

Physician Wife 411

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 411: Death Penalty

She no longer needed to talk to him nor support his career.

From this moment on, Venato was dead to Zhong Nuannuan.

Therefore, they said nothing else for the rest of the journey.

Venato arranged for Zhong Nuannuan to stay in the best hotel and best presidential suite in City C. After all, this was his big benefactor. Although there was no way to help her attack City B in advance, he still served Zhong Nuannuan very well when it came to her food, clothing, shelter and transportation.

After checking into the hotel, Selina and Aiden ran to Zhong Nuannuan's room.

After entering the room, the two turned on a device and started to conduct a test.

"There's no need to look anymore." After saying that, Zhong Nuannuan threw the three destroyed tapping devices onto the table.

"This Venato is simply too much. In the beginning, he sucked up to us in order to get promoted; I was there at the time, and I still remember that face until now. Hehe, he's just a major general now, and he already looks down on us. Jacks has reported to me many times that he has deep nails. Not only does he want to take what we had promised him, but whenever his help is needed now, he'll demand an exorbitant fee. Even when nothing is wrong, he always likes to visit our major mines. Well, he calls them patrols, but we know that he has taken many good items away from us. Big Boss, you can tell Big Brother about such a person and have Big Brother find someone to kill him. Let's not keep him any longer, he's like a tumor!"

Zhong Nuannuan did not want to mention this person at all, so she did not even reply to Aiden.

At this moment, her head was racing trying to figure out a way to make the legitimate military and the rebels go to war in the shortest time possible.

Although she, Aiden, and Selina could each face 100 members of the Wute Organization's mafia, there were 100,000 rebels in City B. No matter how powerful they were, the three of them could not kill 100,000 people —or four of them with Chi Yang included!

As Zhong Nuannuan was getting stressed about how to rescue her Big Brother Chi Yang, someone suddenly knocked on the door.

Zhong Nuannuan hinted with her eyes, and Aiden went to open the door.

When the door opened, they saw Venato's deputy outside, the lieutenant who was in the same car with her.

After the lieutenant entered the door, he nodded politely to Zhong Nuannuan. However, when he saw the broken tapping devices that had been thrown onto the table by Zhong Nuannuan, his gaze became obviously stagnant.

The tapping devices were simply placed on the table. Zhong Nuannuan did not even have the mood to hide them, so they were now displayed in front of the lieutenant in a glaring manner.

Only

The lieutenant came over, put the dinner plate on the table, and said to Zhong Nuannuan, "Miss Q, this is the supper that the major general has ordered me to give you."

Fearing that Zhong Nuannuan would misunderstand him, he added, "Don't worry, I personally prepared this, it's definitely not poisonous."

This person was a super investor, and the other party was already obviously dissatisfied with Venato's approach. If he were to unfortunately become the target of their dissatisfaction, what would happen to him?

After all, this big benefactor had more contacts than just Venato in Mustapha.

After hearing the lieutenant's words, Zhong Nuannuan raised her eyebrows slightly and asked, "What is your name?"

The lieutenant had an upright figure, and he responded to Zhong Nuannuan in a respectful manner, "My name is Sanji, General Venato's deputy."

Zhong Nuannuan nodded, then went straight to the point. "If I have a way to have you replace Venato and sit in his place, will you betray him?"

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 412: Betrayal

Sanji's tiger-like body shuddered as a look of delight shot out from his eyes. He immediately nodded without any hesitation, "I will! I'll betray him. Although, I'm betraying him not only because of the major general rank you promised me, but more of the fact that Venato is the traitor."

Zhong Nuannuan raised an eyebrow. She had never imagined things to take another direction. Selina and Aiden, who were at the side, got excited as Aiden asked, "Do you have any evidence of this?"

Sanji shook his head. "If I had any evidence, I would have turned it in to the head of state immediately. I accidentally overheard him on the phone. The rebels had suddenly made an attack on B City because he had planned it. Their aim for this rebellion is not to assassinate the head of state nor take over Mustapha as their power is still too weak. Their aim is to scare the head of state into allowing them to develop B City.

