

Physician Wife 441

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 441: Take A Shower

Zhong Nuannuan felt that her whole body was being wrapped in that clear breath that she loved so much, and she soon softened into a puddle of water.

She had completely surrendered to Chi Yang's passionate kisses. She let out one coquettish moan after another, exciting Chi Yang so much that he almost could not control himself from giving her a lesson on the spot.

Not long after they kissed, Chi Yang took the initiative to end it.

This was because he felt that although he had extreme self-restraint, when facing his little girl, he was exactly like a stunned youngster who was falling in love for the first time. He could not control himself at all.

Chi Yang panted heavily, and his black pupils had completely turned maroon in the dark night. Under his enchanting gaze, it seemed that even the surrounding air had been frozen solid by him, forming an invisible whirlpool of charm.

Zhong Nuannuan had melted into a pool of water at this moment, and she could no longer feel her own existence; even if Chi Yang had stopped kissing her, she did not have the strength to open her eyes.

Chi Yang suppressed the lust in his heart, stood up and walked to the entrance to close the door. Then, he changed his shoes and turned on a warm side lamp.

The living room had some light now, but the light was very soft and gentle, which was not enough to stimulate Zhong Nuannuan's eyes.

Feeling the sofa sinking down again, and her Big Brother Chi Yang sitting down next to her, she once again decided not to open her eyes.

Chi Yang sat beside Zhong Nuannuan, and stared at her quietly.

She had snow-white skin, shaggy hair, a delicate nose, and lip corners like cherry blossom petals; with her long eyelashes trembling slightly, she looked adorable.

At that moment, she was wearing a furry koala jumpsuit, and there were even two big round ears on the hood she had pushed to the side.

Her mouth and cheeks were dusty from kissing his face and neck. Besides that, she was sweating a little from the passionate moment earlier, and now she was just a little tabby cat who neither wanted to get up from the sofa nor open her eyes.

Was she really the Queen of Spades who displayed a regal air with every gesture? Was she really the sniper whose arrogance was so clear in her cold gaze?

Chi Yang could not help but stretch out his hand and gently scratch her petite nose. "Little lazy cat, get up and take a shower."

Zhong Nuannuan, who had been excited all night, instantly calmed down because of Chi Yang's return. Her sleepiness had caught up with her, and she did not even want to move at all. How could she just go to take a shower?

Hence, she hummed and mumbled shamelessly, "I've already had a shower."

Only

"My body is dirty though. Look, your face is dirty now, you even sweated so much." After saying that, Chi Yang stretched out his fingers in an attempt to wipe the dirtiest part of Zhong Nuannuan's cheek.

Unexpectedly, his hands were also dirty. At the time, he only thought of rushing back home, so he did not even have the time to wash his hands. Therefore, with this slight gesture, Zhong Nuannuan's face had gotten even dirtier, and there was now a black streak running across the corner of her mouth to the center of her face.

Looking at the assorted black and gray streaks on his fiancée's face, Chi Yang could not help but laugh softly again.

Zhong Nuannuan, who had been unwilling to open her eyes, finally opened them lazily when she heard her Big Brother Chi Yang laugh.

She liked to watch him laugh.

However, after he finished laughing, her eye candy was gone too, so she closed her eyes again.

Chi Yang could not force her to reopen them, and he gently squeezed her collagen-filled face. After fulfilling his urge to pinch her, he said, "Then you sleep here, I'll take a shower first and help you wipe this off later."

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 442: Pain

After hearing her coquettish response in the form of a hum, Chi Yang stood up, went to the bedroom to get a clean change of clothes, and walked into the bathroom to take a shower.

All the furnishings in the house were normal, and nothing was wrong at all, so where did the blood in the elevator come from?

Although there were only a few drops, the blood stains clearly had not dried up yet.

It was not a pool of blood, but a single drop of blood. If it had not dried yet, it was clear that the person who had been bleeding had still been on the seventh floor minutes before his return.

Thinking of the Queen of Spades' skills, Chi Yang felt relieved.

He might have just had a false alarm, whereby his Nuannuan was just a gentle and cute girl; she did nothing except go to school all day, and nothing had happened at home.

