Chapter 1061: Who Is The Woman?

Yang Yi nodded. "Okay."

Zhou Yixun drove back to the professional track when he was done dropping off Huo Yao. After parking the car, he walked over and nodded to Min Yu and Yang Yi. "Hi, Young Master Min, Yi."

Zhou Yixun did not dare to look at Min Yu and kept his head slightly lowered. He was clearly a little anxious.

Yang Yi glanced at Zhou Yixun and said, "Did you find out anything about the woman's background?"

Zhou Yixun shook his head. "Nope. I don't think she wants people to know about herself. Also, I reckon she only joined the race for the sake of money."

Yang Yi felt the same way. A group of foreigners came over from nearby. He narrowed his eyes and waved his hand. "Okay. You may leave."

Zhou Yixun nodded. He also saw those foreigners walking over with an aggressive aura. He trembled involuntarily before he hurriedly left.

After Zhou Yixun had left, Yang Yi gave a few orders using the mic under his collar.

Cruise was in the front as they approached them. He was giving off a threatening aura with five or six brawny men behind him. After he came close, he pointed to Min Yu and spoke in poor Mandarin. "How dare you cheat?"

Min Yu stood with his hands behind him. He simply glanced at Cruise mildly without saying a word, but it was enough to send chills down Cruise's back. In an instant, Yang Yi broke Cruise's finger which he had been holding in midair.

"How dare you point at my boss?"

Yang Yi acted so swiftly that Cruise's men were unable to react in time.

Cruise was in great pain while Yang Yi stood there expressionlessly. Yang Yi paused before he laughed coldly and said, "You lost because she was better than you. Are you going back on your word now?"

Cruise did not expect them to touch him. His finger was in excruciating pain as he retrieved his gun with his other hand. "Die!"

Even though the gun was pointing at Yang Yi, he turned to train the gun at Min Yu in a split second. The moment he pulled the trigger, Yang Yi opened his eyes wide.

However, no sound of gunfire could be heard. Min Yu was holding the muzzle. After he let go of the gun, the gun barrel and frame fell onto the ground.

Cruise was stunned. He had heard that this man was very good at disassembling guns. No matter how complicated the weapon was, it was like tofu to Min Yu.

"I want to see the stuff before 12:00 am tonight," said Min Yu mildly without even glancing at Cruise. Then, he turned to get into the car.

There was a cold murderous aura radiating from Min Yu.

Yang Yi wiped his hands with a piece of tissue and threw it on the ground. He checked the time and raised his head to say equally coolly. "You have two hours to prepare."

The moment he finished his sentence, he got into the other car.

Before long, Zhou Yixun's racing team along with dozens of cars belonging to the Min family left in an orderly fashion.

Only Cruise remained at the racecourse.

"Boss, are we going to let them do this to us?" asked Cruise's subordinate.

Cruise's face was so sinister that it looked scary. He set the finger Yang Yi had broken on his own. Other than a slight frown, it did not seem to hurt at all.

Cruise lowered his head, glanced at the gun barrel, and said deeply, "Give it to them."

His subordinates looked at him inexplicably. "The material is very important to us. If we give it to them, how are we going to explain ourselves to the Weapons Bureau?"

"Then do you want to die here?" Cruise rubbed his brow as he spoke. He raised his head and glanced at Andy who was nearby.. "Useless piece of shit. How could you lose to a woman?"

Chapter 1062: Removed All Trace

Cruise's subordinate trembled as he said, "We were going to win, but the Min family showed up with this incredible racer at the last minute."

Cruise looked sinister. Moments later, he said coldly, "Find out who the woman is. How dare she get in my way?"

"Yes, I am on it."

By the time Huo Yao got back to the training facility, 30 minutes had gone by. Since she had sent Huo Changfeng a text message, he was completely unsuspecting when she returned.

He simply thought that she was having stomach troubles after dinner and did not insist on racing any more.

Huo Changfeng checked his watch and said, "You have school tomorrow. Since it is getting late, we should go home."