"A major portion of land in B City faces the sea. This would make it easier for the rebels to smuggle firearms in. Moreover, it is quite near to Camino. As it is difficult to smuggle firearms from Camino, they had planned to make this place a transit for them.

“He will conduct a hit at the legitimate military during the battle to fill the head of state with a sense of dread. This way, they will have leverage to make a deal with the head of state. Once the head of state agrees for B City, especially the harbor, to be managed by rebels, he would have accomplished his goal.

“Not only would he be able to join the office and rise in ranks, but he would have also won himself the largest harbor in B City. As for the mines owned by both of you, he was planning to take the opportunity to grab it for himself. It’s killing three birds with one stone.

“As for Miss Q, he insisted on not attacking tonight because he was waiting for the shipment of firearms. With such a huge shipment, the rebels will be more invigorated and they would truly have the means to negotiate with the head of state. That is why I’m willing to betray Venato for the sake of Mustapha, because he is despicable, cunning, and blinded by greed.”

Only

“So, that’s the reason,” Zhong Nuannuan nodded understandingly.

No wonder Venato knew a shipment of firearms was arriving from Camino. She had felt something was wrong before this, and sure enough, something was going on behind the scenes.

“I have no interest in listening to you wanting to give your country justice. All I want to know is how eager you are to take his place. After all, the more ambitious you are, the bigger your career, right?”

Sanji nodded as a look of confidence glowed in his eyes.

“I’m much more capable than Venato is, but internally, he has the backing of his family. Outside of that, he has your support, so as his subordinate, I feel suffocated. I don’t want to continue being this way. If there is a way for me to make my name, I’m willing to take a gamble even if it costs my life.”

Zhong Nuannuan laughed. “Is that so? That’s a relief for me. You shouldn’t worry though. Anyone who works with me will only gain and make no losses. I guarantee it won’t cost you your life. Besides, that shipment of firearms you mentioned? It won’t be tonight, much less tomorrow night. All you need to do is lend me 2000 members from the organization and let me quietly get the person I need to save out of B City.”

“Miss Q, actually, the 20 thousand men in C City are all my men! After I overheard their conversation, I used military exercise as an excuse to organize 20 thousand of my men to take control over C City in order to defend myself against any trouble Venato might cause me. As for Venato’s men, they will indeed only arrive tomorrow.”

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 413: Detain Him

Zhong Nuannuan’s eyes lit up. “Do all these people obey you?”

“Yes, Miss Q, they obey me. Once I give the order, they will attack B City alongside me even without the order of the head of state.”

“Good. Detain Venato immediately.”

“Yes. That will not be a problem.”

Phoenix Pavilion was highly regarded in Mustapha. Sanji had never thought he had the chance to brown-nose the boss of Phoenix Pavilion. That was why he did not hesitate to comply even though he had yet to make any demands.

As a second-in-command, he was quite aware of how Phoenix Pavilion treated Venato. Phoenix Pavilion had always been very generous. The vastness of their wealth was unimaginable to a poor army man like him, who had to join the military because he came from a poor family. Many in Mustapha had accepted bribes from Phoenix Pavilion before. That was why he trusted this big boss, Q, would not be stingy with him after he had done a good job.

“May I ask who is the person Miss Q is trying to save?”

Even though Zhong Nuannuan had never explained her reason for being here, he came close to guessing why. After all, this was a mistress who did not lack money. Even though losing both mines would end cut their profit tremendously, but to Phoenix Pavilion, it was just a drop in the well. There was no need for this big boss to be here personally.

Zhong Nuannuan did not beat around the bush. “Camino’s Captain Chi Yang from the Jiang District military base and any of his subordinates from the special forces team that are still alive. I’m not sure exactly how many of them are there, but I want them to return to Camino in one piece. If all of them are able to safely get out, I’ll transfer the one billion USD I had promised to Venato to you.”

Sanji’s eyes immediately widened with resolution when he heard this.

One billion! USD!

Once he raised to the rank of major general, he would be able to buy many people to his side with the money!

“Don’t worry, Miss Q. I will definitely complete this mission for you.”

