao said.

Soon after, they made a new discovery. There were a few enormous monuments along the road outside the city, a few things recorded on them. If they didn't agree and sign the contract of alliance, there was no way of entering this city, but they could head to another place.

Not far from this place rested a few small towns.

After the two of them decided where to go, they quickly rushed along. This was a place with some small towns, rumored to have developed from street markets.

It was because the surroundings of the emperor city had previously experienced bustling times, the posterity of those exceptional experts previously living here, which was why there were open markets and small towns.

Soon after, the two of them reached their destination, looking at it from the distance. The population wasn't that small, large amounts of open markets here. Small towns were linked up one after another.

This place was bustling with noise and excitement, quite a lively place.

"We finally encountered some creatures. Otherwise, it is just too primitive and uncivilized." The witch released a sigh.

"They already arrived!" Shi Hao sensed Ten Crown King, Exiled Immortal, and Ning Chuan's auras. There were also a few others, all of them gathering before the largest city.

There were a few young cultivators, each of them seated on a boulder, eyes closed in recuperation.

"Yi, hateful, Yue Chan actually got here before me. How could she cross the trial? I assumed she would definitely die along the way." The witch ground her teeth, not feeling any kind of intentions for her adversary.

There were already a few people there, but compared to the hundred thousand people here, it was too sparse.

Shi Hao released a sigh. Most of that large group should have died, only a few able to hurry here, surviving, luck definitely a major factor for this.

"Two more people came, don't seem too ordinary. However, compared to our Nine Heavens above's people, I fear they are a bit lacking."

Right at this time, someone spoke while looking at Shi Hao and the witch.

This was a male whose long blonde hair hung down to the waste, even the pupils golden, aura oppressive. He stood in another region.

Aside from him, there were a few others who didn't seem to belong to the three thousand provinces, standing separate from Exiled Immortal and Yue Chan.

"The girl that just came isn't too bad looking, rarely seen even in the Nine Heavens above, worthy of being called an unmatched beauty." Someone evaluated the witch's appearance.

The witch carried a faint smile, walking forward.

At the same time, the cultivators of the three thousand provinces also looked over. When Yue Chan saw the witch walk together with Shi Hao, she revealed a look of shock, staring at them.

Chapter 1059 - Confrontation

"There are familiar and unfamiliar faces..." Shi Hao said as he looked at those people in front of the ancient city.

For some reason, none of these people entered the city, all of them sitting on the large bluestone, each occupying an area, forming a few groups.

"Haha..." He laughed towards that golden male, and then he looked at Ning Chuan and the others, sweeping his eyes over their faces one by one.

"Surprisingly able to keep their composure." That golden male said, not feeling any misgivings. It was as if two golden flames were jumping in his pupils, quite intimidating.

From his words, it was obvious that he came from the Nine Heavens in the Nine Heavens Ten Earths, only, it was unknown which of the heavens. He was clearly exceptionally powerful.

Otherwise, he wouldn't have acted so arrogantly, looking down on everyone, not attaching much importance to the people here.

Shi Hao had never met him before. This wasn't someone who had appeared before with Lin Tian.

There were a few people behind that blonde male, some truly deep and immeasurable. Even Shi Hao narrowed his eyes, carefully staring at them.

Shi Hao didn't pay him any attention. As long as they didn't truly walk forward and provoke him, he would treat them indifferently. If they touched his bottom line, then he would definitely take action and suppress them.

This was a type of confidence. Once one cultivated three strands of immortal energy, regardless of whether it was him, Ten Crown King, or the Nine Heavens Ten Earths' other geniuses, they all had this type of boldness.

"Fairy is invited to this side." That blonde male spoke, nodding and giving his greetings to the witch. He revealed a brilliant smile, inviting her over.

"Immeasurable Heaven of the Nine Heavens' cultivation pure land is most suited for cultivation. I sincerely invite fairy over to have a chat. The heavenly deity institution should be established in those places." Another person said with a smile.

They were offering undisguised praise towards the witch's appearance. They also saw that she cultivated immortal energy, her aptitudes extraordinary, so they seriously invited her.

