Chapter 1471 - Eldest Brother Will Be Fine

Nuannuan and Mu Chenxiang hurried forward, one on each side of Nangong Jin's hospital bed.

At this moment, Nangong Jin's face was drained of all color and his mind was a little blurry. When Nuannuan and Mu Chenxiang arrived at the same time, Nangong Jin subconsciously grabbed Mu Chenxiang's hand.

"Does it hurt?"

Mu Chenxiang burst into tears when she saw Nangong Jin's expression.

Mu Chenxiang held Nangong Jin's hand tightly, giving him strength.

Nangong Jin revealed a weak smile. "I'm fine. I just hurt my shoulder. I won't die."

Then, he turned to look at Nuannuan, who was also holding his hand. The siblings looked at each other and did not say anything.

Nuannuan touched Nangong Jin's forehead and checked his injuries. As expected, the bullet had already been removed from the wound near his shoulder. The wound was still bandaged and the surgery was done well. However, pus had started to form in the wound. In other words, the inflammation had not subsided.

Mu Chenxiang glanced at Nuannuan with obvious worry.

She knew that Nuannuan was like her daughter, both of them had X-ray vision, and she also knew that Nuannuan saw Nangong Jin's injury. However, when Nuannuan saw the injury, her brows furrowed, and Mu Chenxiang's heart jumped.

However, Nangong Jin was still here. She did not want Nangong Jin to feel burdened, so she said to him, "Jin, Nuannuan is here. Nothing will go wrong. You'll be fine."

Nangong Jin could feel the warmth from Mu Chenxiang's hand, and at the same time, she was trembling. The desire to live grew stronger in her heart.

He saw Nuannuan's expression earlier. The nature of his injury had been strange. He had been injured for five days, and not only had he not recovered, but he was still bleeding. Even though he had been hospitalized for five days and continuously administered anti-inflammatory drugs, his wound had not healed. Instead, it showed signs of festering.

He had been running a high fever for three whole days, and his temperature did not go down. He could even feel pain coming from his internal organs.

Therefore, he knew that he would not be healing from this injury easily this time.

However, when he saw his wife and saw how worried she was but still consoling him by saying that he would be fine, Nangong Jin thought that he would be fine.

As a husband, he had not been able to do much for his family. His wife had been the one contributed so much to their family. He owed her enough, so he had to at least ensure that they could grow old together. He could not let her live alone in this world.

“Don’t worry, Xiang’er. I’ll be fine. Don’t worry.”

“Mm.”

Mu Chenxiang nodded vigorously. Then, together with Nuannuan and the doctors from Benevolent Angel Hospital, they sent Nangong Jin to the hospital.

Mu Chenxiang was not allowed to enter the operating theater. Although she really wanted to accompany Nangong Jin, both the doctor and Nuannuan stopped her from entering.

“Eldest Sister-In-Law, don’t worry. With me around, Eldest Brother will be fine. I’ll go in and accompany Eldest Brother during his treatment.”

“Alright, I’ll leave him in your care then.” Mu Chenxiang nodded.

Although she really wanted to ask Nangong Jin what was going on with him and why his injury was still so serious even though he had undergone surgery, she did not ask anything to prevent Nangong Jin from overthinking. She chose to suffer alone outside the operating theater.

Nangong Jin was about to be carted into the operating theater, but he told the doctor to stop.

Chapter 1472 - The Wound Would Not Heal

“General Nangong, do you have any instructions?”

“Put my clothes on her.”

Nangong Jin was wearing his military coat. Mu Chenxiang had rushed back from the International Film Festival’s gala at the last minute. As she had left in a hurry, she had not called her assistant nor taken her clothes with her. Up until now, she had been wearing that hollowed-out evening gown with a short jacket that her assistant had placed in the car.

The soldier at the side immediately obeyed. He removed Nangong Jin’s military coat and handed it to Mu Chenxiang with both hands.

Mu Chenxiang accepted the jacket without any pretenses and put it on naturally in front of Nangong Jin. Then she touched Nangong Jin’s burning forehead and said, “I won’t catch a cold. Don’t worry.”

A look of satisfaction appeared in Nangong Jin’s eyes before he let the doctor push him into the operating theater.

Mu Chenxiang had always given Nuannuan the impression of being beautiful, but she was a person of few words. After returning to the Nangong family for such a long time, Nuannuan had never interacted with her alone.

