

Physician Wife 1721

Chapter 1721 Stretched Out

When Nuannuan saw the serious look on Big Brother Chi Yang's face, she immediately defended her sovereignty and said, "But you have to let me finish this bowl of noodles! Otherwise, I won't talk to you ever again!"

After saying that, Nuannuan mixed the noodles together and turned over the portion in the bowl that was soaking in the soup. Then, she mixed two slices of thick-cut pork liver and popped a large chunk of noodles into her mouth. She let out a sound of extreme enjoyment.

Seeing that Chi Yang was not eating, Nuannuan opened her eyes and said, "Big Brother Chi Yang, you should eat too!"

Chi Yang saw that he could no longer stop his wife from eating, so he made up his mind to take her to the hospital for a check-up after she was done. He wanted her to see for herself what the consequences were of eating too much. He sat down and looked at the noodles in his bowl. However, he had no appetite and was full of worry.

Nuannuan glanced at Chi Yang, who did not have an appetite right now. She reached out and stirred his noodles around in his bowl. "Big Brother Chi Yang, why is there no pig liver in your bowl? Did you give me all the pig liver?"

At this moment, Nuannuan felt that her Big Brother Chi Yang was the best man in the world.

Fortunately, Chi Yang did not know about this. Otherwise, he would definitely be depressed to death.

A good man would give her all the pig liver, while a bad man would not?

This was amazing logic!

Nuannuan picked up two thick slices of pig liver from her own bowl and gave them to Chi Yang, "Big Brother Chi Yang, Second Uncle is really amazing. He has completely learned Second Uncle-in-Law's true teachings. This pig liver is simply the best pig liver in the world. Come, come, come, have a taste!"

Chi Yang's eyes lit up. He was just about to ask her to give him all the pig liver in her bowl so he could help her eat it.

In the end, she gave him two slices of pig liver to warm him up. In return, she scooped out the two largest pieces of twice-cooked pork from his bowl.

"You're taking my twice-cooked pork!" Chi Yang almost lost control of his voice.

"I gave you two slices of pig liver, and you're giving me two pieces of twice-cooked pork! If you don't have enough, go eat another bowl of noodles!"

Looking at the meat Nuannuan had stolen, which was much bigger than the two pieces of liver she had given him, Chi Yang was left speechless.

He pushed the noodles around his bowl, feeling bored. At the same time, he kept paying attention to this girl who had claimed she could eat an entire elephant. He was surprised to find that she could maintain a very quick speed of eating despite every bite of hers being so huge. With every swallow, she would let out a sigh, too. By the end of it, she did not even seem overstuffed-her appetite seemed to only get better and better.

In the end, Chi Yang watched helplessly as his wife finished the entire bowl of noodles.

A whole bowl!!!

Such a large bowl of noodles could fill up her stomach, abdomen, and chest...

Looking at his slightly bloated stomach, Chi Yang really wanted to know where this girl had hidden all the food she had just eaten.

“Big Brother Chi Yang, aren’t you going to eat? You can’t eat anymore?”

Nuannuan was still asking questions when Chi Yang pushed the noodles from in front of him to his side and said very seriously, “Don’t even think about it!”

He really could not eat anymore. At this moment, he could not even sit still.

He stood up, held Nuannuan’s hand, and walked out.

“Big Brother Chi Yang, what are you doing?” “Going to the hospital.” Chi Yang’s face was dark.

“Why are you going to the hospital?”

“To do a scan so you can take a good look at how your body is being stretched out by all that food!”

“What?! I don’t feel stretched out at all!”

Nuannuan protested, but she still followed Chi Yang and left the room.

Chapter 1722 Nothing Major

She really did not feel full at all. Moreover, she was very knowledgeable about her own body. In the past, Feng Shengxuan had been afraid she would have issues because of her huge appetite. Therefore, after she had eaten a lot more food than this... He had taken her to the hospital for an examination. The results showed that she was completely fine. There was no accumulation of food at all. The food she had eaten had been quickly digested.

