Chapter 161 - Blood Colored World

The Hundred Shattering Mountains is an extremely dangerous place. The mortality rate was high, and if forty percent of the incoming geniuses survived, it would already be quite good. In actuality, the number of survivors was far from reaching even a tenth during the most terrifying year!

This was a treasure land, yet it was also a blood-dyed demonic earth. Luck and death danced together, and if one wanted to reap the benefits, their life had to be used as a bargaining chip.

The Hundred Shattering Mountains were in chaos, and vicious beasts, birds, and humanoids were fleeing for their lives. The ancient creatures were all incredibly ferocious, as if they climbed out from the pits of hell. They opened their huge bloody mounts and slaughtered towards everyone.

Ah...

Immediately, miserable cries sounded out from everywhere. All types of ancient beasts appeared from within the mountain abyss, sweeping towards geniuses from all races. They were all extremely old demons and ridiculously powerful.

A loud roar struck down like heavenly thunder. Everything shook, causing sand to fly and rocks to tumble about. A black Hou rushed out from the mountains, and even though it wasn't pure-blooded, its figure was shockingly large. As it ran over, it carried with it a strong gale, shaking the earth and mountains.

It opened its bloody mouth wide, and immediately bit a Silver Blood Giant to death. It swallowed it whole, and then immediately swiped down with a claw. Three geniuses exploded, and a bloody light entered its mouth.

"Kill it!"

Experts from all races cried out as they began to fight back one after another.

Its pupils were ice cold. They shot out an expanse of gorgeous radiance, smashing apart the area in front of it. Flesh and blood were immediately mangled and mutilated, and all types of limbs fluttered about; no one could fight back.

As soon as this black Hou opened its mouth, more than ten geniuses would immediately be swallowed inside. It was simply a Asura King, fierce and unrivalled.

It was precisely this creature that was without equal during the Archaic year when saints descended. Every creature wanted to avoid it, and even deities being murdered was not a strange sight.

Even though it was a descendant that did not have a pure bloodline, it was still extremely terrifying. They relied on mixed bloodlines, yet they could similarly cultivate to a very high realm; they massacred in all directions.

The black Hou in front was the perfect demonstration of this. It opened an entire road of slaughter, swallowing hundreds of experts. It was crushing everything like a roller, and it was difficult for it to meet a true opponent.

Of course, this was related to its long period of cultivation. After cultivating for endless years bitterly, it became exceedingly powerful. It shouted, and wanted to find the most powerful pure-blooded creatures in hopes of being able to swallow them to advance in strength; it wanted to improve greatly in its road of cultivation.

The geniuses did not have any complaints. Since they already made the decision to enter the Hundred Shattering Mountains, then they had to make mental preparations for these types of situations. Opportunities had to be gained by risking one's life, and even if their cultivation period was shallow, they had no one else to blame for it.

Aohou...

The black Hou roared, creating a road of killing. It charged towards the most concentrated group of geniuses.

Every region was like this. Powerful birds and beasts broke out from their restraints and seals, murdering their way over. Blood splashed out along the sides, and their gazes were terrifying as they searched for the most powerful food.

It was originally an area of treasure ground, and all types of geniuses were picking spirit medicine, searching for precious artifacts as well as for things that saints left behind in hopes of receiving a heaven defying opportunity. However currently, everything changed, and the pure land had turned into a hell. There was slaughtering everywhere, and they became the food of the indigenous creatures.

Of course, the Divided Treasure Cliffs, Hundred Grass Land, Restricted Heavenly Bone Region, and the seven or eight other regions were the most terrifying. All of the ancient monsters within rushed out with an appetite for Archaic divine birds and pure-blooded beast descendants.

Wu...

A fierce gale appeared abruptly, and a hundred meter tall Dragon Horned Lion stood up before killing its way over. With a swipe of its claws, mountain peaks were collapsed. It was terrifyingly powerful as it pounced over towards the ten geniuses below.

Pu

It opened its mouth to spit out a precious light, and as it danced about, they became brilliant streaks of light blades. The ten geniuses were sliced apart, turning into chopped limbs and broken bodies. Soon after, the fierce teeth within its wide mouth shone, creating a vortex. It directly swallowed all of the bloody mist and corpses into its mouth.

A ruthless massacre unfolded, and this became a blood flowing world. It was vastly different from what it was like previously, and a great deal of geniuses were howling in grief as they tried their best to escape.

They were still young, and if they were allowed to mature, they would definitely have been destined to have names that tremble large regions of people. However now, they met this calamity, and was being hunted down by these ancient monsters; there was no road into heaven and no gate into earth.

However, they truly had no one else to blame. They chose to improve themselves by coming here and wanted to obtain opportunities. As a result, they already made the mental preparations to invest their lives prior to coming here.

A Blue Eyed Golden Pupiled beast[1] appeared in the vicinity of the Divided Treasure Cliffs, cutting off the geniuses of all types of races. Its build resembled that of a Qilin, but when its fierce teeth opened and closed, it was incomparably vicious looking. In the blink of an eye, it swallowed those geniuses, blood dripping from its snow white teeth.

During the Archaic years, the Blue Eyed Golden Pupiled Beast was one of the ten great mounts. The saints were extremely fond of it, because beside the fact that it looked like a bold and powerful spirited horse, its power was also publicly known.

Hou...

Within the historical ruins on the outside of the Divided Treasure Cliffs, corpses were collapsing in large expanses. Bloody rain scattered down, and this vicious beast carried out a great massacre. Its cultivation realm naturally far surpassed everyone else's.

It was a blood-colored world. The mountains and rivers were in chaos, and all of the powerful individuals were trying to escape. The geniuses from various races were all in fear, and they never thought that this moment would appear so suddenly without any warning.

It would be a vain attempt for them to search for opportunities now, and being able to survive was already a fortunate thing. To protect their own lives was the greatest challenge they had to face during the next few days.

Ordinarily, these circumstances don't persist for more than a few days. Afterwards, the Hundred Shattering Mountains' exit would open, and that is precisely the opportunity for them to break out of this blood-colored hell.

Countless golden light flickered, and a golden Peng took to the skies. It covered the heavens, slaughtering its way into the Restricted Heavenly Bone region. It completely scattered the mist in this region.

Its goal was evident, and it was to kill the pure-blooded creatures and eat their precious flesh medicine, refining its own great Peng true blood. It wanted to reach a crucial point and advance another step to become more powerful.

Honglong

Those golden wings were incomparably huge, and were roughly a hundred meters in width. They swept past everything, and many mountain peaks were directly snapped in half by those golden divine wings. The sliced surfaces were smooth, and were incomparably glossy.

Within the rumbling sounds, several mountain peaks fell, and dust soared into the air.

Towards the numerous geniuses here, it was simply a type of unchallengeable divine might. How were they supposed to resist? Even Archaic vicious beasts descendants were not its opponent.

The bright golden light was dazzling, and the giant Peng's body covered the sky. It emitted a terrifying aura that made a large number of geniuses feel dread and tremble.

This golden Peng was rather fussy, and did not impatiently make its move. It was constantly searching for powerful food, because its cultivation was extremely long. As a result, weak creatures were not even worth its attention.

Dark clouds concealed the sun, and the large number of bats appeared. Every single one of them were several meters long, creating a large expanse of darkness. They were like a group of pterosaurs as they filled the sky, and in fact, their names were called bat dragons. They swooped down towards everyone.

Their precious techniques were extremely terrifying, being a type of formless fluctuation. It pierced gold and cracked stone, making everyone on the ground immediately cry out miserably. Many creatures began to bleed from their seven apertures, and their ears in particular became badly mangled and mutilated.

This was a place of bloodbath. A single Bat Dragon might not be too terrifying, but with such a densely packed mass that completely covered the Restricted Heavenly Bone Region's surroundings, who could fight back?

Below, everyone was in a terrible situation. Corpses dropped one after another, and were devoured by the Bat Dragons that swooped down.

In the end, the Golden Winged Peng became discontent. With an angry cry, countless golden divine feathers flew out. With pupu sounds falling incessantly, it penetrated over ten Bat Dragons, and they fell one after another onto the ground.

Its terrifying prestige was not something one could afford to offend. Whoever dared to provoke it will inevitably have to pay with their blood and life, and these Bat Dragons interfered with its hunt.

In reality, Archaic beast young were all powerful and quick-witted. Their senses were extremely keen, and since they previously received their elders' warnings, they have already used their great abilities to mask their auras, leaving this place at the first moments.

"So powerful! I'm also going to leave stealthily!" The little guy was mixed within the crowd. He attacked outwards, and did not try to stick out. He did not stay at the very front, and was always at the very edge as he began to make a great retreat.

Other than those powerful kings, there were still many others within the Hundred Shattering Mountains. Many creatures that were similar in strength to the geniuses were closing in, carrying out a murderous encirclement.

The people were overwhelmed with shock. When they entered, the breeze was still and the waves were quiet; they didn't notice these creatures at all. Now, all of them rebelled, appearing together while treating them like prey.

Finally, the little guy escaped from the Restricted Heavenly Bone Region and left this desert. He rushed into the boundless mountain range.

He quickly became dumbstruck, because regardless of what place it was, there would still be fierce beasts wreaking havoc everywhere. The Hundred Shattering Mountains were full of vitality, and it was an extremely vast small world. It produced too many vicious spirits, and they were killing everyone everywhere.

Along the road, he saw too many people die, and even the woodlands were dyed in red. Within those sinister indigenous creatures, there were humanoids, beasts, and even plants. They were devouring experts from all races with large gulps. The sound of crushed bones rang out with gechi gechi sounds, and as fresh blood flowed out, it made everyone terrified.

It was exceedingly miserable; this was a blood-colored world!

The little guy noticed that of the experts that escaped together with him from the Restricted Heavenly Bone Region, seventy percent had already fell, becoming the food of these kings. Scarlet colored blood splashed out, and only a few shattered bones were left behind.

In the distance, a black clad youth released a loud roar. He was doing everything he could to struggle, but it was completely useless. His body was snapped apart by a great crocodile’s mouth before being swallowed.

“Move out of the way!” The little guy cried out.

That girl’s eyes lacked emotion, and when she heard the warning, it was already too late. An enormous sawtooth bird swooped down, and with a pu sound, it bit her into pieces, swallowing a large chunk of her flesh.

The little guy lifted a large boulder that was several tens of thousands of jin in weight. With a honglong sound, it smashed towards the sky. It struck that vicious bird whose mouth was like a sawtooth, smashing apart the flesh where it made contact, making it fall onto the ground.

However, he was still too late, and that girl had already died.

The little guy did not pause unnecessarily and quickly left, because he didn’t have the time to tend to everything; this type of thing was happening everywhere. It was as if he came out from a pile of flesh, and too many creatures were being killed.

Hou...

An unusual ferocious beast roared, hissing towards him. Its large mouth opened, and its fierce teeth were like daggers. Precious methods rose as it slaughtered its way over.

Hou!

The little guy also roared loudly, his voice sounding even more berserk. He directly threw himself over, revealing his small snow white canines as if he was going to eat it.

The vicious beast became shocked. Why did it feel like it somehow became the food instead? It rushed forward fiercely in anger.

In the end, the little guy killed it. With a pu sound, its head fell down, and blood frantically surged.

“It’s another formidable precious beast! Even though its symbolled bone shattered, its flesh’s essence is still there!” After charging out of the Restricted Heavenly Bone Region, this was the twelfth vicious beast he placed into his heaven and earth pouch along his road of slaughter.

He did not want ordinary creatures that were killed, and only wanted the most powerful types of strange beasts, because those were the most precious flesh medicines!

“I’ve previously arranged to meet with Big Red, Huo Ling’er, Nine-Headed Lions at the rendezvous point. That place isn’t too far from the Hundred Shattering Mountain’s central region, so I should go and find them.”

The little guy was worried that they might have encountered some disaster. Even though he knew that it was extremely dangerous to look for others within this blood colored world, he still did not want to give up. He left behind a trail of blood as he killed his way forward.

“Yi, I’m getting closer to the central region, the nest of the kings!” He was shocked. He came to this place before, but back then, all these volcanoes and great ponds were all closed off. They were all previously sealed, and no vicious spirits appeared.

Now, things were completely different. The golden passageways within the Hundred Shattering Mountains had disappeared, and every region was connected together. The sealed regions had all been freed up, and the central region became a dangerous land.

“Bifang!

While passing through a cliff, he became shocked. He saw that powerful divine bird, and it was unexpectedly also roaming about here.

If he used his physical body to contest it, then he wouldn’t be inferior to anyone. However, the other party’s cultivation period was longer than his, and its knowledge regarding symbols was excessively terrifying. After breaking out from the Hundred Shattering Mountains, it would definitely proclaim itself as a king.

“What is it doing?”

This region was relatively peaceful, because normal vicious beasts didn’t dare invade here. This was an area where kings roamed.

The Bifang’s body was like a crane. Its entire body appeared to be made out of green gold, and there were blood colored streaks running along it. The divine feathers covering it were sparkling and brilliant. It was extremely prudent, and was flying within the shrubbery. It carefully approached a hill where a giant nest rested.

The king left its nest, and was currently looking for food. The most powerful descendants were their favorite. However, these Archaic divine birds and vicious beasts weren’t so easy to deal with. They avoided being killed, and were currently going to the king’s nests to steal things while they were away.

The little guy climbed on top of a mountain peak and surveyed the cliff from the elevated position. There was a nest there, and inside was a silver egg. It seemed like it was burning, and as flames raged, it flickered with bright multicolored splendor.

After the Bifang decided that there were no creatures protecting it, it rushed over and quickly threw itself over. That sharp bird beak easily broke through the divine egg with a pu sound, and it directly began to suck the juice inside.

“Wastrel!” The little guy’s heart was extremely sore. This was definitely the egg of a powerful descendant. If it was bred, it would represent a type of extremely powerful precious technique.

However, the Bifang was a true divine bird itself, so how could it not have disdain towards the precious techniques of other descendants? Especially towards those of other bird species, it needed it even less, and as a result, it directly used it as precious medicine.

“If you don’t need it, can’t you give it to me? Giving you a pile of precious medicine would even be fine.” The little guy was grinding his teeth until they made gabeng sounds. He only had two precious techniques, and they were both obtained himself through trials and tribulations. He could not compare to Shi Yi, Bifang, or Zhujian, and even if he was compared to other descendants, he was still just a suffering child.

“Give it to me!” The little guy opened the heaven and earth pouch while grumbling in anger. Multicolored light immediately sprayed out, and that broken egg was immediately collected into the pouch.

The Bifang immediately became extremely angry after finding out that there was actually someone who dared to steal food from the tiger’s den. It had just eaten a small portion and felt the huge amount of essence accumulated within, but it was then actually stolen by someone.

When it saw that hateful human youth, it was even harder for it to restrain its anger. It spread its wings and pounced out.

“Collect!”

The little guy aimed the heaven and earth pouch towards it. His eyes emitted light and wanted to collect the divine bird. If he could have it in his hands, the benefits would undoubtedly be enormous and beyond belief.

“For stealing a bird egg, you must use your body to pay!” The savage child shouted.

On top of his hair, the divine striking stone was speechless.

The Bifang was beyond angry, and cried out furiously. However, its body was beyond its control, and was truly flying towards the heaven and earth net. This was an extremely powerful precious artifact.

“Stop this instant!” The Bifang shouted, and a hundred and eight divine feathers appeared behind it. With a kengqiang sound, it was as if immortal swords were emitting their precious splendor as they submerged the broken cliffs.

The little guy did not say anything else. He took out the broken sword and hacked downwards.

The Bifang's expression changed. A lump of light was spat out from its mouth, and a supreme precious treasure appeared. It immediately blocked off the thick sword qi, and as a result, the bird's nest and mountain region below immediately exploded.

Rubble collapsed, forming a cloud of smoke and dust. When the cloud of dust scattered, the little guy's traces disappeared.

The Bifang's pupils revealed a vicious light. It leapt towards the heavens in search of the little guy's whereabouts. However, as soon as it reached a high altitude, a vicious bird cried out from the distance. It was like a milky way galaxy, silvery white and pure. It directly charged over, and was even more furious than the Bifang.

Whoosh!

After receiving its anger, the Bifang also fled. This was because the true victim's family came back, and the master of the silver divine egg returned.

"These fellows truly have guts, actually going against the dao. All of these creatures are making their way into the Hundred Shattering Mountain's deepest regions to steal everything from the most powerful creatures' precious ground." While moving forward, the little guy noticed the tracks of the Zhujian, Horned Dragon, and other Archaic vicious beast youth.

It was not just the Bifang; other creatures all entered as well.

"I like this!" His large eyes emitted a happy radiance. He clenched his fists; how could he miss such a heaven defying chance? Either way, he still had to enter the mountains, so he was just going to loot a bit behind these divine birds and vicious beasts.

"Yi, it's him!" Not long after, the little guy noticed the purple-haired girl within the Hundred Shattering Mountains' depths. She was currently stealthily hiding her tracks and moving forward carefully.

"This spotlessly white girl who is being surrounded by a hundred and eight divine rings, exactly what type of divine bird or vicious beast is she? What kind of opportunity is she searching for?" The little guy crouched down and carefully followed along. He felt that if there was a need, he would get into another tussle with her.