This really was the case. The witch was tall and slender, skin white like fine jade. Her hair was a glowing dark black, hanging down to her waist, incredibly beautiful no matter where she went. All of these traits made her someone who drew attention even if she didn't want to.

The witch was slender and elegant, black gemstone, large eyes moving about, revealing intelligent light. She revealed a faint smile, saying, "I look forward to seeing the various dao earths in the Nine Heavens. Should the opportunity present itself, I will naturally visit them one by one, many thanks to you all."

She didn't reject them, interacting and associating with others was her strong suit. A single smile produced endless charm, bringing brilliance to this ancient land.

Shi Hao gave her a look, and then said, "Why are the interactions between different people so different? Say, I am an expert too, so why is no one inviting me?"

"A problem of moral quality!" The witch shot him a look while smiling, directly giving this type of verdict.

Someone laughed coldly, saying, "I heard you were quite strong, injuring Lin Tian, even saying before that you were going to suppress enemies of all sides, sweep through the Nine Heavens Ten Earths. How can we hastily invite you over?"

Shi Hao was shocked, saying, "Even though I defeated Lin Tian, I never spoke like this before, right?"

"You haven't? Didn't you say that the men had to be suppressed, while the fairies were going to be captured to warm the bed? Lan Ling younger sis has spoken about this you know? There's no way it's wrong." A young lady next to the blonde male pursed her lips and said.

Shi Hao knew where the problem laid. His jokes with the blue-pupiled and ice-cold young lady reached these individuals' ears, stirring up great waves.

"This is the pervert who said he wouldn't marry people who aren't descendants of true immortals, no, not receiving them..." Another young lady glared at him.

The witch immediately laughed. She gave Shi Hao a look, her beautiful eyes moving about, clearly teasing him, her look carrying a bit of ridicule.

"Those were just words to lighten the mood, don't mind them too much." Shi Hao explained.

"There are some people who you cannot joke with, because you do not have the qualifications to!" The blonde male was not polite at all, speaking coldly.

Shi Hao's face fell. Since the other party didn't show any kindness, he wouldn't try to warm his way over, saying indifferently, "En, comparatively speaking, you don't have the qualifications to talk to me either. Just go off to the side and act cold by yourself."

The group of people were shocked, not expecting him to not be polite at all, not caring about the blonde male's status at all, let alone fearing his terrifying power.

"Are you truly that fickle and impatient, wishing to fight against me after just coming here?" The blonde male said coldly, his eyes flickering, pressing forward.

"Who even are you? So weird, if you want to fight, then just come! If not, get lost!" Shi Hao spoke, his words just too direct, not giving the other party any face.

Everyone was shocked. This person really had quite the temper, this was just too decisive! He didn't bother trying to explain anything, just directly sending out the challenge, about to fight here.

There were quite a few people who belonged to the Three Thousand Dao Provinces, for example, Ning Chuan, Three Stone Heavenly Monarch, Gu Jianyun, and others. They all revealed looks of surprise. This didn't seem to match the Shi Hao they understood that well.

"You dare talk like that to me, standing against my Immeasurable Heaven's hero?" The blonde male's voice fell, jumping down from that great bluestone, looking down on Shi Hao from midair. His aura was boundless, divine force pressing.

"What do you count as? Can you represent Immeasurable Heaven? Represent everyone behind you?" Shi Hao asked indifferently. He looked towards those people, especially those females.

Hong!

Golden light surged. This male erupted with sky-surging blood energy that pervaded outwards, intimidating many people here.

This was an open market with many creatures. Right now, quite a few of them turned around to look over in this direction.

Shi Hao raised his head, speaking extremely coldly, "I only have one objective, and that is to enter the heavenly deity institution and increase my cultivation. I don't want to waste words on someone like you. If I don't suppress one or two today, it seems like a few more people will stick their heads out after I join the academy. If you want to be the first, then I'll help you accomplish your goal!"

He was extremely 'frank', not really holding anything back.

As a result, a few people understood his intentions.

There were some in the other party who already bore a set amount of hostility against him, so even if Shi Hao humbled his stance, it wouldn't really do anything. Instead of letting people look down on him, it was better off just using forceful methods to the end.