Chi Yang brought Nuannuan to the hospital and asked the doctor to give her a detailed check-up. The results indeed showed that Nuannuan did not have any accumulation of food nor damage to her kidneys.

Holding the medical report, Nuannuan smiled and poked Chi Yang’s face with the soft part of the paper, “What do you think? What do you think? I didn’t lie to you, did I? You’ve learned your lesson now, haven’t you? Let me tell you, in the past, I ate a lot more food than this. My Big Brother forced me to stay in the hospital for three whole days, but I was fine in the end.”

Chi Yang looked at Nuannuan, feeling very affectionate yet angry. He could not help but reach out and knock her head. “Then why didn’t you tell me earlier? Did you know I was scared to death by you?”

“I just ate a little too much. What’s there to be afraid of? I’m a doctor myself. How could I harm myself?”

“But your stomach is so small. Where are you hiding all of it?”

As Chi Yang spoke, he could not help but look her up and down to see if anything that she had eaten was leaking out of her.

This made Nuannuan laugh.

“I digested a lot of it! Look at me. I worked hard all day today. I only ate a little food at night, and that was my breakfast, lunch, afternoon tea, and dinner. I didn’t even eat much then!”

Chi Yang, “...” Okay, okay, okay! Everything was fine after the check-up. She was fine to be released.

When the two of them returned home, it was almost 3 AM. At 7 AM, the two of them woke up almost at the same time.

“Are you full?” When Chi Yang woke up and saw Nuannuan, the first thing he thought about was to ask her whether she was full.

Nuannuan rubbed her full stomach and said, “I’m hungry.”

Seeing the disbelief on Chi Yang’s face, Nuannuan pulled his hand to her stomach, which was completely stuffed, and let him touch it.

Chi Yang touched it, and his gaze grew deeper and deeper.

“Hungry?”

“Yes.” Nuannuan nodded. Looking at Chi Yang’s deep gaze, she immediately shook her head. “Not hungry, not hungry!”

“You’re not hungry, but I’m hungry!”

He had wanted to have a go last night, but seeing that his little wife had been pitifully hungry, he had let her go. At this moment, even though his stomach was empty, he thought about how this girl had eaten so much last night and seemed no worse off for it, so he immediately got to the main topic.

Nuannuan was soon taken on a ride by Chi Yang. With his guidance, she floated up and down. Afterward, when she could no longer withstand the hot blood within her body, she finally let go and allowed them to unlock all kinds of unknown positions...

Chi Yang went to the Eagle Special Forces base to train his soldiers, while Nuannuan went straight to the medical base.

Huang Zichu was doing well. After visiting the siblings, Nuannuan was ready to go to Shu Medical University to watch two random surgeries.

In the end, before she reached the Shu Medical University, she received a call from Chi Yang

Hearing the unusual seriousness in Chi Yang's voice, Nuannuan replied. "I'm in the car and I'm going to walk to Qiyun Road later. I'm going to the military hospital. What's wrong?"

"Don't go to the military hospital now. Go home."

"Why? What happened?"

"Nothing major."

Chi Yang told Nuannuan the news that he had just received.

Chapter 1723 The Infection Spreads

It turned out that not long after Chi Yang went to the special forces, a call had come from the military hospital. It was said that someone had contracted an infection like Ning Wenhao's. They had heard that the military hospital could cure it, so they wanted to request the hospital to help treat this patient.

Because Ning Wenhao's infection had been very strange, it was listed as a special case by the hospital.

After the military hospital took over the patient, they did a series of tests on them and discovered that their infection was exactly the same as Ning Wenhao's.

Because Ning Wenhao's illness had been cured by the drug that Nangong Nuannuan had developed over a few days, the military hospital tried to buy the drug from her. However, she had told the hospital that Ning Wenhao's infection was a unique and new type of infection and would not be contagious. In other words, it was very likely that no one would be infected with this disease again. Secondly, the drug had just been developed and did not have sufficient stability yet. If the department doctor really wanted to buy it, he would have to put it through countless drug trials to prove that it was beneficial. Not to mention that the drug could only be sold after passing the examination and approval of the National Drug Administration.