This creature doesn't have white in its eyes but blue...

Chapter 162 - Bite One's Ear

The mountain forest was extremely dense, and the enormous mountains were tall. The spiritual essence was rich, pouring down like a waterfall and flowing about like a spring. Along the way, the little guy dug out several stalks of precious medicine and threw them into the heaven and earth net.

"Almost there!"

At this time, he felt an unusual aura. There were no people or creatures here, and it was empty to the point where there weren't even smaller creatures like moles and ants. It was peaceful everywhere, and not a single vicious beast dared to draw near. Essence energy soared, and multicolored light flickered.

Everything originated from the grand and imposing spiritual mountains up ahead. They were incredibly tall, and many creatures resided there. Beside them grew rarely seen precious medicine, and the fragrance was strong.

The purple-haired girl was extremely careful, and was like a dragon as she climbed. She moved her slender waist as she moved along the mountain precipice.

“The mountains have many restrictions, yet she is breaking them one by one without making a single sound! What a powerful level of symbols!” The little guy followed behind.

While climbing upwards, he became considerably shocked. He could see from the sides that the restrictions were extremely powerful. If it was a normal person here, it would be difficult to accomplish anything even after several months, yet the purple-haired girl directly broke them.

After reaching the mountain peak, he carefully looked around. There was a cold pond that was emitting waves of cold air. The icy cold was bone-chilling, and the water inside was black like ink.

These types of cold ponds were extremely suitable for Flood Dragon Beasts to live in. Beside the pool grew four stalks of spirit medicine, and they were precisely Black Flood Dragon Grass. They were jet-black with specks of luster, and were emitting a sweet scent.

This could serve as proof that a powerful Flood Dragon Beast inhabited this pond before, moreover not just a single one; otherwise, it would be impossible for such a rich flood dragon energy to flourish here and produce such rarely seen spirit medicine.

“Where did the divine beast run to?” The little guy was suspicious. He hid behind a giant boulder as he observed everything. On the summit, other than the cold pond, there were also many giant boulders, creating a stone forest.

Soon after, he heard some activity. The purple-haired girl was moving stealthily in front and entered the stone forest. She appeared in front of a cave, and divine splendor was emitting from that area.

“Why is there a pile of Flood Dragon bones here?” The little guy was quite shocked. After entering the stone forest, he saw a bunch of white bones that belonged to Flood Dragons.

These were not left behind by only one or two creatures, and after adding them all up, there were definitely at least twenty of them. It was too shocking, because even though Flood Dragon Beasts were the descendants of Archaic vicious flood dragons and their bloodlines weren’t pure, they were still extremely powerful. It was truly unexpected that there were creatures that treated them like food.

The little guy trembled with fear. After turning around and looking at that cold pond, he immediately understood. That was a pond that was purposely set up for the sake of raising Flood Dragon Beasts.

“Just what kind of powerful creature would do this type of thing?” This truly made him rather upset. This was simply too extravagant and terrifying.

“Did the foodie finally meet his opponent?” The mischievous stone quietly muttered.

“This is different.” The little guy shook his head. If it were not for the geniuses gathering together to enter this trial by fire, how would he be able to find these precious descendants? Normally, it would be extremely difficult to meet one.

Yet this type of creature typically uses Flood Dragon Beasts as food. This was too astonishing!

The ancient cave was misty with multicolored light. At the cave entrance grew a stalk of grass, its body entirely silver. It radiated with precious light, as if a silver flame was burning. What was most peculiar was that there were ripples on top of the grass leaves, as if they were feathers.

“Silver Feather Grass!”

The little guy widened his eyes. This was the best of the best among spirit medicines! According to legend, if it grew long enough, it could improve by another step and undergo transformation.

The Silver Feather Grass only had five feathers, and it was silvery white all over. It emitted a divine radiance, and there were feather marks all over the leaves. The sweet scent was emitted in waves, making people infatuated.

“Normally, it takes root where propitious vapors rise. It seems like this cavern is not simple, and the creature that dwells within must be incomparably powerful.”

The little guy thought it over and decided to turn back. However, he first decisively dug up the four black Flood Dragon Grass and entering the stone forest to put the Silver Feather Grass into the heaven and earth pouch.

“Who cares about what’s inside? Being able to obtain five stalks of precious medicine already makes this a worthwhile trip. Following along was not in vain.”

You have to understand that once you leave this small Archaic world and arrive in the outside world, searching for precious medicine becomes extremely difficult. Where would you be able to pick it so easily like this?

In the past, the little guy crashed his way through the boundless great wasteland, yet he could only find a few stalks beside a descendant’s cave.

Hong!

A loud sound was transmitted from within the cavern, and the restrictions were triggered. That purple haired girl seemed to have been struck by lightning, and blood flowed from her mouth. However, her achievements in symbols were extremely profound, and was extremely good at breaking through formations. She quickly stabilized herself.

The little guy also entered inside and watched from behind. He couldn’t help but be startled; what kind of creature’s den was this? It was clearly within a cave, yet why did it seem like a bird nest?

Other than the dried vines, there were golden silk grass spread on the inside of the nest. It was soft and crystalline, making it extremely cozy. The entire nest had multicolored streaks of light running about it, and it was obvious that there were precious bones buried within, because the cloth had formation patterns on it.

The purple-haired girl’s entire body was surrounded by divine splendor, making her appear incomparably holy. She held a golden horn in her hand, and it was small and elegant, as well as transparent and shiny. With a slash, it drew out a streak of divine light, turning the surface of the nest closest to her into fine powder. It even smashed apart a piece of precious bone.

“Yi, why isn’t there any?” The purple haired girl frowned. Even though she broke through a restriction, it was completely empty within the nest. She didn’t find much.

The little guy was also disappointed. Originally, he thought that there would be some formidable treasure. In the end, it was just an empty nest.

“Hateful human, how can i take care of that brat?” The purple-haired girl spoke to herself, and it was obvious that she was still pissed.

The little guy scratched his head. She was clearly exploring a nest, yet why did it seem like he was being talked about instead? It seems like she just can’t be good-natured.

“I need to make a plan to draw him out, and then...” The purple-haired girl was untainted by even a speck of dust. While being enveloped in divine rings, her spirited pupils flickered with a strand of electricity.

“She plans to scheme against me?” Originally, the little guy was going to back off, temporary not wanting to make a new branch grow out of a knot[1]. After all, the outside world turned into a bloody purgatory, and it wasn’t good to make too much noise. However now, he stopped himself again.

“I’ve always wanted to capture an Archaic vicious beast youth. It will be you!” He made his decision.

Following that, he turned into a stream of light as he pounced over, directly jumping onto that purple-haired girl’s back. With his arms around her neck, he began to suppress her. Lifting up the heaven and earth net, numerous strands of auspicious light headed towards her head.

Ahpu

The purple-haired girl was so angry she almost spat out blood. She just finished talking about that human youth, yet in the end he immediately appeared. Moreover, he directly hung from her back, this was simply... Infuriating beyond belief!

Normally, she was treated like a goddess. She was set up on high, aloof and remote. She was divine and inviolable, and any race’s genius would inevitably show her extreme courtesy. They would admire her endlessly; who would dare to blaspheme?

No matter where she went, she would always attract the attention of tens of thousands. It would be like the stars grouping themselves around the moon, and her unmatched appearance would make others feel ashamed of their inferiority, making them unwilling to face her.

Yet this brat actually treated her like some vicious beast, jumping and moving about on her. After jumping onto her flawless back, he directly began to fight and wrestle about, truly about to anger her to death.

“Get inside for me!”

The little guy hung from her back, one hand around her snow swan-like neck, and the other propping up the heaven and earth pouch. Multicolored light flew out in a multitude of strands, and thousands of propitious light strands were mitted. He wanted to collect her inside, thoroughly making her yield.

“Damned brat!” The purple-haired girl was so angry she began shaking. Divine splendor was released from all over her body, and the ornaments on her head in particular flowed with divine multicolored light. She resisted the heaven and earth net, and did not enter it.

Soon after, the symbols around her entire body began to flicker, wanting to refine the little guy. She was incomparably resentful.

The little guy wouldn’t let go even if he died. As he hung from her neck, he used all of his strength to subdue her. However, he was actually grimacing in pain. The purple-clothed girl’s symbols were too terrifying, shaking him until his bones were bursting noise.

“Archaic vicious beasts really are powerful! Even the random things around her head region is precious.” The little guy was discontent. Just now, if it were not for the jewelry hanging around her earlobe flickering with multicolored light, stopping the heaven and earth pouch, he definitely would have collected her inside.

The two individuals fought, one using brute force and the other using heaven defying symbols. However, the little guy felt as if something was wrong. The opposing party’s body was emitting light, as if it wanted to refine him alive.

In particular, that piece of jewelry on her ear was emitting precious splendor. There was a divine radiance being emitted, hacking towards him.

Dang

The little guy moved his head about, using the small pagoda in his hair to block it. The small pagoda trembled, becoming sparkling and transparent. It emitted strands of mysterious aura, making that earpiece immediately dim down.

“Mine!”

Upon seeing this, the little guy bit down on the earring and pulled downwards.

Ah... The purple-hair girl was angry and embarrassed. This fellow was too shameful, actually biting her ear, this... Her entire body turned pink, and was humiliated to the extreme. Her jade-like body began to tremble slightly.

“Mine, mine!” The devilish brat couldn’t care less about her screaming. He focused all of his attention on the purple earrings, and after biting down, he used all of his strength to pull downwards.

The purple-haired girl was on the verge of going mad. This was definitely an undermining image. Typically, she would be known as a goddess, yet now she was in this state.

A row of teeth marks appeared on that sparkling and pure white earlobe. The little guy wouldn’t let go even if he died, and he bit down with his little fierce teeth with all of his strength. Grinding with all of his strength, he wanted to remove that mysterious earring.

The purple-haired girl was beyond angry. Not only was she in pain, but she was also humiliated and angry. This was the first time such a thing has happened in her life, because if such a thing did happen to her before, even a deity would collapse.

She activated the earring, wanting to smash apart the little guy's teeth. However, she found that it didn't work. After the earring collided with the small pagoda in the little guy's hair, it seemed like it no longer worked properly, and couldn't be activated.

The pure and holy symbols around her were momentarily dimmed as a result of the biting. She was so humiliated and angry that she almost fainted. Her heart was in disorder, and the strength of her precious methods suddenly diminished.

The two individuals fell onto the ground, rolling around and wrestling about. During this period of time, he bit her sparkling and translucent ear, and without letting go, he shouted, "Mine!"

With a weng sound, the purple-haired girl use her right wrist to strike backwards. There was a sparkling divine ring there, and it was also a terrifying precious artifact. She wanted to blast the little guy to death.

As a result, a kengchi sound rang out, and her wrist felt a sharp pain. She was bitten again, and that transparent ring was also restrained, no longer able to display its might.

The purple-haired girl was going crazy. Exactly how many mouths did this devilish brat have? How can he endlessly bite like this? What type of disgraceful strategy was this? She had never seen such a thing before!

Something was wrong. Her eyes flashed past, and noticed that the stone in this brat's hair grew bigger. The one that bit her sparkling white wrist and divine bracelet was that divine striking stone, and it was shouting, "This is mine!"

She was so angry she began to tremble. These two degenerates, where is your morality and conduct? Both of them were actually biting her.

"Mine, mine, all mine!" The little guy had his mouth on the sparkling earlobe, as well as the transparent earring as he shouted.

"This piece should belong to me!" The Divine Striking Stone did not give in.

"I won't forgive you guys!" The purple-haired girl shrieked, and the symbols around her body blazed.

The little guy grinded his teeth and used all of his strength to bite down. Finally, he obtained it. The earpiece's chain refined out of divine gold was broken by his chewing.

The earring came off, and a row of teeth marks as well as a bit of blood appeared on the girl's white and brilliant earlobe, emitting a sweet fragrance.

"It's sweet. What kind of precious blood is this?" The devilish brat was biting the earpiece while he revealed puzzled expression. He once again bit down on the moist and bright earlobe before sucking in a bit of the sweet blood.

"I'm going to fight you to the death!" The girl truly was going to go mad from anger. Her dark brows jumped, and her large quick-witted eyes shot out flames as she began to stake it all against him.

The devilish brat was wrestling on the floor with her, and in addition, they both used their most powerful precious artifacts. The broken sword was bright, and a crystalline mirror on the girl's chest also emitted light as they fiercely collided.

Hong!

The entire mountain was smashed apart. They fell down, and the little guy noticed that there was a place of exceptional charm and beauty within the mountain center. There was actually another bird nest, and lying within this area was a cocoon.

He quickly rushed over and picked up the cocoon. After that, he began to make his getaway.

“Little thief, where do you think you’re going?!” The mysterious fluctuations around her surged, making her look like a fairy. The sleeves of her clothes fluttered about as she chased after him with killing intent. Her graceful and slender body was shaking, and her pure white skin emitted light.

Side issues keep arising

Chapter 163 - Hundred Shattering Heart

The little guy disappeared like a wisp of smoke. While carrying that shining cocoon, he passed over the mountain ridges extremely quickly. In his opinion, things that the purple-haired girl were interested in were definitely not inferior, so he decided to grab it first and think about it later.

“Disgraceful little thief!” The purple-haired girl’s clothes lightly fluttered as she traveled high up in the sky. She was like a fairy that descended from the lunar palace, possessing an unspeakable amount of pureness as she chased after him.

She was truly angered to the extreme. This hateful child lacked basic moral sense, and dared to mount this type of sneak attack on her! What kind of mess of a technique was that? Wrestling was bad enough, yet he also bit her ear!

The little guy paid no attention to her, and only silently cursed. Who told the other party to scheme against him? This was an extremely normal type of fight. He even tried to chew sand before, so what’s so special about a vicious beast’s ear?!

He constantly changed directions, weaving in and out. He ran within the primitive mountain ranges, and would turn around to grumble from time to time. “You are too savage and unforgiving. Are you never going to stop?!”

The purple-haired girl was furious. This little thief was too shameful, actually blaming her instead! Attacking her from behind, wrestling with her, biting her ear, moreover snatching away everything! The precious earring artifact and shining cocoon were both carried away by him.

“Damned little thief, you don’t even know what kind of thing that is, yet you run up and seize it. Too hateful and disgraceful!” She spoke through clenched teeth.

The little guy didn’t care at all. He decided to steal it first and then think about what happens after.

Finally, after an hour of chasing, he shook off the purple-haired girl. After all, there was only one person chasing after him, and it was not several flying divine birds that surrounded him.

“You are truly savage, actually biting off that piece of jewelry from her ear. Why couldn’t I bite off her bracelet?!” The Divine Striking Stone was full of regret. It already shrunk down to a fingertip size, and was swaying in the little guy’s hair.

“You didn’t have the heart of one who is unrivalled!” The little guy said with an unwavering expression.

“Ahpei!” The mischievous stone curled its lips. Biting someone’s ear is something that an unrivalled person does? It felt that it was truly not shameful enough.

“Truly is good stuff.” The little guy moved the earring pendant back and forth. It was only the size of a pigeon egg, and was perfectly round and transparent. Its entire body was purple, emitting sparkling multicolored light as well as dense propitious vapors.

“Let me see exactly what type of stone this is.” The divine striking moved forward, and it was obvious that it wanted to eat it.

“This isn’t a stone, it’s a pearl, so don’t have any strange ideas on it. Otherwise, I squeeze you together with the small pagoda,” warned the little guy.

The fingertip size precious pearl was flowing with brilliant light. As long as it was activated a bit, symbols would immediately appear on its surface, forming a curtain of light. It could be used to protect one’s body, and could also release sword qi; it was truly wondrous.

“It’s only a small piece of jewelry, yet it actually holds divine might!” The little guy was amazed. This kind of precious artifact was truly rarely seen.

The only thing was that this earring was too delicate, and he had no way of attaching it to his hair. In the end, he refined that divine golden chain again, making it longer and thinner. He fastened it to his wrist, and at a crucial point, it could be a great killing weapon.

“Yi, something’s not right!” The little guy shivered. He felt a wave of killing intent, and quickly hid himself.

Following that, he saw a Mang ox[1. I think I used to name this fat cow or luxurious cow. I have no idea what a 莽牛 is]. Its entire body was scarlet red, and as it tread on rocks, they all immediately turned into magma. It could be seen how terrifying and scorching hot its body temperature was.

It directly smashed into a stone mountain, or it can be said it melted its way inside. Magma trickled out, and it once again sealed up the cave, only leaving a small hole open.

“What is this fellow doing? It’s definitely a beast king!” The little guy had his suspicions, and after watching a bit more, he finally understood. This old cow was going into hiding, and was lying in wait for opportunities. It was hunting the geniuses that entered the mountains.

A few divine birds and pure-blooded creatures entered the mountains, wanting to loot the nests of the most powerful beast kings. However, not all of these old monsters left their nests, and they were also preparing an ambush on these pure-blooded vicious beasts.

Hou...

A blood-curdling screech rang out from the distant mountain range, shaking everything. An extremely powerful genius was executed, and was swallowed by that rainbow peacock.

“So powerful!”