Huo Yao was about to make an excuse and leave anyway, so she simply nodded. "In that case, we can race some other time."

Huo Changfeng acknowledged softly. He turned to glance at the Specter and gave the keys to Huo Yao once more.

Huo Yao scratched her head. Since Uncle Changfeng insisted, she accepted the car.

After getting into the car, Huo Yao put up the hood. Before long, they left the training facility.

Huo Yao did not get Chen Ming to send her home. She pulled up by the roadside halfway home where she took out her phone and changed it to computer mode.

After a couple of minutes, she managed to remove all traces of the events that had transpired tonight from the training facility's surveillance footage, including Chen Ming and his subordinates.

However, she did not do anything about the footage at the professional racetrack.

After all, she was in a car the entire time, wearing a helmet. Even if there were drones around and filmed her from all angles, it was impossible to capture her face.

Moreover, Yang Yi was there. If she attempted to clean her tracks, it would backfire and she would give herself away, instead.

After she was done, Huo Yao put away her phone and wanted to start the engine again, but her phone started to ring right then.

She glanced at it sideways. Her face twitched slightly when she saw the caller ID appearing on it. She stepped on the brake, took her phone, paused for a couple of seconds before answering it.

Min Yu's somewhat deep voice could be heard over the phone. "Are you sleeping?"

Huo Yao held her phone. She did not understand why he suddenly called her. Since it was impossible for him to recognize her at the racing track earlier, she suppressed her voice slightly and said, "Uh huh. I just went to bed. Do you have a signal now?"

Min Yu turned off the music in his car and acknowledged softly. He did not slow down and continued driving to the estate at a faster speed than usual.

Huo Yao rubbed the steering wheel with her left hand and asked. "Why did you call me at this hour?"

Min Yu raised his head and looked at the estate entrance up ahead. In the end, he simply said, "Nothing. Have an early night."

Huo Yao acknowledged him. "You too. Good night."

There was a cool look in Min Yu's eyes. He paused before he said, "Huo Yao."

Huo Yao's heart suddenly skipped a beat. She cleared her throat and said, "Uh huh."

A while later...

"Good night."

Min Yu's voice sounded particularly gentle. It felt as though there was some kind of magic coming from it. Huo Yao's ears could not help feeling warm upon hearing him.

She hurriedly took her phone from her ear and hung up.

Since the air felt stifled in the car, Huo Yao opened the window to let some cold night wind into the car. The inexplicable sensation coursing through her gradually calmed down.

She started the engine again.

Chapter 1063: Utterly Awkward

Huo Yao's car arrived at the estate ten minutes later.

Before Huo Yao got to her entrance, she could see a black car in the distance. When she saw the man standing outside, she raised her hand and pressed her forehead.

Things were going to be so awkward now.

Min Yu had already turned to look in her direction when she drove over. Even though there was some distance between them, he could see the driver since there was some light.

She had claimed to be asleep just ten minutes earlier but showed up outside now. Min Yu leaned against the car door lazily with an ambiguous smile on his face.

Huo Yao straightened her hair before gradually driving the car towards the villa entrance.

She killed the engine but did not get off for some time.

Min Yu leaned against his car with his hands in his pockets. He kept looking at Huo Yao through the car window without moving.

It was nearly 11:00 pm. The sky was very dark and the lamps in the estate were some distance away from each other. After she turned off the engine, it went dark inside the car.

Huo Yao could detect him looking at her intently. She touched her nose before finally getting out of the car and walking over unhurriedly. She stopped in front of Min Yu and asked calmly. "You're back?"

Min Yu raised his brow. "Sleeping?"

Huo Yao finally cleared her throat and said, "It's my elder's birthday, so I went out with him."

Min Yu nodded before he sighed gently. "From the looks of it, I didn't stand here for nothing."

After calling her, he had planned on going straight home, but he inexplicably ended up parking here.

Perhaps he had a hunch.