Zhong Nuannuan approved of Sanji’s attitude immensely as she nodded. “Just call me Q as he does. There’s no need to stand on ceremonies out here.”

“Yes.”

Sanji did not question Zhong Nuannuan on why such a prominent boss from Sab, who also came from a noble background from Luntan, would come all the way to Mustapha just to save an army officer from Camino. This seemed to be a little too much.

However, he also knew that once he was able to pull this off, which was not really difficult, it would spell a bright future for him.

He had not told Zhong Nuannuan that in truth, B City did not have 100 thousand rebel forces. He had heard from Venato that there was actually only 40 thousand rebels in B City, and out of these 40 thousand, only seven or eight thousand of them had weapons.

The reason why Venato was trying to buy time was to wait for the shipment to arrive.

However, now that the shipment was not arriving, 20 thousand of their troops could barge into B City and take them by surprise. They were more than enough to handle the rebels there.

Zhong Nuannuan had already thought of what Sanji was pondering.

Only

It did not matter if B City had 100 thousand people or 200 thousand. Without weapons, they would not be a field army.

She had checked the firearms at Camino's harbor and there had been enough for a few thousand people at most.

If a full ship of firearms was able to give rebels the courage to go against the legitimate military, it would mean that they were currently in terrible conditions.

Regardless, with Sanji's help, not only could she save her Chi Yang, but she could even take over B City.

That was why she took note of Sanji's help to her.

Sanji detained Venato in less than five minutes and brought him to Zhong Nuannuan's room to await further instructions.

Venato looked at Zhong Nuannuan and later at Sanji. A split second later, he spat viciously, "Sanji, you ungrateful swine!"

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 414: Threat

"I'm warning you. You'd better let me go or I'll make sure you die a horrible death."

However, Sanji ignored him and looked at Zhong Nuannuan. "Q, I've got him tied up here. Our people will assemble here in fifteen minutes."

"Good," Zhong Nuannuan nodded. She was extremely satisfied with Sanji's actions.

"Q, what do you mean by this? Are you turning your back to me because I wasn't willing to initiate an attack tonight? Don't you forget that the Phoenix Pavilion has 28 huge mines and river beds in Mustapha that produces diamonds, golds, and numerous jades and precious rocks every year. If I'm not around, you can look forward to these mines being usurped! If you let me go, I'll continue protecting these mines for you on account of the fact that you have given me support before."

Even though this place was filled with Sanji's people, and even though he held no cards in this situation, but he had gotten used to being the man on top. Even when he was kneeling, Venato still acted ferociously.

Zhong Nuannuan gave Aiden a look when Venato threatened her. Aiden turned on his phone and clicked the loudspeaker. The recorded voice of Venato and the rebel force could be heard making plans. There even a voice recording of his attempt to buy over the vice president and after successfully doing so, a recording of his preparations of going after the head of state.

Even though Sanji was unable to produce any evidence against Venato, Zhong Nuannuan and the others were hackers. Once Sanji was able to inform them of the time and location of Venato's conversation with the vice president, they were able to extract the evidence from Venato's phone.

Venato had thought that he had been able to hide all traces of the call. Now, his face was as pale as a sheet. He looked at Zhong Nuannuan as if she was a monster.

"You... You... How did you get all this? This is a set-up! This is absolutely a set-up! I'm gonna sue you! I'm gonna go to the head of state to sue you! The head of state will never believe all this nonsense of yours."

Venato screamed this with everything he had, but Zhong Nuannaun acted infuriatingly laidback as she replied in a sweet, soft voice, "Do you think the head of state is some landlord's stupid son?"

Venato, "..."

"Do you remember when you were just a first lieutenant?"

Only

"Even though I had never met you, we had spoken through voice message before. I warned you back then that I would ensure your rise through the ranks regardless of how lowly your status was, but in exchange, you would need to work for us, the Phoenix Pavilion. If I found out you had decided to double-cross me, I could still bring you down to hell from the highest cloud regardless of how high-ranking you became."

When Venato heard this, he bent over to the front, as if his upright backbone had been struck viciously by a club.