The little guy was shocked. That was definitely a formidable genius. Precious artifacts blossomed with divine light, shining on that mountain range until it became bright and resplendent. However, in the end, it was still no match for that enormous peacock.

He became more and more careful. There was killing everywhere, and there was no area without danger.

“What kind of background does this cocoon have?” The little guy found a remote mountain forest and placed it down. He carefully sized it up. It was like a divine silkworm was hiding inside as it flowed with multicolored splendor.

The Divine Striking Stone said, “This is extremely good material, and is not any inferior to Heaven Silk. There’s isn’t a single blemish, and neither fire nor water can get inside. It’s defensive capabilities are extremely impressive.”

“I wonder when it will break out of the cocoon. Could it be a Demonic Crack Butterfly?” The little guy was suspicious, and was incomparably hopeful.

“When have you ever seen a Demonic Crack Butterfly living in a bird nest?” Spoke the mischievous stone.

“That’s true.” The little guy placed the large egg inside the heaven and earth pouch.

Suddenly, a roar rang out from the distance. The earth quaked and the mountains shook, making even that rainbow peacock in the air retreat. It actually did not want to approach that mountain range.

“So powerful! That was the central region of the Hundred Shattered Mountains. Exactly what type of creature is that?” The little guy was amazed.

After arriving here, he became extremely careful and prudent, because he knew that there were beast kings in hiding. They could release a terrifying attack at any time. noVε(ℓb.1n

Honglonglong

The great earth trembled, and the Zhujian appeared. A huge chunk of flesh was torn from its back, and blood poured out. It carried with it a gale as it ran away as fast as it could.

Behind him was an old wolf. It seemed rather thin, and was not rather big. It was only a meter long, yet it was terrifyingly imposing. Its two eyes were bright like lamps, and each leap would cross several zhang[2]. It’s speed was so fast it made people fearful.

Wherever it landed, the ground would inevitable cave in. The sound of the old claws digging into the ground was more terrifying than a thunder god’s hammer.

The Zhujian used a supreme precious artifact. It turned into a circle of light, wrapping itself around its body. It ran extremely quickly, because if it didn’t, it would have been restrained by that old wolf.

“So powerful! It looks like an ordinary wolf, but it was actually this vicious and powerful!”

“Don’t underestimate that wolf. It should have trained for at least several hundred years, and is one of the strongest within the Hundred Shattering Mountains!” Said the mischievous stone.

Pulengleng

The sound of wings flapping could be heard. In the distance, a Bifang rose high above the mountain range and cried out. It was using an extremely powerful precious artifact that emitted divine radiance, but it still suffered greatly.

A rainbow peacock was pursuing it, and a single claw was able to tear through its defenses. Feathers swirled in the air, and a rain of blood gushed out. The Bifang fled towards the distance while carrying this injury.

This wasn't the only place where this kind of thing was happening. Within the heart of the Hundred Shattering Mountains, the few extremely daring creatures that broke into the forbidden land of beast kings were all ambushed.

The little guy began to feel extremely troubled. It took an arduous half a day to finally get to the place where Big Red, Nine-Headed Lion and others agreed on. However, other than the mass chaos, he didn't see anything else.

Hou...

A roar once again sounded from within the central region with an extremely strong penetrative power. Even the trees here began to sway, making leaves fly everywhere.

It was so ridiculous that inside of the mountain region in the distance, there were ancient trees that exploded, leaving behind only large areas of fragments flying about.

"What type of creature is it?!" The little guy was endlessly bewildered.

Chi

A beam of light rushed over, twisting apart the ancient trees. It pushed its way through the mountain region, and it was precisely a Horned Dragon. Currently, there was blood all over its body, and its tail almost broke off. It was in a sorry state as it fled quickly.

Following that, the little guy finally saw what was in the center of the mountain range. There was a group of monkeys, all of them surrounded by bright and resplendent golden light. They were extremely powerful, jumping from one mountain to another. While crying out with wuwu sounds, they chased after the Horned Dragon to capture and kill it.

There was a divine monkey in that group that was especially powerful. It was not taller than 150 centimeters, but its entire body seemed like it was cast from gold. It was the boss of the group, and was terrifying. It even made the Rainbow Peacock in the air retreat.

It took in and released large amounts of multicolored light, each time cracking apart the great earth. It directly crossing over the mountain range, and was simply too quick and violent.

The Horned Dragon was injured by it. The group of monkeys surrounded it, making the pure-blooded beast almost fall here.

Pu

The divine monkey possessed extraordinary strength, and threw out a divine lance that was several tens of thousands jin in weight. With a pu sound, it nailed the Horned Dragon, making it release a wretched cry. The tail that was about to fall off was blasted into mush.

Even while down, it was decisive. With a fierce movement, it broke off the badly mangled tail and used its precious artifact to turn it into a circle of light. With the light wrapped around itself, it penetrated into the mountains.

The Archaic vicious beast heir was extremely powerful, moreover, it had a supreme precious artifact in its hands. However, here, it was still not enough. It received a serious injury, and seemed like it was going to die.

The little guy trembled with fear. This place is too dangerous! Big Red, Nine-Headed Lion and the others could have fallen as well, right?

These golden monkeys all came from the lands that were sealed off. No one saw them previously, and they were all rather powerful, especially that leader, who was even more unreasonably violent!

“Why do I feel like the Horned Dragon took the initiative to provoke the divine monkey? Otherwise, with its ability to conceal itself, it’s unlikely for it to be so miserable.” The little guy said.

“The Horned Dragon must have had its eyes on the divine monkey. There must be some incredible object there!” Said the mischievous stone.

Chi

Suddenly, a tall ancient tree trembled. Bright and resplendent light blossomed, and several dozen strands of shining stolons simultaneously rushed over. Some were like battle spears, and some were like small horned dragons as they attacked together.

“This is a Ironblood Ancient Tree!” The Mischievous stone cried out in fear.

Honglong

The little guy took out the Suan Ni precious mirror, and a barrage of lightning struck down. However, it was difficult to break apart the giant tree’s body. Its entire body emitted light, and its stolons became incomparably sturdy. The entire tree was a precious artifact.

Dang

The dozen stolons attacked at the same time. Some were like battle lances, and some were like divine whips as they struck forward. The mountain stones shattered, and even the Suan Ni precious mirror began to tremble.

“Run! Even though your precious artifact is powerful, this tree’s cultivation is too high! You are far from being its opponent!” Said the mischievous stone.

The Ironblood Ancient Tree is a type of terrifying creature, and it was born with spiritual wisdom. It was humongous, and after it flipped out, there wasn’t a single creature that wasn’t intimidated.

Weng

The little guy held the broken sword in his hands and hacked down violently. An enormous sword radiance swept past,

The Ironblood Ancient Tree went crazy. Its body immediately became the color of blood, and even the leaves became like so, scarlet and glistening. It went completely berserk, and all kinds of stolons and branches emitted light. They scattered out endless symbols, submerging everything in front.

“Too powerful!”

This ancient tree’s cultivation realm was terrifyingly high. The little guy turned around and ran while using the broken sword to clear the way. He chopped apart a few branches, and at the same time, the pendant around his wrist emitted light, forming a curtain. It gathered around his body, and blocked a large amount of symbols.

With a hong sound, this mountain region exploded. The little guy was like a falling leaf, and flew out from the chaos. He coughed out blood from his mouth.

The Ironblood Ancient Tree rose steeply from the ground and was like a demonic deity. It completely recovered its strength, and it became several times stronger than before. A sparkling stolon thrashed over. With a pa sound, a mountain peak was smashed apart.

“Too terrifying! This is also a king class creature!” The little guy was frightened. This mountain range appeared to be peaceful and lacking in vicious beasts, yet it was still full of murderous dangers.

He began to escape, however, the Ironblood Ancient Tree was truly terrifying. Its entire body was a moist scarlet, and travelled even faster than a giant creature. It chased after him, flattening the mountain region while doing so.

This colossus really did have the ability to move mountains and seas. It emitted a bloody light, and with a sweep of its symbols, rubble collapsed. All types of obstacles were turned into broken pieces.

The little guy fled for his life. The Ironblood Ancient Tree destroyed more enormous mountains, obliterating everything in its way. It crushed apart all the large mountains along the way within the mountain range, and was simply powerful without rival.

Four hours later, it finally broke free. However, there were bloodstains all over his body, and he nearly collapsed.

The little guy went into hiding, and for the next two days, he always moved sneakily through this region. He noticed that the Horned Dragon, Zhujian, Bifang and the others returned, once again appearing here.

In addition, the purple-haired girl also arrived. She came to an agreement with the other pure-blooded creatures, and actually joined hands with them.

In the end, he even noticed the Crack Demonic Butterfly, Demonic Cattail Tree, and Shi Yi’s tracks. They all came from the sealed Hundred Shattering Mountain depths, and did not know what was hiding within these divine monkeys’ nest.

“Over here... This side!”

When the little guy heard this voice, he immediately turned around. To his surprise, he saw the big red bird, and it was currently whispering and hinting for him to come over.

"I almost didn't notice you!" He was considerably shocked. How did the big red bird come out of nowhere? Following that, he saw Huo Ling'er, the Nine-Headed Lion, and others walk out from thin air.

3.3 meters

Chapter 164 - Divine Monkey Treasure Land

"You guys are all fine?" The little guy's eyes were round as he stared. He himself even got into difficult situations several times while being attacked by the Ironblood Ancient Tree, yet in the end, these guys were rather carefree and relaxed.

This was especially true for the Big Red Bird. Using one of its wings like a hand, it held a roasted lamb leg. It ate while walking over casually, rocking from side to side. Grease dripped from its mouth, and it was so carefree and content that it made others want to give it a few smacks.

"So miserable looking. Did you get beaten up by someone?" Asked the big red bird.

Dang

The little guy removed the Divine striking stone from his hair and directly threw it at the big red bird. In the end, the mischievous stone cried out with ao ao sound while rolling on the ground, complaining about the pain.

The big red bird was dumbstruck. It was originally grimacing in pain, yet after seeing how this rock acted, it couldn't help but question itself. Was its head really that hard?

However, it then saw how smooth and sparkly the stone was, without a hint of damage. After rubbing the huge blister on its own head, it immediately began to stomp in angry. It was flustered and exasperated as it said, "What are you bitching about?!"

"I'm in so much pain... About to break... Your head is too hard, is it made of steel?" The mischievous stone shouted.

The big red bird swallowed the roasted lamb leg in one gulp and jumped over. Slamming down with all its strength on the stone, it said, "Talking stone, after speaking to me like that, let's see if you'll break or not."

"You should just save your energy. This thing gave even the Horned Dragon, Zhujian, and other Archaic vicious beasts several big bumps on their heads. You won't be able to break it." The little guy advised.

"Damn stone!"

The group of people were all curious, asking how that could be. The little guy quickly explained a bit, leaving all those that heard him dumbstruck.

"Right, where were you guys hiding? I saw you guys come out from nowhere. Have you guys encountered the massacre caused by the indigenous creatures these past few days?"

"In the beginning it was extremely dangerous, but we had a unique treasure here, allowing us to easily avoid the great calamity." When their experiences during the past few days were brought up, the people's expressions became that of amazement.

At first, they went all over the place to search for spirit medicine while feeling rather relaxed. With the group of Archaic species walking together, no one dared to provoke them. However, the wave of beasts erupted, and the indigenous creatures released their fierceness as they moved out to hunt. The entire small world became a bloody wasteland.

During the initial stages, they did indeed encounter their attacks. They almost died on the spot, because there were Golden-Winged Pengu, Rainbow Peacocks, Silver Feathered Bird Kings, and even a group of powerful golden monkeys here; it was incomparably terrifying.

"Fortunately, brother Luan's family property is quite ample, actually possessing a Cloud Piercing Boat. It must have been refined through the clan's Rainbow Precious Bone, making it extremely fast. It allowed us to escape the group of beast and bird kings' pursuit.

The Rainbow Luan bird originated from an ancient race. Originally, they were pure-blooded divine birds, but later on, a few unforeseen events occurred. Their bloodlines thinned, but the race's foundation was still there.

"Of course, we were lucky to have the fire nation princess' divine blanket, hiding our presence. It allowed us to hide in the void, making it so that no one could see us."

This was the skin of an Archaic Void Beast. It contained an out of the ordinary ability, and after it was refined into a precious artifact, it allowed one to hide between the heavens and the earth without being discovered by others.

The little guy was curious, and so he hopped onto that enormous divine rug. He noticed that there were a few white jade tables set up, and on top of them were roasted meat and berries. These people truly knew how to enjoy themselves!

He was utterly speechless. He killed his way over with strenuous effort while fearing that something bad happened to them. He almost threw away his own life, yet in the end, these fellows were all leaping and frisking about, each of them more healthy than the last.

"I'm warning you, you better not have any ideas about this divine blanket!" Huo Ling'er stared at him, because she was fully aware of his character.

The little guy was embarrassed and mumbled, "What's there to be so selfish about, not like you lose anything if I just touch it a bit."

"This is my father the emperor's possession." Huo Ling'er was tall and slender, and her fiery clothes flickered with multicolored light. Her curves moved up and down, and they were extremely large and wonderful. Her appearance was exquisite, and even though her age was not great, her figure was still better than those eighteen and nineteen year olds.

"The human emperor's treasure?!" After the little guy heard this, his saliva gurgled.

This really was the Fire Nation Emperor's treasure, and he bestowed it upon the daughter he doted on. Otherwise, where would they possibly see such a legendary Void Beast Skin?

"Exactly what is there within the mountain range depths?" The little guy was extremely curious. The Horned Dragon, Bifang, Zhujian, and purple-haired girl all entered, and it was obvious that there was a great purpose for doing so.

"I don't know. The shitty monkeys are too strong. I used the divine blanket to look around, and yet in the end, I was still almost caught by a damn monkey!"

When this topic was brought up, the big red bird immediately became angry. It sneaked in like a thief while hiding itself to look around the forbidden area, yet in the end, it didn't know how, but was still discovered by a monkey. It tore at the big red bird's feathers frantically with its claws, making the big red bird's butt region bare. Its tail feathers were almost completely plucked clean, leaving it in an extremely sorry state.

"What did you say? That leopard-bodied, cow-eared, single eyed fellow is a pure-blooded Zhujian?" The big red bird's face fluttered from white to green.

The little guy brought up those divine birds and vicious beasts and asked them whether or not they noticed what these pure-blooded creatures were up to. In the end, it made this group beat their chest and stamp their feet.

Even Huo Ling'er sighed, feeling great pity. The several restricted individuals' flowery white hair and beards trembled, all of them shouting for the will of heaven.

That Zhujian was also hunted by the group of golden monkeys, moreover having a large chunk of its flesh chopped off by them. It was lying down not far from the divine blanket, and as long as the big red bird took out the black pot, it would be able to collect it. In the end, they did not know, and it was happily taken away by a group of monkeys.

"Stop thinking so much. We won't be staying within the Hundred Shattering Mountains for many days longer and will be exiting soon. Let's use this time to quickly find some spirit medicine and other treasures." The little guy was the one that spoke. He was extremely curious towards the monkeys' den, and really wanted to find out what was over there.

Two days later, the little guy was convinced that there was some amazing treasure. Otherwise, how could it attract so many pure-blooded creatures? They saw the Horned Dragon, Zhujian, Bifang, purple-haired girl, and others several times.

Finally, those creatures actually grouped together to carry out some kind of operation. They surrounded this central region and continuously wandered around.

It was obvious that they also had concealing treasures that allowed them to mask their presence. Even though they would provoke the divine monkeys from time to time and get attacked, they could still spy from a distance.

In addition, the Demonic Cattail tree, Shi Yi, and the others were also moving out. They were cautious and prudent, and all of them wanted to get near that mountain.

Besides them, there was also the enormous Black Hou, and from the magma walked out a scarlet Mang ox. The Rainbow Peacock, and Golden Winged Peng could also be seen, but they did not yet approach.

“What kind of heaven angering thing did these monkeys do, attracting the attention of so many people?” The big red bird was stunned.

They hid within the divine blanket and watched from the side. After watching for several days in succession, they had a good idea of what went on outside.

Finally, they moved. They felt like they just had to find out what exactly those monkeys were protecting.

The divine blanket began to float, carrying them forward within the void towards that pure land. However, they no longer dared to approach after a while even though there was still a large distance between them, because the divine monkey boss was too powerful. Their spiritual awareness was so sharp it was a bit terrifying. Several pure-blooded creatures that were using their race’s ancient concealment treasures were even discovered by it, almost being struck down as a result.

If these pure-blooded creatures did not rely on the precious artifacts passed down by their ancestors, they all would have died here. Not a single one would be able to survive.

A long time passed. They were still separated by the forest, and were far away. After wasting an entire day, they could only make out a bit of the scene inside.

This was a pure land, and strand after strand of smoke-like spiritual essence was being emitted. A small sparkling and transparent lake lied at the center, brilliant and dazzling.

“That lake is formed completely out of spiritual essence! It actually became a liquid form! This is simply too astonishing. This group of wretched monkeys are actually occupying this kind of precious land. No wonder they are so powerful and terrifying.”

Everyone became incomparably fearful. This type of spirit earth was truly rarely seen within this world. The essence energy was like water, and as it flowed on the ground, it collected into a small lake.