The other deduction was that she was really the Queen of Spades, and someone really broke into their house just now, but because her skills, these people had been dealt with before he came back.

Otherwise, how could the wet blood stain at the intersection of the corridor and the elevator be explained?

After fighting all day, killing off the underworld members, and facing the encirclement of more than 20,000 people, he was thankful that he had protected his soldiers. Yet, it had drained him physically. Now that he was idle, his body ached even more.

Therefore, Chi Yang immediately turned up the heat to the maximum level and took a scorching hot shower.

The bathroom was filled with mist, the air was hot and humid, and his aches alleviated a bit, but his head started to hurt again.

Moreover, it was not a faint type of pain, but explosive, sharp pain.

The sudden headache caused Chi Yang to support himself against the wall with one hand and hold his head with the other. Within that short while, the sweat on his forehead had already turned into water droplets and started to drip down. The shower was also washing over him at the same time, so even Chi Yang himself did not know how much he was sweating at the moment.

It was not until the unbearable pain faded away that he turned the water off.

He pressed hard against the painful area and felt a little bit of strength returning to his body, then got up to dry himself and put his clothes on.

Although the headache had improved, it still hurt very much, and he no longer wanted to wash his dirty clothes today anymore. With that, Chi Yang took Nuannuan's face towel, wet it with hot water, walked out after wringing it dry. He then squatted in front of her, placed the towel on her face and scrubbed gently.

Only

After wiping her face, he took her hand again. Originally, he wanted to casually wipe it, but he quickly realized that his fiancée's hands were even dirtier than her face.

Zhong Nuannuan was unaware of Chi Yang's discovery at this moment. Lying on the sofa, her mind was wandering as she enjoyed the care of her Big Brother Chi Yang comfortably.

She felt so comfortable after being wiped down by the warm and wet towel!

After Chi Yang wiped her hands, he felt that her face and hands had to be scrubbed again, especially her hands, and that he had to wash her with a fresh basin of water. Hence, he stood up and prepared to go to the bathroom.

Unexpectedly, the moment he stood up, a sharp pain struck his head again, and Chi Yang's expression changed.

He had experienced this kind of pain before the second operation, and it was only then that he realized he was probably having a cerebral hemorrhage again. Otherwise, he would not hurt like this.

However, he had to go to the hospital to stop the bleeding from his head, and Nuannuan was already exhausted because of his affairs, so Chi Yang could not bear to bother her. He thought that since he could tolerate it, it would be fine if he could just endure the pain and go to the hospital the next morning.

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 443: I'm Fine

It was already 3 o'clock in the morning anyway.

The last time he had a brain hemorrhage, he endured the pain for over a day before he fainted.

Therefore, when the pain came back, in order to prevent Zhong Nuannuan from noticing, Chi Yang gritted his teeth tightly and walked to the bathroom with a stern expression.

After washing the towel, he filled another basin of water.

This time, Chi Yang slowed down his movements.

After putting the water on the ground, he slowly raised his head and supported himself against the sofa. After that, he sat up and wiped Nuannuan's face and hands again.

He originally thought that he would feel better after sitting on the sofa, but this time, the headache did not get better no matter how much he tried to endure it.

Chi Yang's attempt at wiping her suddenly halted. At first, Zhong Nuannuan thought that her Big Brother Chi Yang was fascinated by her beauty and was just focused on watching her while forgetting to move. She even felt secretly pleased about it, so she once again displayed her lazy and charming posture.

She was looking forward to Big Brother Chi Yang being unable to hold back while wiping her, and then eat her up.

When this happened, she could also justify eating him up.

However, this evil thought did not last long, and she soon felt that something was wrong.

This was because she felt the towel being used to rub her face suddenly being twisted by a strong force.

Do not ask her how she knew that the towel was being strongly twisted despite her eyes being closed. After all, she was a 3S-level peak mercenary.

Therefore, when she felt that something was wrong, Zhong Nuannuan opened her eyes suddenly.

When they opened this time, the languor from when she was lazing around earlier was all but completely gone.

Her pair of bright eyes were full of clarity.

