

Physician Wife 431

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 431: Heartache

This was because when he looked up and spotted her, before he noticed her disguised look, she had already observed his seemingly calm, yet actually flabbergasted expression.

The moment he saw her, he was disappointed, surprised, and bewildered... Although he still had that solemn expression, she could see his various emotions hidden under that serious-looking face.

Therefore, she immediately retreated, asked Sanji to hold Chi Yang off for at least an hour, and then hurried back to the country via private jet.

Although the flight route was different from the sea route and required some detours, it was much faster. An hour was more than enough time for her to fly back to Camino.

Moreover, there was no signal in City B, and the service in the ferry she asked Sanji to board them on was also blocked. Therefore, when Chi Yang called her, they should have only just entered the territorial waters of Camino.

In her previous life, Chi Yang did not know about her true identity up until her death. Even if he did, he only knew that she had been sold to a mercenary organization and became a mercenary when she was young; he did not know about her specific identity.

In this life, she had never thought of hiding the truth from him forever, but at this point they had only just begun their journey, and they had not even gone to get their marriage certificate yet, so...

She decided to wait until she had obtained the certificate with Chi Yang before slowly revealing her occupation to him. By then, all the certificates would have been obtained, and could no longer be undone. Even if there was a major problem with her identity, Chi Yang would definitely not divorce her.

Inexplicably, Zhong Nuannuan had the feeling that she was committing marital fraud.

Forget it, she would just delay the news for as long as she could.

She was not so worried about this matter. On one hand, she believed that she had destroyed her identity completely, and on the other hand, she believed that Big Brother Chi Yang would not separate from her because of such a small matter.

Chi Yang hung up the phone, and could not stop the faint smile from appearing on his lips.

It seemed that he had overthought — his lazy kitty was still sleeping at home. How could such a cute little kitty be the same person as the woman with the cold gaze on the helicopter?

However, whenever he thought of the woman's eyes, Chi Yang would always feel a slight sting in his heart, which made him very upset.

She was clearly someone who was irrelevant to him, so why would his heart ache because of that woman's eyes?

At this moment, Chi Yang felt a deep sense of shame.

Only

He clearly loved his cute little fiancée, yet after tonight's spontaneous encounter, he felt distressed for a woman who was irrelevant to him.

Could it be that this woman was related to him by blood?

He heard that in addition to his father, his grandfather had another child, who was also his second uncle. It was just a pity that his second uncle died young. Could it be that in those years when his second uncle left home, he gave birth to a daughter outside, and the relationship between that woman and himself was actually that of cousins?

Forgive Chi Yang's brain being mind-blown at this moment, because he really could not understand why his heart stung so much after meeting the woman's gaze. The incident had occurred an hour or two ago, yet, every time he recalled the look in that woman's eyes, his heart would still ache. He could not help but wonder why she would have such a cold gaze. What had she experienced in the past? She was so powerful at such a young age, so she must have grown up without a childhood, right?

After confirming that this woman was not his own fiancée, Chi Yang could only attribute it to the fact that this woman and him were of the same blood.

Otherwise, he would not have felt any heartache.

He decided to investigate this woman after he returned.

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 432: Yang Yi's Rec

After the ship entered the territorial waters of Camino, the phone signal returned. The watch on Chi Yang's wrist suddenly showed that some content had been delivered.

When he opened it, he saw that it was the video that Yang Yi had sent to him.

His recording function had been kept on the entire time, so not only did Chi Yang see that Yang Yi had discovered the box full of cargo ready to be transported onto the ship was actually the ammunition that they were trying to intercept, he also watched the scene of Yang Yi being caught.

Chi Yang's brows were deeply furrowed, and as he watched Yang Yi being knocked unconscious, tied to a chair, then awakened by Viper's subordinates and humiliated, he clenched his fists and fixed his stare onto the screen.

He knew that if Yang Yi was caught, he was most likely dead.

He had a batch of excellent young men, and they were all orphans who had no parents since childhood. He had nurtured them since they were young, and now that these children were about to take off and become outstanding talents, he really did not want to see any of them die in front of him.

