

Physician Wife 1741

Chapter 1741: Big Brother Chi Yang Won't Bully Me

Why did he feel like he was about to break a boulder on his chest?

He may not have been his father-in-law, but he was still better than his father-in-law's uncle and leaders. Chi Yang knew that he could not offend them both at the same time.

Hence, he mustered up all his strength.

All the pebbles by the lake at the back of the mountain, including a huge pebble that was used to guard the mountain, were wrapped up by a powerful force. With a swoosh, they flew toward the group of people.

The pebbles flew so quickly through the air that they broke the sound barrier with a crack. However, just as the pebbles were about to hit them, they suddenly halted in front of them.

Then, pebbles slowly retreated.

Soon, under the guidance of this force, the pebbles flew back and returned to their original positions.

Nangong Shu and Nangong Jin's eyes twitched at the same time.

They knew that Chi Yang was very strong.

However...

Was he that strong?

"Did you see that?" Nuannuan smiled. She said with a smug look, "If Big Brother Chi Yang hadn't let me off easy, I would have been sent flying. If he hadn't let me off easy, I wouldn't have been able to bruise his fist. Eldest Uncle, Eldest Brother, you misunderstood Big Brother Chi Yang. Don't you want to apologize to him?"

"What?"

This damned pig had taken everything important to them. Now, she actually wanted them to apologize to him?

Updates by

Nangong Shu and Nangong Jin looked at Chi Yang as if they were about to apologize. However, with their backs facing the warmth of the sun, their eyes were threatening.

"You brat, you may do as you see fit!"

Chi Yang looked into their eyes and said nonchalantly, "Nuannuan, Eldest Uncle and Eldest Brother are like this because they love you and want to care for you. They are your closest family members. Of course they are concerned about your welfare. It is my honor to have the opportunity to be lectured by Eldest Uncle and Eldest Brother."

Nangong Shu and Nangong Jin were very satisfied with Chi Yang's answer.

After all, Chi Yang had always been a very tough person in the military. If he was determined to do something, he would definitely do it.

Nangong Shu and Nangong Jin were very gratified to be able to hear so many ingratiating words.

Only Nuannuan had treated Chi Yang as her closest relative after being hurt by her own family before she found her mother's family.

Therefore, after hearing Chi Yang's words, Nuannuan pursed her lips and said to Nangong Shu and Nangong Jin, "Eldest Uncle, Eldest Brother, Big Brother Chi Yang is my husband. He treats me like the only girl in the world. He prioritizes me above his own life. Why would he bully me? I am the most important person to him; how could he bully me? My Brother Chi Yang is the best man in the world!"

Nangong Shu, "..."

Nangong Jin, "..."

They felt as though they had been stabbed 18,000 times in the chest.

'Girl, you seem to have forgotten—you're not even married yet!'

Nangong Shu and Nangong Jin were left speechless after being told off by Nuannuan. After a long time, the four of them started to jog together. Only then did Nangong Jin reluctantly push Chi Yang away and say to Nuannuan, "Nuannuan, everyone in the Nangong family loves you more than they love themselves. One day, if you're ever in danger, every one of us in this family, whether it's Father, Second Uncle, Third Uncle or the six brothers, will do everything in our power to save you."

Chapter 1742: Nuannuan Is Strong

"However, you're so strong on your own that every time we want to help you, there isn't much for us to do. Nuannuan, we love you very much, but we don't know how we can show it. We can't do much to help in terms of military power, influence, or economic strength, because what you've achieved in just these past few years is already more amazing than all of the Nangong family's achievements combined.

"You are the little princess that we went through so much trouble to find. We have already made up our minds to dote on you, love you, and make up for what we owed you in the past. However, it was only when you revealed your skills little by little did we realize that you had no use for us. Nuannuan, how do you suggest we dote on you?"

Nangong Jin's words were heavy. This was a problem that everyone in the Nangong family was struggling with.

Nuannuan could do very well on her own. She didn't need them at all. She made them feel like they had the power, but they could not use it.

Chi Yang, who was standing by their side and heard this, felt a little better.