At this moment, Chi Yang was already sweating profusely with pain, and his face that was twisted in pain had already become swollen and red from the cerebral hemorrhage. His forehead, temples and even neck were full of bulging veins, scaring Zhong Nuannuan to the point that she sat up in an instant and quickly used her X-ray vision to check Chi Yang's brain.

She was fine before she looked at it, but when she looked at it, she screamed in fright.

Hearing Zhong Nuannuan's scream, Chi Yang opened his eyes with some effort. When he saw Zhong Nuannuan's horrified gaze, Chi Yang reached out, grabbed her hand and comforted her. "Nuannuan, I'm okay, I only have a headache, I'll be fine after taking a rest."

Seeing a flash of panic in his eyes, Zhong Nuannuan remembered the words that Chi Yang previously said to her the day he picked her up from prison —

"Nuannuan, there's nothing wrong with my body, please don't despise me for this, okay?"

Only

This was how he had told her at the time. He was afraid that she would dislike him because he had been shot in the brain, and fearing that he would not live long, she would dislike him and not be nice to him.

At this moment, she looked at the unconcealed panic in Chi Yang's eyes; even if his pain had started to manifest, the first thing he did was to hide how much pain he was in, and instead tell his fiancée that he was fine.

She did not understand why her Big Brother Chi Yang, who was so outstanding, chose to fall in love with her from amongst the vast crowd.

She did not like him in the past, so she never felt sorry for him.

However, now that she liked him, and had fallen in love with him, Zhong Nuannuan felt her heart ache seeing him like this, as if it was being pricked by a needle. Soon, her tears fell uncontrollably.

Seeing that the little girl had been frightened to tears, Chi Yang could only insist on not letting himself faint, and kept saying subconsciously, "Don't be afraid, Nuannuan, it's okay, I'm really okay. I just need to take a break and I'll be fine!"

"Yeah, it's okay! Big Brother Chi Yang, have you forgotten that I have great medical skills?"

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 444: Cerebral Hemorrhage

"Wait for me, I'll give you some acupuncture and you'll be fine."

"Okay."

Looking at the blood continuously flowing out of Chi Yang's brain and his increasingly pained expression, his condition at that moment seemed as though it had reached a critical point.

Cerebral hemorrhage was an illness with a very high fatality rate. It was usually caused by the outbreak of hypertension, which leads to the rupture of blood vessels in the brain and induces cerebral bleeding, causing large amounts of blood to squeeze the brain tissue. When this happens, brain tissue edema and necrosis to gradually appear. For this kind of acute and severe illness, time was of the essence.

Those who could stop their bleeding in time had a higher chance of going through a successful recovery. However, if too much time passes, and the blood compresses the nerves of the brain for too long, forming a cerebral embolus compressing the neurons, then even if that person's life could be saved, in the end, hemiplegia, paraplegia, cerebral palsy and other functional disorders would appear, which would often lead to amputations and so on.

Through the X-ray vision, Zhong Nuannuan could see that Chi Yang's head had not bled for long, and the bleeding was from an artery that she could see very clearly.

Although the blood vessel was not thick, it was still an artery that was bleeding, so he was losing as much blood as he would if there had been a sudden rupture of a brain tumor.

This was why Chi Yang was in so much pain.

If he was an average person, he would have already fallen into a deep coma at this moment.

Chi Yang's situation had reached a critical point, and Zhong Nuannuan could no longer conceal herself.

In one hand, she carried Chi Yang, a big man close to 190 in height, in her arms, and then quickly placed him on the bed.

After all, the bed in their bedroom was larger, and it was convenient for her to administer treatment.

Chi Yang's head was about to explode in pain, and he could not react much to Zhong Nuannuan lifting him up.

"Big Brother Chi Yang, come and lie down. Don't lie flat on your back, lie on your side like this, and put your hands here. Yes, you're doing very well."

Zhong Nuannuan told Chi Yang what to do while praising him.

"Big Brother Chi Yang, the inside of your head is bleeding right now, but you don't need to be afraid, I'm here. I'll help you stop the bleeding, and then help you to release the pressure that has accumulated in your brain."

Only

At this moment, the veins on Chi Yang's forehead were about to burst, which was obviously caused by his increasing blood pressure.