Huo Yao finally noticed his clothes were different from his usual ones and he was clearly exhausted. She paused before she said, "Have an early night. We can talk tomorrow."

Min Yu looked at her quietly. He acknowledged her softly but did not move. The cold wind gusted in the air and a few small drops of rain fell on his face. The rain felt cold.

Min Yu gazed at the sky. He straightened himself and finally reached his hand out from his pockets. He gently pulled up the hoodie on Huo Yao's sweater and covered her head with it to block the rain.

Huo Yao was stunned. Her eyes were beautiful and her face looked increasingly petite and exquisite under the hood.

Min Yu's eyes turned dark. His fingers stopped on the edge of the hood. In an instant, he held her by the back of her head and kissed her neck gently.

After some time, he finally let go of her. The rain was starting to get heavier, so he straightened her hoodie again. "Go on in."

Huo Yao glanced at him. The emotions in her eyes gradually subsided. She nodded. "Good night."

She turned around, opened the door, and drove the car into the villa.

Min Yu disregarded the rain falling on him. After she had gone in, he turned and got into the car. He was in a good mood as he drove back to his villa.

The next day at the Apothecaries' Association.

Chairman Wang's assistant went over to the Chinese herb storehouse to collect the material on Huo Yao's list of Chinese herbs.

The deputy chairman and Pei Rong happened to be in the Chinese herb storehouse at the time.

Assistant Wang greeted them politely.

The deputy chairman glanced at the list Assistant Wang had just handed the storeman. He asked quizzically. "Hasn't the chairman stopped refining pills for a long time?"

Assistant Wang wanted to say the herbs were not for Chairman Wang, but he suddenly recalled the new honorary deputy chairman's request to keep a low profile and said, "That's right. Maybe he is busy researching a new prescription."

The deputy director tapped his fingers on the table. "An ancient prescription?"

Everyone in the association knew about Wang's keen interest in ancient prescriptions.

Chapter 1064: A Familiar Prescription

Assistant Wang shook his head and denied. "Nope. It's just a regular prescription."

Ancient prescriptions were very hard to refine. Moreover, no one had heard of the new honorary deputy chairman before.

The deputy chairman narrowed his eyes and did not keep probing.

Before long, the storeman was done preparing the herbs. Assistant Wang took the herbs and left the Chinese herb storehouse.

After he had left, the deputy chairman asked the storeman about Assistant Wang's herbs.

The storeman told him about the list before going back to work.

Pei Rong was standing beside the deputy chairman. When he heard the storeman mention a few special herbs in the list, he could not help finding them familiar.

For a moment, he was unable to recall anyone using those herbs.

Pei Rong looked at the deputy chairman and pondered for a couple of seconds before he said, "Deputy Chairman, most of the herbs aid in recovery. It doesn't sound like it is intended for an ancient prescription."

The deputy director was in his fifties. He had medical knowledge and took good care of himself, so he only looked like he was in his forties. He nodded "Uh huh. None of them seem unusual."

Even if any of the herbs could achieve unusual effects, it was impossible to achieve the same effect only with the prescription without the exact same steps.

Pei Rong stopped taking the medication to heart upon hearing this. He glanced at the storeman as he continued preparing the herbs and said, "Oh yes. Deputy Chairman, have you had the chance to look at the book which I passed onto you previously?"

The moment the deputy chairman heard this, he quickly took interest. "The book contains a lot of interesting prescriptions. They are probably ancient prescriptions."

The deputy chairman paused before he continued. "Perhaps I haven't read it well enough, so I keep feeling that I am missing something."

Pei Rong pondered and said, "The book was passed down in my family for generations, so it is probably very old. I am sure it is not easy to grasp its contents."

"That's true. I will go over it again. That is if you don't mind letting me have it longer," said the deputy chairman.

Pei Rong smiled. "Help yourself. You can keep it for as long as you need."

The deputy chairman nodded. He liked people like Pei Rong who deferred to authority.

Before long, the storeman came back with the herbs. Since the deputy chairman was busy, he left first.