It seemed that he was not the only one who was frustrated because of Nuannuan's strength. Everyone in the Nangong family also felt the same.

Nuannuan glanced at her uncle and brother, who were in low spirits, and felt like her head was growing a little bit bigger.

Yesterday, she had begged Big Brother Chi Yang to fight her three times before she managed to convince him.

This early morning, her Eldest Uncle and Eldest Brother had come to talk to her on behalf of everyone in the Nangong family.

For the first time, Nuannuan felt that perhaps women should not be so strong and independent.

“Eldest Uncle, Eldest Brother, don’t be like this!”

Nuannuan did not even want to run anymore. She stopped and looked at her family members who were in a very low mood.

She had always been good at scolding people, but she did not know how to comfort them. Looking at her uncle and brother in this state, she really felt her heart ache.

“I’m the daughter of the Nangong family. It’s because of the Nangong family that I have my special abilities. These abilities helped me establish my own business empire when I was just 12 years old. All of this was brought to me by the Nangong family. We may not have lived together in the past, but ever since I found you guys, I’ve treated you all as my closest family. If you don’t believe me, you can ask Selina and the others. If I didn’t treat you guys like family, I definitely wouldn’t be able to live freely in the Nangong family. Take the Zhong family as an example. Even though Zhong Kuijun is my father, if he were to get angry and betray me I would not show any mercy. I... I...”

Updates by

Nuannuan was at a loss for words.

Chi Yang walked forward and said to his first uncle and brother-in-law, “First Uncle, Big Brother, actually, yesterday, I was also angry at Nuannuan because she didn’t listen to me. I instructed her to return to the Chi family residence, but instead, she came to the military hospital alone. I felt the same as you. However, Nuannuan was strong enough to handle everything. She stands at the peak of the military power and economic ladder. Despite everything that has happened in Nuannuan’s life, she can always rely on herself to push through. She doesn’t need a fiancé like me. She doesn’t need anyone.

After his long talk with Nuannuan yesterday, he finally understood. The love between men and women is common and mutual. Had the country not always advocated equality between men and women? It was right for men to dote on women, and it was also right for women to dote on men. It was right for men to protect women, and if women were capable, it was also right for women to protect men. This also applied to families.

Chapter 1743: Ning Wenhao’s Recovery

The Nangong family was very powerful, so they had always stood at the top of the world. It was not easy to finally recognize your biological granddaughter, niece, or sister as being someone very independent. The joy in their hearts and the desire to bestow the love of their family upon her was very strong. However, family members had to respect each other.

“You love her, and she loves you. So, when the Nangong family is in trouble or wronged, Nuannuan will not hesitate to make a move. It’s not because she wants to compete with you, but because you are Nuannuan’s closest relatives, and she wants to protect you.”

Chi Yang’s words made the knot in Nangong Shu’s and Nangong Jin’s hearts suddenly unravel.

Nuannuan did not expect brother Chi Yang to understand so quickly; he now shared her mindset. She quickly nodded, “Yes, yes, we are a family. You love me and treat me well. Is there any difference when it comes to me loving you and treating you well too?”

Nangong Shu and Nangong Jin walked in front of Nuannuan and stroked her hair, which was tied up in a bun. The peace in their eyes indicated that they had been convinced by Chi Yang.

Ever since she was born, she had tied her hair in a bun for the sake of convenience, which eventually became the plaything of these men.

Nuannuan used to tie up her hair in a loose bun, but now she would tie it up very carefully so that she would not have to keep fixing her hair.

* * *

After Ning Wenhao received Chi Yang’s blood, he noticed an inexplicable additional power in his body.

Although Chi Yang had told him that there he would possess a newfound power after the transfusion, Ning Wenhao still had not fully understood. However, one day, when the members of the Ning family came to his villa for dinner, he was so annoyed that he wanted to close the door on them. However, he felt an inexplicable power that he could not even see flow through his body and through his veins. Then, with a bang, he shut the door, and his bad mood was instantly replaced by a calmness.

His boss had the ability to move things through space, and his blood had been mixed with the medicine that Ning Wenhao was given. Therefore, his body now had the same superpower as his boss!

