

My Sweet Physician Wife Calls The Shots

Chapter 5: I Like This

Chi Yang went out and returned after a while. There were a few big bags in his hands.

He passed the bag over to Zhong Nuannuan. "I don't know which is your favorite color, so I just simply picked a few items."

She felt a warm feeling flow through her.

How could she not learn to cherish such a good man in her last life?

Chi Yang placed the bags in front of Zhong Nuannuan but she kept her head lowered and did not reach out to take the bags.

So... Was it all just a show to spite Zhong Qianqian when she had treated him so well?

She still hated him. She refused to accept any of his gifts, not even a set of clothes.

The thought of this dampened Chi Yang's previously happy mood.

"It would be bad luck for you to leave with your prisoner's uniform on. If you don't like it, just bear with it. You can throw it away once you get home."

Zhong Nuannuan jumped down from the table immediately when she heard his words and hugged Chi Yang tightly again.

Plonk...

Even though it was the second time he was hugged, Chi Yang still felt that it was unreal. He was so overcome with emotion that he lost control of his body momentarily. His arms went weak and he dropped all the big bags on to the ground.

"I love them! No matter what you bought me, I love them!"

Zhong Nuannuan hugged Chi Yang tight. She could feel Chi Yang's mood turned dark when she heard his voice.

He must have thought that she did not like it at all and did not want to wear the clothes he had bought for her.

Her Chi Yang was such an excellent man. He was someone who would entice looks from women and was always the center of attention. He was a man who had the noble aura of an emperor. Yet, when it came to her, he was always acting so carefully, even being soft-spoken when speaking to her.

Zhong Nuannuan realized how much of a jerk she had been in her past life.

5He had forced himself on her because he was drugged by someone. It must have been part of Zhong Qianqian's diabolical plans.

3How could Zhong Nuannuan push all the blame on Chi Yang?

2When he felt the tight embrace on his waist, Chi Yang's empty heart was once again filled to the brim with a sweet bliss.

"I'm glad you love it." His voice was slightly husky from emotion.

"I'll change into the clothes. Wait for me."

"Okay."

Zhong Nuannuan gave a big smile to Chi Yang and bent over to pick up the bags. She went ahead to change into the clothes.

Zhong Qianqian witnessed everything while standing behind them. Her pretty eyes almost spouted blood.

1This man belonged to her, Zhong Qianqian!

7Seeing Zhong Qianqian about to explode in rage, Jiang Shuwan quickly said, "Chi Yang, Nuannuan has already signed her name at the detention center. There shouldn't be any more problems. You should go back first since you're busy."

2"That's right, Chi Yang. If you're busy, you can leave first. We'll take care of Nuannuan over here."

Zhong Kuijun voiced out as well, he was worried about what Zhong Qianqian would do if she was agitated further.

5Zhong Kuijun was also frustrated at the thought of Nuannuan.

2Chi Yang said clearly, "I'm not really busy now. Besides, there's nothing more important to me right now than Nuannuan."