The military hospital felt that Nuannuan was right, so they gave up on buying the drug.

Who could have guessed that just a few days later, another infected person would show up?

Chi Yang said, "You said that Ning Wenhao's infection was not a normal infection. His infection was related to his gunshot wound. It was a new virus deliberately planted into him by someone. So, just leave this matter to me. Don't come."

"Why can't I? I want to know who the second person to get this virus is."

"I refused the military hospital right away. I said that the drug you developed has not been approved by the National Drug Administration. I saved Ning Wenhao because he is my comrade. I can help him make decisions because I can take full responsibility for his life. But I can't do the same for others."

Nuannuan's lips had already curled up into a cold smile. "But the other party has said that he doesn't want you to take responsibility and is insisting that I treat his illness. If I don't go, the patient's family will make a scene, right?"

Chi Yang's eyes were dark. "Yes." Not only that, they had invited reporters from the news to come over. They were saying that even though the military hospital clearly had a successful case, they had rejected the family members outside the hospital gates. The family was now saying that the doctors in the military hospital had no medical ethics. They only treated the rich and powerful people, regardless of whether the people were dead or alive. The military hospital could not last any longer, so they gave me a call. I'm going over to take care of it now. You should go home, okay?"

"I'm going too. Anyway, they don't know that I'm the one who cured Ning Wenhao. I can help you observe the situation in secret."

"They do know."

Hearing Chi Yang's gloomy voice, Nangong Nuan asked unhappily, "The people from the military hospital sold me out? That shouldn't be the case!"

After all, whether it was her own identity or the background of the Nangong and Chi families behind her, she was sure that the doctors from the military hospital would not dare to sell her out.

"It's the Ning family!" After thinking for a while, Nangong Nuan had a guess of her own, which happened to be the same as Chi Yang's guess.

"Is there something wrong with the Ning family? They want to cooperate with our Imperial Phoenix Corporation, but they're betraying us at the same time."

"They didn't mean to betray you. Just now, Old Master Ning called me specifically to apologize."

Chapter 1724 Banners

"They said that the family members had found the ward and wanted to ask who Ning Wenhao had gotten the medicine from. But Ning Wenhao has already gone back with Auntie Mao. Old Master Ning, who had come to visit him, had come empty-handed and happened to meet the family members of the patient. Xiao Yushan didn't know what was wrong with her, but she told them that the young miss of the Nangong family had cured Ning Wenhao. Although she did not say that you were the chairman of the Imperial Phoenix Group, nor that you were the genius pharmacist, the patient's family quickly zoned in on the Nangong family. So, you go back to the Chi family first. I'll take care of everything." "Okay..."

They actually dared to point the finger at her and the Nangong family. If they wanted to do that, then they could not blame her for what she was going to do to them!

That was what she wanted to say after her "okay".

However, Big Brother Chi Yang clearly thought she was happily agreeing. When he heard her say 'okay', he praised her for being a good little girl and hung up without saying anything else.

Nuannuan, "..."

When Nuannuan called again, Chi Yang's phone was busy.

Thus, she hung up the phone, turned her car around, and returned to the medical base. She had been researching anti-inflammatory drugs at the Nangong family's house, but she still felt that nothing was showing much promise. The side effects for the patients taking the drugs would be very severe. However, the side effects did not mean that the drugs were ineffective. Therefore, Nuannuan still brought the drugs to the research base. She thought she would be able to research them when she was free.

Since there were now more people suffering from this disease, it was a good opportunity to test this drug.

After mixing the basic medicine, Nuannuan quickly drove to the military hospital.

At this moment, there was already a sea of people outside the military hospital. Other than the hospital director, Chi Yang and her uncle, Nangong Shu, were also there.