This thought almost made Ning Wenhao jump with glee.

Thus, he began to try to use them—trying to move the books, lamps, notebooks, and cups in the room. Then, he tried to move his desk.

The desk was made of gold-threaded wood, and it was very heavy. Ning Wenhao found that his superpower was not strong enough to move it.

Even so, he was so excited that he promptly got dressed and rushed out.

Old Master Ning had brought Ning Haohan to visit Ning Wenhao, but Ning Wenhao gave an excuse that he was sick and avoided them. However, before Old Master Ning left, Ning Wenhao jumped down the stairs and rushed out.

He really jumped.

There were clearly six more flights of stairs between where Ning Wenhao had been standing and the bottom of the landing.

This...

Did he look like someone who was sick?

“Eh? Where are you going?” Mother Ning mother was sad about Ning Wenhao’s decision to avoid her. She called out to Ning Wenhao’s back.

“The Special Forces.”

Ning Wenhao’s voice drifted into the room after the car had already started.

Then, the gas pedal was slammed all the way down, and the car shot away like an arrow.

“This child!” Mother Ning mother didn’t know what to say.

Chapter 1744: Ning Wenhao Thanks Nuannuan

Mother Ning had backed Ning Wenhao up when he said he was sick and did not want any visitors. Not long after, he had rushed out of the house like a silly husky. How was she going to explain this to the old man?

After all, he was the father of a son who had loved her for a lifetime. Mao Yating did not want to be cold toward him.

On the other hand, when the old man saw that Mao Yating was very embarrassed, he changed his identity of being a sarcastic and mean husband. He chuckled and said, “This child is following his father. A moment ago, he was so sick he couldn’t even eat. Then, when he heard that the special forces had been assigned a task, he immediately became lively. Hao is really born to be a Special Forces soldier!”

Ning Haohan also chuckled and said, “That’s right. He’s completely following in the footsteps of Second Brother. Sister-in-law, you have a good son.”

Old Master Ning said, “Don’t blame Hao. It was us who came today without warning, so it’s not Hao’s fault for not coming out. You take good care of Hao at home, but make sure you don’t tire yourself out too much. I’ve already ordered the senior chef of the Ning family to bring soup to you every day for him to drink.”

Upon hearing that, Mao Yating hurriedly waved her hand and said, “There’s no need. Hao has hired a special servant, and she will make soup for him every day.”

“How can a servant be as good as the top chef of the Ning family? Now is the time to really take care of Hao’s body—he has to get adequate nutrients. It’s settled, then. You should also rest well while you take care of Hao. It’s been hard on you these past few days. If you need anything, just let us know. Don’t tire yourself out too much.”

Mao Yating, “...”

Even after Old Master Ning had left for a long time, Mao Yating still could not process things properly.

After all, Mao Yating had already gotten used to being bullied by the Ning family for over 20 years. In addition to that, she had a soft personality.

If she was treated badly, she would not hold a grudge. If she was treated well, she would treat you a thousand times better.

Although she had already promised her son that she would no longer pay attention to the Ning family's bad attitude, in the face of this elder with such a good attitude, Mao Yating could not get over the fact that he was Ning Haoyu's father.

After the Eagle Special Forces found Chi Yang and faced Ning Wenhao's questions, Chi Yang had no choice but to call his wife.

"Big Brother Chi Yang!"

Her warm voice sounded sweet on the other end of the phone. Chi Yang was about to speak when Ning Wenhao snatched the device away.

"Sister-in-law, it's Ning Wenhao."

"So, it's Young Master Ning!"

"Sister-in-law, don't tease me. Who's Young Master Ning? Without you, I'd be a martyr right now! So, from now on, I'll follow your lead. I'll be at your beck and call."

Looking at Ning Wenhao's smiling face, Chi Yang frowned slightly.

Who had asked Ning Wenhao to be at Nuannuan's beck and call?

He had other things to do!

Just as Chi Yang was about to snatch the phone back, Nuannuan interrupted Ning Wenhao.