Large boulders lied in disarray within the vicinity. Beautiful trees grew here, and there was no lack of spirit medicine here. It was like a fairy tale world with overflowing multicolored light, making the area exceptionally bright.

“What are those? The small trees by the spiritual liquid lake, why are they burning?” The Nine-Headed Lion was bewildered.

“Let us take a look.” The two three-eyed brothers walked up and stood at the very front of the divine blanket. The vertical eyed between their eyebrows lit up, and symbols began to spread out as they looked forward.

“They are four small trees roughly half a person in height. However, they aren’t burning, and are just excessively dazzling. Even the branches and leaves are emitting light, and as a result, it looks like there are flames jumping.”

The little guy's body was powerful, and his spiritual awareness was naturally extraordinary as well. His eyes were sharp, and strange symbols appeared on his eyes. When he looked forward, he also became amazed.

There really were four shining precious trees. None of them were bigger than a person's waist in thickness, and was roughly half the size of a human. Regardless of whether it were the branches or the leaves, they were all silver; they were like a silver flame as they lit up.

There were two or three silver peaches on each tree, and they were all a moist faint golden color. They were exceptionally resplendent, and seemed like they were carved out of divine jade.

"Really want to eat it..." The little guy wiped off his saliva.

"Look at how mature you are." Huo Ling'er shot him a look. What a model foodie, taking a bite out of everything he sees.

"Yi, do you guys smell something? It's almost as if a faint sweet scent is drifting over." The big red bird's nose was better than a dog's.

"Right, there really is a unique scent floating around." The sable nodded.

"This can't be the legendary Immortal Peach Tree, right?! I heard a long time ago that the Hundred Shattering Mountains had this type of divine medicine, but I never thought that this legend was real!" The Flame Crow exclaimed in admiration, and its eyes were wide open.

"It really is how I guessed after all. These monkeys are protecting a divine medicine." The Divine Striking Stone spoke and was proud of itself.

"If you knew this entire time, why didn't you say it out loud?" The little guy stared at it.

"What? If you knew, why did you let us squander this entire day? We owe you a beating, right?"

The group of people had enough, and with the big red bird as the leader, they surrounded and began to beat it.

"I was only guessing! If there turned out to be nothing, how embarrassing would that be? Stop hitting me! There are a few things that you guys definitely don't know! That isn't a divine medicine!"

The Immortal Peach Tree was a divine medicine within the Hundred Shattering Mountains, and was far more ancient than the other divine plants. Later on, for the sake of evolving, it searched for the necessary objects within the Hundred Shattering Mountains, but still failed in the end.

"Isn't it growing well over there?" The Nine-Headed Lion didn't believe it.

The Divine Striking Stone explained, "The Immortal Peach Tree was aggressive and ambitious, and in order to establish a supernatural foundation, it used too much heaven and earth essence. In the end, it refined itself to death while still alive, leaving behind four seeds.

It could tell with a glance that the four trees weren't divine medicines. They received the nourishment of the spiritual liquid, and after an extremely long time, they developed sentience and transformed. They were about to transform into divine medicine.

Everyone became dumbstruck. Could it be that four stalks of divine medicine were going to appear at once? This truly made people amazed.

"It's too difficult for all four of them to turn into divine medicine. Three of them will be sucked dry to support one stalk, so for one new divine medicine to appear is not a problem," the Divine Striking Stone said.

In that instant, everyone's eyes lit up. These were actually four stalks of unique precious medicine! They were on the brink of becoming divine medicine, and it was no wonder so many creatures coveted after them.

"The four stalks of medicine are about to transform. Moreover, the silver immortal peaches are on the verge of becoming ripe. They can definitely help one undergo a complete transformation."

No wonder the Bifang, Horned Dragon, Zhujian and the others couldn't sit still. They all came here, and it was for the sake of seizing the divine medicine! The purple-haired girl, Shi Yi, and the Demonic Cattail Tree were all like this as well. It was to the point where even the Hundred Shattering Mountains' Kings Golden Winged Peng, Black Hou, Scarlet Flame Mang Ox, Rainbow Peacock and others were like this.

"They are about to move. I'm guessing that this group of monkeys most likely won't be able to protect it for long. Even the Kings of the Hundred Shattering Mountains are here, and that Golden Winged Peng and others simply aren't easy to provoke."

"Not necessarily. I reckon that the divine monkey at the forefront is unrivalled. The Peng is not even its opponent."

They speculated that there would inevitably be a great battle here. The four Immortal Peach trees would definitely bring about a heaven overflowing crisis.

Hou...

Up ahead within the fairytale like pure land, a single monkey stood on a giant multicolored bird's body as it slaughtered its way over. A golden battle spear was held in its hand, and with a honglong sound, it hacked towards the mountain range in front of it.

Hou...

There were several beast kings there, and all of them got up. They spat out symbols and held precious artifacts to fiercely contest it.

"They started fighting!"

"Those pure-blooded creatures also made their moves, prepared to take advantage of this crisis!"

"What do we do? Should we fight as well?"

The big red bird, Nine-Headed Lion and others were anxious, as they wanted to take actions too.

"You guys only know how to attack and kill, too savage. We only want the divine medicine, so there is no need to kill," said the little guy.

Chapter 165 - Little Devil Wine

“To actually dare steal my divine medicine, have you all forgotten what happened to your ancestors?” This golden monkey was extremely overbearing. It pointed its golden battle spear forward and faced the opposing parties.

“Shitty monkey, hand over your life!” Fiery light overflowed into the heavens, and the entirely scarlet Mang Ox rushed over. Magma surged, and everywhere it treaded upon turned into boiling scarlet liquid, raising the temperature to an extremely high degree.

“A Mang Ox isn’t good enough to be my opponent. A small cow like you even wanna flip the wind and waves? You aren’t going to go after pure-blooded creatures, and instead have your eyes on me, you truly picked a route of death!” The divine monkey’s temper exploded. Golden light overflowed from its body in all four directions, and with a single leap, it directly rose several hundred zhang into the air. It used the golden battle spear like a large rod and thrashed out downwards.

With a dong sound, the scarlet magma on the ground surged like a huge wave, rising several hundred zhang into the air. The golden battle spear smashed with a kengqiang sound into a scarlet blade.

The demonic cow changed forms and stood up in human form. With a giant blood-colored blade in its hands, it fiercely collided with the divine monkey. However, it was actually forced backwards. After coughing out blood continuously, it shouted, “What are you all waiting for? Take down that monkey and the four stalks of divine medicine by the pure land’s spiritual lake will be ours!”

In the sky, rainbow colored divine light flickered. A huge peacock swooped down towards the depths of the mountain range. It did not participate in the fight, but instead directly rushed towards the spiritual lake to seize the divine medicine.

“Rise!”

The monkey shouted loudly, and with a hong sound, the spear smashed down. The scarlet Mang Ox’s expression changed, because it was left with no choice but to resist with all its strength. As a result, the divine monkey was able to borrow this strength to soar into the air. It sat on top of a multi-colored giant bird and chased after the Rainbow Peacock.

After a loud rumbling sound, the Mang Ox roared loudly. The earth beneath its feet cracked apart, and at the same time, magma surged like a huge wave, covering its body. It continuously retreated while blood dripped out of its mouth.

“Monkey, you are too overbearing. Back then, you killed so many of our ancestors and seized the divine medicine without leaving behind even a single stalk. After acting like this, did you truly not fear the kings all coming after you?” Shouted the Rainbow Peacock.

It opened its mouth and spat out a precious imprint. It circulated with symbols as it flew over.

“The weak will serve and the strong will rule. It has always been this way, and if I wasn’t strong enough, I would have been eaten by other creatures a long time ago. There isn’t much to say about this.” The golden monkey’s body was not large, but it was imposing and bold. The golden battle lance in its hands pierced forward, causing a multitude of golden light to burst forth. With a qiang sound, sparks flew everywhere and divine multicolored light surged.

The precious imprint flipped around as it flew out, continuously growing in size. Finally, it smashed apart a strip of the mountain range, emitting an expanse of auspicious color.

“Kill!”

In the distance, a golden great Peng flew over. As it spread its wings to take to the skies, its massive body could clearly be seen. Its firm and fierce body emitted golden bright and resplendent light as it directly used its divine wings to sweep over.

With a honglong sound, the entire heaven and earth seemed like it was about to shatter. Its physique was powerful and unmatched. As it looked at that monkey, it felt as if it was looking at an ant.

Hou!

The golden monkey released a roar and jumped off of the multicolored giant bird. Its body quickly grew large, and it looked like a golden mountain as it stood up within the mountain region.

This type of aura and forcefulness completely shocked all of the kings stiff. They all began to feel somewhat scared and upset.

The monkey was incomparably divine and brave. A fist smashed down on the great Peng’s wings, causing golden divine light to burst forth. A honglong sound rang out between the two individuals, creating a violent gale that engulfed the mountains and rivers.

Rubble and broken pieces of wood all swirled up together. It was like a tornado, causing sand to fly and stones to roll. This entire mountain range was in utter chaos as it violently began to shake.

The Golden Winged Peng’s body was tyrannical; however, after the divine monkey used its precious method, it became equally lofty and powerful. Its combat strength was unrivalled, and it was impossible to resist. n/(0vELBIn

“So powerful!” In the distance, the big red bird withdrew its neck. These two giants were too powerful, and their cultivation realms far surpassed its own.

“That’s the Heavenly Law and Earth!” The little guy’s large eyes shone as he stared at the monkey’s powerful physical body. Speaking to himself, he said, “What a pity. The symbols within Hairy Ball[1] were destroyed; otherwise, my comprehension would be more profound, allowing me to understand more!”

With a weng sound, the great Golden Winged Peng circled around before swooping over once again. It spat out a golden divine sword that was circulating with auspicious multicolored light, and shot it out towards the monkey.

The divine monkey sneered. With the battle spear that similarly grew in size, it sprinted forward. Symbols erupted everywhere; this was a confrontation carrying the force of the dao and law.

Dang

The sharp and clear metallic sounds shook everyone’s bodies until they began to sway back and forth. Divine multicolored light shot out in all directions due to both precious artifacts emitting light. All types of mysterious symbols radiated, and in addition, the powerful force caused the entire mountain range to shake, making numerous tree leaves shatter.

The monkey bared its fangs, revealed a mouthful of snow white fierce teeth. It stamped on the ground and directly soared into the skies. Brandishing its battle spear in his hands, it smashed down on the opponent in front of it.

Meanwhile, after enduring the fierce collision, the great Golden Winged Peng exhausted a severe amount of divine strength. It almost lost control over the golden divine sword, and was sent flying together with its owner outwards. After seeing the divine monkey follow up with another attack, it couldn't help but release a roar. Its wings moved, activating its primitive symbols. Transforming into a blazing wheel, it charged downwards.

Hong

The great Peng coughed out blood, and its body flew outwards. Cold light shot through the divine monkey's eyes, and it quickly shrunk. It fell down on the multicolored giant bird and looked disdainfully in all directions.

Chi

Suddenly, a streak of black wind swept over. A Hou appeared, and its body was entirely pitch black. Symbols radiated as it soared into the sky to kill the monkey.

"None of you are worthy of being my opponent. Unless that old fellow whose already at death's door comes, don't even think about trying!" The divine monkey coldly laughed. It opened its mouth to release a hiss, spewing out a golden colored gale. The wind was sharp like blades, cutting apart the mountain ridge in front of it.

The black Hou roared, and its entire body was in sharp pain as bloody scars appeared on its body. The black light it released also struck the monkey's body; however, it did not inflict any injuries.

"You dare!"

The divine monkey roared, and while riding the multicolored giant bird, it rushed towards the pure land. It was extremely enraged, and its battle spear was like a windmill as it murderously charged towards the Rainbow Peacock.

Kengqiang sounds rang out incessantly as the enormous Peacock released an expanse of feathers. Rainbow colored light shot out streak after streak, and they were all its feathers. They turned into divine swords as they hacked over, falling in front of the monkey and multicolored giant bird's bodies.

The divine monkey angrily roared. Its entire body erupted in precious light, protecting itself and its mount. An enormous curtain of light was constructed, blocking all of the incoming feather divine swords.

"Kill!"

Following that, he thrust the spear out. The tip of the spear became adorned with stars, as if an ocean of stars were moving. This powerful strike actually carried with it the imagery of the milky way falling.

With a pu sound, many feathers shattered. The Rainbow Peacock recalled the mountain sized precious imprint and blocked the spear. However, it was still shaken to a point where it coughed out large amounts of blood.

“Everyone, we need to go up together. Ignore the divine medicine for now, because if the monkey doesn’t die, even the Heavens won’t be able to tolerate it. Have you all forgotten how it murdered our ancestors?”

An entirely silver white creature whose body was covered in thorns rushed over. It had a flood dragon head, hedgehog body, and crocodile tail; it was a ferocious Thorn Beast!

It was obvious that this was an extremely aged Archaic descendant that was powerful to the extreme. Silver flying swords shot out from all over its body to block off and kill the monkey.

With its roar, the Golden Winged Peng, Rainbow Peacock, Black Hou, Mang Ox and other kings all grouped up and came over. They were currently carrying out a group battle against the divine monkey, wanting to kill it together.

This region immediately began to boil. This one battle made the heaven and earth lose light, and caused the sun and moon to lose color. The mountain range trembled, and a great catastrophe arrived.

These creatures were too powerful, especially the divine monkey. The more it fought, the more brave it became. It did not have any fear, as if it possessed unlimited strength.

“Too powerful! This monkey is terrifying after all. If it truly gave everything it had into this fight and fought with its life on the line, it would be even more powerful than an emperor that cultivated for several hundred years!” A restricted individual beside Huo Ling’er said.

The Fire Nation princess nodded her head. This divine monkey was a mixed descendant, but through countless years, its cultivation gradually grew deeper. Now, it truly reached a great level, and was a creature that was worth the human emperor personally taking action against.

“They infiltrated the pure land and are making their move.” The Nine-Headed Lion was carefully observing the Bifang, Horned Dragon, and the rest of their group this entire time.

“That’s not important. The other monkeys aren’t easy to deal with either.” The mischievous stone spoke.

Sure enough, when the group of experts entered, a group of golden monkeys became alarmed. The ground flickered with symbols, and restrictions emitted light. Tens became hundreds as the monkeys charged out together.

“Why are these monkeys so powerful?” The little guy was shocked.

Within the group of monkeys, there was surprisingly not a single weak member. They cried out with aoao sounds and revealed their fierce teeth. Their bodies emitted dazzling golden light as they encircled the intruders.

In particular, every single leader’s fighting strength was astonishing. The pure-blooded creatures were chased until they became terrified, because the monkeys’ cultivation levels surpassed theirs.

Right at that time, the Demonic Cattail Tree began to move, and the Crack Demonic Butterfly as well as Shi Yi appeared. They began to charge murderously into the group of monkeys, because they also wanted to seize the four small stalks of divine medicine.

With a shua sound, purple light flickered. The purple-haired girl made her move, and in her hand was a golden horn. With a light stroke, the entire symbol formation was disposed of, and she quickly rushed forward.

In the distance, the divine monkey's pupils were cold. It fought with everyone while keeping an eye on the pure land. A ruthless smile could be seen from its lips. "Pure-blooded creatures, I like!"

The creatures fighting with it were even more shocked. If they were able to kill this monkey, then today's harvest would be simply too great. Other than the four stalks of divine medicine, there was also a Horned Dragon, Zhujian, and others! This was simply an irresistible enticement.

Hong

Several dozen stolons rushed over like hornless dragons. All of them emitted scarlet multicolored light, locking up the monkey. The Ironblood Ancient Tree appeared as well, and it also wanted to seize the divine medicine; as a result, it made its move against the divine monkey.

"We should make our moves as well. Be careful not to be detected. We are going to take advantage of this crisis," the Divine Striking Stone suggested.

The group all agreed. The little guy already took out the heaven and earth pouch in preparation of collecting treasure at any time.

Huo Ling'er was graceful and elegant, and was absolutely gorgeous. She personally steered the divine blanket refined from beast skin. Wordless and uncommunicative, they entered the pure land without being detected.

Right at this time, the small wolf in the Fire Nation Princess became restless. It continuously struggled and moved about before ultimately jumping onto the little guy's body. Suspending itself off his body like a koala, it continuously breathed in and out. Following that, it tugged on the devilish brat's hair, pointing toward a direction.

That area was close to the spiritual lake, and there was an expanse of ancient trees. They were all incomparably tall, and light shone from the tree's bodies. It gave birth to a spiritual medicine that resembled a monkey head.

"Lion's Mane[2]!" Huo Ling'er was astonished.

These mushrooms were all shining. They grew on the the tree trunk, and were all sparkling and translucent. While emitting spiritual essence, there were more than ten in number, all of them extremely gorgeous.

"Rumor has it that it is a rare delicacy on par with lion head and tiger bone soup. After being refined into precious medicine, I believe the Lion's Mane will become extremely delicious." The little guy's eyes were fixed on them as he quickly wiped off his saliva.

“You all wait over here. I’ll go and collect them!” The little guy jumped off the divine rug and carefully made his way over. The ancient trees grew densely, and since the divine blanket was rather large, it was impossible for the rest of them to travel that deep.