Although it was impossible to suffer no losses when working for the country, much less while doing such dangerous things, when he really came face to face with it, he still felt extremely sad.

Their skills were better than those of ordinary special forces.

Yang Yi was almost able to enter his favorite special forces team and become a member of the special forces team immediately, but because he noticed something wrong with the truck, he followed it to the dock.

Recalling that Sanji had told him that the batch of firearms had been intercepted by Camino's military, Chi Yang's body trembled.

These arms were discovered by Yang Yi. Did he contact Leng Qirui when he was unable to find him, and then have Leng Qirui contact the commander-in-chief?

Otherwise, how could the military have intercepted that batch of firearms?

If this was the case, even if he had sacrificed himself, he must help Yang Yi apply for the title of martyr, and not have the children he brought up just sacrifice themselves for nothing.

Watching Yang Yi being humiliated before he died, Chi Yang felt extremely resentful. Reluctantly, these mafia had guns, and there were two people around Viper who looked like mercenaries at the level of 3A or higher. With Yang Yi's skill, he could, at most, fight 2A level mercenaries; 3As was beyond him.

After that, Viper threw Yang Yi's watch onto the ground, and from the angle of the watch camera, he could only see Yang Yi struggling.

Only

When he saw a mafia holding a sharp knife, planning to cut off his head, Chi Yang's eyes turned red.

Despite the sharp knife already swinging towards his neck, Chi Yang's gaze remained fixed on the assassin, whose back was facing the camera.

Even if he could not see his looks, he would remember his figure. When he destroys the Wute Organization in Yamato, he would definitely take this person to Yang Yi's grave, and cut off his flesh piece by piece as tribute to Yang Yi.

Chi Yang's eyes widened as he clearly discerned every detail and fibre of the opponent's body. At the moment that the man's hand started to exert force, a thumping noise also rang out from his heart.

However, at the next moment, a poker card flew towards the camera from opposite the killer at an extremely high speed. If one did not look closely, he or she would not be able to see what it was.

As soon as it flew past the camera, the head of the assassin flew right off, bouncing around on the ground before finally stopping in front of the camera.

The head fully blocked the camera's vision after it fell to the ground, and Chi Yang could only see a head with a cruel and peculiar smile still on its face, looking at him with a pair of somewhat protruding round eyes.

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 433: Analysis

Despite the eerie scene, the blood in Chi Yang's body boiled instantly.

Although he had not yet seen the person who killed the executioner, the woman on the plane with a pair of Raksha-like eyes suddenly sprung to mind again.

Even though the scene was blocked by the human head, Chi Yang heard Viper calling him the Queen of Spades very clearly.

The Queen of Spades, the one who blew up Viper's arsenal.

The person whom he did not know and had never dealt with, yet mysteriously forced Viper to kneel to him.

After Viper's arsenal worth tens of billions was bombed that day, the military immediately gathered the guests in the club for investigation and questioning.

The Queen of Spades committed the crime in public that night, so many people saw his face.

Although Chi Yang's video was blocked by the head such that he could not see the Queen of Spades' face, he knew that he was a man with short silver hair, wore a mask of the Queen of Spades, was around 170cm in height, and held a pink helmet.

Not long after the man entered the club, the gunfight began.

For no apparent reason, Chi Yang started to feel anxious.

He knew that the other party was a killer, yet he just could not help but worry for him.

Suddenly, only a blizzard of flying sand and rocks could be seen in the video. After the video became clearer, Chi Yang found that the head of the person in front of him had also been kicked away.

However, he still could not see the Queen of Spades. From this angle, he could not even see the Queen of Spades' legs.

However, Yang Yi was rescued in this shootout.

Looking at the cut rope on the ground, the sharp edges and corners on Chi Yang's face became much softer.

Although he did not know the Queen of Spades, he believed that the Queen of Spades was here to save Yang Yi. He also believed that Yang Yi was definitely safe and sound.

After that, a companion of the Queen of Spades appeared, and from his perspective, he could see the companion's legs.