Nuannuan was not the kind of person who would go out of her way to befriend someone, especially someone she considered to be her family. She had always felt that she should interact with them based on how she felt.

She was not a talkative person, and neither was her eldest sister-in-law, Mu Chenxiang. So, Nuannuan really did not know much about her.

Usually, during family gatherings, Mu Chenxiang would help out in the kitchen with Nuannuan's Second Uncle Nangong. During meals, she would sit quietly beside Nangong Jin.

As a woman who had won an Oscar for Best Actress, her presence in the Nangong family had always been muted. After knowing that Nuannuan was the real chairman of Imperial Phoenix Group, Mu Chenxiang had never approached Nuannuan to request anything about joining Imperial Phoenix Film Industries. This pleased Nuannuan very much, even though as her sister-in-law, it was only right for Nuannuan to help her sister-in-law.

However, at this moment, Nuannuan's liking to this sister-in-law of hers had increased.

Mu Chenxiang and Nangong Jin were not particularly talkative. In fact, when Nuannuan and Mu Chenxiang were waiting for Nangong Jin at the hospital, they did not speak much. However, when Mu Chenxiang and Nangong Jin interacted with each other, a single movement and a single glance were enough to make one understand that it was full of love.

Nuannuan, who had always been indifferent to this sister-in-law, instantly fell in love with her own sister-in-law.

"Eldest Sister-in-law, don't worry. With me inside, nothing will happen to Eldest Brother."

Mu Chenxiang nodded. "Thank you, Nuannuan."

"We're family, there's no need to be so polite."

Mu Chenxiang did not reply to Nuannuan's words. She only gave her a warm smile.

Nuannuan went in. Nangong Jin had not been anesthetized yet.

"What's wrong?" Nangong Jin was still awake, and all the specialists were waiting for her.

"General Nangong said he must wait for you to come in before telling us."

Nuannuan walked to Nangong Jin's side and held his hand before asking, "Eldest Brother, is there a problem?"

"Nuannuan, I suffered this injury five days ago. After I was injured, I was operated at the local hospital and they took out the bullet. In these five days, I've been injected with two types of fluids."

Then, the soldier took out two bags of liquid from his bag.

"This is the anti-inflammatory fluid that the general has been receiving for the past five days. This kind of fluid needs three days, and this kind of fluid needs two days. The general has always been in good health. Under normal circumstances, if he's heavily injured, the inflammation should have been reduced in at most three days.. However, this time, although he isn't severely injured, he can't heal.

Chapter 1473: Cannot Be Anesthetized

The soldier explained for Nangong Jin.

“Eldest Brother, I looked at your wound earlier. It’s festering and you’re still bleeding. This is because the inflammation hasn’t gone away, and your wound is still infected. As for what exactly happened, I need to test it out with your necrotic tissue, so I’ll have the doctor administer anesthesia on you first, and then I’ll have them remove all the necrotic flesh. If you don’t remove it, your wound will get worse until it threatens your life.”

“Just do the surgery. You don’t have to give me anesthesia.”

Nuannuan was stunned. “Why?”

If she did not use anesthetics on him before removing the rotten flesh, would he not die of pain?

“That’s because anesthesia doesn’t work on the general unless the dosage is high enough. However, a high dose of anesthesia can harm the nerves, so the general is never anesthetized when he goes through operations to remove bullets.”

Nuannuan looked at the wounds on Nangong Jin’s body. They were no less than the scars on Big Brother Chi Yang’s body.

After all, Big Brother Chi Yang had a supernatural ability that he could use to protect himself, but Nangong Jin was made of flesh and blood without any ability to protect himself.

“Then, you don’t need anesthesia. I’ll pierce a few needles into you.”

After saying that, Nuannuan got the doctor to retrieve her silver needles immediately.

Nuannuan inserted the needles into his nerves one by one. Very soon, Nangong Jin felt his entire body go numb.

“Do you feel anything?”

“Yes.” Nangong Jin frowned in discomfort. He was suffering from numbness, and his body felt like it was being bitten by countless insects.

“That’s good. I know you must be feeling uncomfortable right now, but think about it. At most, you’ll be like this forever, and there won’t be any more discomfort. However, compared to removing the rotten flesh without anesthesia, this will reduce the amount of pain you’ll feel.”