Zhong Nuannuan sneered. "Looks like you've completely forgotten about what I've told you before. Venato, you're but a major general. Even if you become the nation's head of state, it'll be just as easy for me to destroy you."

Such domineering mannerism!

Aiden and Selina listened to her as their blood boiled with excitement.

Once upon a time, they had followed their big boss all around the world in style. They had witnessed countless moments of enemies kowtowing to the big boss with their high and mighty heads.

However, a big boss like this had one day suddenly decided to put on a school uniform to become a Year 3 senior. She had given up her gun and allowed herself to be targeted by a group of bad-intentioned students. Everyone had thought she was just putting up a performance as a good girl. No one had expected her to have the ambition to sit for the entrance exams of Camino's best medical school!

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 415: I Was Wrong

Not only did she aim to be a proper Year 3 senior student, but she had also wanted to become an excellent student and strive to pursue further education as an outstanding university student.

Putting aside Selina, who was blindly devoted to her big boss, anyone else who was aware of this would probably worship her as well.

Venato was now in an absolute panic as he quickly admitted his faults. "Q, I was wrong. Please let me off this time! If you let me off, I... I'll immediately inform those in B City to keep their hands off the Phoenix Pavilion's mines, okay? I guarantee everything gotten from the Phoenix Pavilion mines will be untouched and that every item taken will be returned by the person who had taken them."

Zhong Nuannuan sneered. "So, you thought you had robbed B City's Phoenix Pavilion clean? Do you think the Phoenix Pavilion would be so stupid as to allow the existence of people like you, who rob the robbers?"

Venato, "..."

"I'm a generous person. I believe in everyone profiting together in wealth, but the generosity I had extended to you did not mean that you were permitted to rob me. No one in this world dares touch anything I own."

Naturally, it was impossible to ensure that none of her property would be touched. When she declared this, she had meant that anyone who dared lay a finger on her things would cease to exist in this world.

Venato started to tremble to the very core of his being. He stuttered a question he had always meant to ask, "General Nelson, he... Was he killed by you?"

"He's not worthy of our big boss showing her hand. He was killed by me," Selina said from behind. She was dressed like an adorable little doll, but the words coming from her mouth sounded quite devastating.

No wonder!

Venato had felt something fishy about General Nelson's death. Now that he thought back about it, General Nelson's death was connected to his greed for wealth; it felt like he had fanatically claimed what had belonged to Phoenix Pavilion as his own. This had prompted Venato to ask the question.

However, Venato had scared himself silly with the question.

Selina soon added a further explanation. "It was only after his death that we extended you our support."

Venato, "...!!!"

Why had they not mentioned this earlier? If they had, he would never have done anything so out of line even if he had been pumped up a hundred times with courage!

Sanji might have been listening with a stoic expression on the side, but he was feeling extremely shocked within.

This group of people was completely inhumane!

He immediately gave himself a stern warning. He would do his best to stay in Q's good books and would never betray her. He would give his all for everything she wanted, otherwise, he might end up dead without even realizing it.

"Sanji, give the head of state a call and have him listen to these recording. Tell him that you have detained the traitor and will make preparations to attack B City immediately. If you hesitate, it will be difficult to win this battle once the enemy's firearms arrive."

Sanji's eyes brightened slightly. How did such a good thing as capturing the traitor and earning such great merit fall into his lap?

Sanji collected himself as he pushed the gun barrel against Venato's temple. "What is the number of the head of state?"

Zhong Nuannuan, "..."

Aiden, "..."

Selina, "..."

"If you let me go, I'll tell you."

Only

"Hoho."

Venato saw Zhong Nuannuan's sneer and felt a chill go through him. To be honest, he was now most afraid of hearing this woman's laugh.

Zhong Nuannuan's sexy tone rang out the sentence that Venato least wanted to hear...

"I have it."

With that, she passed the head of state's number to Sanji.

Venato's eyes widened, "You... How did you get the personal number of our head of state?"

"Do you think I placed all my hopes on you alone in the whole of Mustapha?"