Not only did the people on the other side reveal strange looks, even the cultivators of the three thousand provinces' eyes shone with divine light as they looked at the battlefield. No one dared to look down on Huang. When they saw him display might, all of their emotions became complex.

"Accept a palm from me!" That blonde male was about to take action.

"Unbridled! How can a dispute be tolerated before the ancient city?" An aged voice sounded from within the city, shocking everyone.

Even though it wasn't an emperor city, this city's size was also comparative. Under normal situations, it was still quite grand.

There were naturally experts in this city, those that were native to this place. They could also be said to be the descendants of the emperor city's unmatched experts.

That blonde male had long formed an imprint. When he heard this, his expression changed again and again, in the end forced to change the direction of his fist, striking the skies. Golden light surged, blasting open the void.

Everyone's expressions changed. This person was too strong! Just from this casual strike, one could see his terrifying cultivation, making one feel great admiration.

Shi Hao didn't say anything, only reaching out a hand casually towards the sky. The void immediately closed, the chaotic streams disappearing, restoring peace to this place.

The others were shocked, quite a few of them sucking in a cold breath of air. This type of method was even more difficult than destruction! It was clear that Huang's strength was not ordinary.

"Why is there a need for conflict? The purpose this time is not to fight and kill, dao friends from the Three Thousand Dao Provinces and Immeasurable Heaven, please quell your anger." An elder walked out of the city gates, advising in this way.

Everyone was shocked. This was a sect master level figure, no one dared to act carelessly before him.

"This old one has received orders to see how many have arrived. I must ask everyone to interact with each other peacefully." A white bearded elder in purple robes said.

When they heard him speak like this, there was naturally no objection. Who was willing to offend this type of figure? After all, they still had to enter the heavenly deity institution, so none of them wanted to fail now.

Only now did Shi Hao restrain that wave of killing intent. Just now, he definitely didn't try to cover it up.

After calming down a bit, on the other side, a young lady from Immeasurable Heaven smiled, gesturing towards the witch and saying, "Younger sis, you truly are stunning, too beautiful. You came from Sky Severing Sect right? I really must ask you to come have a chat. A long time ago, your sect and my Immeasurable Heaven had a great relationship."

Aside from this, there were a few youngsters who revealed gentle smiles, saying, "Fairy, please, this way."

This was clearly different treatment, pulling the witch over and having Shi Hao stand there alone. The two originally came together.

"Is that so? My sect is related to Immeasurable Heaven? I actually never heard about this, have to consult you all for the details." The witch said while smiling.

"Younger sister, come over and chat with us." The people on the other side continued to invite her.

Meanwhile, at this time, the Exiled Immortal opened his eyes. They shone brilliantly, the Heavenly Eyes' symbols profound and complex, as if they could see through all. He said to the witch, "You've obtained part of that inheritance, so in the end, you can be considered my junior sister, should just come over here."

When these words were spoken, everyone became shocked.

This was especially the case with the cultivators of the three thousand provinces. They were even more shocked. This was Exiled Immortal, his origins completely unknown, extremely mysterious.

This individual appeared to be aloof and otherworldly, but when he took action, he could massacre hundreds of thousands of talented and terrifying geniuses. When he spoke these words, mentioning the inheritance of the sect, it really was shocking.

There were no fools among the individuals present. Everyone knew that what he was talking about was definitely not Sky Severing Sect's inheritance.

The witch had another inheritance, but no one had ever seen her use it before. This left others' minds shaken, especially Yue Chan. When she glanced over, divine light flashed through her eyes, her pure and holy face revealing a hint of worry.

Yue Chan gave Shi Hao a look, and then she looked at Exiled Immortal. Her face became calm again, moreover gradually revealing a faint smile, the corners of her lips curling upwards. She didn't say anything, instead looking like she was watching a play.

The witch gave Exiled Immortal a look, and then looked at Immeasurable Heaven's people. With a quiet voice, she said, "Turns out that person was you!"

Then, she leisurely walked over, her graceful figure incredibly wonderful as she walked over, standing by Exiled Immortal's side.

"Hey, witch, don't tell me this is that man you were talking about in the lower realm?" Shi Hao transmitted sound.