Later, his companion fought the two international mercenaries, and the battle ended in less than 10 seconds.

He found out from their conversation that the two international mercenaries were really of level 3A, therefore the Queen of Spades' companion was at least a 2S-level super high-level mercenary or killer.

However, these were not the main points, the main point was...

Why did he feel a little vexed when he heard that she was actually the Queen of Spades' woman?

Why did this unhappy mood appear so suddenly?

Chi Yang glanced intently at the legs of the woman next to the Queen of Spades, and then recalled the legs of the other woman who was shooting from the helicopter.

His eyes subconsciously narrowed...

There were three people who opened fire and saved him from the helicopter at that time, but they were two women and one man.

Only

Assuming that this woman was one of them, then the one who rescued Yang Yi was the other one.

Judging from the traces of the broken rope, the hemp ropes that were two fingers thick were cut off by a sharp barbed knife. Even 3S-level female mercenaries did not like to use knives like this. It was too masculine. The key was that this kind of knife generally had a larger and longer handle, which was not suitable for a woman's palm.

Thus, if the person who rescued Yang Yi was a man...

Could it be that the Queen of Spades was a woman?

The woman who opened fire on the plane and saved him?

After all, the Queen of Spades was only 170cm tall.

It was not that he looked down on short men, but when it came to the short and slender, yet extremely skillful figure, the only person he could think of who matched this description was the woman on the plane.

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 434: Who Is It

Initially, his suspicion toward that woman had been completely eliminated, but now, after the Queen of Spades appeared, the three irrelevant figures of the Queen of Spades, the woman who saved him from the helicopter, and his kitty-like fiancée were inexplicably overlapping at this moment.

Back at the dock, the injured soldiers were taken to the hospital immediately. Chi Yang also returned to the commander-in-chief's department at the military base as soon as possible.

Leng Jinpeng was relieved when he saw Chi Yang return.

"Chi Yang, how are you? Are you injured?"

Chi Yang shook his head and asked eagerly, "How did you discover that batch of firearms?"

"Come and look at this."

After saying that, Leng Jipeng brought Chi Yang to his desk, turned on the computer, and opened his mailbox.

When Chi Yang saw the reminder from Leng Jipeng's mailbox and the message asking him to send someone to look for the arms, a wave of adrenaline surged from deep within.

This person rescued Yang Yi, sent an email to Leng Jipeng, let him intercept the smuggled firearms as soon as possible, and even went to Mustapha to rescue him...

It seemed that apart from his little girl, he could not think of anyone else around him who could be so concerned about his affairs.

He recalled the moment when he raised his eyes to look at the plane, and before he saw her unfamiliar face and cold gaze, he was almost 100% sure that the figure was her, and he remembered that moment of familiarity and astonishment that he had felt in his heart...

They were top 3S-level international mercenaries who were not only skilled, but were also extremely intelligent. All of them were likely leaders in various industries.

Assuming that Nuannuan was such a person, and assuming that she was also proficient in disguising her appearance, there would be his answer as to why the Queen of Spades and the sniper on the helicopter helped him for no good reason.

This was because the woman on the plane, who had almost the same figure as Nuannuan, and the Queen of Spades who helped him over and over again were all the same person. They were all his Nuannuan!!!

"Who do you think would do this? Who's helping us secretly?" Leng Jipeng had thought about this all night, but ended up completely clueless. Hence, he could only pin his hopes on Chi Yang.

This was because he really wanted to thank the person who helped him.

However——

"I can't guess who it is too."

Not even the slightest discrepancy could be seen on Chi Yang's serious face.

Forget the fact that he was just guessing now, even if he was 100% sure that his Nuannuan was the Queen of Spades, he would not actually say it.

Only

Nuannuan definitely had her own reasons for not wanting to talk about it.

She was abducted by human traffickers at the age of 3, and returned home at the age of 17, but possessed unfathomable skills. He need not think too hard to figure out what his Nuannuan had experienced in the past 14 years.

While he felt a deep, dull pain in his heart, Chi Yang decided that even if he had to sacrifice himself, he would protect his woman for the rest of her life.