Without alarming any enemies, he directly arrived in front of these ancient trees. He was incomparably happy and was about to pick them.

However, the little wolf, on the contrary, seemed rather anxious. It stopped him, moreover jumping onto the ground to dig up part of an old tree trunk.

With a hong sound, the little wolf was sent flying. That thick old tree trunk shone, revealing terrifying symbols.

“Wuwu...” The little wolf became worried, hinting for the little guy to quickly make his move. There seemed to be some kind of priceless object within the tree trunk. It didn’t even act like this when it saw the Immortal Peach Tree.

The little guy did not say anything more and took out the broken sword, slashing outward. The symbols on the tree’s body were immediately shattered. Afterwards, he struck the ancient tree, only to find that it made a hollow sound.

Chi

He used the broken sword to cut apart a small hole. Immediately, a wave of strong fragrance overflowed, making people feel a bit intoxicated. The young deity immediately widened its eyes and became incredibly happy.

When the little guy saw this, he immediately enlarged the hole in the tree. As a result, dense multicolored light rushed out and a strong fragrance assailed his nostrils. It transformed into divine light and submerged this area.

The hole in the tree was full of liquid. It was sparkling and transparent like exquisite wine, the fragrance making people feel as if they were becoming drunk.

The little guy already had the heaven and earth pouch out during the first moments, turning it into a heavenly curtain to isolate this area. He feared that the rich fragrance would startle other creatures.

“Is this a type of wine? It seems like something that would taste really good.” He did not know the value of the Little Devil Wine, and while leaning on the tree, he drank a small sip. Suddenly, he felt as if the sky was spinning and the earth was turning, almost becoming completely intoxicated. In addition, the fragrance flooded his body, making countless rays of multicolored light gush out from his pores.

“Such powerful medicinal effects!” The little guy was shocked.

At this instant, he could sense the flavor of many precious medicines; for example, the Scarlet Orchid, Black Jade Lotus, Snow Jade Ginseng, Scarlet Flood Dragon Vine, and others. They were all extremely strong.

This was made from spirit medicines?!" The little guy stared with his eyes wide. His heart trembled, because this was definitely an absolutely priceless and rare treasure!

"Wu, there is still a partly peachy flavor." He recognized the flavor, and couldn't help but look towards the Immortal Peach Trees in the distance. Could it be that the Little Devil Wine had some of the silver immortal peaches inside?

This... Truly was worth a terrifying amount!

The little guy believed that he would be able to break through the ninth Heavenly Passage soon. It would be extremely beneficial for his body, and who knows, it might even be able to restore a bit of the Supreme Being Bone!"

The liquid from this tree hole was not inferior to those four Immortal Peach Trees. It truly was an opportunity that was difficult to imagine possible.

The monkey that only liked to eat from back then literally called monkey head mushroom in Chinese

Chapter 166 - Great Harvest

The tree hole was full of wine. The fluid was sparkling and translucent like amber, and as if flowed, it emitted an intoxicating aroma. The little guy was full of happiness as he swayed back and forth in dizziness. His large eyes were squinted until they became crescent moons; this was truly an unexpectedly shocking surprise.

This was not some ordinary wine, but rather one formed gradually from various types of spiritual medicines. It was priceless, and if even a single cup making its way out into the public, many people would immediately break their heads fighting over this.

This tree hole even had silver colored Immortal Peaches fermented within. It made one feel shocked just by looking at it, because this was something that even experts from formidable sects would covet over.

The little guy drank a small mouthful. All type of fragrances overflowed, making his small face rosy. He was about to lose consciousness from being completely drunk. Multicolored light gushed out from his mouth and nose, and only the purest divine light was entering and exiting his body.

"Quickly collect it, otherwise it won't be good if something problematic occurs."

His body was powerful, allowing him to quickly refine this small mouthful of Little Devil Wine. He quickly became sober and used the broken sword to carve out a wooden stopper. Sealing up the sparkling wine again, he used both arms to pull up the entire tree before placing it within the heaven and earth pouch.

This was definitely a supreme treasure. Now that they obtained this Little Devil Wine, there was nothing to be regretful about even if they didn't get the Immortal Peach trees.

From behind, the big red bird's saliva gurgled. This was just like a dream! It was a wine made completely from spiritual medicines, and was actually discovered by them like this. It truly wished to jump over right now.

The Nine-Headed Lion, Rainbow Luan, Flame Crow and others were all astonished. Now that this kind of precious liquid came into existence, just how many people could enjoy such a thing? Those terrifying old folks would be happy just to drink a single cup. They would be as happy as children and regard it as a complete honor.

Even Huo Ling'er became stupefied. As the daughter of the human emperor, she was definitely experienced and knowledgeable. She drank Little Devil Wine before, but this kind of tree hole as well as characteristics made it an absolutely world-shocking Little Devil Wine. It was the first time she saw something like this.

As for the old restricted individuals next to her, they've long become crazy. Overwhelmed with emotions, Huo Ling'er really wanted to hit herself a few times because she felt like this was a dream!

"Little gray, is there any more divine wine?" The little guy's eyes were shining. "Rather than fighting for our lives in front of the spiritual lake, we might as well look for some of these monkeys' belongings.

The young deity's large eyes resembled black gems. It was incomparably clever and smart as it carefully searched about with its nose moving about.

Within the mountain range, the divine monkey boss was not aware of what had happened. The little guy could collect anything within his heaven and earth pouch. It sealed off their odors, so no one outside noticed the strange things that were happening here.

The divine monkey king fought alone against the group of kings, and a huge battle unfolded. The golden fur rang out with kengqiang sounds, actually making metallic sounds. It was impervious to sword or spear as it attacked everyone, fearing neither fire or water.

The golden great Peng, Rainbow Peacock, Black Hou, Mang Ox, Ironblood ancient tree and the other group of experts launched their assault together. Precious artifacts flew everywhere and symbols covered the sky. They moved mountains and shifted the seas with world-shaking divine might; however, it was still not enough to subdue that monkey.

"Everyone, don't conserve your strength anymore. If this ferocious monkey doesn't die, none of our future days will be pleasant!" The Horned Beast shouted. Its entire body was silvery white, and bony outgrowth like those of a hedgehog's were continuously being shot out.

With his loud roar, the other creatures began to reveal their most powerful precious techniques one after another. The divine monkey was like a large mountain that was pressing down on their heads. If they couldn't overthrow it, then they would be killed off sooner or later. n/-0velb1n

Within the group, the golden great Peng was bold and powerful, and it was the only one able to contest the divine monkey physically. Its entire body emitted light and smashed downwards like a sun.

Hong

The two were intensely shaken, and were like two golden erupting volcanoes. The others also used their most powerful precious techniques as they rushed forward together to fight that terrifying divine monkey.

Within the pure land, the four Immortal Peach trees by the spiritual lake were flickering with silver light. They were brilliant and dazzling, and their fruit were silvery white. While emitted a sweet fragrance, lightning radiance circled about them, creating a rather shocking appearance.

A group of monkeys protected the area. They were currently fighting fiercely with the pure-blooded creatures.

The Zhujiang went mad. It had a human face and a leopard shaped body that was covered in black scales. Its tail was sturdy and powerful like a black flood dragon, and could absolutely smash apart mountains and rivers. It whipped out with a honglong sound.

Pu

Even though the few golden monkeys were formidable, they were still thrashed until they began to cough out large mouthfuls of blood. Two of them had their bones broken and tendons snapped, and after flying out, they no longer budged.

“You’re looking to die!” Upon seeing this, the divine monkey leader’s body shone. It leapt into the air, turning into a streak of golden lightning as it murderously pounced over. Its cultivation realm was deep and profound, strong enough to suppress the intruders.

The Zhujiang screamed. A circle of blazing light floated above its head, and a precious artifact was wrapped within. It emitted an undying aura as it suppressed forward.

On the other side, the Horned Dragon was incomparably brave and fierce. It tore apart a few golden monkeys, but was seriously hurt by one of the bosses. A golden claw dropped down, almost breaking apart one of its joints.

“Monkey, I have endured you for too long!” The Horned Dragon was angry. As an Archaic vicious beast descendant, it had its own pride. Even though it was still young, it did not allow itself to become defeated.

It opened its mouth, spitting out a large net. The surface was adorned with many stars, making it brilliant and dazzling. This was a precious artifact with pure-blooded Horned Dragon scales refined on top of ancient beast tendons.

A divine monkey boss tried to dodge, but fell a bit short. After being collected inside, it immediately released a loud howl. Despite its cultivation realm being deep, it simply couldn’t defend against the sharp dragon scales, so its entire body began to pour out blood.

It roared loudly as it struggled against the precious artifact. Its mouth was full of fierce snow white teeth that flickered with cold light.

With a pu sound, the divine monkey finally broke free. However, a part of its body was refined, giving it grave injuries. It lost a great amount of its battle strength, and so when it was attacked by the Horned Dragon again, blood splashed high into the air.

Pure-blooded creatures were generally rather passive because they were still young. This was the first time they killed such a powerful divine monkey boss, and so it immediately had a bit of intimidation effect on them.

Weng

The Bifang made its move, also taking out its precious artifact to fight the group of divine monkeys. Even though many of its feathers fell in battle and it had bloodstains on its body, its pupils were still shining. It even rushed towards the silver-colored Immortal Peach trees several times!

A chi sound rang out. It pecked off a silver leaf, directly swallowing it into its mouth. This made everyone feel shocked; this was too savage! Was it trying to devour the whole thing and destroy the Immortal Peach trees or move away the small divine medicines?

Weng

The Demonic Crack Butterfly shook its wings, releasing rays of divine light. It blocked off the Bifang, not allowing it to destroy the small divine medicines. It was clear that it wanted to bring away the precious trees.

A honglong sound rang out. A brave and beautiful youth appeared, and the monkeys were forced backwards. He strode over towards those four stalks of small divine medicine, dual pupiled and carrying an astonishing aura.

He was like a dragon or tiger as he moved. Brilliant splendor enveloped his entire body, and with his black hair drifting behind him, he was like a God that descended into this world.

Shi Yi moved as well. He unleashed powerful precious techniques, forcing back more than ten monkeys. He rushed forward to kill, wanting to seize those silver flickering objects.

When one of the divine monkey bosses saw this, it immediately rushed over. With a roar, it tried to block him, and even took out a powerful precious artifact to murderously suppress him. It was a chunk of divine metal that circulated with dark light, and it smashed down towards the youth.

Seeing this, Shi Yi did not panic. Symbols interweaved within his pupils, and with a hong sound, he unexpectedly froze the space here! The precious artifact was momentarily motionless. Taking advantage of this, he rushed forward quickly.

The boss soared into the air and personally took on the responsibility of killing him. Its body emitted light, releasing a precious technique.

Hong!

No one knew what type of precious artifact Shi Yi took out. It hacked down on the monkey boss's precious technique, immediately dispersing it. Soon after, it pierced into the monkey's chest.

At this moment, the powerful divine monkey released a miserable cry. Its body exploded and blood scattered everywhere.

"What a powerful human youth!"

Everyone became shocked, and no longer dared to belittle his status as a human; all of them carefully took precautions against him. Two divine monkey bosses jumped out from nearby and rushed towards Shi Yi with killing intent. Their cultivation realms were high and both possessed terrifying strength.

The fight reached its climax, and regardless if it were the kings within the mountain range or the divine birds and Archaic vicious beasts descendants by the Immortal Peach Tree, they were all fiercely fighting. It was coming to a conclusion.

The little guy searched within the old forest while the little wolf's nose continuously sniffed. Finally, it widened its eyes and ran towards an ancient tree, using all of its strength to scratch at a section of land.

This time, it no longer dared to directly claw at the tree trunk and get sent flying. Instead, it tugged at the ends of the little guy's pants, indicating for him to move quickly.

"Ah, there really is more!" The little guy was pleasantly surprised. He clenched his fists tightly and looked it over; this was truly a bit unusual.

Sure enough, when he used the broken sword to slash forward, symbols began to flee in disarray. After being destroyed, he gently tapped the trunk, and there was hollow sound. He gently pierced open a small hole and looked inside. The wine was sparkling and translucent, surging with multicolored light. In addition, a few spirit medicines were still afloat, not completely refined.

"This is new wine, and still hasn't been completely brewed!" The little guy was too happy. He saw two silver Immortal Peaches inside as well as many other types of spiritual medicine. It really was like how they predicted; this was absolutely priceless.

He hurried the restricted individuals over. Afterwards, the entire ancient tree was uprooted and collected into the heaven and earth pouch.

"This is amazing! There should be enough to drink within the two tree holes. I need to bring back some for Grandpa Chief, Uncle Linhu, Uncle Feijiao, and the others to try. They will definitely like it a lot!" His large eyes were narrowed until they were like crescent moons. He wanted to let the villagers taste this divine wine, because it will have an extremely great effect on their bodies.

Stone Village would also ferment a bit of wine, but it would always be of the lowest quality crude wine. Even though it was like this, the robust men within the village would still savor it slowly as if it was a type of immortality elixir.

Following that, not only was the little wolf sniffing around with its nose, even the little guy was doing work. He tapped things everywhere, and as long as symbols appeared, he would immediately start digging.

Even though symbols appeared on a few more tree holes, there was no wine. They might have contained wine within them many years ago, but they have already been cleaned out by the group of divine monkeys.

In the end, he was only able to collect the wine from the two tree holes. If any of these tree holes were released to the outside world, it would definitely stir up a tempest; the people will all fight over it.

The little guy moved quickly. The dozen Lion's Mane mushrooms were all picked up by him within this ancient forest. They were sparkling and released a rare fragrance; all of them were unordinary spiritual medicines.

"The best ingredients for little chicken stewed with mushrooms are done!" He felt extremely happy inside.

The little guy put away the heaven and earth net and together with the little wolf, he decided to return to the divine blanket. After all, this area was too dangerous, and if the group of monkeys noticed what he was doing, they would abandon all enemies and focus on him.

"It truly is an enormous harvest! There's nothing to be regretful about even if I can't obtain the Immortal Peach trees," he murmured to himself.

"I'll go make Golden Winged Peng stewed with Lion's Mane in a bit. After that, I'll drink some Little Devil Wine." He felt happy just thinking about it, and by now, his mouth was already full of saliva.

"I'll then roast a Golden Sheep, simmer-fry a few Archaic descendants, and in the end slow-cook a pot of tiger bone soup..." The little foodie wiped away his saliva and somewhat impatiently began to leave this place.

This time, his harvest was extremely great. The Little Devil wine that was formed gradually from over ten different spiritual medicines could not only allow one to undergo complete rebirth, but even had all types of medicinal effects. It could cure all types of illnesses and get rid of all types of terrifying diseases.

The only unfortunate thing was that even though the silver Immortal Peaches wasn't far from becoming divine medicines, they still weren't divine medicines. Otherwise, this Little Devil wine would be even more precious, and its rarity would truly be difficult to measure.

"Wu, since there are Immortal Peach trees here, if I don't dig one up during the chaos, will I be struck by lightning?"

Chapter 167 - Demonic Cattail Tree

Within the pure land, multicolored light danced about in the air, and the spiritual lake shone with a brilliance like that of jade. However, currently, a great battle was destroying the peace here, because a group of heaven warping geniuses were causing havoc within the divine monkey's nest.

Aohou...

A divine monkey howled. It leapt into the air, latching itself onto the body of a bright horned dragon. Opening its ferocious mouth, it revealed a mouthful of snow white fierce teeth before grabbing the dragon's tail and immediately biting down.

"Get lost!"

The Horned Dragon snarled and used all of its might to shake its body. As a pure-blooded creature, his body was incomparably powerful. With the support of symbols on top of its natural strength, it could easily make a mountain collapse.

Kacha

The divine monkey's fierce teeth were broken, making it cry out miserably. However, even though it suffered this injury, it was still incomparably savage. Its claws were extremely sharp, and with a flicker of cold light and dense mysterious symbols circling about, they landed on the Horned Dragon's tail.

The Horned Dragon released a muffled grunt. Its tail was bleeding, but this wasn't because it was weak. Two days ago, it was attacked by the divine monkey king. After the monkey threw out its battle spear, the spear pinned the dragon by its tail onto the ground. Even though the Horned Dragon already used precious medicine to reattach the broken tail, because it had already broken off before, it was still not as strong as before.

The divine monkey was sinister. Using its sharp claws, it tore off a chunk of the dragon's flesh before bringing it to its mouth. Divine blood splashed out, arousing the vicious natures of the surrounding golden monkeys. They threw themselves over together.

That was precious flesh medicine, and in their eyes, it was more precious than anything else.

Hou... The Horned Dragon screamed in anger, and its precious artifacts began to light up. It did not hesitate to use up its essence energy, and wanted to kill those who offended it.

On the other side, the Zhujian was also bathing in blood as it fought against a large number of monkeys. Meanwhile, the Crack Demonic Butterfly, Bifang, and other monkeys were engaging in a muddled warfare.

When the battle reached this point, every side began to stake it all as they fought bloodily.

Back then, this group of golden monkeys were extremely savage. Under the lead of the divine monkey king, they killed more than one king, and even stole the four small stalks of divine medicine. Currently, a group of young ones actually dared to extract a tooth from the tiger's den! This wasn't something that they could tolerate.