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 416: Death To Them

Venato felt like all the strength within him had been sucked dry when he heard this.

So, this woman had not only conspired with him. Damn it, she was even conspiring with the head of state.

This thought actually made sense. With ownership of such massive property, how could she blatantly monopolize such a vast range of mines without the protection of the head of state?

As he watched Sanji make the call and the head of state pick up, Venato went weak as he fell to the ground.

He originally came from a powerful background, but had always suffered setbacks because other powerful opposition that had pushed him into becoming a powerless first lieutenant. It was only after the Phoenix Pavilion had approached him and built connections for him that he managed to rise up the ranks over the last few years, eventually going from a first lieutenant to a major general.

He had given his all to work for the Phoenix Pavilion in the beginning, but the more his power grew, the less regard he had for this enterprise that was nothing but an outsider.

He realized how wrong he had been now that he thought back about it.

The head of state initially did not believe Sanji's words. It was only after Sanji let him listen to the voice recording of Venato conspiring with the rebel forces and the vice president that the head of state was finally enraged. He immediately promoted Sanji to the position of major general over the phone and ordered him to lead 20 thousand of their military men for a midnight ambush on B City.

Sanji had enough firepower on his side. Even though his men were only half the number of rebels within B City, but the enemy had less than 7000 people with firearms.

That was why when Zhong Nuannuan and the others arrived in B City and witnessed the opposing rebel forces, all they had was contempt in their eyes.

What the hell. They were nothing but a bunch of low-grade motley crew, yet they wanted to take out her Big Brother Chi Yang.

They deserved to die!

The opposition forces did not expect for the legitimate military to ambush them so suddenly. After all, Venato had gotten in touch with them covertly one hour ago. He told them to immediately attack A City after getting their hands on the firearms and catch A City by surprise. Once they had successfully taken over A and B City, they would have a dialogue with the head of state and initiate a willingness to take a step back. This way, they would eventually get their hands on the right to manage B City's harbor.

However, why did the legitimate military attack them first via C City before their firearms had arrived?

What was happening right now?

To be honest, the rebel forces' real aim was to assassinate and kill the military men from Camino and capture the captain of the special forces team alive. They had no intention of really going up against the legitimate military.

To put it plainly, they were f*cking putting up a show, and acting out a scene while getting their payday at the same time!

However, the leader of the rebel forces was stunned as he watched the legitimate military push them into a corner.

Only

Where was the promise of just a show?

They were supposed to act out a scene to make the lead character look good, right?

Why were they being attacked?

Their weapons had not even arrived!

None of the lethal ammunition had arrived. How could they fight the legitimate military using these lousy heavy guns that were no different from a millet rifle?

At that moment, the leader of the rebel forces knew that he had either been played by Venato, or Venato had been taken down. With that, he made an immediate decision as he held on to a booming loudspeaker and shouted with all his might at the armored tankers moving in, "We surrender! We surrender! We're surrendering! We're immediately surrendering! This is a misunderstanding! It's all a misunderstanding! There have been no wounded or casualties within B City's military. They have been treated well and humanely!"

Sanji looked at Zhong Nuannuan while inside the armored tank and asked, "Q, they're offering an immediate surrender. Do we need to send men to capture prisoners of war?"

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 417: Comedy Troupe

Sanji knew that this was an easy fight, but he had never expected this bunch of rebel forces to have such low standards. They had only killed a little more than a thousand of their men and the enemy's boss had completely given up on defending themselves.

Zhong Nuannuan grunted coldly.

"Such a bunch of lowlife rats were actually planning on becoming rebel forces and taking down the head of state. Are they a comedy troupe sent by monkeys?"

She had initially thought this bunch of people were nothing but a low life group. Now, these same bunch of people looked to be even worse than low lifes.

Zhong Nuannuan stared ahead, her gentle, beautiful face shining under the dim illumination of the moonlight. It was a picture of serenity and beauty.

"Allow them to surrender and it will be a victory without a fight. That would mean credit to the head of state because it shows that he has a powerful reputation. However, if you kill them all, it would mean that you went through a difficult battle and had to exterminate all rebel forces. At the same time, it would serve as a warning to other rebel forces within Mustapha. You can decide for yourself what sort of credit you'd like to establish. I won't force your decision."