This type of protection was not just limited to physical protection, but also included psychological protection and identity protection.

He believed wholeheartedly that even if his Nuannuan walked out of the dirtiest mires, she would still remain pure and unstained.

As for Leng Jinpeng, although he was an elder Chi Yang respected, and whom he also believed would not harm them, when given the options of not allowing anyone else to learn of this secret, Chi Yang decided that he could only trust himself

“By the way, did you see Sanji? Did he rescue you?”

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 435: Bore

“Yeah.” Chi Yang nodded and explained the details about what had happened.

There were many people who saw the three murderous figures on the plane at that time, so Chi Yang did not try to hide anything about them.

After hearing this, Leng Jinpeng was silent for a long while. “Then tell me... Could the three very capable snipers and the people helping us here belong to the same organization?”

“It’s possible. However, no matter how I asked, Sanji was unwilling to disclose their identity.”

Leng Jinpeng waved his hand. “Don’t ask anymore then, friends will always meet again. If they have any intentions toward us, they’ll eventually come to us again. However, for this incident, we have to take note of General Sanji’s kindness; without him, all our people would’ve probably died in Mustapha. If things got worse, our superiors would’ve also blamed us.”

“Okay.”

He had to remember Sanji’s kindness, but it was his fiancée who was kinder to him.

Although he was not 100% sure yet, Chi Yang had already attributed his rescue to his Nuannuan.

Zhong Nuannuan had no idea about this sweet conviction at all.

What she did not even know was that Chi Yang, who was supposed to accompany the commander-in-chief all night and listen to the confessions of the major generals one by one, had already rejected the commander-in-chief’s request to work overtime and left the middle-aged widower behind, claiming that he had to go home to accompany his wife first, or she would miss him.

At this moment, Zhong Nuannuan did not know that Chi Yang, who said he would not return, would be back soon, and because she had not gotten to work for a long time, she felt a little excited after all the action and could not sleep. As she was thinking about whether to do something to kill off the boredom, she heard a rustling by the window.

Zhong Nuannuan widened her large, piercing eyes in the dark as she waited for these people to enter the door expectantly.

She felt so bored being alone now!

The person who entered through the window catwalked to the door before opening it gently. A second later, a group of people rushed inside.

Wow, there were a lot of people... a total of seven of them!

After the people entered via the door, they closed it and locked it behind them. After that, one of them became responsible for being a lookout on the balcony while another stayed guard at the kitchen window. Two were to stand watch at the entrance of the second bedroom and observe the movements in the living room, while the remaining three walked towards the bedroom where Zhong Nuannuan was.

“Click— —”

The door of the bedroom opened slightly, making a quiet squeak. The three people immediately rushed in at lightning speed, and the man with the gun quickly pulled the trigger while aiming at the bed.

However, after a few tries, the man realized that he could not pull the trigger.

When the other two watched him hold the gun for a long while without moving, they frowned and shot a look at him as if to say, “What are you doing?”

A moment later, the man took the gun back and pointed its black muzzle at himself.

To the amazement of his companions, he reached out and pulled a small silver needle out of the muzzle.

Only

After removing the silver needle, the man pointed the muzzle at the bed again and pulled the trigger.

The trigger still did not budge.

The other two killers looked at the man in annoyance.

Seeing that the man was still playing around with his obsolete, broken pistol, they reached the end of their patience. Thus, they pulled out a set of sharp knives from their waists, walked to the bed, opened the quilt, and then tried to chop up the person underneath.

However, they soon discovered that there was no one on the bed.

There was nothing under the quilt!

The three realized that something was wrong, and just as they were about to be alert everyone, a long-haired head fell from the ceiling of the bedroom.

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 436: So Fas

The three of them were frightened out of their wits, and they were just about to resist desperately when three silver needles lodged right into the lethal points on their foreheads.

In an instant, the three of them widened their eyes, seemingly about to fall to the ground at any moment.