Nangong Jin looked at Nuannuan. Although his little sister would not treat him the way Lil Ling’er treated Lil Sun, every time something happened to them, Nuannuan would stand up for them immediately.

Nangong Jin was convinced that he had been a brother for nothing.

However, being able to be taken care of by his little sister felt good.

Thus, Young Master Nangong enjoyed his sister’s thoughtful service with a clear conscience.

The specialists were responsible for cutting off Nangong Jin's rotten flesh. Before completely removing the rotten surface, they first removed some of his connective tissues. Nuannuan pretended to bring the rotten flesh under a microscope to observe it. Then, she dripped the two drugs that the soldiers had given her into two small pieces of rotten flesh to observe if the cells that were about to die in the rotten flesh would change.

After these anti-inflammatory drugs touched the rotten flesh, they had the effect of removing and sterilizing the necrotic cells inside. However, they could not kill the bacteria quickly, and they could not eliminate the bacteria.

Nuannuan discovered that there were a few necrotic bacteria that could not be removed no matter how much she increased the dosage. Not long after, these bacteria began to reproduce on their own.

This was why Nangong Jin had already undergone surgery and received a fluid transfusion for five days. Not only did his wounds not recover, but they were still inflamed.

After that, Nuannuan immediately got the director of Benevolent Angel Hospital to bring her all the anti-inflammatory drugs in the hospital. Then, she dripped them on the rotten meat one by one to check their effects on the bacteria.

None of the single antibiotics were satisfactory.

However, some of the normal-looking drugs achieved some sort of sanitizing effect on this stubborn bacteria.

A lot of these bacteria that had been active all this time died because of these drugs.

Chapter 1474: Does It Hurt?

Hence, Nuannuan quickly took a look at the pharmacodynamics of these drugs to find the commonality between all of the drugs.

It was a special chemical. Normally, anti-inflammatory drugs were not equipped with this chemical because this chemical was not very effective against normal bacteria.

However, the bacteria in Nangong Jin's body were very afraid of this particular chemical molecular structure.

After figuring out what these bacteria were afraid of, Nuannuan immediately told the director about the chemical composition, asked him to go to the pharmaceutical manufacturer in the name of Benevolent Angel Hospital, and obtain some semi-finished ingredients.

The medicines sold by the pharmaceutical manufacturer were all finished products. However, since it was a place where medicines were manufactured, there would be many raw materials. This was what Nuannuan wanted.

The director immediately took action. Less than half an hour after the call, the pharmaceutical manufacturer sent the medicine that Nuannuan needed.

After delivering it, Nuannuan experimented with this chemical.

Using just a little bit of Nuannuan's creation was enough to kill the specific kind of bacteria. This drug only had a stronger effect on this bacteria which it was targeted at, but it did not do much damage to other types of bacteria.

Hence, Nuannuan added a new generation of cephalosporins into the fray. The two drugs were mixed together before Nuannuan flooded the bacteria sample with the mixture. Soon, whether it was the new type of stubborn bacteria or normal germs, they were all eliminated.

Then, based on the usual measurements applied to human administration, Nuannuan asked the doctor to inject the fluid into Nangong Jin after pairing it with a suitable anti-inflammatory medicine.

The specialists looked at the liquid that Nuannuan concocted on the spot, and their hearts were pounding.

Unfortunately, this was not anyone else but their ultimate boss, so the specialists did not dare say anything. They could only listen to her and transfuse the liquid into Nangong Jin.

Finally, one of the specialists could not help but ask, "Chairman, what is it that you're transferring into General Nangong?"

Even though they knew that this was a newly concocted drug, the experts still wanted to find out.

"I came up with it myself," Nuannuan replied.

"Ahem... What I mean is, which drugs are used in this?"

"Cephalosporins and some medicinal molecules that I extracted. That thing has no name."

Very well...

The specialists were speechless.

The person lying on the operating table was Young Master Nangong! If anything happened to him...

However, thinking about the relationship between Young Master Nangong and their boss, the specialists did not continue asking.

Nangong Jin's operating theater was in the ward.

This was the VIP room of Benevolent Angel Hospital. The room had a living room, bedroom, kitchen, and bathroom. Everything was prepared according to the six-star standard. Not only that but there was also an operating theater inside the room. The doctors performed the surgery inside the room. After the surgery, the doctors left all at once, and the patients could rest. They did not need to move.