Even so, he still maintained an amazing sobriety, gritted his teeth and held on. "Okay, I'm not afraid. As long as you're here, I'm not afraid."

"Okay." Zhong Nuannuan sniffed again, then reached out to wipe away the tears in her eyes.

After that, she removed a soft and thin silver needle from the inconspicuous thick bracelet on her wrist, then quickly and accurately pierced it through his scalp and skull, directly pinning the bleeding cerebral artery.

Almost immediately after the first needle went in, the large amounts of blood that were gushing out from that blood vessel stopped flowing. When the second and third needles went in, the ruptured blood vessel was completely sealed, such that no more blood leaked out.

However, blood was flowing, and although the ruptured area of the blood vessel had been tied into a dead knot, the blood flow would slowly accumulate and form a thrombus. This thrombus would slowly expand and eventually compress the nerves in the brain once more. Once it expanded to a certain point, this blood vessel would rupture, causing a serious cerebral hemorrhage.

This was not a hospital, and there was no way to perform a craniotomy. After draining the blood like a doctor, while transfusing the blood, she performed a bridging suture between the broken blood vessel and a normal blood vessel.

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 445: Bloodletting

Besides that, Zhong Nuannuan could not bear to let Chi Yang endure the pain of a craniotomy again.

Most importantly, this was not Emperor District, and they did not have access to the best hospital in the country. Without the best doctors in the country, she was worried about handing Chi Yang to those crappy doctors in Jiang District to have them practice their skills on him.

If a trembling hand touched his main artery, it would be really hard for even the gods to save him.

It was not that she looked down on these people, it was just that many patients with sudden cerebral hemorrhages could still talk when they went under the operating table, but had closed their eyes or were on a ventilator when they came out. Most of the time, the reason why this happened was because the doctors were inexperienced and had poor motor control, leading to them damaging the patient's arteries and causing irreparable damage. This time, they could only perform a hasty ligation, put the skull back in, get a drainage machine, put on a ventilator, and tell you that the patient had entered a brain-dead state. They would then ask if you if you would like to continue supporting him like this, or if you wanted to give up and declare the person dead.

The family members could not understand why the patient did not seem to have any major issues before entering the operating room, but after a trip inside, there was only a road to death.

In reality, when a patient who had undergone a failed operation came out of the operating room, his brain was already full of blood. The blood had compressed the neurons, which caused them to become brain dead, such that they were simply unable to recover.

She absolutely could not risk such a result!

She could not let the slightest thing happen to her Big Brother Chi Yang!

"Big Brother Chi Yang, can you hear me?" Zhong Nuannuan asked softly.

"Yeah." Chi Yang answered.

He knew that his situation might not be right at the moment, because he could barely withstand the pain and almost fainted despite his immense willpower.

Therefore, in times like this, Chi Yang's advantage as a top-level special forces agent was brought into play.

His mental strength was immeasurable.

He should have fainted a long time ago due to the severe pressure, and even though he was suffering greatly from the pain at this moment, he still maintained a sober mind.

Right now, the patient's sobriety was very important for his chances of survival.

"Big Brother Chi Yang, I want to let out the blood in your head, don't be afraid."

"Okay, I'm not afraid." Chi Yang's answer was loud, clear, and convincing.

"Also, do you want to move your arms? This is because you may not be able to move at all for a quarter of an hour later."

"No. Nuannuan, do it, I won't move."

Chi Yang's guarantee trumped everything, and Zhong Nuannuan firmly believed in him.

"Okay, I'll start then."

Only

"Okay."

After Chi Yang answered, Zhong Nuannuan pierced the spot where the blood was accumulating.

She perfectly avoided all his blood vessels, including the capillaries, as the needle tip went straight into the area where the blood had accumulated.

After that, Zhong Nuannuan took out a small tube from her bracelet that was not much thicker than a strand of hair, as well as a small bottle out of her bag.

After connecting one end of the tube to the silver needle, the other end was inserted into the vacuum bottle. In an instant, a stream of blood gushed out of the tiny tube.

This was like drawing blood. However, typically, the trouble with the brain was that the doctor needed to open up the skull to perform a venesection on the brain. However, a craniotomy would cause very serious damage to the patient. In addition, the arteries of the brain were much finer than the arteries on the body, so it was not easy to do such an operation.