Shi Yi walked over with large strides. Astonishing multicolored light circulated about his body, and he was one step away from pulling up the silver Immortal Peach Tree. He was truly extremely powerful, and nothing could stand in his way. Beneath his feet, there were quite a few monkey corpses.

Within the ancient forest, the little guy was standing behind an old tree trunk as he calmly observed everything. The battlefield was extremely intense, and every side was engaging in bloody warfare. He did not utter a single word, and silently observed the battle.

Suddenly, he felt a bad omen, and his eyebrows jumped. At the same time, the little wolf also cried out with an aowu sound, as if it noticed something extremely dangerous.

Snowflakes scattered down one after another. Transparent and glistening, they were extremely beautiful as they drifted about within the ancient forest.

"Not good!"

He had a bad premonition. At the same time, his right arm became sore, as if it was bitten a few times by bugs. Some type of seed had taken root in his flesh, and was quickly sprouting.

The little guy was alarmed and furious. He widened his eyes to see what was happening at the mountain region ahead. Those were not snowflakes at all, and were pure white wads of cotton that were fluttering about in the air!

"Demonic Cattail Tree!"

During the Archaic years, there was a matchless Demonic Cattail Tree that brought about a devastating calamity. Blood flowed like rivers from the great wasteland, and as long as it decided to make its move, no one could be its opponent.

The divine seeds it releases can also be called Cursed Devil Tassels. They could take root inside an expert's body and absorb the essence from their bodies to continuously strengthen itself.

During its most powerful years, even the most powerful guardian spirits worshipped by the various races would retreat. None of them were willing to fight back, and that was truly years of darkness. ~~no~~Ve-
/b)1n

Later on, it planted the Cursed Devil Tassels in a God's body and absorbed its essence. In the end, it sucked its essence energy dry, allowing itself undergo another advancement and becoming unrivalled under the heavens.

Due to its murderous nature, in the end, the saints joined hands to apprehend it together. After fighting fiercely for an extremely long period of time and paying a heavy price, it was finally defeated.

Those were terrifying years. When the Demonic Cattail Tree appeared, it would become quiet everywhere. No one dared to provoke it, and even the honored deities from the ancient countries would retreat, because it was simply too terrifying.

After endless years, this race no longer appeared.

Without a doubt, the Demonic Cattail Tree that entered this small world was not ordinary. It dared to walk together with the pure-blooded creatures, so if it did not have the strength, how could it have so much confidence?

At this moment, it decided to choose the little guy as its opponent. As soon as it approached, it released the Cursed Devil Tassels. It moved noiselessly, and by the time the snowflakes could be seen, it was already too late to defend against.

The little guy's entire arm was shining, because he wanted to force the divine seed out.

The Demonic Cattail Tree appeared. It was not that tall, but it carried with it a type of divine might. Surrounded by brilliant sacred radiance, it was like a divine tree that came from the ancient world, absolutely intimidating.

Its leaves were bright green and glistening. Filled with the aura of the dao, its body had a snow white round shape. While emitting a sparkling luster, it was like a full moon, scattering down a few Cursed Devil Tassels from time to time.

"Leave!"

The little guy shouted loudly, and a ripple proliferated from his body. It forced back the divine seeds that covered the sky.

However, his arm was in pain. Two devil tassels had already taken root, trying to suck up the nutrients and divine energy from his flesh. The Devil Tassels had already sprouted, giving birth to tender branches.

Aowu... The small wolf cried out softly.

“Once infected by the devil tassels, it’s difficult to escape death.” The Demonic Cattail Tree spoke.

Its stolons were thick and powerful, allowing it to walk about like human feet. Its entire body was covered densely in silver colored symbols. Even though it was a tree, there were still five sense organs on its body, allowing it to open its mouth and speak.

Chi chi sounds could be heard, and the demonic tassels in the sky flew over. They flickered with cold light fell like a starry river.

“What a powerful precious flesh medicine!” The Demonic Cattail Tree released a even more ferocious assault, and when it opened its mouth, it looked somewhat sinister.

The little guy’s eyebrows stood up. He was trying to operate the bone text recorded in the True Primordial Record to refine the seed in his arm while withstanding the sky covering demonic attack.

“Break!” He shouted. His arm shone, and with a forceful shake, a large amount of blood immediately gushed out, bringing with it a chunk of flesh. It directly squeezed out those two divine seeds.

“Come back!”

The Demonic Cattail Tree yelled, retrieving those two seeds. From them, it could receive the little guy’s blood as well as traces of the absorption and mysterious power.

“Can’t collect it!”

The little guy screamed, and with a kengchi sound, he directly bit down on a dark green soft shoot. His small snow white teeth shone, and after a few bites, he crushed apart the demonic tassels that were harder than steel.

Afterwards, he... Directly ate it!

The Demonic Cattail Tree became stupefied; this was the first time it met this type of opponent. Usually, it was the one absorbing other people’s flesh, yet today, it actually met a savage that directly ate its seed.

The other demonic tassel could not avoid this fate either. The little guy took out the the Suan Ni bone mirror, stopping it in its tracks. It was like he was chewing on a radish as he bit apart the budding seed, eating it completely.

“Such powerful teeth!” The Demonic Cattail Tree was shocked. The Cursed Devil Tassels were precious artifacts, and their sturdiness surpassed one’s imagination. The opposing party actually could bite apart and eat it, this was simply unbelievable.

Shua

The little guy left behind an afterimage where he previously stood and began to fight fiercely with the Demonic Cattail Tree.

Symbols filled the sky, and divine light covered the sun. The little guy was extremely angry, because the opponent was actually trying to devour him by planting the demonic tassels in him. He attacked his opponent with everything he had.

The Demonic Cattail Tree was truly extremely powerful, and the entire tree was flickering with multicolored light. Mysterious symbols and precious techniques enveloped this entire region.

The divine seeds in the air were shining with light as they condensed together with the various symbols. They arranged together into an Archaic demonic formation, trapping the little guy in the center to carry out refinement.

Pu

The little guy held the broken sword in his hand and sliced outwards. Meanwhile, the Demonic Cattail tree began to sway. It released a lump of light, and it was actually another ancient artifact. As soon as it appeared, it was already releasing a ridiculously large amount of demonic light and endlessly ringing with wuwu sounds.

“So terrifying. It shouldn’t be a precious artifacts left behind by that deity murderer, right? How could it create a terrifying scene like this?”

On top of the divine blanket, the Nine-Headed Lion and the others were all shocked.

An indistinct and unusual scene appeared. On the bloody earth, all living creatures were howling in grief. Countless creatures were massacred, and there were even ancient countries that were destroyed. A heaven reaching demonic tree ruled over the boundless mountains and rivers, and even deities were retreating.

Dang

The broken sword in the little guy’s hands hacked down on top of that lump of light, revealing the Demonic Cattail Tree’s precious artifact. It was a scorched black magic staff, and it circulated with an aura that could suppress the sun, moon, and stars.

“This was the weapon of that demonic tree back then! A piece was actually left behind until now.” Huo Ling’er became fearful. She came from the Fire Nation, and was naturally knowledgeable about the dark years of the ancient world.

It was clear that this small demonic tree had quite a terrifying relationship with that unrivalled demonic sovereign from back then!

With a weng sound, the broken sword and that scorched black staff collided together. Divine splendor blazed, and heavenly stars appeared one after another. There were also deities shouting, and both parties turned into a sea of stars. They were stuck to each other as they fiercely collided, both of them trying to swallow up the other.

This was an extension of the ancient saints’ fight, as if it had lasted from back then until now!

The Demonic Cattail Tree emitted light, and its entire body became sparkling and transparent. Leaves created hualala sounds, and green light surged together with dense smoke.

Its own body was already a precious artifact, allowing it to conquered everything before it. Its stolons in particular were like ten arms, and they penetrated the boulders that were several tens of thousands of jin in the surroundings. The stolons then wrapped themselves around the little guy.

The savage child naturally did not want to be outdone. Lightning radiance danced about on his body, and the silvery white divine moon was like a blade as it hacked outwards.

“Not good. Once wrapped up by the Demonic Cattail Tree, one will inevitably die. There truly is no one that dares to fight with it,” said the Flame Crow.

The Demonic Cattail Tree was extremely cold, and strand after strand of stolon wrapped itself around the little guy. Soon afterwards, sharp blades appeared, piercing towards his body, wanting to suck out his body’s essence energy.

“Not necessarily. It isn’t clear who is going to eat who yet.” The big red bird still had quite a bit of confidence in the savage child, because it even saw him swallow the True Supreme Water before.

The divine striking stone nodded, and it had the same feeling, because that fellow even ate divine sand before. The silt was completely grinded in his mouth before being swallowed, and after all that, he was still healthy and active.

The little guy’s body emitted golden lightning radiance, blocking those stolons. Even though there were some parts that had been penetrated, making him bleed, he was still not scared. He held the Demonic Cattail Tree and madly bit down.

Kengchi kengchi

The Demonic Cattail Tree violently shook, because a hole was bitten out of its trunk. The savage child’s eyes were bright as he ate with gusto; he chewed madly nonstop.

What the f*ck, was he still human?! Why is his teeth sharper than an Archaic vicious beast’s? It truly was almost heaven defying. The Demonic Cattail Tree cursed, and was in so much pain that its entire body was shaking.

It penetrated through the little guy’s body and devoured his blood essence. However, this human youth didn’t become weaker at all. Precious techniques erupted, and his small teeth became bright and shiny. He was trying to bite apart its trunk ah! He directly ate a large piece of its trunk with incomparable speed and viciousness.

In addition, his arms were struggling and his feet were stamping with extraordinary strength. He was trying to tear apart its stolons and branches.

If it was anyone else being wrapped up by the Demonic Cattail Tree, they would definitely be absolutely terrified, because being caught like this meant inevitable death. However, the little guy was fearless, and was actually competing with it to see who was faster as he devoured the tree’s body.

Kacha

The little guy’s divine force was absolutely shocking, almost cleaving apart the Demonic Cattail Tree. He forcefully tore off an extremely thick branch, and as precious techniques danced about, lightning radiance shot into the tree’s body.

The Demonic Cattail Tree had enough. With a sudden shake, it released all of its stolons before quickly retreating. It withdrew that scorched black staff and labeled the little guy as the most savage type of creature. It kept a considerable distance from him as he stood across in confrontation.

The little guy still had blood dripping out from his body. That green and lush branch was flickering with multicolored light, and as he hugged it, he began to chew with kengchi kenchi sounds, quickly devouring it into his stomach.

When the Demonic Cattail Tree saw this, it was utterly speechless. It did not say a single thing and silently retreated, disappearing into the depths of the jungle. From start to finish, it was completely taciturn.

“Truly... Strong teeth!” From behind, Huo Ling’er, Nine-Headed Lion, big red bird and the others were all speechless after watching this. None of them knew what to say in this situation.

“Sugar cane taste, it’s somewhat sweet.” The little guy blinked his large eyes and ate the last branch with relish as he spoke.

In the depths of the jungle, the Demonic Cattail Tree’s body shook before turning rigid. Afterwards, its entire body shuddered, before erupting in a bright and resplendent radiance, making this pure land quake and tremble!

However, in the end, it still did not turn around and decided to silently depart.

Hong

A conclusion was reached by the spiritual lake. The purple-haired girl brandished her golden divine horn, obliterating all types of symbols. A large group of monkeys were blown back, allowing her to rush towards one of the silver immortal peach trees; she wanted to pull it up by the roots.

The group of monkeys went mad and decided to attack her together.

At the same time, the Bifang, Zhujian, Horned Dragon, Demonic Crack Butterfly and the others also made their moves. They killed their way over, using their supreme treasures to force back the group of monkeys.

At this moment, the space around them began to tremble. Shi Yi took action. From his left eye flew out a Bi’an, and his right eye released a golden peng; they were all constructed from symbols. It sent all the monkeys around one of the immortal peach trees flying.

As he held his precious artifact in his hands, he was dazzling like a blazing sun. Following that, he released two great precious techniques using its dual pupils, increasing his power by many folds.

String after string of symbols interweaved. They were bright and dazzling as they wrapped up one of the small silver divine medicines. They were on the verge of leaving this place.

“This is bad!”

The Nine-Headed Lion was amazed, because someone was finally going to obtain one of the divine medicines.

The little guy who was silently standing within the ancient forest suddenly moved out. He turned into a streak of light, and with a honglong sound, a mountain peak in the distance was immediately broken apart. He lifted up the broken rocky peak and directly smashed it down in front of him, completely enveloping the people below!

Chapter 168 - Obtaining the Medicine

The mountain peak collapsed, sealing off the spiritual lake's upper region. Everyone there became shocked; who was this, acting so daring? It simultaneously suppressed everyone!

Everyone became distracted and had no choice but to defend against this. If that stone peak made its way down to this area, even if they were able to avoid it, the silver-colored immortal peach trees definitely wouldn't.

All types of precious techniques rushed towards the skies. Symbols flickered, striking apart the stone peak. Rocks shot out in every direction, and dust rose into the sky. The sky in this region became dusky, and as the dust scattered down on the spiritual lake, it covered everything in earth and rocks.

Taking advantage of the disorder, the little guy collected the young deity into the Heaven and Earth Pouch before turning into a streak of demonic light. He rushed forward, and within the smoke, dust, and flying rocks, he made his move. Opening the Heaven and Earth Pouch, he collected all four silver peach trees.

Precious techniques displayed their might, and divine radiance danced about; this area was in chaos.

Many small trees left the ground, being uprooted from the earth by Shi Yi, the purple-haired girl, and others' symbols. However, it was obvious that the little guy's Heaven and Earth Pouch was a bit more domineering as it swallowed everything.

This area was in complete disorder as all types of light flew left and right.

Hou...

A roar was released, and an old wolf appeared. Even though it did not exceed one meter in length and was as thin as a match, it was still powerful to the point of being terrifying even though it was aging in years.

With a pu sound, its claw tore open a bloody wound in a pure-blooded creature's body. This attack borrowed the radiance that was surrounding a precious artifact, and was absolutely frightening.

The old but still alive creature that the divine monkey king talked about also came here to seize the divine medicine. Its strength was deep and unmeasurable, and as it opened its relatively smaller bloody mouth, the space itself was being distorted.

The little guy was greatly alarmed. He furrowed his brows, because he lost this contest. He couldn't get the silver peach trees into the Heaven and Earth Pouch, because the old wolf waited in the dark for the most opportune time to interfere.

However, it did not succeed either. From within the darkness, there were other creatures that coveted the peach trees. A Xique[1] appeared, and even though it was an ordinary species, its strength was a bit frightening. It quickly enlarged itself, and like a Kun Peng, it covered the sky. Extending out a large claw, it disturbed the heaven and earth, forcing back the old wolf. It was about to walk away with the divine medicine.

This place was in utter chaos. Surly and unreasoning creatures appeared from their hiding places, and there was no lack of those 'old farts' from the olden days.

The divine monkey released a long roar. As it fought with a powerful opponent, it continuously observed this area. With a rumbling sound, symbols blazed brightly, and the spiritual lakeside surged with overflowing radiance.

“You want to seize my precious medicine? I’ll beat the shit out of you! Your beating has already been long overdue!”

Following the angry roar, all types of mysterious symbols sparkled within the pure land, forming a sky sealing great formation. It locked up this area, and in addition also held the four silver peach trees so that no one could move it.

A great formation came into view. The monkey king had made preparations a long time ago and was calmly waiting for several old fellows to appear. He wanted to catch all of them and the pure-blooded creatures in one big go.

“What a powerful formation!” Everyone was shocked.

“Monkey, you are too conceited! Do you truly think you are the ruler of the Hundred Shattering Mountains?! Acting this arrogant, you are digging your own grave!”

“It should be about time for us to settle our old grudges! Monkey, you might as well hand over your life now!”

The ancient creatures’ voices were downcast, carrying heavy killing intent.

“In the past, the number that arrived was the number I defeated!” Said the divine monkey.

With a honglong sound, it dodged the Golden Winged Peng and Peacock’s attacks, as well as smashed flying the black Hou and Silver Thorn Beast. It returned to the pure land to directly take out the old kings.

“Kill!”

The Ironblood Ancient Tree expressed its agreement through actions. Its stolons extended, splitting open the great earth. It instantly arrived at the pure land and attacked the enemy here.

The other kings also rushed over and did not shrink back. Since they fought all the way up until now, it was already at a point where they wouldn’t give up until the monkey died. If they did not kill it today, then they would inevitably suffer the great consequences.

The pure land erupted into action and the group of monkeys went crazy. The divine monkey had returned here, and was attacking in all directions with its battle spear.

The pure-blooded creatures were weary of the great foe. Activating their precious artifacts, they were forcefully trying to break through. If they were stuck here, then they would undoubtedly die, moreover, they still had confidence in their race’s ancient treasures.

The little guy concealed himself. He had the broken sword in one hand and grabbed onto the small pagoda with the other, ready to slip away at any time. Since he was going to lose if he made his move now anyway, he didn't want to die for no reason here. Those creatures' cultivation realms were high, making them difficult to defeat.