The black shadow on the ceiling rushed behind them at a speed that was almost inhuman, and three more silver needles were shot behind the three men, nailing them right in their tailbones.

Their legs, which were still trembling a moment before, seemed to be stimulated when the silver needles were injected, and instantly became extremely stiff. With that, the three of them died while standing.

She had stopped them from falling not because she did not want to alert the people outside, but because she did not want them falling and smashing the items in the bedroom.

After making sure that these three people would not fall down for a while, Zhong Nuannuan opened the door.

The two killers standing at the entrances of the two guest bedrooms while guarding the living room saw the door of the master bedroom open, and asked, "So fast?"

They did not dare to make a sound when they arrived because they were afraid that Zhong Nuannuan would suddenly wake up and scream, awakening the neighbors.

However, now that the door had opened, they dared to speak quietly. After all, no one would have thought that three killers would be unable to kill a weak female high school student.

The two killers' words were heard by the other killer guarding the kitchen window, and he was just about to walk out when he saw that it was not their companions who came out quietly from the bedroom, but the target they had planned to assassinate—— Zhong Nuannuan!

However, the man's sixth sense caused him to freeze in his tracks.

Just as he was wondering why Zhong Nuannuan was the one who came out instead of his companions, he saw Zhong Nuannuan wave her hand. After this, the legs of his two companions in the living room, who were just about to take a step forward, suddenly stopped moving.

Since the living room was spacious, and also close to the guest bedrooms on either side, which was relatively empty, Zhong Nuannuan did not bother to freeze their bodies.

"Thump——"

"Thump——"

As his two companions fell to the ground with their eyes wide open, the killer standing in the dark corner of the kitchen was stunned.

Zhong Nuannuan had long hair, and wore gray and white plush pajamas. At this moment, she stood in the living room as moonlight shone in through the balcony.

His companion standing on the balcony was in the brightest spot; Zhong Nuannuan was in the light, while he was in the dark.

However, he saw Zhong Nuannuan flashing a terrifying smile toward the darkest corner of the room where he was.

The reason it was so horrifying was because at this moment, he felt that Zhong Nuannuan was not human at all, but a demon in the form of a human.

He could not explain why he had this feeling. His sixth sense was just screaming this at him.

While Zhong Nuannuan showed him her enchanting smile, the killer on the balcony had already rushed to Zhong Nuannuan, and was about to slice Zhong Nuannuan's neck with a knife.

The knife had only just been raised when his companion suddenly fell backwards. The killer in the kitchen did not even manage to see what Zhong Nuannuan had done this time.

Only

The killer standing in the kitchen was flabbergasted!

Zhong Nuannuan saw that this person had almost gone silly with fright, and so she planned to find something a way to stimulate his doomed brain cells. With that, she gestured at him and beckoned him to approach her.

The killer looked around, stretched out his hand in horror, pointed to his nose, and asked silently if she was calling for him.

Zhong Nuannuan nodded and hooked her fingers again encouragingly.

The assassin walked out clumsily.

"Go, carry out the people inside."

She did not want to touch those dead people.

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 437: Body-Decomposing Acid

The killer was so frightened that he lost his ability to think. He walked to the master bedroom and opened the door...

When he saw his three companions staring at the ceiling with horrified expressions with their eyes wide open, he almost screamed.

"Don't scream, or I'll kill you!"

The woman who was originally more than two meters away walked behind him without him realizing. Her grim voice tickled the nape of his neck.

The assassin was so scared that he felt an icy chill run down the entire length of his spine, and it felt so frozen that it was almost about to shatter.

He subconsciously wanted to scream, but before any sound came out, he stretched out his hands and clamped them over his mouth tightly.

He turned around in horror to see the woman standing behind him, almost making him cry.

The assassin suppressed the extreme fear in his heart, and with his body trembling, he carried out his dead companions who were standing stiffly in the bedroom.

After that, under Zhong Nuannuan's signal, he placed them on the balcony.

The six corpses were all stacked onto the balcony like a human pyramid.

The assassin also seemed to have lost all the spirit in him, and he fell to the ground at the junction of the balcony and the living room.