On the other hand, although her silver needles looked very thin, the reason why she had spent so long specially crafting them overseas and then shipping them over was because each of her silver needles was actually hollow.

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 446: Operation

The tube hidden in the bracelet was also specially made, and belonged to the same set as the silver needles.

As for the bracelet, its insides were powered by electricity, and could automatically sterilize all the silver needles and tubes.

Although the silver needles and tubes were very thin, there was no new blood pouring into the brain after the blood vessel was ligated. In addition to this, there was continuous blood drainage going on in the area, so the pressure on the brain was reduced. With that, Chi Yang slowly felt better, and his headache also reduced a lot.

The spot where the silver needle pierced was the blood stasis area, situated far away from the ruptured blood vessel.

After the blood was sucked by the vacuum, it rushed towards the silver needle, and very soon, the excess blood around the ruptured blood vessel was slowly purged.

Although she had X-ray vision, and was not afraid that the blood would block her vision, the accumulation of blood would not only cause pressure on the blood vessels, it would also act as the biggest obstacle for the next, most important step.

Therefore, drainage of the excess blood was very important.

After the blood accumulated in the brain was cleared, Zhong Nuannuan took out a particularly soft solid silver needle, which was as thin as a strand of hair, and pricked it into Chi Yang's head.

After the needle tip passed through the skull, it carefully went through Chi Yang's brain, reaching the edge of a functioning blood vessel right next to the broken blood vessel; a moment later, she used the edge of the needle to gently shake the blood vessel. After determining its flexibility, she fiddled with it gently, moving it towards the ruptured artery.

When the two blood vessels came together, the ligated artery had already swelled up and was beginning to compress the nerve next to it.

However, at this moment, Zhong Nuannuan gently punctured the functioning artery, and at the same time, the tip of the needle came up and directly connected the ruptured blood vessel to the functioning blood vessel. After that, she simultaneously withdrew the three needles that were responsible for stopping the bleeding.

At this moment, the swollen blood vessel was about to bleed again, and blood was already starting to pour out of the two blood vessels.

However, the silver needle inserted into the normal blood vessel had stitched the broken blood vessel and normal blood vessel together like cloth.

The ruptured artery was perfectly connected to the intact artery, and the blood that would have originally gushed out and accumulated in the head flowed along the healthy artery and began to circulate normally.

On the other hand, after the blood accumulated in the brain had been drained for a period of time, it almost cleared out completely.

Only

Chi Yang lay on the bed as his head, which was originally in so much pain that he almost fainted, started gradually feeling better. With the continuous gushing of blood, the intensity of his headache became lighter, so only then did he recall what he had experienced earlier.

The first thing he remembered was that he, a soldier of 189cm in height, was lifted by his cute little fiancée.

Zhong Nuannuan did not avoid Chi Yang when she cured his condition, nor did she deliberately make him faint. After all, in this case, it was very important for the patient to maintain consciousness, so even if Chi Yang discovered her X-ray vision after this, she would not do anything that would cause him harm.

From where Chi Yang's was lying, he could see a tube connected to his head, and although it was very, very thin, blood was continuously flowing from the tube into the vacuum flask.

He knew that this was the blood that had pooled in his head.

The reason why he was in so much pain just now was that he had a sudden cerebral hemorrhage.

At this moment, Chi Yang really felt very weak.

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 447: His Girl

He had clearly told Nuannuan that his head injury was all right, that it would never threaten his life, and even guaranteed that he could stay healthy with her for the rest of her life.

As a result...

How long did it take for him to have an unexpected cerebral hemorrhage?

He felt really lethargic.

This time, he really did not know how to explain everything to Nuannuan.

He did not know if Nuannuan would think of him as a liar...

The worms in Big Brother Chi Yang's stomach twisted around thousands of times, but Zhong Nuannuan was only focusing on treating him at this moment, and could not deal with the roundworms in his stomach.

Chi Yang cooperated very well and maintained the same posture the entire time as the blood in the bottle gradually filled. As his head became more and more relaxed, his dilemma finally came to an end.