"Enough! Don't flatter yourself! I didn't save you because you're Young Master Ning, nor because you're a hero. I saved you because you're Big Brother Chi Yang's good brother. If you weren't Big Brother Chi Yang's good brother, I wouldn't have bothered with you. So, you don't have to thank me. You have to thank yourself for being lucky enough to have met Big Brother Chi Yang."

Ning Wenhao, who now had egg on his face, was speechless.

Chi Yang was moved by his wife's words. His wife was the best!!!

"Cough, cough, cough... Sister-in-law, besides thanking you, I also want to ask you a question."

Chapter 1745: A Pancreatic Cancer Patient

"Ask me anything," Nuannuan said boldly.

"You told boss to tell me that my body will change. I just want to ask, will I have the same abilities that boss has?"

"In your dreams!"

Nuannuan's words were as cold as ice, which stunned Ning Wenhao.

"Your supernatural ability is far below the level of Big Brother Chi Yang's. You only have his blood combined with the medicine that gives you just a tinge of his abilities. Therefore, your supernatural ability can't be compared to his. However, if you persist in practicing, the medicine enhances the growth of the supernatural cells in your body. In other words, as long as you're willing to work hard, your abilities will gradually improve."

Ning Wenhao, who had been thoroughly shocked by Nangong Nuannuan's "In your dreams!" statement, suddenly roared when he heard what Nangong Nuannuan said.

Nuannuan did not expect that he would suddenly roar. She was so scared she had dropped her phone, and it fell to the ground.

Seeing that his sworn brother had gone crazy, Chi Yang immediately snatched the phone from Ning Wenhao's hand in displeasure. He kicked his butt and roared mercilessly—

"Get lost!"

"Good, good, good! Ahahahaha... Boss, Sister-in-law, I hope you love each other and maintain your loving relationship until the end of time! Thank you, Sister-in-law!"

Ning Wenhao was so happy that he left the headquarters and ran to the field as if he had gone mad.

He was ready to bring a pack of wolf pups over to accompany him in his practice drills.

It did not take long before the peaceful days ended.

About half a month had passed since the patient who could not be treated passed from his lung infection.

Nuannuan first went to her drug base to check up on Huang Zichu's recovery before heading to the military hospital.

Today, a surgery for pancreatic cancer would take place in the military hospital.

Pancreatic cancer was known as the king of cancers. If anyone were to be diagnosed with pancreatic cancer, even if it was detected at an early stage, the patients would only have a 5% chance of surviving a mere 5 years after the surgery.

The patient with pancreatic cancer who was undergoing the operation today was in the middle stage of his illness. At first, he dismissed it as gastric pain. Later, when his stomach affected the right upper costal nerve and caused pain, he suspected that he had gallstones.

His previous examination showed evidence of small stones in his gallbladder. Thus, the patient was only prescribed a few drugs to clear his liver and strengthen his gallbladder.

However, the intensity of the pain continued to increase. Eventually, it became unbearable—so he rushed to the hospital to have an ultrasound examination.

The results showed that his bile duct and pancreas were inflamed. The doctors suspected that he had a case of chronic pancreatitis.

He was transferred to the pancreatic department to carry out a blood test. The blood test was originally meant to provide more details of his condition so he could be appropriately treated for chronic pancreatitis. However, the blood test, which included a CA199 cancer screening, showed that the blood test index was 2000 times higher than normal. It was finally identified to be pancreatic cancer.

The patient originally did not want to go through the surgery. He thought that it would be useless to undergo surgery since he had the king of cancer, pancreatic cancer. Especially for a middle-stage pancreatic cancer patient like him, the chances of survival were extremely small.

However, to make his family feel better, the patient ultimately agreed to undergo surgery.

There were major organs closely surrounding the pancreas, such as the gallbladder, bile duct, liver, spleen, lung, and stomach. Moreover, they were easy targets for cancer cells to metastasize to.

When the doctor cut open the patient's body to reveal his internal organs, he discovered that other than the gallbladder, liver, spleen, lung, and stomach, which had already shown varying degrees of metastases, the cancer cells had already metastasized to the large intestine.