The patient's family was very excited. They had organized people to put up a banner not far from the entrance of the military hospital. The banner was white with black words on it. It was the kind of mourning font only dead people used. On it was written:

"If this hospital takes money but doesn't save lives, are human lives as important to them as blades of grass?"

The banner was very big. Both ends were tied to poles, and it was 11 feet tall and 26 feet long when stretched out. If one person held up each side, there would be enough space for vehicles to enter from the middle.

In front of the banner was a huge advertisement-like sign. This sign also had black words on a white background. On the sign, it said that the patient had suddenly fallen ill from a new disease and had a serious lung infection. This was a new type of virus, and currently, only this military hospital had a successful case.

After the patient's family found out, they were overjoyed and sent the patient to the military hospital for treatment. Who could have guessed that the military hospital would reject the patient and refuse to treat him?!

Now, the patient's illness had no hope, and he was on the verge of death. It was becoming increasingly difficult for him to breathe on his own. However, the doctors in the military hospital did not care. The reason for this was that the person who developed the drug was the eldest daughter of the Nangong family. The military hospital was unwilling to trouble the eldest daughter of the Nangong family to arrange to get the drug again. Therefore, they had placed the civilian patient in the intensive care unit, but they did not plan to ask Miss Nangong to go for treatment.

Were civilians not human beings too? Should civilians die when they were sick? Why had the military hospital asked Miss Nangong to save an important military officer who was also the son of a wealthy family? Why was the family only allowed to watch the patient if they were civilians? Were civilians not human? Did they not have the right to live?

This hospital had put the patient in intensive care, but did not give him any treatment!

Chapter 1725 I Am the Chief Commander

6,000 a day for intensive care. That was their hard-earned money, and the hospital had accepted it and not done anything in return. What was the difference between this and treating human lives like they were worthless?

The entrance of the military hospital had been completely blocked. Countless people had gone to watch the riot, accusing the hospital of being unrighteous and immoral. There were even media outlets reporting outside the hospital.

Nuannuan opened Weibo to take a look. This matter had indeed quickly become the most trending topic on the platform, and the number of reposts was astonishing.

Although the internet was a good thing, allowing the public to see and observe many things and inside information they would normally not be able to see or observe before, there were also many people who would take advantage of the public's sense of justice. They liked to play God after believing they had learned the truth of a scandal, swaying the conversation in the direction they wanted it to go.

It was obvious that this was the case.

The matter had developed so quickly in an instant. Regardless of whether the military hospital was justified in its decision or not, the administrative department would definitely intervene in this matter.

After all, human lives were extremely important.

The family had suffered such unfair treatment at the hands of the military hospital. It was impossible for the people in the administrative departments to not intervene.

Looking at the family members of the patients, who were filled with righteous indignation and surrounded by the crowd, a sinister sneer flashed across Nuannuan's warm fairy-like face.

Chi Yang stood on the sentry post at the entrance of the military hospital. His tall and straight military posture and solemn aura silenced the crowd before he even spoke.

The person who had been shouting about how the military hospital did not care about human lives just a moment ago and had been asking Nangong Nuannuan to come out to save the patients had shut up.

"I understand everyone's anger and doubts. Now, let me explain to everyone why the military hospital is unwilling to give the patient medication."

"Who are you? What right do you have to explain? We don't want an explanation. I just want my brother to get treatment and get better!"

"Right! We don't want to hear an explanation. We want to be treated!"

Seeing that they were about to start a commotion again, Chi Yang's gaze landed on the outspoken member of the family, making him stagger in fear. The person who had backed him up was also so scared he immediately stopped speaking.

It was because the moment Chi Yang cast his gaze on them, they could feel the aura of death surrounding them from the back of their throats. This kind of aura was simply too oppressive and terrifying

It was something other officials had no chance of replicating.

Chi Yang did not say anything about their rudeness just now. He said, "Before I explain to everyone, I'll first state my identity. My name is Chi Yang, and I am the chief commander of the Eagle Special Forces."

The crowd at the commotion did not all know Chi Yang, but everyone knew the Eagle Special Forces.