This whole time, he had a cerebral hemorrhage...

Bleeding in the brain...

How did his fiancée remove the blood from his brain as if it was a simple blood draw?

Were there gaps in the skull as well?

This seemed unscientific!!

The blood vessels and nerves found in the brain were denser than in any other part of the body, even if she could find the acupuncture points accurately, was she not afraid of puncturing his cranial nerves with the needle and making him brain-dead?

Chi Yang thought about this in a daze, when suddenly he saw a few fingerprints where his gaze had landed on the ceiling.

They had just moved in and the ceiling was relatively clean, so the mark was extremely light, so faint that it was almost invisible.

However, Chi Yang spotted it.

He recalled the moment earlier when he wiped Nuannuan's hands and found that although her hands were not as blackened as her face, they were dustier and dirtier than her face. Suddenly, his thoughts became clearer.

Something had really happened in this house before he came back. Moreover, his Nuannuan was even having fun on the ceiling not long ago.

Therefore, it was very obvious that the blood in the elevator and junction should have belonged to the bad guy.

Besides that, Nuannuan, using some unknown method, not only drove away the bad guys, but also got the house clean within 2 minutes of his return.

It seemed that his little girl was a really capable person!

Thinking that the arrogant Queen of Spades was his Nuannuan, and imagining that the bad guy might have been entranced by his little girl's bullying, but also so scared that they might have pissed their pants in terror, Chi Yang's lips could not help but raise into a smile.

As expected of his little girl, she was really powerful!

Only

There was almost no doubt that his little girl was the sniper on the helicopter who would blow off the heads of anybody who wanted to touch him. After all, her body was already deeply etched into his mind, and he could recall every inch of her body from any angle. Therefore, he was very sure that the person on the plane was Nuannuan. At that time, the thigh of the woman who had helped Nuannuan to kill the Wute Organization on the plane was the same as that of the woman next to the Queen of Spades, so there was no doubt that the Queen of Spades was Nuannuan.

However, if she was that very powerful sniper, where did she learn these skills from?

She was already so capable at just 17 years old... Had she suffered a lot in the past 14 years?

Thinking of the girl on the plane, whose gaze was so icy that it seemed she had crawled out of hell, Chi Yang felt his heart hurt terribly.

No wonder his heart hurt so much when he saw the girl's eyes—it turned out that the girl was his girl.

At this moment, Chi Yang really wanted to ask Nuannuan how she had survived after she was abducted by the human traffickers. However, when the words came to his mouth, he could not speak.

If she really had such a profession, then in their relationship one belonged to darkness, while the other belonged to light.

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 448: Different Worlds

They were people from two different worlds...

He was afraid that she would leave him after he discovered her identity.

In addition to this, his body was not too healthy, and he kept suffering from cerebral hemorrhaging.

Therefore, when he thought of this, Chi Yang decided to drop the matter.

Not only was he resolute on not mentioning this in front of Nuannuan, even if she mentioned it, he would not respond, and he would not talk about this with her!

Hence, after a very long time, Zhong Nuannuan wanted to confess to Chi Yang, but even though her movements were already very clear, to the point she felt that even a pig could realize that there was something wrong with her, her Big Brother Chi Yang did not mention it. This left her speechless.

Chi Yang's thoughts were preoccupied with her, whereas Zhong Nuannuan did not dare to distract herself from caring for his body for even a second.

After all, both the pinprick and catheter were very thin, so the blood was being drained at a very slow speed.

15 minutes later, Zhong Nuannuan's hand pulled out the two silver needles that held the two cerebral arteries together quickly and accurately.

The silver needles were about the same thickness as a strand of hair, and they were pulled out very quickly. Thus, after the needle was pulled out, the resulting trauma caused to the brain was very small.

Zhong Nuannuan nervously and carefully observed the amount of bleeding after the silver needles were withdrawn.

The automatic reparative function of the human body was actually speedy and peculiar. When she used the needles as a bridge to bond the two blood vessels together, the blood flow gradually became smoother.

After she removed the needles, although blood was still coming out of the eye of the needle, most of the blood flowed into the functioning blood vessel. After the blood entered the body's circulatory system, the brain's blood clotting function quickly repaired the ruptured area.