With the trust that the patient's family had put in him, the doctor made an incision about 50 centimeters long on the patient's body. They had to do something, so they ended up operating on the patient's lungs, spleen, stomach, bile, pancreas, and large intestine—everything except the heart.

Chapter 1746: More Lung Infections

As Nuannuan observed the surgery, not even a third of the expected surgery duration passed before the incisions on the patient's internal organs became indescribably huge.

Considering the patient's rate of blood loss, as well as the ratio of healthy cells to cancerous cells and necrotic cells, Nuannuan knew that there was definitely no more hope for the patient.

Not only did the patient suffer a great deal of pain due to the invasive surgery, but he also had to face death even sooner.

If the surgery continued, it would end up a failure anyway. Just as Nuannuan was about to leave quietly, the door of the operating theater was pushed open.

"Miss Nangong, the Hospital Dean is looking for you regarding an urgent matter."

Nangong Nuannuan did not plan to observe the surgery any longer, so she followed the person out of the operating theater.

When she arrived at the dean's office, Nuannuan found out that other than the director of the military hospital, Qin MUYANG, there was also the director of the Medical University, Xu Ming, her uncle, Nangong Shu, her older brother, Nangong Jin, and her sixth brother, Nangong Ze, alongside others whom she did not recognize.

"Nuannuan."

When they saw Nuannuan enter, Nangong Jin and Nangong Ze immediately stood up.

Seeing that their family members were all here and everyone still looked very serious, Nuannuan raised her eyebrows slightly and asked, "What's wrong? Why are all of you here?"

The person who answered Nuannuan was the hospital director of the Military Hospital, Qin MUYANG.

"Here's the situation. Previously, the patient who had the same lung infection as Ning Wenhao had shown up. At that time, because Chi Yang had found someone behind the scenes to control it and because he had previously heard about the special circumstances of Ning Wenhao's lung infection, we didn't take the situation to heart. Regardless of whether it was the wave of outlaws who caused Ning Wenhao's lung infection, or the behind-the-scenes manipulator who wanted to obtain the antidote, they were all handled by the Flying Eagle Special Forces.

"However, since early this morning, people with lung infections have been entering the military hospital one after another. It's only 11 o'clock now, and there have already been 200 patients exhibiting similar symptoms. Through CT and blood tests, it was found that everyone is infected with the same pathogen. This pathogen is exactly the same as the pathogen that had infected Ning Wenhao before."

With that, Qin MUYANG showed the 4D images of Ning Wenhao's lungs and the 4D images of the other patients' lungs to Nuannuan.

Nuannuan examined the lungs and took in the situation. Then, she casually put it aside and looked at Qin MUYANG, asking, "So?"

"The reason why we were able to press down on the previous incident was firstly because Chi Yang had obtained indisputable evidence to prove that there was a mastermind behind this incident. Secondly, the patient involved in that incident only involved one person. In addition, the family of that person had also received ill-gotten gains, so the death of the patient did not cause any public dissatisfaction or concern. But... it's different this time—because this time, more than 200 people are infected, and the number is still increasing rapidly. So, I immediately informed the Nangong family and Chi Yang's side. The general and the two young masters of Nangong rushed over immediately, and Chi Yang went directly to the presidential palace to report this matter. Now, the hospital has only placed these patients in an separated area. When the patients' family members saw the situation, they were afraid that the military hospital wouldn't care. So, they imitated the actions of the family members of the previous patient and caused a ruckus outside."

Looking at Qin MUYANG's hesitant expression, Nangong Nuannuan calmly asked, "So, what you mean if that the low can't punish the masses. Since they have already caused such a ruckus, we can't just ignore it. So, you want me to save them?"

Chapter 1747: Will Nuannuan Help The People?

Qin MUYANG did not feel any shame in it. That was what he meant, so he nodded and said, "Ning Wenhao was already so sick. Didn't your medicine heal him very quickly?"

What mattered most was that he had heard from Dr. Cai that Nangong Nuannuan was actually the real chairman of the Imperial Phoenix Group. At the same time, she was also the genius pharmacist who had shocked the medical world.