After he left, Pei Rong finally recalled why he found the prescription so familiar. Not long ago, Lin Shuwen had come over asking him for help purchasing some Chinese herbs. Weren't they exactly the same?

Pei Rong was briefly puzzled, but he did not ponder over it deeply and simply decided that it was a coincidence.

After all, many illnesses were similar in nature, so it was normal for prescriptions to be similar.

Assistant Wang sent Huo Yao a text message asking where he should send the Chinese herbs. Huo Yao was in the school laboratory when she received the message. Since Min Yu just texted her asking her when school was over, she contemplated before deciding to call Min Yu.

Min Yu acknowledged before hanging up the phone.

Min Jian was sitting across Min Yu with a cigarette between his fingers. The moment he heard his nephew's tone, he could not help trembling in disgust. He seriously suspected that his nephew was two-faced.

Min Yu raised his brow and glanced at Director Min coldly. He picked up the cup of tea beside him and took a sip. His phone chimed when a text message notification came in. Huo Yao had just sent him Assistant Wang's phone number.

He glanced at the time and gave Zhuo Yun a call informing him to collect the stuff now.

After giving his orders, he raised his head to look at Director Min and said nonchalantly, "Uncle Jian, what were you saying about helping you?"

Chapter 1065: No Surveillance Footage

Min Jian repeated what he had been trying to tell him before he was interrupted by the call. "Help me train some people."

Min Yu spun his phone nonchalantly and said mildly, "Oh, I'm busy. I can't."

Min Jian went speechless.

He always had time for his girl, but not for his biological uncle.

How could he have such double standards?

Min Yu automatically disregarded the look on his uncle's face. He checked the time and stood up. "I will let you get back to work. I have to go."

Min Jian watched as his nephew left. He looked at Min Yu's retreating back speechlessly with his face black.

He would never admit to having such a nephew.

Shortly after Min Yu had left the office, he encountered people from the law enforcement department. When the law enforcement captain saw him, he automatically paused. Just as he was about to greet Min Yu, the latter had already walked past him without so much as looking at him.

The law enforcement captain's face turned stiff before quickly going back to normal.

Team Leader Liao was following behind the law enforcement captain. He clenched his fists tightly as they hung from the sides of his body. After Min Yu had left, he raised his head. "He is simply too arrogant."

The law enforcement captain glanced at Team Leader Liao sideways. "Have you learned nothing?"

Team Leader Liao gritted his teeth and did not dare to answer.

The law enforcement captain shook his head and said profoundly, "Certain things cannot be rushed. Patience."

The moment he finished his sentence, he knocked on Director Min's office door.

Team Leader Liao inhaled deeply and swallowed his anger. The law enforcement captain was right. Certain things took time. One day, he would seek revenge on them.

Yang Yi went downstairs and brought the car over. After Min Yu got into the car, he glanced into the rearview mirror and asked. "Why did Director Min want to see you?"

Min Yu leaned into the seat with a cold look on his face. "To help with training."

Yang Yi nodded. "In that case, I will make arrangements."

"Mhm," replied Min Yu gently.

Yang Yi scratched his head before he said, "Oh yes. I have sent you the footage of the race last night. Something weird happened."

Min Yu looked up without checking it out on his phone right away. "Weird?"

"I asked Zhou Yixun about that racer. He said that he had encountered her in the training facility next door and noticed how good she was. I investigated this. But, all the data from the training facility came up blank. Even the surveillance footage is missing," said Yang Yi as he frowned.

It was no ordinary race. Considering that Cruise had lost the gun manufacturing material, he was bound to throw a fit in the near future. He might not dare to publicly stand against the Min family, but the same could not be said for the female racer from last night.

Yang Yi did not want an innocent woman to die. He wanted to make arrangements and send some men to secretly protect her, but he was unexpectedly unable to even locate her.

The surveillance footage from the professional racecourse had remained intact. Otherwise, it would seem as though the female racer had appeared out of nowhere.