Therefore, after the debridement was completed, the doctor left under Nangong Nuannuan's instructions.

Mu Chenxiang entered the ward immediately. When she saw that Nangong Jin's eyes were open, she knew that he had not used anesthesia.

Hence, she quickly held his hands tightly to give him strength and asked, "Jin, is it very painful?"

Nangong Jin's pallid face was flushed with an unnatural red. He smiled weakly and said, "It's alright. With Nuannuan around, it doesn't hurt at all."

"Eldest Sister-In-Law, don't worry. Even though Eldest Brother can't use anesthesia, I used acupuncture on him to numb his nerves, so he just feels numb all over. It won't hurt too much.."

Chapter 1475: Prodigal Pharmacist

Nangong Jin comforted his wife, "It's not 'it won't hurt too much.' It doesn't hurt at all. I just feel numb all over."

After comforting his wife, he looked at Nuannuan in admiration and said, "If only you were here every time I got injured."

As a soldier—a soldier who had achieved countless military achievements—the number of times Nangong Jin had been injured could not be counted with one's fingers. Every time he went through surgery for his injuries, he would feel like a layer of his skin had been torn off from the pain. Even though he endured it every time and made everyone think that he was very brave, he was just an ordinary human. He was the only one who knew how much pain he went through.

Tears welled up in Mu Chenxiang's eyes when she heard Nangong Jin's words.

"Poppycock! Don't say such things."

Nangong Jin smiled at his beloved wife. His eyes were filled with tenderness as he replied obediently, "Alright, I won't say that anymore."

Nuannuan smiled. "Eldest Sister-in-law, don't worry. With me around, I won't let Eldest Brother suffer too much."

A smile finally cracked across Mu Chenxiang's face. "Okay."

When the tension eased, Mu Chenxiang could tell from Nangong Jin's expression that Nangong Jin was fine. She asked, "Nuannuan, what happened to Jin's injury? Have you found the cause?"

"Yes, I have."

The light in Nangong Jin's eyes darkened as he asked, "What happened?"

"Eldest Brother, there is an unknown bacteria in your wound. This bacteria is insensitive to the effects of anti-inflammatory drugs such as penicillin, cephalosporins, and ofloxacin. Therefore, even after five days of infusion, the bacteria in your body are still growing uncontrollably and will continue to fester. This has led to your unsubiding high fever and your wound becoming pus."

When Mu Chenxiang heard Nuannuan's words, she could not help but feel nervous. Her grip on Nangong Jin tightened.

Nangong Jin listened quietly and calmly. Then, he rubbed his beloved wife's hand repeatedly with his thumb to comfort her.

“Then... is it possible to find a way to deal with the bacteria?” Mu Chenxiang looked worried.

No matter how tough Nangong Jin was, he could not stop himself from being injured by the bacteria. He had been running a high fever of 39 degrees and above for several days. If he continued to have this high fever, he would definitely have a huge problem in less than 10 days.

“Don’t worry, Eldest Sister-In-Law. When Eldest Brother was undergoing his debridement surgery, I’ve already found a solution. The liquid that I’m giving Eldest Brother is the liquid that I just concocted.”

Mu Chenxiang let out a sigh of relief instantly.

“That’s great! Thank you, Nuannuan! Although you don’t want me to thank you, I really do! If it weren’t for you, Xu’er, Ling’er, and the Nangong family might have been in trouble. Without you, Jin wouldn’t have been able to get out of this predicament so easily.”

Before Nuannuan could speak, Nangong Jin pinched his excited wife and said, “We’re family.”

“Eldest Brother, take a rest. Your fever will subside by the time you wake up.”

“Okay.”

With his beloved wife and little sister watching over him, Nangong Jin felt very at ease. He was already used to the numbness in his body, so he did not feel any pain. He practically fell asleep after agreeing to Nuannuan’s suggestion.

Nuannuan and Mu Chenxiang stayed in the room with Nangong Jin.

Nuannuan had been observing the situation of the unknown bacteria being destroyed after the liquid entered Nangong Jin’s body. After seeing that the liquid went into Nangong Jin’s bloodstream, the unknown bacteria were immediately killed in large numbers. Although the bacteria were still growing rapidly, the rate at which the new anti-inflammatory drugs were killing the unknown bacteria was clearly faster than the rate at which the bacteria were growing.. Only then did Nuannuan relax.