Therefore, although it was a drug that had not been approved by the drug regulatory agency, Qin MUYANG had a lot of trust in Nuannuan's ability to develop something trustworthy.

After all, some very effective but expensive and difficult-to-acquire cancer drugs, drugs that could delay the onset of AIDS indefinitely, and some nerve-fighting drugs had been produced by the Imperial Phoenix Group before.

However, the Nangong family refused.

Nangong Shu was the first to object.

"I definitely don't agree."

"I don't agree either."

"I don't agree either."

Nangong Jin and Nangong Ze also echoed his sentiments.

Nangong Shu said, "Nuannuan of our family is just an ordinary third-year high school student. She's not a medical practitioner, nor is she a specialized drug researcher. What right does she have to take on the responsibility of saving people's lives? Not to mention that we are talking about hundreds of people!"

Qin MUYANG's responded with an understanding attitude. "I know about Nuannuan's situation. I believe that the family members of the patients should also be aware of this after what happened last time. We will definitely not let Nuannuan become the target of public criticism. So, as long as Nuannuan is willing to produce the medicine to save these people, I can get every family member to sign the accident liability statement and exonerate her of any responsibility."

"So what if she's absolved of responsibility? Even if she's absolved of responsibility, won't the deaths still be blamed on her?" Nangong Ze added unapprovingly.

"Ze." Nangong Shu reminded him of what they had agreed on, and only then did Nangong Ze reluctantly shut his mouth.

Qin MUYANG said, "How could anyone die? I've seen the medicine Nuannuan developed. Ning Wenhao almost immediately improved after the infusion. It worked so quickly and was more effective than any other drug against this bacteria. I know Nuannuan's capabilities, so as long as she is willing to produce the medicine, there won't be any problems. Of course, as a reward, the military hospital will definitely treat Nuannuan well."

"The hospital is the place where tons of people die. Director Qin, as the director, how can you say that no one will die?" Nangong Jin responded unhappily.

Although the Nangong family knew that the military hospital had been backed into a corner and had no choice but to look for Nuannuan to acquire the medicine, as family members who were protective of their loved ones, they were definitely more concerned about what kind of harm this might bring to Nuannuan.

As soon as Nangong Jin finished speaking, Qin MUYANG fell silent.

As the director of the military hospital, he indeed could not say such words. Just now, he had been forced to say such things.

Xu Ming had been sitting at the head of the table silently. Seeing that the Nangong family and the Department of Medical University were getting upset, he asked, "Nuannuan, what do you think about this?"

Nuannuan looked around and said, "So many people have gathered outside. The situation is very bad now. If I don't produce the medicine, the military hospital won't be able to explain it to the people."

However, the people must know that there has to be someone playing tricks to cause so many patients to be infected with a non-infectious virus simultaneously.”

Chapter 1748: Nuannuan Agrees To Help

“But right now, they won’t even think about going after the person who infected their family members with the virus. Instead, they are going after the military hospital and me to save their family members. Therefore, I have to produce this medicine.”

Nangong Nuannuan’s reply pleased Xu Ming and Qin MUYANG. Their faces beamed with their first smiles since this morning.

“But Director Qin, you know the difference between the physical fitness of ordinary people and top-tier special combat soldiers. The physical fitness of ordinary people is not even one-third of that of top-tier special combat soldiers. My medicine may have been very useful for Ning Wenhao, but whether it will be so useful to ordinary people is not something I can control. After all, everyone’s physical condition is different.”

“I understand that. So, I said that as long as you are willing to contribute the medicine, our military hospital will be fully responsible for all medical incidents. It will definitely not affect you,” Qin MUYANG said. He pointed at a few people who had not been introduced to her and said, “Now your sixth brother’s reputation has been completely restored. He was promoted to deputy director of the Medical Administrative Department not long ago. He brought in all these professionals from the National Drug Administration. We will keep the distribution of the medicine confidential throughout the entire process, and we will also give you a corresponding reward. Of course, this little reward may not mean much to you, but it is a token of our appreciation from the military hospital to you.”