"Like that has anything to do with you!" The witch rolled her eyes at him.

When he was in the lower realm, Shi Hao had previously teased to have the witch follow him, but was instead looked down upon. She had previously said while laughing that her heart already belonged to someone, that a man with matchless divine might was waiting for her.

In that instant, Shi Hao ended up standing alone, giving off a rather lonely feeling. no ve/LB)1n

He looked backwards, because not only were there people by the city gate, there were a few geniuses in the distance as well.

Sure enough, he saw someone he knew, Heavenly Evil Ge Qian. He immediately laughed, saying, "Yo, brother who walked in dragon poop, how've you been?"

Ge Qian cursed his bad luck. He had been trying to hide from Shi Hao this entire time, yet he was still discovered in the end. He immediately looked like he was in a bad mood, incredibly angry.

It was because that person had previously personally saw him be buried under dragon poop.

"Haha..." On the other side, Chang Gongyan laughed loudly, walking over with large steps from the distance. When he got closer, he patted Shi Hao's shoulder.

Dragon Girl also appeared, already arriving. Sure enough, some top level figures arrived here, not a single one of them weak.

"There's still me!" The little fatty Cao Yusheng waved his hand, jolting his buttocks over, his delicate and pretty round face full of smiles.

"It seems like we have quite a number who came already. Perhaps those who can enter the heavenly deity institution should now be fixed." Right at this moment, a great dao divine voice sounded, a middle-aged supreme being appearing.

Chapter 1060 - Test

A blurry figure appeared in midair, precisely one of the three middle-aged men Shi Hao had previously met. He was still wrapped in chaotic energy, appearing extremely indistinct.

He personally came here, about to lock in the candidates entering the heavenly deity institution.

"Senior, if I may ask, aren't we selecting cultivators from our three thousand provinces this time? Why are there people from Immeasurable Heaven here, as well as even people from other ancient lands?" Someone asked.

It was because if these people participated, they would take a few quotas from the Three Thousand Dao Provinces.

Anyone could see with their own eyes that just now, that blonde male and the others weren't weak, every single one of them extremely frightening.

"Ah, these people, because of a few reasons, missed the selection competition in their own ancient lands, some cultivating in seclusion, some in historical remains, not able to make it. However, these people are all indeed extraordinary, so that is why they are given an opportunity, transported here." The middle-aged man explained.

When he spoke like this, the faces of the cultivators of the three thousand provinces fell, feeling even more nervous. This group of people were even stronger than they had thought. Even the middle-aged supreme being cherished their talents, not stinting to give them a chance!

"All of you, don't worry. Even though the Three Thousand Dao Provinces are weaker, we won't go so far as to lower the number of slots. Everyone who meets the conditions can pass, there will be no restrictions in the number of places."

This sentence was added, making a few people feel a bit more at ease.

"I must ask senior, is the decision going to be made now?" Someone asked, feeling nervous, fearing that he would miss this opportunity and be eliminated.

"Not yet, since we came here, there is naturally a need to understand the Archaic Contract of Alliance. For the sake of deepening your understanding, all of you have to participate inside of it!" That middle-aged supreme being said.

"What?"

Everyone rose into an uproar. This was not some good place, only the most powerful able to enter the Emperor City and participate in the great battle, protect this place. What qualifications did they have? How were they going to carry out this task?

They might have great reputations, known as geniuses in their respective ancient lands, but when they truly enter the Emperor City, they might be worth less than even cannon fodder, the difference in cultivation realms too great.

Before growing up, they didn't even have the qualifications to fight.

"We naturally do not wish to send you all to your deaths. Recently, the Desolate Border has become unstable, a few small fry starting to appear, even crossing over. These are who you all need to kill."

The middle-aged man spoke, revealing a serious expression, as well as helplessness, and even more so a concealed dejectedness.

"Crossing over, the creatures from the other side are coming?!" Everyone couldn't help but cry out, unable to calm down.

"Only the lower cultivation level creatures are trying to cross over." The middle-aged man said.

The higher the cultivation realm, the more difficult it is to cross realms. Only after expending great strength did a few lower cultivation level individuals cross over and carry out destruction.