"Monkey, your formation is truly disappointing. There are so many holes, yet you want to trap all of us? An old Flood Dragon appeared, and its entire body was a blue-green. It was extremely old, with its blood vessels almost dried up.

"It's you! Didn't you die back then?!" The divine monkey was shocked. The old Flood Dragon was a formations expert, and with its arrival, this ancient symbol formation would have a difficult time trapping anyone.

"If you don't die, then I can't pass away!" The old Flood Dragon spoke in a overcast voice.

"Stop speaking rubbish, hand over all of your lives!" The monkey king rushed over.

"I'm going to break your formation first and let you understand just how laughable it is!" The old Flood Dragon ridiculed. Symbols were released, and a shattering sound immediately rang out.

Soon after, a piece of the formation broke off, and the symbols crumpled apart; they could see the light of day again. Several old monsters displayed their might at the same time. They were unparalleled as they broke apart the formation.

It was obvious that their hatred for the monkey surpassed all. They wanted to kill it immediately, and so all of them joined hands.

At this time, the Black Hou, Mang Ox, Peacock, and others arrived. They attacked the monkey in a group violently. Precious techniques flew everywhere, and divine light illuminated everything.

The pure-blooded creatures didn't have a choice. They were forced to use their precious techniques and fight in this war. They were currently situated within the pure land as well, and this place was already in a large mess.

Of course, the Bifang, Zhujian and others' strength were not sufficient. After all, their cultivation time was still short, but with their supreme treasures, they could still protect themselves and not be killed instantly.

Only, the more time that passed by, the more their faces paled.

Finally, one of the pure-blooded creatures fell. It was torn apart and turned into precious flesh medicine!

The great battle became more and more cruel. The little guy twitched his mouth. His entire body was wounded, and he was also affected by the battle's effects. Despite having the broken sword in his hand, the terrifying killing light emitted by those kings was still immense and limitless like before.

He was able to last until now because his figure was rather small. After fighting fiercely with the group of monkeys, no one paid particular attention to him; otherwise, he would be in even more danger.

The pure-blooded creatures were incredibly daring. The Bifang took out a precious artifact and actually constructed a golden passageway that stretched all the way in front of the silver peach trees before directly pulling out one of them.

“Get lost!”

The divine monkey was furious. A palm slapped down, and a golden claw enlarged. It smashed apart that golden passage, and the Bifang’s body was broken, its bones shattered!

It received an extremely serious injury. It released a wail and used its precious artifact, allowing it to disappear in a flash.

Everyone was shocked. That was definitely a supreme treasure, actually allowing it to escape from the hands of the monkey king! Truly not simple!

The little guy did not run, because he still had some stamina and had a talisman that could allow him to instantly flee into the distance. He fought the group of monkeys in a messy fight, but his eyes were always watching the divine medicine.

Other than him, the Horned Dragon was also extremely valiant. Even though it fled towards the horizon, it released a divine net that surrounded one of the silver trees, taking off with it.

At the same time, the Zhujian made its move. It took out an ancient talisman, and after it was set aflame, it began to emit a mysterious force. It took on the form of a circle of light and wrapped itself around a divine medicine. The Zhujian escaped with extreme speed towards the distance together with it.

The little guy was stunned as he watched what was happening. This bunch actually all had strange treasures and got their hands on the divine medicine.

“Come back at once!” The Monkey King roared. It turned towards the sky and inhaled, sucking in even the clouds in the sky. Those two peach trees were pulled back as well.

Moreover, countless monkey fur flew out from its body. They all turned into golden needles, shooting out densely.

The Horned Dragon roared in anger. Its entire body was bloody, and after being attacked by the divine needles, it couldn’t help but release a miserable cry. Fresh blood gushed out, and it could only let go of the peach tree before making its getaway.

The Zhujian was in an even worse state. After being sliced by a divine symbol blade, its sturdy tail broke off before it ran for its life.

“I’ll let you guys go for now. When I have time, I’ll take care of each of you one by one,” muttered the monkey king. It fought fiercely with everyone while collecting back those precious medicines.

Weng

Suddenly, the space was interfered with. One of the silver peach trees that were returning was stopped, and it rapidly fell downwards.

The purple-haired girl held a golden horn in her hands. After extinguishing the divine monkey king’s symbols, she unexpectedly intercepted the immortal peach tree and fled quickly into the distance with it.

"A sacred horn that specializes in destroying symbols?" Everyone cried out in alarm, and greed was revealed in their eyes.

"Those are my divine medicine! Who here has the ability to take them from me?" The divine monkey's tone was extremely cold.

Its two pupils shot out beams of golden light, and they were like lightning as they struck over. Surrounding the small silver tree, the beams were trying to seize it back.

"Monkey, you are too distracted! Be careful not to fall here!" The old wolf sneered and attacked wildly.

Moreover, it actually wanted to help the purple-haired girl out. The divine monkey was distracted, and as a result, the divine medicine fell down and broke free from the monkey's control.

Several pure-blooded creatures pounced over. It was difficult to tell if anyone could seize the three other precious medicine within the pure land, so the one that just broke free from the divine monkey's control was the best choice.

The Crack Demonic Butterfly shook its wings, obstructing the purple-haired girl. A divine bird swooped over, descending instantly...

The battle was fierce as they all engaged in the blood-soaked battle.

"You guys can fight all you want for now. In the end, not a single one will escape!" The divine monkey's chilly voice rang over from the distance.

The space around them shook, and Shi Yi appeared suddenly at this crucial point. His eyes were bright as silky streaks flew out, freezing the space here. It imprisoned the precious medicine, fiercely pulling the divine medicine in front of him.

The purple-haired girl's entire body emitted light. She quickly made her way over, and her sparkling lily-white hands made a seal. Drawing out a divine pattern, she used it to bind up the immortal peach tree, pulling it towards her. n))OveLb1n

The other creatures also rushed over and fought over it.

"My apologies to everyone! Shi Yi's eyes emitted light, and they contained a bizarre divine might. The space here was temporarily locked up, obstructing everyone and preventing them from coming over. Following that, his chest emitted light, and a sparkling white jar appeared. It was not bigger than the size of a palm, and it was refined out of precious bone. It was beautiful like jade, and streaks of multicolored light flew out to collect that peach tree into the jar.

"Open!"

The purple-haired girl shouted. Symbols diffused from one of her lily-white hands, shaking the space here. Her other hand slashed out with a golden divine horn in her hand. The imprisonment crumbled, restoring the space to a peaceful state again.

However, it was still a bit late. The silver peach tree shrunk in size, and it was about to fall into the bone jar.

Suddenly, a streak of light struck over. The little guy stuck the shrinking symbol to his feet and quickly rushed over. He threw the small pagoda, and it collided with that bone jar. With a sharp ding sound, it was displaced.

He rushed over, and at the same time snatched towards that silver peach tree. Everyone was shocked, and they all tried to stop him.

The little guy shivered a bit. Using both his hands to defend himself, he blocked everyone's attacks and use his mouth to bite the silver tree in place.

The purple-haired girl and Shi Yi released their techniques and did everything they could to stop the little guy, making him feel like he was stuck in a pitfall. Afterwards, with a kengchi sound, he bit apart a tree branch and quickly left. Leaving quickly, he was reluctant to part with it, but did not make any stops.

Everyone was shocked, and was momentarily terrified.

The small tree lost a portion. It began to fall, and none of them chased after that indistinct figure. Instead, they all went after the divine medicine.

"Damn it! Lost one of the silver peaches!"

The branch that the little guy bit off had a peach on it. This made everyone absolutely furious, yet they couldn't do anything since he already escaped rather far.

Shi Yi's pupils were cold and detached as he watched the figure disappear in a flash. He was just about to obtain that small tree, yet it was damaged like this.

The little guy grabbed the small pagoda and once again twined it within his hair before disappearing from everyone's line of sight.

The symbols here rumbled, but unfortunately, everyone else was somewhat farther away so they were left empty handed. Shi Yi and the purple haired girl obtained it, with the former getting a tree branch and the latter the tree body.

'Let me go!'

Right at this moment, a sound rang out from the Heaven and Earth Pouch. It shook with dong dong sounds, making the little guy shocked. When he opened the pouch, he found out that it was unexpectedly the cocoon that was shaking.

"Yi, my divine medicine! Why is it in your hands?" A sound rang out from within the cocoon.

"Ahpei! Wanting my divine medicine, you have to understand that even you are mine!" said the little guy.

The cocoon emitted light, and at the same time, the pure land shook. Following that, it split apart, and a complex and mysterious great formation seemed to have resuscitated.

"Collect!" The creature within the cocoon breathed loudly, as if it would die at any time.

Three silver peach trees flew over, but unfortunately, it was blocked by the monkey king halfway. Only a single one successfully broke through and came near.

The little guy was shocked, but did not hesitate at all. He grabbed it in one go, and then using the talisman attached to his feet, he disappeared like a wisp of smoke.

Just another chinese bird

Chapter 169 - Creature Within the Cocoon

The immortal peach tree wasn't tall. It flickered with silver light, and the branches wriggled about as if a young dragon was hibernating within. Two silvery white peaches hung from it, carrying a faint golden color and a strong fragrance.

The little guy fled the entire time, wiping away his saliva along the way. He almost directly bit into them, because the peaches were too fragrant. The tree was filled with silver radiance, and the light surrounded him as well.

Even though he obtained it, he still didn't dare relax. He was only able to obtain it through the cocoon's efforts, and so he wasn't reassured at all; he was attentively on guard. noVe.lb/In

After he collected the immortal peach tree into the Heaven and Earth Pouch, he took out the cocoon. He was scared that it would toss around in there and ruin all the spiritual medicines.

"What are you doing?" The shining cocoon trembled and felt somewhat unsafe. The little guy's movements were swift, and as a result, the broken sword pressed down on it, ready to cut at a moment's notice.

"What kind of creature are you exactly?" The little guy asked with unending bewilderment. He wasn't really worried, because the creature was extremely weak and didn't have that much life force.

Just now, the reason they were able to seize one of the silver peach trees was because the creature inside the cocoon knew about an ancient formation within the pure land. Only after it was reactivated did that area crack apart, allowing him to obtain it.

An hour later, Huo Ling'er and the others rushed over on the void beast skin. They saw that the savage child was roasting a large cocoon over a bonfire, and was even releasing a few streaks of lightning from time to time.

The big red bird immediately ran over eagerly, asking, "Such a large pupa, and it's even emitting light! My favorite!"

It was a part of the bird family, and so it liked insects and serpents the most. Without saying anything else, it came up and spewed out a scarlet red blaze. The big red bird went on its own initiative to roast it together with the little guy, salivating the entire time.

A miserable cry rang out from within the cocoon, shouting out, "Don't cook me anymore! I'm about to turn into paste! If this continues, this old one is going to fight you to the death!"

Everyone was at a loss, and did not understand what was going on. The voice coming out was obviously an immature sound, yet why did the words that came out feel like someone old and decrepit?

"It's definitely an Archaic descendant. This grandpa is truly lucky. My mouth is blessed again." The big red bird crouched in front and put more energy into it, taking the little guy's place in roasting this large cocoon.

"Stupid bird, this old one is a deity. You dare to act disrespectfully in front of me? Why aren't you kneeling in worship yet?" An angry voice rang out from within the divine cocoon, but it was still a pure and immature sound.

"You little bug, even at death's door you're trying to take advantage of this grandpa. See if I can't roast you to death!" The big red bird was annoyed. It spat out scarlet multicolored light, and it even turned the rocks on the ground into magma.

"What is this?" The Nine-Headed Lion asked.

The little guy was at a loss. He tried to find out through every way possible, but in the end, the cocoon was reluctant to reveal anything. It didn't want to say anything, and instead had the pride of an elder. As a result, he set it ablaze again.

A voice came out from the cocoon. "This old one has swallowed the essence of nine heavens and absorbed the immortal essence of ten earths. I lived a life of immortality despite facing countless obstacles and surpassing the mortal realm. By disturbing my peaceful meditation, what do you think you are doing?"

Everyone one was speechless. This creature truly knew how to bullshit! Serves it right to have the misfortune of meeting the devilish brat!

The little guy didn't say anything further and directly released a bolt of lightning. The big cocoon began to emit black smoke and chi la chi la sounds as it flickered with electricity.

"Aiyaya, I'm being cooked, don't do this anymore. This old one has truly been harassed by you! I was hiding within the mountain depths, yet you carried me out like a thief. Now, you are even burying me in flames, you are making me furious!"

"Nonsense, I grabbed you from the hands of that vicious beast," the little guy corrected. This was something that he fought for.

"You call her a vicious beast?" The creature in the cocoon was stupefied momentarily, then began to laugh loudly.

"Am I wrong? Nothing happens when I bite her, and her skin's as hard as immortal steel." The little guy grumbled, and seemed discontent.

He wrestled everywhere with the purple-haired girl, and after fighting for more than half a day, he still couldn't make her surrender. Finally, he bit off a pendant from her ear, but he still felt that his harvest was too small.

"You bit her?! Hahahaha..." The creature in the cocoon laughed incessantly.

"Is something wrong with this guy?" The little guy was confused. What was so weird about biting a vicious beast? He even ate them before. He urged the big red bird to burn it more until it surrenders.

“Ow, don’t burn me any more! This old one is hurting to death.”

“Little bird, if you light the flames again, then when I emerge from this cocoon, I’ll turn you into a roasted bird!” The creature in the cocoon threatened.

“You dare to talk to this grandpa like this? You’re dead for sure!” The big red bird’s face darkened. It used its most powerful divine flames to envelope the large cocoon. It set this entire region on fire, causing magma to flow.

In the end, the creature in the cocoon gave up and begged for it to stop. It told the bird that they should talk things through first, and that anything could be discussed.

“Come out first then.” The little guy spoke. He wanted to know just what kind of creature this was.

“This old one is extremely weak, and doesn’t have much strength. Help me open up the cocoon please.” The creature in the cocoon spoke.

The little guy wanted to use the broken sword to break it apart, but Huo Ling’er stopped him. “This is a rarely seen material, and wouldn’t be any weaker than heavenly silk. If you turn it into clothes, it will be untainted by even a speck of dust and impermeable to fire and water. It’s defensive capabilities are shocking.”

In the end, she made a few restricted individuals do the job. It looked like they were spinning silk, and the entire process was done patiently. They spun the silk, turning it into a silk ball that radiated multicolored light.

When everyone saw the creature within the cocoon, they all became stunned. The first thing they saw was the naked head region that stuck out, and a pair of large eyes were swirling around.

This was a bird’s head. It was completely bald, and couldn’t be considered beautiful. However, it had a bright red beak that flickered with sparkling light.

Finally, it revealed its body. It was about two meters long, and light continued to flow from its body like before. There wasn’t a single hair on its body, making it completely naked; there was a type of indescribable strangeness.

“How could you be a bird?!” The big red bird was struck dumb. Wasn’t this a cocoon? Why did a naked bird come out?

“This old one has gained insights into the supreme profound mysteries. I can become a qilin or phoenix, for my form can be changed at will. Isn’t turning into a worm or a bird merely a moment’s work?” It spoke slowly, but paired with its current appearance and immature voice, there truly was an indescribable strangeness.

Dang!

The big red bird swung the black pot and used the method the little guy often used, directly smashing it down on the bald bird’s head and lecturing, “Cheeky thing! So small yet speaking so much nonsense and daring to act old and proud!”

The bare bird immediately became stupefied. When it used its naked wing to rub the back of its head, it immediately jumped. There was a huge blister there, and it quickly erected like a horn; this was the first time it had this type of experience.

“Little bastard, you dare to act this rudely in front of this old one! I will suppress you for five hundred years and refine your soul every single day!” It was flustered and exasperated as it yelled out.

Dang

The big red bird didn’t even say anything before giving it another whack with the black pot. It smashed down right on that blister on the same spot. That ‘horn’ grew sharply in height and quickly swelled up.

“You just don’t learn, you cheeky and impolite thing. This grandpa will teach you how to respect others.” It arrogantly overlooked the strange naked bird.

“Ah ah ah! This old one is being infuriated. Who actually dares to treat me so rudely? In the past, this old one could do anything under the heavens with a multitude of creatures worshipping me. There wasn’t a single expert from the powerful clans that did not acknowledge me! You are simply a small bird yet dare to treat me this way, a sneeze from me will blow you to oblivion!”

“You still won’t surrender?” The big red bird acted arrogantly and gave it another good beating. In the end, the naked bird withered. It could tell that only worse things awaited it if it continued to rebuttal.

The little guy was watching the entire time and was extremely curious. “What kind of history do you have?”

“Deity my ass. If you speak any more nonsense, I’ll beat you until you wish you were dead!” The big red bird glared at it.

Right at this moment, a multicolored streak of light flashed past. An elegant figure appeared, and the purple-haired girl appeared, passing through this area.

The naked bird immediately hid its body and then squeezed itself into the little guy’s heaven and earth net. It was clear that it was extremely unwilling to meet her, and did not want to be caught.

When the purple-haired girl heard him, she turned around. Her brows immediately stood erect, and her pupils became bright as if she was going to take action. However, when she saw that there was a group of Archaic descendants gathered together, she feared that she might be outnumbered. As a result, she turned into a streak of purple light before quickly fleeing into the distance.