Sanji had been admiring Zhong Nuannuan's beautiful profile when he suddenly heard her words. A chill went through him as he suddenly started sweating.

His mother was right. The more beautiful a woman appeared, the more vicious she was.

His mother had always told him since young to never fall in love with a beautiful woman because they were all made of poison.

Q was lethally beautiful; In fact, she was extremely venomous!

Sanji cleared his throat to give his men the order, “Exterminate them all!”

A good-looking smile appeared on Zhong Nuannuan’s lips when she heard the order.

To hell with everyone. How dare they have bad intentions towards her Big Brother Chi Yang. It would be a sorry night for her if she did not kill them all after coming all this way!

Absolute compliance was not only the bound duty of Camino’s military, but also the bound duty of military men the world over.

Mustapha was often in a state of political turbulence and had more than one group of rebel forces. From the looks of the leader just now, he would at most be the third-ranking rebel force with the power of a field army. Exterminating them would send a huge warning to the other two groups of rebel forces.

Sanji would never admit that he had killed these people because of his selfish intentions of getting credit for completing a major task. After all, if these people were not killed, it would be the people who would suffer.

When Sanji credited this slaughter to saving the people from extreme danger, the burden of guilt in his heart and that smudge of soft-heartedness for the deaths immediately disappeared into thin air.

Only

Zhong Nuannuan stood next to Sanji as she continued staring into the distance, observing the battle.

Sanji stared ahead as Aiden and Selina used their binoculars while Zhong Nuannuan watched quietly, like a gentle light from the moon. He thought she was pretending to look cool, even though she was indeed very cool, as she watched this bloodshed with such a serene look on her face. It made her look even cooler. She was the coolest person he had ever met.

And she was a woman!

What he did not know, however, was that Zhong Nuannuan was observing every corner of the battle seriously. She was even using X-ray vision to look clearly into far-off places that the binoculars could not reach.

She was no white lotus, nor was she a saint. Before returning to the Zhong family to be with her family, she was the top-ranked mercenary in the world. She was a 3S grade mercenary wanted by militaries all over the world.

That was why she had no sympathy for these rebel forces even while watching their bodies litter the ground.

Putting aside the fact that these forces were intentionally harming the people in order to gain political power, their intentions of harming her Big Brother Chi Yang alone were enough for her to condemn them to hell.

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 418: True Strength

Zhong Nuannuan's blood was boiling with excitement at the sight of this bloodthirsty scene. Her sharp eagle-like eyes searched for any signs of members from the Wute Organization.

Zhong Nuannuan finally spotted one.

"South-east 4 o'clock, there's a mountain range ten kilometers away. They're there. Don't let anyone from the organization escape. I want them completely exterminated," Zhong Nuannuan suddenly instructed.

"Yes."

Even though he was surprised at how Zhong Nuannuan knew the people she was looking for were there, but even if Sanji was told that this woman was a superwoman who could fly to space, he would probably believe it.

This was because she was an extremely unorthodox woman.

Sanji gave the order and every helicopter immediately flew towards the direction Zhong Nuannuan had pointed to. The helicopter Zhong Nuannuan was in took the lead.

Sanji had gotten 10 helicopters, 15 tanks, and 50 jungle combat vehicles to fight the rebel forces.

After receiving Zhong Nuannuan's orders, besides the soldiers in tanks that were too slow to catch up and infantry soldiers finishing up the rebel forces, all helicopters and jungle combat vehicles immediately headed towards the mountain range 10 kilometers away.

Zhong Nuannuan, Selina, Aiden, and Sanji took the same helicopter. When they reached their destination, they saw men in tight, black outfits. They were assassins dressed like ninjas who were helping a group of rebel forces go after a bunch of Camino soldiers in camouflage gear.

It took Zhong Nuannuan one look to spot the man who had worried her.

He was so strong.