After bridging, the two arteries became one.

The wall of the ruptured blood vessel had also merged quickly with the walls of the functioning blood vessel.

Under the suction of the needle siphon, the excess blood in his brain reduced as well.

Finally, after a few more minutes, the excess blood in the brain was completely drained.

Zhong Nuannuan retracted the needle, then held up the test tube and took a closer look at it.

The amount of blood drained was 42 ml.

Thank goodness!

Chi Yang's condition came up too suddenly and seriously this time, so he had bled 42 ml in just a short while.

If she did not know medicine, she would have sent him to the hospital after she found out about it, and the hospital would have conducted another checkup... Even the mighty gods could not save him by the time they were done with that.

This was because once the blood accumulated in the brain exceeded 25ml, even if a person did not die, he or she would at least be left with hemiplegia, paraplegia or some other other hemiplegiac condition.

Fortunately, she quickly drained the blood when she discovered his brain hemorrhage. This way, even though his brain was still bleeding, a lot of it would have already been drained, so the damage caused by the pressure on his brain would not be irreparable.

Only

If her movements were a little slower...

The result would be simply horrifying.

What Chi Yang did not know was that because of Zhong Nuannuan, not only was his life saved quickly and perfectly, but he had also avoided a huge operation that would have taken at least a few hours for even a senior professor to conduct, whereby he would have probably ended up hemiplegia or paraplegia.

"Are you done?" Chi Yang asked in a low voice.

"Yes, I'm done." Zhong Nuannuan responded in a very good mood.

"This... is all the blood in my brain?"

Thinking that Chi Yang was scared, Zhong Nuannuan lay down on the bed, stretched out her hands to stroke his somewhat prickly short hair, and petted him in the same way that he often petted her while saying, “Yes, it’s all the blood drained from your brain earlier. However, don’t be afraid, don’t you know that I have a very good understanding of acupuncture points?”

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 449: Promise

“I found the bloodletting point through the acupuncture points and drained the excess blood in your brain. Even if there’s still some stagnant blood that might flow out of your arteries, I can still use acupuncture to stimulate them in order to dissipate it completely.”

Chi Yang was still lying on his side in the posture that Zhong Nuannuan had instructed him earlier. As he looked at Nuannuan lying in front of him, with her buttocks slightly protruding like a little hamster, his gaze was filled with a tenderness and sweetness that would not fade away.

“Previously, I said that my old injuries were fine... I actually lied to you. The doctor warned me before that I had suffered severe head injuries, so it was not suitable for me to return to the special forces team. However, I have my own beliefs and responsibilities, so I insisted on returning to the special forces team.

“At that time, the doctor already said that my head could not withstand too much mental or traumatic stimulation, otherwise my blood vessels would easily rupture and cause cerebral hemorrhaging. I thought I was much better after two operations, but who knew...”

Chi Yang did not continue to speak. Zhong Nuannuan probably knew very well how bad his situation was just now.

“Nuannuan, I’m sorry. Will you...”

Before Chi Yang finished speaking, Zhong Nuannuan, who had been lying down while listening to him with her buttocks lifted, approached him, kissed his moving lips, and soothed his restless heart.

Chi Yang immediately felt his heart warm up as he enthusiastically responded to Nuannuan’s kisses.

She kissed his lips, and then kissed his forehead, eyes, nose, and face.

Their kiss did not contain any lust, it was just a simple, passionate, and adoring kiss.

“Big Brother Chi Yang, don’t say such heartbreaking things in the future anymore. Don’t you want to marry me?”

“I want to.” Chi Yang did not shy away, and answered the question seriously and earnestly.

“Me too. We’re already a couple about to get married, and even the military base has approved our marriage, so it’s already set in stone. Have you forgotten that when two people get married, they will promise each other that whether in good or bad times, richness or poverty, illness or health, that they would love and cherish each other, such that they would only be separated by death?

Only

“For some people, this may be just a transitional phase before they get married, and their promises might not count. However, for me, choosing you is my promise to you.