The Eagle Special Forces was a group that specialized in training the cream of the crop of Camino. All the special forces of Camino had to undergo training with the Eagle Special Forces. If Camino encountered a battle or a major threat... they would definitely send out a special battle team comprised of members of these special forces.

This was the most sacred combat team in the hearts of the nation.

This man in front of them was actually the commander-in-chief of the Eagle Special Forces, the man who had led the country's top special combat soldiers to victory through impossible mission after impossible mission?

Chapter 1726 Still a Student

There was no need for any explanation. Just the fact that Chi Yang was standing here meant that he represented justice and morality. Unless he was an extra that had been specially invited, the crowd would never doubt his words.

After all, this man and the team under him were the people who had protected them in real combat during this peaceful period.

Everyone gasped and looked at Chi Yang with respect and respect. Their eyes lit up.

Chi Yang swept his gaze across the people below him and took note of the people who did not have any emotions in their eyes. After that, he said, "Apart from that, I have another identity-being the fiancé of the daughter of the Nangong family, Nangong Nuannuan."

Everyone was stunned. They did not expect the rich and powerful young lady they despised for only saving the rich and not the poor was actually the fiancée of this general.

Just a moment ago, the crowd who had been cursing Nangong Nuannuan and even the Nangong family all shut up after learning about Chi Yang's identity./

No one was as noisy as before, saying that Chi Yang was also a rich and heartless person.

"My fiancée, Nangong Nuannuan, is a very outstanding girl. She is only a third-year high school student. Not long ago, she went abroad to participate in a competition for middle school students. She also was representing our nation when she obtained very good results.

"Because her results were very good and she likes medicine, in addition to the fact that she was preparing to apply to a medical university after her college entrance examination, during this period of time, I let her stay at the medical university in the Emperor's District to observe the doctors performing surgery. I'm telling you all this not to show off to everyone about how good my fiancée's grades are, but to tell everyone that my fiancée, Nangong Nuannuan, is just a senior in high school. She hasn't even taken the college entrance exams yet, let alone attended college. How could she have the ability to take on a precious life?"

The crowd was shocked and soon began to whisper among themselves. "So Miss Nangong is still a student?"

“Damn, she’s still a third-year high school student!”

“She’s not even a doctor, so it’s a bit too much to ask her to save a life.”

“Yeah, she’s not a doctor. Even if she could save a life, who would take responsibility for her if she accidentally killed someone?!”

“Exactly! She’s the daughter of a celebrity. If she were to be sued before she even attended university, who would be responsible for her life?”

The voices of the people present blended together. Everyone heard Chi Yang’s words online because many gossip reporters had started live broadcasts. Public opinion was completely swayed by Chi Yang’s few words.

Even if someone were to command a troll army on the internet, the spectators were not all fools. When some netizens realized they had actually been led astray by the family members of the patients, they scolded them.

Once the troll army appeared, the family would be blasted until there was nothing left of them. Their last eighteen generations of ancestors had gotten cursed out too.

“Since she doesn’t have the ability to save lives, how did she save Ning Wenhao, the young master of the Ning Family? Since she’s only a third-year high school student and not a doctor, weren’t you afraid she’d kill Ning Wenhao? He is also a high-ranking officer of the Eagle Special Forces. If you can let a third-year high school student try to save him, why can’t you try to save our family’s patient?” The patient’s family continued to beg relentlessly after a moment of silence.

Chapter 1727 Letter

Chi Yang retrieved a letter of attorney with his fingerprint on it. The cameras immediately shifted to focus on the document. “This letter of attorney was written to me by Ning Wenhao a long time ago. Although he’s the son of the Ning family, he has mostly relied on his mother from a young age due to various family issues. He was afraid that joining the Eagle Special Forces and becoming a special forces soldier would endanger his life, so he wrote this power of attorney to me. If he is to encounter any issues that would render him unable to make decisions, I can use this document and speak on his behalf without having to go through his family members. That includes his mother. Thus, I can make important decisions for him, such as decisions related to his life or regarding halting any critical treatment. It can be said that I will be his sole entrustment when he’s unable to decide things for himself.