Even if he when facing the same fate as his companions, he could no longer conjure even the slightest bit of opposition at this moment.

He was originally the weakest among the seven of them. The six of them altogether could not even outlast a single move in this woman's hands, let alone him by himself.

Even though the woman's back was facing him at this moment as she fiddled with the bodies of his companions, he still could not muster the courage to launch a sneak attack, and could only look at the woman wearing the bear jumpsuit in alarm, helplessness and horror.

Suddenly, the woman moved. She stood up and closed the balcony door.

Separated by a glass door, the assassin slumped against the edge of the living room could finally see the change occurring within the corpses on the balcony.

The corpses of his six companions were now corroding at an extremely fast speed.

Their skin, muscles, bones, and even clothes, shoes...

Everything except for the swords, guns and the sharp weapons hidden all over their bodies was rotting at a rapid pace.

The residue fell onto the ground and continued to rot until it turned into a puddle of white water; Even then, the water continued to evaporate.

At this moment, the eerie woman answered his internal questions with a calm expression, telling him—
—

“This is body-decomposing acid.”

Her voice was so soft that he could not help but feel that the two of them might have been friends who had known each other for many years, and were merely chatting at night.

However, to the ears of the man in black, this soft voice felt like a beguiling snarl rising from hell that was specifically designed to capture the souls of others.

In less than two minutes, six big men over 180cm had disappeared into thin air, without leaving even a trace of white powder on the ground.

He had always thought that the body-decomposing acid in “The Deer and the Cauldron” was Mr Jin Yong’s imagination. Who knew that such a scary thing truly existed in this world?

Only

“Who sent you to kill me?”

The killer opened his mouth and made an “ahhhh” sound, but he realized that he had been so scared that he had lost his ability to speak.

“I say, you nod, ok?”

The woman in front of him spoke very thoughtfully.

The assassin nodded quickly.

“Hmm... You have guns, so you were definitely not hired by those inferiors like Zhong Qianqian and Wu Wenqian. Were you recruited by Ou Mingxi?”

At this moment, the assassin hated Ou Mingxi to death.

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 438: One Million

She gave them 1 million dollars and said that they just had to kill a high school student. However, who knew that this high school student would turn out to be impersonated by a banshee?

Therefore, the killer nodded quickly and sold Ou Mingxi out without hesitation.

“How much did she give you?”

“Ah...” The killer realized that he still could not speak, so he made a ‘1’ sign with his finger.

Zhong Nuannuan pouted. “100 million or 10 million? If it’s 100 million, then she had really spent a lot of money.”

The killer thought, ‘...Crap!’

The assassin, almost in tears, made a ‘1’ sign and two zeros. He could not let the banshee think that they were charging too much, or his death might be worse.

F*ck!

Zhong Nuannuan could not control her anger when she saw the amount signed by him.

“Only 100?”

The killer nodded quickly.

“Tsk ts, she thinks that spending 1 million is enough to take Big Brother Chi Yang away from me...”

Zhong Nuannuan looked out of the balcony with an obscure gaze as she cursed all 18 generations of Ou Mingxi's ancestors.

When Ou Mingxi recruited someone to kill her in her previous life, it seemed that her first offer was already seven million. Why was everything different in this life? Even to the point that a girl's offer to hire an assassin to kill her had been discounted by almost 80%?

Just as Zhong Nuannuan was using her clever mind to predict the trajectory of this butterfly effect, she suddenly noticed that on the road just over 2 kilometers away, a black Land Rover was driving towards the apartment at a speed of 80 kilometers per hour.

When she took a closer look at its license plate, Zhong Nuannuan instantly jumped in fright.

Seeing Zhong Nuannuan suddenly jump, the killer's tears instantly flowed down.

His time was up, he would now say goodbye to this world...

"If I don't kill you and make you leave quickly, will you still be able to walk?"

She originally intended to kill this person too. Who told them to come and attack her when she did not even provoke them? To be a killer, one must face the reality of potentially being killed!

However, at this moment, Zhong Nuannuan was already scared out of her wits, and she could no longer handle so much stress.