Chapter 1476: Everyone In The Nation Knew

Although Mu Chenxiang could not see or understand anything, she held Nangong Jin’s hand and stared at him unblinkingly, afraid that he would feel uncomfortable.

Within an hour, beads of sweat started forming on Nangong Jin’s forehead.

The presence of sweat meant that his fever had gone down.

The fever that could not subside even after going through five days of IV drip treatment was finally subsiding one hour after receiving his new medicine.

Of course, Mu Chenxiang was the first to notice Nangong Jin’s sweat. She was overjoyed.

“Nuannuan, he’s sweating!”

Nangong Nuannuan looked at her sister-in-law's uncontrollably happy expression and nodded with a smile. "Yes."

"I'll get him some water to wipe his sweat. Otherwise, he'll feel uncomfortable later."

"Eldest Sister-In-Law, this room is equipped with a nurse. Just give the order."

"The nurse isn't familiar with the temperature he likes. I should do this myself."

With that, she stood up and went to the washroom.

Seeing Mu Chenxiang happily rushing into the bathroom in her 10cm high heels and evening gown, Nuannuan could not help but smile.

Eldest Brother was happy, so was Eldest Sister-In-Law. Just like her and Big Brother Chi Yang.

After Mu Chenxiang filled a basin with water, she brought it out to help Nangong Jin wipe his body. Nangong Jin slept soundly despite being disturbed in this manner.

It was probably he knew his wife was by his side.

After ensuring that Nangong Jin was fine, Nuannuan retreated from the ward to the living room, leaving the ward to the couple.

However, not long after she settled herself down in the living room, her grandfather, uncle, second uncle, third uncle, and a few brothers appeared at the door of the ward like a swarm of bees.

Nuannuan, "...!!!"

How did Grandpa find out about this?

Seeing the anxious look on Grandpa Nangong's face and the solemn faces of the Nangong family members behind him, Nuannuan stood up immediately. Before she could say anything, Grandpa Nangong had already asked anxiously, "Nuannuan, how is your eldest brother doing? Is he severely injured? Is his life in danger? What exactly infected him that his fever can't go away?"

Seeing that the old master was so anxious that he could barely stand, Nuannuan quickly replied, "Grandpa, don't worry. Eldest Brother is fine now. His fever has already started to subside. His life is no longer in danger. Don't worry!"

Her words made the old master heave a sigh of relief. Only then did he notice his legs had gone weak.

Nangong Shu and Nangong Qin immediately held the old master and helped him over to sit on the sofa.

"Nuannuan, what happened?"

As a father, when Nangong Shu heard that his son was seriously injured and came to the hospital to consult the doctor, he found out from the doctor that Nangong Jin was infected with an unknown virus. Nangong Shu was scared out of his wits. Only after hearing Nuannuan's words did he heave a sigh of relief.

Nuannuan explained Nangong Jin's situation in detail. It was not until she explained how she found the antidote that everyone heaved a sigh of relief.

After all, Nuannuan had X-ray vision, and she was very familiar with medicine and acupuncture. Therefore, if Nuannuan said that he was fine, they believed her.

When Mu Chenxiang heard the voices outside, she opened the door and saw that everyone from the Nangong family had arrived.

“Grandpa, how did you know that Eldest Brother was injured?”

“Nuannuan, you’ll know when you scroll and read some entertainment news. Not only does Grandpa know that Eldest Brother is injured, almost everyone in Camino knows that Eldest Brother is seriously injured.”

Hearing Nangong Ze’s words, Nuannuan immediately went online to find out.. Mu Chenxiang heard that the whole country knew that Nangong Jin was injured, so she also took out her phone.

Chapter 1477: Precious Sister-in-law

Only then did Mu Chenxiang remember that she was worried that her assistant would keep calling her, so she turned off the phone to avoid disturbing Nangong Jin.

She had just turned on her phone when dozens of missed calls, a few dozen messages, and 999+ comments notification prompts on her Weibo page popped up on her phone screen. It gave Mu Chenxiang quite a shock.

When she saw the video and the comments below, Mu Chenxiang was speechless.

Dan Muxi might have been her enemy in the past, but later on, she was just a clown to her. Mu Chenxiang did not even bother messing with Dan Muxi anymore.