As the eldest daughter of the Nangong family, Nangong Nuannuan definitely did not lack money. After finding out that this eldest daughter was not only the daughter of the Nangong family but also the chief boss behind the Imperial Phoenix Group, Qin MUYANG felt that Nangong Nuannuan definitely would not be too taken aback by this little bit of money that was being given to her from the military hospital.

Thinking about the Benevolent Angel Hospital and Angel Pharmaceuticals Research Base under Nangong Nuannuan, Qin MUYANG added, “I know that you have your own medical research center. If you’re not willing to sell the medicine to the military hospital in your own name, you can also sell the medicine through your drug research center.”

Xu Ming and this group of people who were not familiar with Nangong Nuannuan looked at her in surprise. They did not expect that this young miss would have her own medical research center.

It proved that she was extraordinarily powerful.

“There’s no need. Just do it in my name. However, I have a request.”

“What request?”

“My medicine is absolutely not allowed to be given to the Medic Association Hospital. Moreover, the people from there cannot know that I requested this.”

That was because once this kind of medicine was developed en masse, the Medic Association Hospital might use the excuse of making the medicine more advanced to interfere with the process of approval. Very soon, even if it was a change of name without changing the medicine's chemistry, this drug would become a product of theirs.

Nangong Nuannuan was unwilling to let the Shi family take advantage of her, so the military hospital had to stand up for her.

The military hospital and the Medic Association Hospital might very well begin a fierce battle over this drug.

"Okay, I agree." The principal of the medical university, Xu Ming, was the first to agree.

After all, the military hospital belonged to the medical university, and the Medic Association Hospital was also part of the medical university before it was taken over by the Shi family. However, now, it had been separated and turned into an institution of its own that was on the same level as the medical university. At every turn, it could hold its own in a fight against the university.

Xu Ming had more than a little resentment toward the Medic Association Hospital so if it was a fight they wanted, Xu Ming was willing to give them one.

Suddenly, Nangong Shu's phone rang. Upon answering the call, he immediately stood up and said, "The president is here."

Chapter 1749: The President Joins In

Therefore, this group of people immediately went out to greet the president.

The president stepped out of an ordinary-looking nanny van. He was a tall, righteous man with a strong aura. Chi Yang, who was standing beside him, had already retracted his strong aura. However, when standing beside the president, he could not hide his own bright radiance.

"President!"

Nangong Shu led everyone to the president, who had just gotten out of his car.

The president nodded slightly at Nangong Shu and then shifted his gaze to Nangong Nuannuan.

"Nuannuan?"

Nangong Nuannuan smiled and walked toward the president, standing in front of him. She nodded slightly and greeted him politely. "Hello, president! I'm Nangong Nuannuan."

The president looked at the beautiful and elegant girl in front of him. Even when facing the President, she was not at all shy. Her eyes were filled with admiration.

"Hehe, nice to meet you. Before I met you, I wondered what kind of lady could firmly lock in the heart of a man like Chi Yang for herself. Now, I understand. Come, let's talk in the meeting room."

"Okay."

/

“President, please.” Xu Ming immediately led the way.

Once they started the meeting, some of the members of the group were no longer allowed to enter. Only the members of the Nangong family, Chi Yang, Xu Ming, and Qin Muyang went into the meeting room to discuss this matter.

The president glanced at the other people in the meeting room, then looked at Nangong Nuannuan and said, “Chi Yang has explained to me the series of events that led to Ning Wenhao’s injury during the mission. Obviously, the people who shot Ning Wenhao did so with premeditation. This premeditated plan might have been to aid in their development of an antidote to a virus they created—since they couldn’t do it themselves, this method allowed them to obtain the help of others.

“Now that we are all on the same page, I need you to tell me something honestly. Besides infecting the people’s lungs and causing mass casualties, can you think of any other motive behind spreading this virus? For example, if this was to help them acquire the antidote, what benefits might they reap from it?”

The president was, after all, a person who had persevered through great storms. Almost as soon as Chi Yang explained the situation, he had understood it clearly.

Therefore, Nuannuan glanced at Chi Yang in response to the president’s question. Once she saw the affirmation in his eyes, she answered. “That virus is no ordinary virus. In other words, it is not a virus at all. It is a chemical that can alter the genes of the human host infected.”