The killer stared at Zhong Nuannuan blankly and opened his mouth, but was still unable to speak.

I can still live?

Only

"Yes, you can still live!" Zhong Nuannuan understood his inquiring eyes, nodded and replied, "As long as you can pack up the knives, guns, phones and everything else they left behind within two minutes, walk out the door, get down the elevator, hide behind this building, and wait for 10 minutes before you come out, I won't kill you. Otherwise, I'll cut off your flesh piece by piece and use it to make stew!"

Before she finished speaking, Zhong Nuannuan saw the killer crawling out of the balcony door at an unimaginable pace, quickly packing up the things, taking all the items that did not decompose on the ground with him, opening the door and running away.

Fortunately, there were two elevators and three households here; the floor where Zhong Nuannuan lived was in the middle, and there was an elevator that was stopped on this middle floor. The killer quickly ran into the elevator and headed downstairs in a rush.

He was so nervous that he did not even notice a knife in his arms had pierced his thigh.

After going down, the killer hurriedly followed the banshee's instructions and hid behind the building, then took out a stopwatch and started timing strictly.

When the timer hit the 10-minute mark, the assassin immediately rushed out without a second to waste, then put the items in the car and drove away.

He did not understand why the woman wanted him to hide behind the building for 10 minutes, but he felt that this should be his exit from Groundhog Day. If he did not hide for these 10 minutes, he might be trapped in the enchantment arranged by this banshee forever.

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 439: Blood

Although he ran into two fences and hit a telephone pole as he rushed out, he was lucky. At that time in 1212, they had not yet reached the point where millions of cameras had been installed throughout the city.

What he did not know was that Chi Yang arrived half a minute after he went into hiding. He walked to the elevator door, pressed the elevator button, then waited for the elevator door to open.

However, as soon as he entered, Chi Yang discovered blood in the corner of the elevator.

On one hand, he knew that if Nuannuan was the Queen of Spades, she would not get hurt so easily.

Yet, when he saw the blood, Chi Yang's heart still could not help but skip a beat.

Yang Yi was not there, and he was not around either... Would Ou Mingxi's people attack her?

If she was not the Queen of Spades, then this blood...

"Ding—"

As soon as the elevator door opened, Chi Yang immediately rushed out.

However, he had only taken two steps when he stopped again.

He turned around, and a drop of red blood was seen stained on the elevator door to the seventh floor.

Clearly, the blood in the elevator originated from their floor.

A wave of fear surged through his heart, and all the blood in his body seemed to rush to his brain at the same time. With a "boom" sound, Chi Yang was so scared that he had tinnitus, and his head, which had previously already been treated by Zhong Nuannuan, suddenly felt like it was about to burst in pain, causing Chi Yang to stagger.

After steadying himself, he hurriedly opened the door.

Chi Yang's movements were heavy and the sound caused by his actions was very loud, so loud in fact that by the time Chi Yang had pried the door open and walked in the direction of the bedroom, Zhong Nuannuan had already rushed out.

Chi Yang only felt a wave of dizziness, and saw a gray-white bear rushing towards him.

He was just about to push it away when he smelled the little bear's refreshing fragrance. At that moment, his heart, which was raging to destroy the world, instantly quietened down.

"Big Brother Chi Yang, I missed you so much!"

They had only parted in the morning; although it was already 2.30 in the morning, they had only parted for a day.

However, both Zhong Nuannuan and Chi Yang felt as if they had been separated for a long time.

That type of yearning and bond to the other party could not be easily measured in the form of 20 hours from daytime to early morning.

Zhong Nuannuan jumped directly onto Chi Yang and wrapped her legs tightly around his, nestling her face on his soil and dust covered neck.

"I missed you too Nuannuan."

Only

When Chi Yang said this, he seemed to have exhausted all the emotions assigned to him in this life.

He never knew what the longing in the saying "a day apart is like three autumns" felt like until this moment!