Initially, Mu Chenxiang thought that as long as Mu Chenxiang lived a wonderful life, it would be the cruelest form of torture for Dan Muxi and her mother, so there was no need for Mu Chenxiang to go after them.

Who knew that even though Mu Chenxiang did not seek revenge, Dan Muxi kept leaping out and jabbing her.

Previously, Nangong Jin had taught Dan Muxi a lesson and made her unable to take on any jobs for an entire year. When Dan Muxi finally escaped that predicament, she no longer dared to jump around in front of Mu Chenxiang, but she still could not help but drug Mu Chenxiang without her knowing.

This time, Mu Chenxiang did not even need Jin nor herself to do anything to Dan Muxi, and this woman had already sent herself to her own death.

After watching the video, Nuannuan sneered and said, “Serves her right.” Mu Chenxiang looked at Nuannuan and thanked her sincerely. “Nuannuan, thank you. You must have informed Selina about this, right?”

Nuannuan nodded. "When you hung up the phone, I heard someone telling you that it was almost time for you to show up on the red carpet. Since Selina and the others were there, I asked Selina to step in. Eldest Sister-in-law, have you considered joining my company? You'll be given absolute freedom and unrestricted time!"

Hongna Film Company that Mu Chenxiang was under belonged to the Ning family. Since she had announced her retreat from the film and television industry and no longer took on any movies or television dramas, her employers were not too happy with her actions. They had stopped allowing her to show up on variety shows with a better reputation.

Initially, she had planned to establish her own studio, but she had shifted her focus on her family after her engagement. The contract between her and Hongna Film was not the usual three to five-year contract—it was an annual contract.

Coincidentally, her contract with Hongna was about to expire. To coax her into signing the contract, Hongna allowed her to attend the award ceremony and walk on the red carpet.

Now that her younger sister-in-law invited her, Mu Chenxiang agreed without hesitation.

Firstly, the Imperial Phoenix Group was an international super conglomerate. Almost all the movie stars under the Imperial Phoenix Film Industry were international bigshots. Once she joined the company, her status and reputation would improve a lot. Secondly, Nuannuan was the chairman of Imperial Phoenix Group. Imperial Phoenix Film Industry would definitely make things more convenient for Mu Chenxiang. After all, Mu Chenxiang was the wife of a military officer. When Jin was not at home, she had to take care of Xu'er and Ling'er. Therefore, if she went to Imperial Phoenix Group, not only would she get more resources, she believed that the film industry would not be dissatisfied with her because of her family matters.

Therefore, Mu Chenxiang readily agreed to Nuannuan's invitation.

"Will coming to Imperial Phoenix Film Industry trouble the management?"

"How could that be? You're my sister-in-law. Even if I gave you the entire Imperial Phoenix Film Industry, who would dare say anything? Not to mention that you're only here to sign up as a celebrity here. Eldest Sister-in-law, I know you love acting. If there are any short-term shows in the future, you can continue to participate in shoots if you have nothing to do at home. After all, you won an Oscar as Best Actress.. It's such a pity to end your acting career like this."

Chapter 1478: She Was A Businesswoman

Nuannuan's words touched Mu Chenxiang deeply.

The chairman of the Imperial Phoenix Group had a great background and had absolute authority in the entire Imperial Phoenix Group. This was something that many outsiders knew. However, everyone thought that the chairman of the Imperial Phoenix Group was Feng Shengxuan, but no one knew that the real chairman of Imperial Phoenix Group was actually Mu Chenxiang's little sister-in-law.

After Nangong Jin was out of danger, the Nangong family heaved a sigh of relief and the atmosphere eased up.

After comforting her family, Nuannuan called the person in charge of Benevolent Angel Hospital in Naboo.

Since she had no way of contacting Chi Yang, she could only spread the word through the Benevolent Angel in Naboo—

If anyone were shot and showed signs of persistent high fever, they could go to Benevolent Angel Hospital for treatment. Benevolent Angel Hospital had already developed a drug that targeted this particular bacteria of unknown origins.

For the Camino soldiers, Benevolent Angel Hospital could give them IV drips and treatments for free. However, the medical fees for the soldiers and citizens of Naboo could not be discounted.

Even though the soldiers in every country were the cutest people in that country and all citizens of war were victims, Nuannuan was not a saint. She was a businesswoman, and she needed to earn money.