Min Yu narrowed his eyes slightly. "Perhaps she doesn't want us to find her."

Yang Yi nodded. "Probably. I asked the racecourse employees. Someone genuinely booked the training facility last night without leaving any information."

"Then don't bother finding her," said Min Yu mildly.

“Uh huh. If we give the surveillance footage to Miss Huo, she can probably recover the file,” added Yang Yi.

Yang Yi could not help feeling defeated upon mentioning the missing surveillance footage. Was everyone capable of hacking these days? Why did this keep happening to him?

Miss Huo was an extraordinary hacker and he had come to terms with it. Now, he had encountered surveillance footage that he had trouble recovering again. This was simply...

Sigh...

He could not help feeling upset.

Chapter 1066: What Deputy Chairman?

Min Yu glanced sideways and said, “Why do you keep running to her for help?”

Yang Yi shrank his neck. He acknowledged softly without harping on the subject.

Zhuo Yun had contacted Assistant Wang and made arrangements to meet him.

Assistant Wang was already there when Zhuo Yun got there.

“Miss Huo asked for this.” Assistant Wang handed the box to Zhuo Yun.

Assistant Wang thought he would have the opportunity to see the famous honorary deputy chairman in person today. Unfortunately, she was busy and could not be here in person, so he felt a little disappointed. When he saw Zhuo Yun, he was caught by surprise.

The man looked refined on the surface, but Assistant Wang quickly detected his unusual aura and realized he was no ordinary man.

Assistant Wang was starting to get curious. Who was this new honorary deputy chairman?

Zhuo Yun took the box from Assistant Wang and thanked him.

“Oh yes. Miss Huo’s ID card isn’t ready yet. Please tell her it will be sent to her when it is ready,” said Assistant Wang courteously.

Although Zhuo Yun had gone to the Apothecaries’ Association a couple of times with his boss, he had never seen Assistant Wang before. Now that Assistant Wang brought up Huo Yao’s ID card, he could not help feeling curious. He asked. “What ID card?”

“The ID card for the deputy chairman,” answered Assistant Wang.

The deputy chairman?

From the sound of it, it sounded like a high-ranking post in the association. Zhuo Yun was instantly puzzled. He rubbed the box in his hands as he pondered. Finally, he could not resist asking again. “What kind of deputy chairman?”

Assistant Wang was stunned. He did not expect Zhuo Yun to be unaware of Huo Yao's new status. He went quiet before he smiled and replied. "You will have to ask Miss Huo. I am not in the position to divulge this."

Although Zhuo Yun was terribly curious, he did not keep probing since Assistant Wang had put it this way. He simply nodded. "Okay. I will let her know."

"Thanks." Assistant Wang nodded.

Zhuo Yun waved his hand. Before long, he took the things and got into the car parked by the roadside.

Assistant Wang watched as his car left before taking out his phone to send Huo Yao a text message, in which he explained the situation.

Meanwhile, at the campus.

Huo Yao had just gone to the bathroom and was returning to the laboratory. When she got to the entrance, she did not enter right away.

Wang Jing's lips twitched on seeing this. She said, "Mr. Yuan is gone."

Huo Yao was so strange. Every time Yuan Huan was at the laboratory, she would keep hiding in the bathroom until he left.

"I see." Huo Yao touched her nose. She stood outside briefly before walking inside.

Wang Jing slid her chair over beside Huo Yao. She looked at Huo Yao firmly before asking softly. "You don't seem to like Mr. Yuan."

Huo Yao raised her brow. "It's not that I don't like him. I just don't like the smell of medical solution on him."

"Medical solution? What smell?" Wang Jing was puzzled. She recalled the faint smell of Mr. Yuan. "Isn't that perfume?"

It did not seem to smell bad to her.

Huo Yao shrugged without harping on the subject. "Maybe."

Wang Jing automatically wanted to pay attention to his scent the next time he came.

Huo Yao turned on the computer once more and continued with her calculations.