The first time they had met in their last life was during Zhong Qianqian's business banquet. Zhong Qianqian had drugged him in order to sleep with him, but he ended up having his way with Zhong Nuannuan instead. Zhong Nuannuan knew then that he was not of ordinary strength.

She did not like Big Brother Chi Yang at the time, so when he had forced himself on her, she did not hold back.

It did not matter how much strength she used, as both her hands and legs were pinned down solidly such that she could not even move a single inch.

She was extremely shocked at how powerful he was back then.

Only

Now that she was witnessing it again as an assassin from the Wute Organization flew four to five meters away with one punch from him, which was lethal enough to end the assassin's life, she felt even more confident of the fact that her Big Brother Chi Yang was no ordinary man.

Even though there were only 35 of them, even though they were facing dozens of the mafia and increasingly more rebel forces surrounding them, with Chi Yang around, even though the team looked like they were fighting in a disarrayed manner, in reality, it was quite organized and regulated.

She did not know if only 35 men had been deployed or if others had been sacrificed, but even with their guardian angel, Chi Yang, around, Zhong Nuannuan could tell how difficult their situation was.

The special forces' ammo had run out long ago. They were now fighting the enemy with their fists and snatching the enemy's weapon to retaliate.

In addition to that, they had chosen a location with steep terrain with jagged rocks and cliffs. Even if the rebel forces had unlimited guns and ammo, they would not dare to fire openly for fear of the bullets hitting their own.

This allowed Chi Yang to better protect his men by grabbing every opportunity to snatch the enemy's weapon for his men and continue going up against the enemy.

However, by the looks of the situation, the other soldiers were almost at their limits. Basically, they could only manage with two against one, or three against two. Their hands and feet weighed like lead, as if they had just emerged from water.

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 419: Surprise

Both enemy forces noticed this about them, and took their time with the fight, planning to simply wear them down over time.

They wanted to wait for the death of the entire special forces unit. Even if Chi Yang had extra limbs, he would not be able to escape once surrounded.

The special forces team was fast approaching the end of their rope.

"Attack! Kill every one of them at the outer circle! Leave none alive!"

"Yes." Sanji immediately gave the order through his walkie-talkie.

As the order was given, the helicopters arrived above the outer circle made up of the rebel forces.

The rebel forces thought it was Venato's arrival...

When they heard the sound of the helicopter, they did not attack immediately, but instead looked up towards the sky instead to await orders from Venato.

As the 10 combat helicopters fired at them without mercy, everyone in the group stood stunned.

They had shielded B City's internet and all communication networks and signals in order to stop Chi Yang and the others from transmitting any information. This had directly resulted in them being totally unaware of the legitimate military coming in for the attack from ten kilometers away.

In this place that was void of communication, the helicopters descending from the sky had not brought them any news of the end of their war, but was instead now slaughtering them.

The guns in the hands of these people were not advanced weapons, but were rejected products. Now that the helicopters were coming after them with a hail of bullets, those who were quick hugged their heads and made a cowardly escape while those who were too slow to react were killed on the spot.

Those from Wute Organization saw that something was not right and tried to escape as well.

However, Zhong Nuannuan immediately gave the order.

"No one let any of the mafia members escape."

Sanji immediately ordered the jungle combat vehicles to surround these black-clothed men from all directions, with bullets screaming across the area whenever someone was spotted.

The Wute Organization realized quickly that they were being surrounded and had no way of escaping. Thus, the only left thing left to do was to escape towards the mountains as Chi Yang did.

The Camino special force team was already at their wits' end when they spotted back up approaching. At that moment, it was like everyone had been given a shot of stamina. They did not allow the Wute Organization any opportunity to escape and beat up anyone they could catch.

"Give me the gun."

Sanji passed the gun over to Zhong Nuannuan mindlessly.

He was tempted to ask – Do you know how to use it?

He also wanted to ask – If you really know how, you do understand that it is impossible to shoot from this far away, right? After all, this was not a sniper rifle and they were on a helicopter.

However, he swallowed those words after a thought.

Even though the gun was not as useful as a sniper rifle, but it was still capable of blowing up heads from long range.