“Previously, Ning Wenhao suffered serious injuries while carrying out a mission. Later, he had contracted an unknown virus that caused a lung infection, and his life was left hanging by a thread. The medicine from the military hospital was initially unable to save his life, and he was slowly dying. Coincidentally, at this time, my fiancée Nuannuan said that she could give it a try. So, I gave her the opportunity.”

With that, Chi Yang looked at the patient’s family and coldly continued. “Originally, the Ning family rejected it. However, due to my possession of Ning Wenhao’s power of attorney, I was able to override their decision. Thus, even if Ning Wenhao dies, I won’t allow my fiancée to shoulder any responsibility for his death. Can you sign this with the hospital? After all, my fiancée is only a third-year high school student. The military hospital did not buy the medicine she developed. Even the National Drug Administration hasn't approved it yet. Would you dare to take such a medicine?"

The patient's family members looked at each other, not knowing how to respond to such a question.

"I've finished explaining. Now, I also have some questions to ask the extremely fussy family members of this patient. Firstly, you keep saying that this hospital treats human lives like grass, and that my fiancée, Nangong Nuannuan, is rich and heartless. So, are you now aware that the hospital does not have any medication to treat him, and that the drug used for the previous patient was developed by my fiancée, who is just a third-year high school student without a license to practice medicine?"

When asked this question, emotions flickered across the eyes of the patient's family members. One of them replied, "How could we know so much? All we knew is that Ning Wenhao was saved because he was injected with a new type of medicine. We thought that the military hospital would give this medicine to Ning Wenhao but not our family member. They even charged us for it. That's their fault!"

Chi Yang had prepared for this situation, knowing that he would have to explain it to the public. Almost as soon as the man finished speaking, the projection on the screen changed to a video of the patient's family arguing with the military hospital staff. The video showed the doctor from the military hospital clearly informing the patient's family that the doctor who treated Ning Wenhao was not from their hospital and that the medicine used had not yet been approved by the National Drug Administration.

"What else do you have to say for yourself? Just because the military hospital doesn't have the medicine that you need, and my third-year high school fiancée doesn't have the qualifications to practice medicine, I have to be treated rudely by you both online and in person. Don't you realize that your actions are already a serious violation of the law? As a military officer who eradicates evil, I could arrest you right this second."

The patient's family was frightened by Chi Yang's cold voice and took two steps back.

Chapter 1728 Uproar

"You... What right do you have to arrest us? We didn't break the law! We just wanted to ask for medicine."

"Disturbing public order and inciting cyber violence-isn't that considered breaking the law? Will you have to force the Nangong family into a desperate situation and drive my fiancée to death before you realize that words can hurt? Aren't you aware of the cybersecurity law that has just been enacted by the Supreme Court?" The patient's family members, "..."

"Also, how can we be sure that you're so eager to save the patient because you're their family?"

"If we're not the family members of the patient, is he supposed to be a child we bought? I'm the patient's mother, this is my husband, this is my youngest son, this is my biological eldest sister, this is my eldest brother-in-law, this is..."

"Enough!" Chi Yang interrupted the middle-aged woman mid-sentence. He said coldly, "I have no interest in your family members. I only know that your name is Lan Cuifang, and you are a farmer from the suburbs of Jinsha County. These people from your family are also farmers, and their place of residence is even more remote than yours. Your eldest son, who is lying in the ward now, is just a hooligan who came to the Emperor District a few years ago. Over these years, he has transferred 10,000 to 20,000 yuan to the family annually.