Even though the drug used for IV drips was not expensive, it was her exclusive product. She had spent a lot of time researching it, so she deserved to earn money from it.

On the other side, Emperor District's Benevolent Angel Hospital immediately purchased a large number of drugs from pharmaceutical companies to kill this unknown bacteria. Then, they would be mixed and matched according to Nuannuan's instructions before shipping them over to Naboo.

In Naboo, Chi Yang had been suffering from a constant headache from the same issue where his soldiers continued to have inflammation in wounds after they got injured.

Within a month, the situation in Naboo had completely changed. The previous president, Pang Long, had been forced to abdicate under strong pressure from the people, and the party that Wei Du was in control of had succeeded.

Wei Du thought that he could afford to mess with Pang Long. Therefore, after Pang Long stepped down from the stage, he decided to eliminate him completely so that no other trouble could stem from this in the future.

Unexpectedly, Pang Long had a group of supporters. After Wei Du started launching a full-on murder on Pang Long, Pang Long suddenly changed from the former President to the current villain and started an open fight against Wei Du.

Not only did the citizens of Naboo suffer from the pain of war, but the lives of the people of Camino, who lived in the Naboo, were also in danger.

Over the past month, they had been constantly evacuating the Camino citizens in Naboo. The evacuation that was supposed to be done in an orderly manner had become more and more difficult.

Chi Yang's resting time was getting shorter and shorter. He might be able to wait, but some of his soldiers could not wait any longer.

That was because any of his soldiers who were injured were all suffering from high fever. However, the number of helicopters that he could gather in Naboo was limited, and almost all of them had been sent to transport citizens from various cities. The only helicopter left for him was given to Nangong Jin. Therefore, unless they evacuated on a large scale and left the citizens of Naboo to their own devices, it was impossible to retreat when there were so many of them.

More and more soldiers were injured and started to have a high fever. After Pang Long's army fought with Wei Du's official army, Wei Du was originally in an advantageous position. In just half a month, Wei Du started to doubt the reliability of his position as the president.

However, Chi Yang discovered that ever since the injured Camino soldiers started to show signs of unsubsidizing high fever these few days, Pang Long's field army also started to experience this situation on a large scale.

Chapter 1479: Aid

Looking at the presidential palace that was just a stone's throw away, Chi Yang frowned and pondered whether he should go in and negotiate with Wei Du.

He was convinced that Wei Du was responsible for the high fever that plagued the troops from Camino and Pang Long's field army. He also believed that once he went in and asked Wei Du for anti-inflammatory medicine, Wei Du would definitely use this opportunity to ask Camino to verify his position in Naboo.

As the military and economic development of Camino developed over the years, it had a huge impact on the political and economies of the surrounding countries, giving Camino more and more power to voice out its stance. Once Wei Du received Camino's recognition, that might propagate him into being recognized by the entire international community. When that time came, no matter how competitive Pang Long was, Pang Long would lose his rights.

However, based on Wei Du and Pang Long's character, Camino would rather Wei Du not assume this role.

Even though the president had given Chi Yang full authority over this matter, it was precisely because of this that Chi Yang could not make a random choice and decide to call it a day.

Unless absolutely necessary, Camino would never acknowledge Wei Du's regime.

"Captain, please let me give it a try. I won't let the Wei Du's people catch me. Please don't worry," a new member of the Eagle Special Forces requested.

Chi Yang glanced at him and ignored him.

The member started to panic. He started to ramble on about how good his skills were and how he would resolve the crisis. He talked for five whole minutes while the other members of the Eagle Special Forces ignored him.

"Are you done?" Chi Yang looked at the team member.

The member straightened his body and gave Chi Yang a standard military salute. "Reporting to Captain, I'm done."

"No matter how skilled you are, can you be better than me?"

The other members of Eagle could not help but laugh. They were already used to this guy being facesmacked by their captain every day. This guy was very skilled, but he talked too much.

"...but you're the commander, so you can't make a move easily. I'm willing to be your pawn, so please let me do it!"

"If it's that easy for you to find out what's in the antidote, do you think Pang Long's people would have fallen into such a passive state?"

"Even though Pang Long has been forced to lead a field army, do you think he has no one left in the presidential palace?"

"..."

"If you can't even figure out that he has eyes inside the palace, why do you want to go in? To become a joke?"

"..."