What if this woman was capable of steadily standing on the helicopter and shooting from such a long distance?

Bang...

A bullet was fired and the head of a mafia member exploded like a watermelon.

Sanji, "...!"

Only

Bang! Bang! Bang!

Sanji, "...!!!"

It was a really long distance and the combat helicopter was constantly moving unsteadily, but now Zhong Nuannuan had the gun in her hand, and every time she pulled the trigger, a mafia member would fall.

There was no exception. Every one of their heads exploded.

This was especially so for those surrounding and fighting Chi Yang. Every time someone moved even slightly or posed a threat to Chi Yang, his fate would be that of an exploding head.

Chi Yang had initially thought it was Leng Jinpeng who had sent forces when he realized that someone was helping him. He was even thinking of recruiting the young man who was such a precise sniper when they got back.

However, when he raised his head to glance at the helicopter and saw the figure in question, Chi Yang's heart nearly jumped into his mouth.

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 420: We Surrender

His first reaction was to wonder why his little wife was on the military helicopter.

However, when he looked up and saw the face that was different from Nuannuan's, his face relaxed.

Even though that woman had the same body shape as his Nuannuan, her face and age were not the same.

Especially her icy glare. It looked like it would kill someone without hesitation. Moreover, when she looked at the members of the Wute Organization, it was as if she was looking at dead people. Her eyes were giving off a dark and terrifying aura.

Chi Yang thought she was the emperor of darkness when he saw her standing on the helicopter with the wind blowing against her. Even so, there was still an arrogance on her face.

When the emperor was here, the subordinates from the Wute Organization became nothing.

Even though he did not want his little wife to be in such a dangerous place, when he noticed that this person was not his wife, there was a slight hint of dejection in his heart.

He did not even know why he was feeling dispirited.

The moment Chi Yang looked at her, Zhong Nuannuan's heart leaped into her throat.

She held the gun and braced herself. She was in the most standard, most good-looking, and most pretentious stance; Her eyes were so cold it felt like daggers were going to shoot out from them. The whole time, she was repeating to herself in her heart, 'Please don't recognize me! Please don't recognize me! Please don't recognize me! Om Mani Padme Hum...' (T/N: an Avalokiteshvara mantra)

In order to not look suspicious to Big Brother Chi Yan, Zhong Nuannuan did not even look in his direction. She held the gun and kept doing headshots on the mafia members, as if she was shooting watermelons.

However, she did not realize she had killed every mafia around Chi Yang out of fear. Everyone was as scared as a mouse when they saw this. They did not dare to approach Chi Yang anymore. They ran away after leaving him. However, after this, they tried to take the other special forces as hostages.

The reason they had so many people but failed to kill any special forces was because of Chi Yang's super strength.

Hence, after they got a taste of Chi Yang's true strength, they did not want to fight him anymore.

Therefore, since they could not kidnap Chi Yang, they were prepared to kidnap someone from Camino's special forces as their hostage in order to save their lives.

Even though the soldiers from Camino came in illegally, Mustapha did not dare to neglect their importance. If they could kidnap a soldier from Camino, or a member of their special forces, Mustapha would still let them leave unharmed for the sake of these soldiers.

However, as they were about to grab one of the special forces soldiers, they were shot in the head.

Only

Moreover, they were now in close contact. Not only Zhong Nuannuan was shooting, Selina and Aiden had joined the battle as well.

When three 3S ranked world-class mercenaries joined in the battle, the low-ranking killers of the mafia were not even worth thinking about.

Sanji's people could tell Zhong Nuannuan was releasing her anger. Thus, they were only responsible for encircling and annihilating the rebels and mafias who escaped. On the other hand, Zhong Nuannuan and her gang were responsible for the mafia members that were trapped on the mountain.

It was just like a game. The three of them were fighting with maximum efficiency. Any mafia members who dared to get close to the Camino soldiers were all shot in the head in a flash.

In the end, there were only about twenty or thirty people left. They all fell to the ground with loud thuds.

"We don't want to fight anymore! No more! We don't want to fight anymore!"

"Right! We surrender!"