“However, a few days ago, your family almost came to the Emperor District to shop. Then, your son suddenly fell ill. Somehow, even as bumpkins from remote villages, you knew to come to the military hospital and immediately ask for a very specific antidote without anyone’s guidance. You even knew that this antidote was developed by the young miss of the Nangong family. In just a single night, you’ve managed to spread this matter online-gathering a large number of internet trolls and anonymous people to slander and defame the military hospital and my fiancée online. Explain that to me! If you get the medicine developed by my fiancée, who are you going to give it to? Also, as a senior officer of the Eagle Special Forces, I can tell you that Ning Wenhao suffered from an infection that even his own Ning family, who are part of the first-class group of wealthy families in the Emperor District, could not discover the type of for a long time. How did you conclude that Ning Wenhao suffered from the same infection as your son?”

Chi Yang’s words instantly caused an uproar among the crowd at the scene and the online spectators.

F*ck!

Initially, many of them had been under the impression that this was medical injustice. The military hospital was unwilling to help the poor! They did not expect the commander-in-chief of the Eagle Special Forces to perform such a huge expose.

The media outlets which had not been bribed saw the discrepancies in the situation. They immediately began taking pictures of the patient’s family members, whose expressions had drastically changed.

At this moment, Chi Yang had hit the nail on the head regarding what this group of people was thinking. Some of their faces turned pale from fright, some of them had eyes flickering with emotions, and some of them were just extremely embarrassed.

In short, it became obvious to everyone that there was a conspiracy going on.

Even though Chi Yang had said so much, the middle-aged woman still did not realize that danger was approaching. She thought that at worst, she would only be unable to receive the medicine and the remaining payment.

Thinking of the final payment, which was five times the amount of the deposit, the middle-aged woman immediately put her hands on her waist and stuck out her chest. She said, “We came to the military hospital because we heard that the medical facilities here are more well-furnished than in other places. When we brought the child to the hospital for a check-up, it was the doctor who said that the infection was indeed the same as Ning Wenhao’s. He even said that we could ask Miss Nangong for help.”

Chapter 1729 Slowly Saving Up

“We just want to save our son. Don’t make our compassionate act look like a conspiracy theory! We don’t know anything about what’s happening online. Don’t slander us and think that just because you know a little about the law, you’re an officer superior to us. Let me just say that I’m not afraid of you! I just want to save my son! Ask Nangong Nuannuan to come out and save my son!”

Even though the middle-aged woman's husband was already tugging at her, she continued being unreasonable.

The middle-aged man looked at his wife, who was scolding him like a shrew right in front of the media and Chi Yang. An unpleasant feeling rose in his heart.

His wife had told him that he was to only cry and not speak. Was she not talking too much and going against her own instructions right now?

Chi Yang sneered. "Don't tell me you guys aren't plotting something. If you're not, explain to me how your family got one million richer a week ago?"

The cameras kept their focus on the patient's family. When Chi Yang asked this question, their sudden panic was clear for everyone to see.

Even if nobody had heard about this one million before, the family's reactions were sufficient evidence that they had indeed schemed to get it.

"What... What one million? We are farmers. We have never seen so much money before in our lives. Don't slander us!"

As soon as the husband finished scolding him, Chi Yang laid down the facts and pressed a button on the remote control he was holding in his hand. The big LED screen at the entrance of the military hospital displayed the woman's home. The television inside had been moved out of the way, and the wall behind where it used to be had been torn down. Behind this wall that had been previously sealed with cement was a large neat pile of hundred-dollar bills./

When the woman saw that her home had been repossessed and that her precious money had been discovered, her eyes were about to pop out of their sockets. She darted towards Chi Yang without any regard for her own life. However, when she stepped toward him, the special combat soldiers of the Eagle Special Forces rushed forward and grabbed her, stopping her from moving.

The woman continued screaming hysterically. "Ah! You b*stards! This is my money! You're not allowed to touch my money! I'll kill you sons of b*tches!"

Seeing that the situation was going awry, the other family members of the patient got prepared to leave. However, they realized that the people standing behind them were no longer just onlookers. Instead, there were soldiers with guns in their waistbands. In an instant, they were scared out of their wits.