Despite this being the case, it was still extremely difficult, the price too great.

According to what the middle-aged supreme being said, currently, only a few people had a chance of crossing over. As long as they were kept in check, all of their efforts would be going down the drain, taking on a loss for nothing.

Towards this, Shi Hao inwardly agreed, because both him and the witch had already experienced this. That person personally admitted that he might be the first young supreme being who descended into the three thousand provinces.

"En, what I wish for you all to do is to kill those who were infected. The Desolate Border has a mysterious aura that made a few people forever fall into darkness, completely turning to the other side. They are hiding among us, hiding in the different ancient cities, only the most powerful divine senses can detect them." The middle-aged man mentioned this matter.

This was an extremely important test, a test of whether or not their divine senses were sharp enough, at the same time eliminating this unsettling element.

When he heard these words, Shi Hao released a sigh. Seems like it wasn't that the great figures didn't have any preparations, they had long been aware of this situation.

"Wu, there are a few others who, due to unexpected events, have been delayed. I will give them a chance." The middle-aged man said quietly.

Wuwu...

Suddenly, a bugle horn sounded, shaking up heaven and earth. It was as if an unmatched demonic beast was roaring, the Nine Heavens Ten Earths seemingly resonating in response.

However, that Emperor City still remained unmoved, deathly still without a bit of reaction.

This made others even more suspicious if it was just an empty city. Otherwise, even though they already got this far, why was it still this quiet without any activity?

There was no sign of its greatness in defending the Desolate Border, protecting the three thousand provinces!

At this moment, the middle-aged man's expression changed, not even someone as powerful as him able to remain calm, saying to himself, "Is that day finally going to arrive again? Is Immortal Ancient's tragedy going to replay itself?"

The expressions of the other young geniuses were even more ugly. Only by really standing in front of the Emperor City could one further understand and experience the pressure. There was a type of stifling feeling.

"Only a bugle sound, no shouts of war, so we shouldn't have reached the most dangerous step yet." Someone said softly.

"Once war cries can be heard, it'll already be too late. Those creatures are likely truly going to cross over..." The middle-aged man said with a sigh. He looked towards the heavenly dome, feeling a wave of disappointment and frustration.

It was because he knew that day wasn't too far off, the cruelest events finally about to play out. However, on their side, were the Nine Heavens Ten Earths' creatures' preparations complete yet?

"Are the creatures on that side that strong? Why are we always on the losing side? Can we not stop them?" One of the geniuses felt unconvinced and unsatisfied, tightly clenching his fists.

The middle-aged man sank into a moment of silence. The chaotic energy around his body moved slowly. As if he remembered something, he said, "If the day comes when the Emperor City is broken through, I hope you all can heroically participate in the battle, or withdraw to defend other lands. You absolutely must not lead the wolves into the house like those condemned by all of history, turning around to attack our own side."

"There are those who helped creatures on the other side cross over? Too disgraceful, we wouldn't do such a thing!"

"Were there really people like that?"

The group of youngsters were extremely excited.

The middle-aged man said, "When the final days of an age descend, what most people think about is only how to continue living, it won't be unusual for any of these things to happen. I am just warning you all before hand to guard your hearts and not become a sinner!"

Everyone became silent. This type of situation really was likely to happen.

If they fought against the enemy, even if everyone died, it would still be heroic.

However, if they died under their own side's hands, then just how sorrowful would that be?

"After so much time had passed, I reckon their preparations should be pretty much complete. They really are going to come." The elder who had previously advised against Shi Hao and the blonde male's battle spoke.

"It's been silent for too long, I just fear that once it erupts, the sky and earth will be turned upside down. Perhaps they are secretly plotting, not attacking through normal methods." The middle-aged man said with a sigh.

Shi Hao thought back to that eyeball. It had previously said that the Desolate Border's people might be using the second plan.

This affected too much, he felt like he had to tell this to the middle-aged man.

Shi Hao didn't hesitate, secretly transmitting sound, not holding back the information about the eyeball that had laid dormant for ten thousand years, as well as talking about the events of destroying an altar that connected the two realms.

Sure enough, the middle-aged man was shaken up, remaining silent for a long time in his thoughts.