Nuannuan’s words caused the corners of everyone’s eyes to twitch with pleasure, including the President’s.

“However, because the human body’s genes are determined from the moment of conception, it is no easy task to modify them. If they are forcefully modified, it would lead to irreparable damage. Therefore, if any ordinary person is exposed to this chemical, most would not be able to withstand it. This drug first causes damage to the lungs before continuing to damage other internal organs of the human body. Even then, most people would not even get to experience the later stages of the drug affecting other internal organs. Instead, most would perish by the time the lung infection grew severe enough to prevent them from breathing—before the other organs even have a chance to be seriously affected. The illness can easily be presumed to be caused by the infection of a pathogen, but in actuality, it is a chemical that works to modify human genes and change the internal structure of the body, leading to mass organ damage.

“If a medication was available to slow down the spread of this chemical, it would buy the human body enough time to fight its effects. Thus, upon recovery, the cells of your body, including all your internal organs, will be much stronger than they were before.”

Chapter 1750: What Caused The Infections?

“Thus, the people who created this chemical need to obtain an antidote—and they don’t care about whether it’s through shameless means or not.”

Everyone, “...!!!”

“So, Ning Wenhao’s physical strength has increased drastically since the infection?”

Nuannuan thought for a moment before replying. "I don't think it's been by a lot, though it definitely did affect his physical fitness. Due to the enhancement of his heart and lung functions, his physical fitness is indeed better than before. Also, the medicine has helped strengthen his internal organs. Thus, his strength has definitely increased compared to before."

After listening to Nuannuan's explanation, Xu Ming and Qin MUYANG were both shocked. They broke out in a cold sweat.

One had to understand that this chemical was essentially a genetic modifier.

Nangong Nuannuan, that lass, had actually agreed to hand over such an important formula for the antidote under their coercion.

If anything were to happen to this formula, the Medical Administrative Department and the military hospital would have to bear the responsibility.

Fortunately, Chi Yang had gone to look for the president!

Otherwise, they would have just continued to beg Nangong Nuannuan to give them the formula.

/

When the president heard Nangong Nuannuan's words, the shock that he felt left him speechless for a long time. Finally, he broke the silence and said, "In other words... the other party struggled to find an antidote for their genetic modifier and used the threat of losing lives to bait you into handing them the formula? If you chose not to help, many more people would die. And if you agreed to hand it over, they'd get the antidote from these people's bodies?"

Nuannuan pondered for a moment and said, "It'd be difficult, but not impossible. After all, these people were able to come up with such a complex method to obtain the antidote. They may be able to refine the formula based on people who have been cured."

The president paused momentarily before asking, "If you've already got an answer, could you guess the question that was asked?"

That was his way of asking if Nangong Nuannuan knew a way to develop a gene modifier that could cause lung infections.

Nangong Nuannuan could understand what the president meant.

His rationale was that if this chemical was able to improve the human body after recovery, Camino would certainly seize this opportunity to improve the strength of its soldiers.

"President, let's not talk about the fact that I have no way to develop the medicine. It's just that the results are not anything like what anyone expected. Ning Wenhao was able to recover so quickly as he was already physically fit—after all, he was a top-notch special forces soldier. Among the men in our country, there are probably not many who could top him in terms of physical strength and combat strength.

“However, only 20-30% of ordinary people would be able to use this drug to recover. Most would likely die because their bodies are unable to fight against the powerful genetic modification, and their organs would eventually fail.”

The president was overcome with rage. With a bang, he smashed his fist onto the table.

“These people are simply too heartless! They are using human lives as a commodity to trade!”

After venting his anger, the president looked at Chi Yang. “Since the last time Ning Wenhao went to eliminate these people, have the Eagle Special Forces found any new leads? These people must be from Camino—that would explain why the illness originated there. Furthermore, these people are likely to still be in the Emperor District! They are simply too daring!”

Many things had come to light, and anything that had not would eventually also be found out by the president. Thus, Chi Yang did not hide much.