Since she had spent a lot of time in the bathroom, she instinctively worked more quickly, so the numbers on her screen were jumping very rapidly.

Wang Jing had just gone back to her table when she witnessed this. She was dumbfounded.

In the past, Huo Yao worked at a turtle's pace and seemed unfamiliar with the computer. Why was she completely different at this moment?

Huo Yao saved her work on the computer and left the laboratory shortly after 5:00 pm.

Min Yu had already driven over and was waiting for her by the roadside at the school entrance.

After she got into the car, Min Yu started the engine and asked. "Are you going to the hospital or home?"

Huo Yao raised her brow. She looked sideways at Min Yu and could not help but feel that he knew her recent activities well. "The hospital."

Min Yu nodded. He was dressed in a dark coat and a sweater in the same shade without folding down the collar, so his neck was completely covered. He gave off a cool aura as he drove with his hands on the steering wheel.

Huo Yao sat in the car with her elbow leaning against the window and her hand against her face as she looked at the driver lazily.

He was certainly a timeless beauty. She felt she could never get tired of looking at him.

Huo Yao rubbed her face gently without moving her eyes.

Min Yu looked up at Huo Yao when he detected her gaze. The instant their eye contact, there was chemistry in the air.

Min Yu wanted to be close to her, so he suddenly reached his hand out and held Huo Yao's hand which she had placed it on her knee casually. He pried her fingers aside and squeezed his fingers through the gaps and clasped it tightly with their fingers intertwined.

Huo Yao stiffened her hand, but he held it even more tightly.

"Does this mean I am your official boyfriend now?" asked Min Yu moments later.

His voice was deep and sounded particularly sexy. Huo Yao did not pull her hand out and simply said, "Well, I'm not sure. You will have to ask my brothers."

Min Yu instantly felt annoyed and was speechless.

Ask them?

They would definitely say no.

Huo Yao looked out of the window without saying a word and a smile appeared on her face briefly.

Before long, the car arrived at the hospital parking lot.

Min Yu finally let go of her hand. He got out of the car, opened the trunk, and retrieved two boxes of gifts. Huo Yao had wanted to tell him to wait downstairs. The moment she saw this, she felt a headache coming on.

She looked at Min Yu. "You are certainly well prepared."

Min Yu walked up beside her and held her palm with his free hand and walked into the hospital. "Uh huh. After all, we are here to see Brother Tingrui."

Huo Yao's lips twitched.

Before long, the two of them arrived on the fifth floor. Min Yu let go of her hand and put on a slightly more serious look.

Huo Yao glanced at him and raised her brow before entering the hospital ward.

Huo Tingrui was passing time playing with his phone. The moment he caught sight of his little sister, he beamed brightly. "Yao, you're here. What are you doing here?"

The smile on his face disappeared the moment he saw Min Yu. His face turned stiff and his tone changed completely.

Min Yu came closer and placed the gifts he had prepared on the table. He looked at Huo Tingrui and said courteously, "Hi, Brother Tingrui."

Huo Tingrui was dumbstruck.

Who the hell was Min Yu's brother? e

He was nothing but trouble!

Huo Yao pulled up a chair for Min Yu before placing another one beside the bed. "Hand.

Huo Tingrui gave her his hand as he looked at Min Yu coldly and said, "I go by Mr. Huo."e

He was not friends with Min Yu at all.

Min Yu nodded and sat down. "Sure, Brother Tingrui."

Huo Tingrui was dumbstruck.

Huo Yao lowered her eyes and cleared her throat. After taking his pulse, she removed her hand.

The gauze on Huo Tingrui's head had already been removed. There was just some simple dressing on the injury on his forehead. He seemed quite energetic.

"You can probably get discharged in a couple of days," said Huo Yao and nodded.

Huo Tingrui glared at Min Yu before looking at his little sister. He had a feeling that she was feeling upset about the hospital bill again, so he said, "But I still feel a little unwell."