Another special forces team member patted the man's shoulder and said, "Brother, calm down. The best fighter among us is the captain. If there's really a need to go in and investigate, the captain will usually go in person."

"Then... what are we doing here?"

"To wait," Chi Yang replied.

"Waiting for what?" The team member asked in confusion.

"Waiting for the antidote. If the antidote doesn't arrive by noon tomorrow, I'll go negotiate with Wei Du."

Everyone, "..."

Why would they wait for the antidote to arrive out of nowhere?

However, no one questioned Chi Yang's decision, so everyone stopped asking.

While personally supervising the evacuation in Naboo's capital, the soldiers waited patiently.

However, ten minutes into their brief chat, a member of the marine team suddenly came to report.

"Reporting to the commander, good news! A hospital has already developed a medicine that targets soldiers who have a persistent fever."

Chi Yang's eyes lit up. Without even guessing, he asked, "Benevolent Angel Hospital?"

The soldier paused in surprise. However, he remembered that Chi Yang was a commander after all, so it was not strange for him to receive the news in advance. Hence, he quickly nodded and said, "Yes, Commander.. It's Benevolent Angel Hospital."

Chapter 1480: Treatment For Everyone

"It's a hospital in Sab. However, I'm not sure if this news is accurate or not, because this news was released by the hospital. After Pang Long found out about it, he immediately transferred all of his injured soldiers to this hospital."

The members of the Eagle Special Forces were also shocked. They did not expect that the antidote that their captain had mentioned would actually come just by waiting.

When Chi Yang received a definite answer, a hint of gentleness softened his piercingly cold gaze.

He knew that his wife would not disappoint him.

This place was too dangerous. Although his wife was very skilled, he did not want her to be in danger. Therefore, the only way was to send Nangong Jin back. If his wife could cure Nangong Jin, then Camino would not have to bow down to Wei Du and be forced to acknowledge his position. If even his wife could not put this fever under control for the time being, then Pang Long would definitely not be able to take over the position of president. In that case, Naboo could only fall into Wei Du's hands.

Nevertheless, his Nuannuan was really too amazing. It had only been three hours since Nangong Jin returned to Emperor District of Camino, yet this girl had already developed a drug that worked against the horrifying bacteria.

Chi Yang initially planned to call Nuannuan tomorrow to ask about the situation. After all, after discovering the unknown virus, she would have to go through many testing procedures.

Chi Yang already knew that his wife was the prodigal pharmacist from Sab that everyone had been talking about, who had a keen understanding of the molecular structure of all kinds of drugs. He did not expect his wife to not only save Nangong Jin in three hours but also get Benevolent Angel Hospital in Emperor District to contact Benevolent Angel Hospital in Naboo.

Therefore, Chi Yang immediately gave the order without hesitation. "All Camino soldiers, no matter where they are, immediately go to the nearest Benevolent Angel Hospital for treatment as long as they're injured."

"Yes."

Although the soldiers did not know why the commander would give such an order without verifying it first, the commander's words were an order, and they would follow it unconditionally.

After solving the problem of the unknown virus, the rest of their work became much easier.

Wei Du injured Nangong Jin, which was tantamount to plucking whiskers from a tiger's face. Chi Yang would definitely not watch someone like Wei Du sit on the president's seat.

So, what happened next... On one hand, Chi Yang continued to evacuate the citizens of Camino, and on the other, Chi Yang decided to accept Pang Long's invitation.

Pang Long had already invited Chi Yang when he had started his counterattack half a month ago.

Although Chi Yang did not know what kinds of benefits Pang Long would promise, he knew that Pang Long wanted Camino's support.

Now, the matter of Se Ni showing off her wealth had come to an end.

Before Pang Long was forced to abdicate, Pang Long had already announced that he and the entrepreneur, Ang Ji, were actually lovers. However, due to his sexual orientation, he had never announced it to society and had never gotten married.

Naboo was not one of those conservative countries. People of the same gender could get married, but because Pang Long was the president, he never married his love.

At that time, the public's anger had already reached a certain level. Since everyone was disgusted by Se Ni's adamant arrogance in showing off her wealth and refused to listen to Pang Long's explanation, Pang Long could only resign from his position as president.

However, due to the support of a large number of those in power, Pang Long could still become a member of parliament after he resigned.

Who knew that after Wei Du became the president, he tried to end Pang Long completely to prevent future troubles..