Then, he didn't make any movement, secretly telling Shi Hao to keep these things secret, not spreading them out to avoid panic.

"Alright, you all should head out on your own!"

The middle aged man spoke like this, meaning that the requirements weren't that strict, rather lax, having them settle the various problems on their own.

"Acting together is fine, but one group cannot exceed five people!" He added.

Everyone began to think to themselves. What did this mean? Was this also a type of test?

Were they trying to test their coordination with others, or were they testing if any of them had the strength to fight one versus five? It was worth keeping in mind that everyone here was extremely powerful, with some who cultivated more than a single strand of immortal energy. Fighting one versus five would be incredibly difficult, but it would leave behind a legend.

With a ao lao sound, the little fatty Cao Yusheng rushed over, standing together with Shi Hao.

Those who understood the situation were all envious, Huang's reputation definitely provided some extent of guarantee.

Soon after, Chang Gongyan and Dragon Girl also joined.

Shi Hao gave the witch a look, but she waved her hand and revealed a faint smile, indicating that she was going to stay together with Exiled Immortal.

"Hello? You're going to run just like that? Did you forget how we faced life and death together on the way here, the joys and sorrows we shared?" Shi Hao said noisily without any shame.

"Can you not act so sickening?!" The witch turned around and rolled her eyes at him.

Exiled Immortal remained calm, the sleeves of his clothes perfect and pure. Both him and the witch disappeared into the distance.

“Sigh!” The little fatty Cao Yusheng released a sigh, and then he clicked his tongue, ridiculing Shi Hao.

“What do you understand?!” Shi Hao shot him a look.

“Of course I understand, that girl isn’t simple.” Cao Yusheng said.

“Heh, dog poop brother, are you going to come over?” Shi Hao enthusiastically called out.

As a result, Heavenly Evil Ge Qian was so angry that he directly ran. He originally still wanted to find companions, but he really didn’t want to deal with Shi Hao who always unveiled that secret.

“Chanchan, you wanna come with us?” Shi Hao looked towards Yue Chan.

The expressions of the surrounding people were strange. This fella truly dared to provoke anyone, even teasing Heaven Mending Sect’s holy lady. Could it be that the rumors really were true?

Yue Chan’s clothes were white like snow, hair pitch black, entire being full of spiritual essence. Her expression was calm, eyes like limpid autumn waters. Only, she didn’t even give Shi Hao a look, not paying him any attention.

“Hello? Chan’er? Where is my family’s Qing Yi? You didn’t attack her, right?” Shi Hao was completely shameless, continuing to call out to her.

Yue Chan ignored him. She was pure and perfect, skin radiating sparkling white luster, hair fluttering about. She already turned around to leave.

“Where’s our family’s kid? Where did the child end up being born?” This earth shattering sentence made Yue Chan’s figure stagger, tightly clenching her fists, not able to maintain her pure and holy appearance anymore. Her complexion was a bit flushed, truly angered badly.

Fortunately, she discovered that the rascal was transmitting sound, not publically teasing her this time.

Of course, her state, in everyone’s eyes, made her not much better off, still the same as falling down to the mortal world by that scoundrel, lacking her ordinary calmness and otherworldliness.

Just as everyone was about to scatter, the two other great supreme beings arrived. They also transmitted sound for everyone to hear.

They told everyone that a White Qilin child appeared near an ancient city. If anyone could bring that back, the heavenly deity institution would give everything it had to foster that individual.

Of course, everyone knew that the White Qilin would also receive meticulous fostering.

This time, no one could sit still, all of them wishing to head there and look around.

In reality, they had heard rumors when they were arriving as well, but they all hurriedly passed by, not having the patience to search. Now, they were really going to try their hands at it.

When everyone scattered, the three great experts began to discuss among themselves.

“Not even we could see that Qilin child, it has an immortal treasure on it!”

“Wu, what do you all say? Will that young beast truly be able to wait until that young lady from the past appears again? This is simply trying to validate reincarnation!”

“I suspect that the reason why this White Qilin was able to live might be precisely because of the Reincarnation Immortal King back then, all for the sake of verifying his own insights.”