Even though Chi Yang rarely showed his emotions during ordinary days, right now, his face was full of joy and cheer after reuniting with his fiancée, and the deep emotions etched in his eyes were completely overflowing. He held Zhong Nuannuan's body as if he was hugging the most precious piece of treasure in the world.

"( ͡ ͜ ͡ ) Pop!"

Zhong Nuannuan sensed Chi Yang's enthusiasm, pouted her lips, and planted a kiss on his handsome face. The kiss was too hard, and even made a loud "pop" sound.

Chi Yang's eyes instantly widened to beam with happiness.

He pulled back his neck, distanced himself from the girl, and looked at this girl whom he had missed so much, even if she was only away for a day. He suspected she might be the Queen of Spades; Perhaps she was the sniper who had worked tirelessly to fly to Mustapha to rescue him after discovering that he was in trouble. When he thought of this, he felt deeply touched, grateful and blessed.

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 440: Self-Control

He had no way to thank her.

Chi Yang looked at the girl for a long while, his eyes filled with adoration, and only said one word, "Dirty."

However, just as his voice fell, the girl pouted her small cherry-like lips again and planted another kiss on his face.

After that, she even said provocatively, "I won't dislike it!"

Seeing the girl pouting her red lips until you could almost hang a bottle of oil on them, Chi Yang could not help but open his mouth to gently bite the girl's pouting lips.

An electric current instantly ran through Zhong Nuannuan's body. The clear breath that surrounded his body lingered between her lips and started to puncture her nostrils, exciting her to the point of dizziness.

Looking at Big Brother Chi Yang, who was in camouflage gear and had dust all over his body, Zhong Nuannuan felt that her Big Brother Chi Yang's outfit was just too manly, and he so handsome that he could even make the skies cry!

When he saw his fiancée looking at him with sparkles in her eyes, Chi Yang could not help but laugh softly.

His melodious voice filled the living room, instantly causing Zhong Nuannuan to feel that every corner of the living room seemed to be blooming, turning the room into a fairytale world.

"Howl——"

At that moment, Zhong Nuannuan, who was so excited by his handsomeness that she could not help but let out a wolf howl, really wanted to disregard her image, pounce onto the man in front of her, and eat him up!

Chi Yang did not know that his good looks had already caused his fiancée to swear in her heart. Taken aback, he asked, "What's wrong?"

Zhong Nuannuan puckered her lips, and her entire head drooped aggrievedly on his slender neck. After a long time, she said in a bored tone, "Nothing. I just think that you're really handsome! So handsome that I feel like getting pregnant!"

Chi Yang was a serious and old-fashioned person, and it was rare for him to hear such web slang. When he heard his fiancée announce that she wanted to become pregnant just because of his handsomeness, he became very amused, causing him to laugh out loud.

Chi Yang was a person with strong self-control, and because the nature of his work was extremely serious, he usually restrained himself a lot. Thus, it was rare for him to let out such a clear and hearty laugh. Once he let it out, the shock in Zhong Nuannuan's heart felt as devastating as a tsunami meeting an earthquake!

At this moment, Zhong Nuannuan was holding herself back with difficulty, and she felt that the witch in her body was being resuscitated. She was afraid that once she lost control of the witch, her ten fingernails would become, and then like the witch in a fairy tale who coveted a certain prince, she would eat up the man in front of her without leaving any traces behind.

Ahhhhh——

She was gnashing her teeth in anticipation!

Only

However, the chest in front of her was still trembling sexily, and his hard Adam's apple was even making such melodious trembling sounds.

Howl!

Screw it!

Zhong Nuannuan's heart turned completely wolfish, and she crazily kissed the handsome face that was causing her to become pregnant.

In a good mood, Chi Yang gladly accepted his fiancée's teasing, and gently matched her every move.

Three seconds later, the wolfish blood in his body started to boil, and reversing his role, he pressed his fiancée onto the sofa, and used his hot and enthusiastic kisses to express his love and longing for her.

The two of them did not even close the door or turn on the lights as they embraced each other with unbridled passion. They both wanted to hug each other tightly, rub the other member into their own body, and have their blood and bones become one.