“Unlike other people’s promises, I promise you that we’ve owned each other ever since the day you made the marriage report. In the future, whether in good or bad times, richness or poverty, illness or health, I’ll love you and cherish you until even death... cannot separate us. Don’t worry, even if you die, I’ll stay with you. Okay?”

Originally, she was a person who cherished life.

However, when she had faced death in her previous life, Chi Yang could have simply abandoned her and escaped at the last moment, but he did not leave her. She had been completely destroyed by the organization, yet he had helped her block countless bullets and died whilst shielding her. After that moment, Zhong Nuannuan swore that she would really say these words from the bottom of her heart.

When it came to this man who valued her life more than his own, and was even willing to sacrifice himself for her despite the fact that had not gotten anything throughout their six years of marriage, he was her support pillar.

Therefore, if he died, she would no longer have any emotions not desire to live in this world anymore.

In this new life, nothing nor anyone else in this world was important to her anymore. The only person she cared about was him!

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 450: Truthful Feelings

Sourness poured from his abdomen into his chest, then into his throat...

Chi Yang’s Adam’s apple trembled as his eyes reddened instantly.

He did not want to ask why she was suddenly so nice to him. He did not want to tell her that if he dies, he would let her find someone else to marry, and that she had to live out the rest of her life happily.

These were all untrue.

His obsession with her was so strong that even he himself did not know its depth.

The side-effect of his obsession was that even if he were to lose the whole world, he could never lose her!

Thus, if he really did die one day and she was left alone, he would never be willing to see her remarry. He could not accept seeing her holding hands with another man from the grave.

If he did, he might be so angry that he would come back to life.

Therefore, when he heard Zhong Nuannuan’s words, Chi Yang was shocked yet delighted.

Thousands and thousands of sentences converged into two words which came out with a strong nasally sound –

“Really?”

“Yes, really.” Zhong Nuannuan nodded cautiously.

Looking at her clear, bright eyes, Chi Yang felt so happy that he felt as if his whole body was about to bubble up.

Even Zhong Nuannuan, who was looking at him now, felt that he was like a plot of fertile soil at the moment, blooming everywhere at a speed visible to the naked eye.

And there were all these bright red flowers at that.

Looking at how happy he was, Zhong Nuannuan snickered a little. However, inside her heart, she was hurting.

He had silently done so many things for her in his past life. Even when he had died to protect her, he still did not cry.

However, when she had confessed to him like this, although she was telling the truth and had only expressed it verbally, he was actually so moved that his eyes went red.

This was the same man that would not shed a drop of tear no matter how much blood he shed.

Zhong Nuannuan got up from the bed and reached out to support him by the arm, “Big Brother Chi Yang, sit up slowly. Reduce your movements a bit.”

“Ok.” At this moment Chi Yang was still immersed in a sea of happiness, completely swooned by his wife. Thus, it was natural that whatever she said, went.

When he recovered, he saw Zhong Nuannuan bending down and putting his shoes on for him.

Moreover, he was not wearing slippers, but leisure shoes meant for going out.

“Nuannuan, what is this for?”

“Although the blood clot in your head has been removed, you still have a wound in your brain. Although you’re not bleeding now, you still have to go to the hospital to infuse in some nutritional fluids for your recovery. Those fluids can help with the recovery of the injury in your brain. Let’s go.”

“Ok.”

Originally, he was firm that he would not go to a hospital unless absolutely necessary, especially since it was obvious he had been cured. Even though Chi Yang normally would not go to the hospital, when facing his wife, whatever she said was law.

Looking at Nuannuan putting on his shoes, Chi Yang was a little sorry.

Only

“Let me.”

With that, Chi Yang got ready to bend down.

“Don’t move!”

When Zhong Nuannuan yelled this, Chi Yang's body froze in place and did not move.

Looking at him stiffening his back, Zhong Nuannuan nearly burst out laughing. "You don't need to do this, just relax. Don't keep bending over, just squat down. Do you know why you had a sudden brain haemorrhage just now?"

Chi Yang looked at Zhong Nuannuan nagging like a little old lady and the corner of his lips raised happily.

Seeing that he did not speak and was just looking at her with his eyes full of love, Zhong Nuannuan's cheeks went slightly red. She continued saying, "It must've been caused by the excessive movements during your mission today."