“Little thief, just you wait, I will catch you sooner or later.”

“Vicious beast, next time, I will fight with you another hundred bouts. I will definitely make you yield, make you my mount, or maybe even make you my village guardian!” The little guy was extremely unresigned as he shouted.

The purple-haired girl was so angry she began to shake. She turned and glared at him with her fists clenched, but in the end, she still disappeared into the horizon.

"Why are you that scared of her?" The little guy carried the strange bird out.

"Me, scared of her? I just don't want to encounter creatures from that race!" the naked bird said.

The mischievous stone in the little guy's hair shook, and in an almost inaudible voice, it quietly said, "I think I met this fellow before. It entered the Hundred Grass Land before to secretly drink from the immortal spring."

"How long ago was this?" The little guy asked.

"A few hundred years at least. It was the divine monkey king's master at one point in time, and is the same as you guys, originating from the outside." The striking stone continued to speak in a weak voice so that only the little guy could hear it.

He immediately became dumbstruck and speechless for a long time. He didn't question the strange bird anymore, but his eyes continuously sparkled. It seems as if he was staring at a divine and precious technique manual.

"You don't have a name yet, right? Since you won't tell me where you came from, I'll just give you one. You are a bird just like big red, so I'll place you guys together, naming you second baldy." The little guy was giddy as he spoke.

"Ahpei, who do you think this old one is? I am the one who holds supremacy between the heaven and earth, so how could I use such a rotten name? Keep that stuff to yourself!" The strange bird was furious.

"I'll just call you second baldy. I feel like that that sounds great." The big red bird was laughing with hehe sounds.

Leaving it to rebut as it please, the little guy and the others just called it this. It made the naked bird stomp in anger, but it had no choice.

In the end, they once again got off the void beast skin. All of them disappeared to their original places. The ancient beast skin also shook, quickly rushing into the distance.

The sun set, and night arrived. However, it was not completely dark and without light. A moon appeared, emitting a pure white splendor that scattered down on the great earth. According to legends, this was also the body of a vicious beast that turned into a moon, rhythmically appearing and disappearing within this small world.

The void beast skin was extremely large. It floated above the clouds, and a group of people were admiring the moon while awaiting a great meal.

Within the black pot, golden light sparkled. A great fragrance wafted through the air. Chunks of the great Golden Winged Peng meat were inside, flowing with brilliant multicolored light. Around it, there were also bright Lion's Mane mushrooms that were being slow cooked together with the golden meat.

A strong aroma rose from within the pot, making everyone salivate. They couldn't help but want to dig in immediately.

In addition, there were also a few spiritual medicines in the black pot. Being stewed together, they were all sparkling and translucent as they emitted a beautiful radiance.

Stewing meat? This was simply refining a world-shocking precious medicine!

“Small chicken stewed with mushrooms, my favorite!” The little guy stared at it without blinking. Saliva continuously flowed out, because he truly wanted to immediately go up.

One pot was obviously not enough. The others also brought out their precious artifacts, and even the flame crow’s bone cauldron became a cooking utensil. It was currently simmering tiger bone soup. Crystalline fluid sparkled, and a strong smell spread through the air.

Apart from this, there was also a golden lamb leg, purple camel hump... Several Archaic descendants were added to the flames. They were roasted until they became a glossy golden, and were emitting an alluring fragrance.

In addition, there were a few jade tables on top of the void beast skin with crystalline jade cups arranged on its surface. They were filled with little devil wine, sparkling and transparent. The intoxicating fragrance made the group of experts feel dizzy even though they didn’t drink any yet.

Everyone’s eyes emitted light. This was not only a delicacy, but also a chance to break through. The reason was because these materials were simply too shocking. They were all waiting in expectation for the food to become fully cooked.

Chapter 170 - Ninth Heavenly Passage

The black pot shone. A great golden winged Peng appeared, surging with golden light as it hovered about. As it emitted a rumbling sound, it sounded as if the deities themselves were chanting!

The great Peng’s body was bright as it scattered down silky streaks. They were golden symbols, completely submerging this area.

A wave of rich fragrance gushed out. The golden chunks emitted a precious splendor, and the medicinal smell of Lion’s Mane mushrooms, Scarlet Orchids, and Snow Jade Ginsengs wafted through the air. The soup was extremely concentrated, its appearance sparkling and translucent.

This was already no longer purely a culinary delicacy, but was instead a stove of precious medicine. It could easily make any expert’s heart tremble, because how would they encounter such precious ingredients normally? Who could eat a golden winged Peng?

“Okay, it’s completely cooked!” The little guy yelled out and was the first one to move. He scooped up a chunk of Peng meat and placed it in his mouth. Immediately, it was as if a sun was hiding within as golden divine light rushed out.

“It is so good! It almost melted my tongue.” The little guy was completely infatuated. The piece of meat he tried was a bright piece of Peng meat that had divine multicolored light flying about it. When he closed his eyes, he could feel waves of essence energy flying about in disorder within his body.

In the next moment, his mouth and nose felt as if there were small snakes entering and exiting. Those were strands of light beams, and they originated from the Peng's divine essence. They moved along with his breathing.

Following that, the chopsticks in his hands quickly moved. He continuously scooped the sparkling Peng meat from within the rich soup. Great changes were happening within his mouth, and as radiance overflowed everywhere, all seven apertures of his head were trickling with divine multicolored light.

The group began to fight over each other. Fortunately, the black pot was a precious artifact and could be enlarged, enabling the stewing of a portion of the golden Peng. As a result, the amount of food was abundant.

There was still a large portion that the little guy was going to bring back to Stone Village.

Everyone dug in, and all of them were completely infatuated. They almost swallowed their own tongues as their bodies surged with light. Every one of them were praising ceaselessly, because this was Peng meat, and was known to be one of this world's true delicacies.

The other meat being roasted were fully cooked by now as well. The meat was fresh and tender as they shone with brilliant light. In addition, honey was smeared all over, and it was a wild honey they found within this small world. Regardless of whether it was the little guy, Huo Ling'er or the others, none of them cared about their outwards appearances any longer as they stuffed their mouths.

"This taste truly surpasses the heavens." The little guy was elated as he lifted up the luminous cup from the white jade table. The wine inside shone like amber, and the fragrance was so rich it almost seemed everlasting.

He downed it in one go, letting the strong fragrance travel from his mouth to his throat, and then again all the way into his stomach. It left a rich aftertaste, and his entire body was shining.

This was a world shocking precious medicine, and it was brewed from ten types of spiritual medicine chosen by the divine monkey. Every single drop's value was high enough to even make the emperor want to become a drunkard.

The little guy never drank before, but now that he became enchanted by this type of feeling, he continuously ate the Peng meat, roasted wing, and others while getting tipsy from drinking. His body and mind were so relaxed that he felt as if he could float away, making him forget all feelings of resentment and hatred.

"Good wine! Good wine."

The others were impatient for a long time already. The mythical Little Devil Wine was something sought after but could not be found. One would rather miss the meat of a Peng than to pass up this mythical wine as they all toasted each other.

One of the restricted elder was rather restless. After drinking one cup, he downed two more before allowing the taste to even kicked in. He instantly fell to the ground in his intoxicated state and began to snore.

None of the others believed that they would knock out like that and continued to drink. As a result, two more restricted individuals also became like this. Their sparkling bodies became limp with the smell of wine lingering around them; it was tough for them to wake up again.

Apart from the little guy, no one could handle more than a few cups. Excessive drinking immediately made them collapse from intoxication.

Clearly, this was not just the effect of alcohol. There was also the spread of powerful medicinal effects. It would eventually bathe them in its energy, causing their bodies to undergo a transformation.

He ate over half a pot of the Peng’s meat and drank the tiger bone soup previously, so before he drank the Little Devil Wine, his body was already bursting with multicolored light. After drinking, it was simply as if an explosion was ignited. His body became brilliant, making him look like he was burning.

After the little guy drank over eighty cups in a row, his entire body was submerged in flames and his aura blazed into the heaven. Of course, that was not a real fire, but the result of his energy being refined before ejecting out of his body.

“No good, we can’t let him stay on the void beast skin anymore. The strength of his body is too powerful, and might bring about a terrifying destruction here,” one of the restricted individuals said.

The two were both startled awake. The little guy appeared rather strange, as if he was bathing in phoenix flames. This scene was astonishing.

“Another cup!”

He was still drinking. A strong and intoxicating fragrance surrounded his entire body. There wasn’t a single speck of dust on his body, making him appear bright and divine.

In the end, he drank another 36 cups before also eating the remainder of the Peng meat and downing the tiger bone soup. Furthermore, it seemed as if he was eating the pile of spiritual medicines like vegetables.

Hong

Finally, his entire body changed. Essence energy burst into the heavens, creating a streak of light that connected the earth with the vast sky; he could tell that he was going to break through. Despite being dizzy and drunk, his awareness was still intact, allowing him to directly jump off the divine blanket.

A huge sound echoed outwards as he smashed apart a mountain peak, making many vicious beast and fierce birds flee in shock.

From the ground, a total of nine volcanoes were accumulated. As magma boiled about, they all erupted with multicolored light. The boulders and ancient trees appeared as if they were floating in the ocean. They undulated up and down before being smashed apart.

There was a youth sitting in a meditative position on the mountain, and these nine 'volcanoes' were caused by him. They looked like actual caves that blended the heavens and earths to seize the luck within.

"Ninth Heavenly passage!"

In the sky, those several restricted on top of the void beast skin cried out. This was too shocking! An achievement like this was an extreme boundary observed only from within legends, and it was now broken by this youth. This kind of astonishing marvel was currently unfolding!

The Nine-Headed Lion and the others were all lamenting. However, relatively speaking, they were not that shocked, because they had realized a long time ago that he was a strange human.

The humans were relatively weak, and a nine heavenly passage expert was rarely seen. They had always been known to be in ancient books, and were practically written off as legends. Now, there was actually someone who achieved it.

"The humans are really strange. There is a huge gap between every individual. Some are so weak that they can't withstand the wind, and yet there are some that can even reach this level." The strange, hairless bird mumbled. A moment ago, it also ate some precious flesh medicine and drank some Little Devil Wine. It was clearly more energetic and in a better state compared to before.

"You don't understand this savage child's world." The big red bird's lips twitched. There was no one who understood more regarding how terrifying the little guy's potential was than itself. He even drank the True Supreme Water and refined it.

"How strong can he be?" The strange hairless bird asked.

"You'll know in the future." Big red said while slapping the back of its head, "Second baldy, don't lose face for me in the future. You're my younger bro, so you have to cultivate well. This kind of appearance which makes you seem toppable by a mere breeze is truly too shameful.

The strange naked bird was so angry it began to shudder. F*cking shit, this bird actually treated it like this! If it were not for the fact that its body had some problems, it would have definitely dragged the big red bird over before kicking it until its face blossomed, letting it know who was the elder and how to show respect.

"What? Second Baldy, you're still not going to be submissive?" The big red bird glanced at it.

"I... Have to endure!" The strange hairless bird swallowed a deep breath of air, and a golden sheep leg disappeared in a few bites. It viciously vented out its anger on the food.

All kinds of symbols shined as they gushed out of the nine volcanoes and ebbed into the magma spectacularly.

"You successfully comprehended the symbols," Huo Ling'er said.

A long time elapsed. Finally, the little guy's body emitted keng qiang sounds, and the nine heavenly passages shook.

Multicolored light gushed out, and the symbols transformed into a river of stars that revolved and danced around him.

This sight became increasingly mysterious and shocking. In the end, even those volcanoes erupted with different figures like the peacock, Qiong Qi, Baize, Suan Ni, Chiwen, Bi'an, great Peng. They were all images created out of symbols.

"What is he comprehending?! How astonishing!" At this moment, everyone was emotionally stirred. Even Second Baldy threw out the sheep leg it was eating as it stared vigilantly.

"So strong! I have a feeling that if we meet another pure-blooded creature, he really might be able to fulfill his desire of making one of them yield and have it guard his village gate," the big red bird said.

"What kind of strange looking symbol is this? It's so primitive and powerful!" The strange hairless bird erred.

The little guy forgot everything. The only thing within his heart was the bone text and symbols from the True Primordial Records, not any precious techniques. However, these developed into the most simplistic and foundational power.

He appeared drunk and mad within his meditation. At this moment, his entire body looked as if it transformed into a Kun Peng. When he leapt from within his inner self, it seemed as if it skyrocketed 90,000 li and became a god of war.

Soon after, he also looked as if he transformed into a revered sovereign that rampaged through the land without a single enemy under the heavens as it defended its ancient country.

Quickly, he also seemed to have transformed into a fearless and unrivalled Taotie that could devour 10,000 creatures and would not even miss the chance to eat a God.

The Vermillion Bird, Horned Dragon, Bi'an, and Xiu Pi, and other creatures were all being imitated by him one after another. He was experiencing their symbols as if he had reincarnated into these powerful and ancient deities himself.

The little guy became silly, and forgot everything else. Finally, a scene from the record of the wars between deities also appeared from within his heart. It was mysterious and endless, and all kinds of obscurely strange symbols rushed forth at once.

His understanding of symbols was improving. After opening his ninth heavenly passage, the benefits were enormous. It was as if he broke through the shackles binding him and wandered into a new and completely different land

After a long while, the nine heavenly passages withdrew, and the symbols entered into his own body. The little guy opened up his eyes, and could not help but let out a long roar that resonated and rumbled through the entire mountain range.

"You were actually here! Where are you going?"

A roar echoed from the distance. It was precisely the Zhujian with its face of a man, body of a leopard, and black scales all over. It transformed into a streak of black light and charged over while stirring up rubble along its way.

The little guy was fearless and charged forward to block it directly with his symbols. A lift of his hand stirred up a river of stars, and it bristled with electricity as it struck out. After a bang, the Zhujian cried out loudly as it shuddered, its body burnt black.

It shivered inwardly. After it heard the commotion, it unexpectedly encountered the moment that he had broken through. Not only was this human child's body powerful, even his knowledge of symbols had vastly improved.

The little guy rushed out and his palm descended in an unconstrained manner. A silver moon filled the sky, smashing down like a torrential rain on the Zhujian, making it tumble outwards.

The Zhujian's tail was cut by the Divine Monkey King, so it was suffering some serious damage. Right now, it was clearly struggling and had a tough time confronting the little guy. It was very decisive, turning away and escaped from a fight it could not win. It wanted to wait until its injuries were healed before attacking this human youth again.

"Where are you going!" The little guy chased. Finally, he unexpectedly jumped onto its shoulders and mounted it with the intention of making it surrender.

The Zhujian roared and activated its clan's ancient artifact, shaking the little guy until he coughed blood. He hastily used the broken sword to protect himself. The space between the two began to shine as if two suns combining together.

Everyone was overwhelmed. The savage child was actually so heaven defying. He was actually starting to make a descendent of an ancient vicious beast yield.

Pu

He chopped off several jin of flesh, making the Zhujian rage. Its ancient treasure ignited, and symbols flooded out like a vast ocean.

At the same time, a dragon roar echoed from the distance. The Hornless Dragon appeared and murderously attacked. It released a large net to ensnare the little guy.

"You want to become my mount in place of this Zhujian? How about you follow me back and guard my home?" The little guy was furious. He chopped off several jin of flesh from the Zhujian's body and put it away in the Heaven and Earth pouch. Then, he stamped with all his might and rushed forward. He drew his broken sword to meet the Hornless Dragon in battle.

Unfortunately, before they could start their actual life and death battle, the mountain range shook. A huge monkey appeared. The master of this pure land gigantified. Its body was boundless and majestic as it grabbed towards them.

The Hornless Dragon and Zhujian both activated their precious artifacts they inherited from sacred mountains. They rapidly escaped, instantly vanishing without a trace.

The little guy shuddered. No matter how strong he was, he would not dare to battle the monkey king because it reached a shocking cultivation realm; it was not something he could fight against.

With his feet on his withdrawal symbol, he also slipped away like a wisp of smoke.

Ultimately, he returned to the divine blanket again. He breathed out in harmony, and as the nine heavenly passages resonated, his body instantly recovered to its peak condition.

“Delicious!” This devilish brat’s world was something that outsiders had a tough time understanding. A moment ago, he was still killing, yet in the next moment, he became a little drunkard. His face was flushed rosy as he happily drank.

Others would have become drunk after several cups, but he drank the entire night without any danger. This kind of giddy feeling was wonderful.

During the night, the big red red, Nine-Headed Lion, and the sable all underwent shocking transformations. Huo Ling’er also reaped tremendous benefits, and she felt as if she was reborn.

This group of creatures practically all broke through. The void beast skin was overflowing with exceptionally bright colors.

Honglong

This entire small world was trembled extremely violently. The tranquility of the night was broken, and everyone was astonished.

“The exit is going to open. In at most a day or two, we could leave!” The restricted were pleasantly surprised.

“Having to leave is truly a pity.” The little guy was reluctant because he felt this ancient little world was too interesting.

Everyone faced each other. This abnormal child relieved everyone and allowed them to breathe out. He was so easy-going, and treated this place as his playground.

“Ai, I’m unsatisfied. I haven’t even caught a divine bird or pure-blooded vicious beast yet.” The little guy sighed.

Everyone was speechless. What else could they say?!