"This money was earned by my brother, who has been working in Emperor District. Besides sending us money, can't he have some money on the side to take home as a sign of respect for his parents?" The younger brother saw that they were about to be exposed, so he stepped in and immediately tried to explain.

"Oh, money on the side? What money on the side comes up to one million? Explain that. Let these bystanders and the online viewers hear it. Let's see what everyone makes of the one million dollars' worth of side income."

Chi Yang's words made the bystanders and online audience burst into laughter.

Everyone felt that this commander of the Eagle Special Forces was not only really handsome but also witty.

“This is not money he earned all at once. He has worked hard over the past ten years to save up, bit by bit.”

“Saved up bit by bit? Over ten years?”

“Yeah!” The younger brother adjusted his posture, looking like he was ready to give it his all.

However, Chi Yang responded unexpectedly.

“Take out the money and show everyone if the numbers on it are legitimate serial numbers.”

Chapter 1730 Nothing to Do With Us

The patient’s family members, “...”

The patient’s younger brother was dumbfounded as he watched the special forces soldiers retrieve the money they had hidden in their wall. Then, in front of the camera, they flicked through the notes to show the serial numbers imprinted on them.

Chi Yang asked in return, “This number was issued not long ago by the Bank of Camino. You can determine the exact month of issuance by cross-checking the serial numbers with the Central Bank. So, how was your brother able to acquire these recently issued notes ten years ago?”

Seeing that the brother was about to retort, Chi Yang decided to end things quick because he not want to quibble with him anymore. He said, “Don’t tell me that you went to the bank recently to exchange the old notes for new ones. You have to be aware that the bank is monitored. We can immediately confirm whether you have indeed gone to exchange notes recently.

This shut the patient’s brother up.

Suddenly, the LED screen flashed some close-up screenshots.

“These are some things that have been sent in by various Big V’s since this morning. The pictures you see here show the registered information of all the users and their bank accounts.

“These are the Big V’s who are acting all high and mighty over the Internet-criticizing the military hospital for taking money and not doing anything, for treating human lives like grass, and criticizing my fiancée for being rich and heartless. They all received bank transfers ranging from 500,000 to 2,000,000 yuan before forwarding the Weibo post this morning.”

Everyone was shocked. Chi Yang pressed another button on the remote control in his hand, bringing up a video of a doctor on the screen.

“I only told the patient’s family that Ning Wenhao also contracted this disease during the examination because I received 500,000 yuan from them. The patient’s family wanted the opportunity to record a video of me saying it and post it online. I thought it was not a big deal. Even if they investigated, the hospital’s leaders would not suspect me—which is why I was so obsessed with receiving the 500,000 yuan. Director, please give me another chance. Please recognize that I have been working diligently in the hospital for three years. I really understand my mistake!”

With this doctor’s confession, what could the masses not understand at this point?

Netizens began to post comments on Weibo, scolding those Big V’s for not being worthy of existing in this world. Weibo should prevent any scum from being authenticated as Big V’s!

When they noticed that their comments could not be published, they realized that after Chi Yang had said those words, those Big V’s were so scared that they quickly deleted their Weibo accounts. Some of them were even quick enough to have already issued letters of apology.

In just a few minutes, both live and online, the entire situation had been flipped upside down.

Just as those Big V’s were regretting reposting the matter, Chi Yang said, “As for those Big V’s who casually reposted the rumors, as well as the troll army, all of your personal information has been noted by our special forces. Since you dare to spread rumors and maliciously attack the military hospital and my fiancée, you must be prepared to be punished to the full extent of the law.”

Chi Yang’s words were undoubtedly a wake-up call for those who spread rumors over the Internet and thought nothing would come from them just saying a few words online.

“That’s all I have to say. As for the patient who is lying in the hospital now, what illness he has, and whether it’s serious or not, has nothing to do with me. Furthermore, it has nothing to do with my fiancée, who hasn’t even graduated high school.

“If the person spreading public opinion is so foolish as to insist on obtaining the so-called medicine my fiancé created, I can only say—”