Huo Yao shook her leg gently and turned her head to look sideways at him. "Hmm? Unwell? What do you mean?"

"My chest, my head. I feel unwell everywhere!" Huo Tingrui adjusted his spectacles.

What he really meant was that the sight of Min Yu made him unwell. He recalled what a poser Min Yu was and felt that his little sister might pummel him the moment he mentioned this.

"Fine." Huo Yao smiled ambiguously and retrieved a long silver needle from nowhere. "Shall I perform some acupuncture on you?"

Sometimes, people kept trying to test her patience.

Huo Tingrui looked appalled the moment he saw the long slender silver needle. Sure enough, his sister was heartless.

Min Yu cleared his throat.

Huo Tingrui felt even more annoyed when he was reminded of Min Yu's presence.

Before long, the doctor in charge of Huo Tingrui came over to the hospital ward.

He had taken Huo Tingrui's blood to re-test it. The test results showed that there were changes in some trace elements in his system, so he called Huo Yao out before stepping out himself.

Huo Yao glanced at Min Yu and quickly left with the doctor.

In an instant, only Huo Tingrui and Min Yu were in the room.

The instant the door closed, Huo Tingrui stopped trying to smile. He looked at Min Yu expressionlessly. "Stay away from my little sister."

He did not like this man. Min Yu had a lot of tricks up his sleeve and he had fallen for them several times as it was.

Although his little sister was equally cunning, she probably could not outsmart the man.

Min Yu sat upright as he looked at Huo Tingrui and said mildly, "That is going to be hard. In fact, it is impossible."

Huo Tingrui was dumbstruck.

Huo Tingrui inhaled deeply. He decided to change tactics. "I have to say you are not suitable for each other."

"In what way?" Min Yu raised his brow lazily.

"You are too old. My little sister doesn't like old guys," sneered Huo Tingrui with a look of disdain.

"There was a five year age difference between them, but even a two year difference was considered to be huge!

Min Yu's cool face froze for a moment.

Huo Tingrui smiled and said, "Moreover, I am the nicest one among all her brothers."

If even the nicest one was against them dating, what would the others think?

Min Yu instantly caught his drift and went quiet.

The room instantly fell into silence.

The doctor handed Huo Yao the blood test report outside the room. "The trace elements appearing in Mr. Huo's system seem a little strange. I suggest getting further testing done at First People's Hospital."

Huo Yao took the report from him. She glanced at it briefly before she nodded and said, "Thanks."

The doctor was just trying to show responsibility towards his patients. "You are welcome. I am just suggesting this to be safe. First People's Hospital has a new kind of apparatus, so it is better at testing unusual trace elements."

"Got it." Huo Yao thanked the doctor again.

The doctor smiled before he left.

Huo Yao narrowed her eyes. She casually rolled the report into a ball of paper and placed it into her pocket before going back to the hospital ward.

'When she got into the room, she could sense something different about the atmosphere inside. Her stupid second older brother was holding his chin up high while Min Yu looked completely the same.

Huo Yao kept looking at them as she pondered over it..

She walked out of the lift when the door opened, but someone happened to walk in and nearly ran into her.

Min Yu pulled her over. He glanced at the person who had entered the lift. The person automatically trembled when he caught Min Yu looking at him. He swiftly went back and gave way to them.

Min Yu placed his hand inside her pocket and pulled her hand. His hands felt slightly cool. Huo Yao snapped out of her thoughts. She raised her head and glanced at Min Yu.

Min Yu said nothing and simply walked out of the lift holding her hand.

The two of them walked to the parking lot side by side. Min Yu was opening the car door when he suddenly let go. He held Huo Yao by the waist and pulled her in slightly towards his chest. He looked at her deeply and paused for a few seconds before he asked. "Am I very old?"

Huo Yao looked at him in surprise. "Huh?"

Was he having one of his mood swings again?

Min Yu caught the puzzled look in Huo Yao's eyes. He sighed inwardly before letting go of her arm and pulling open the door behind him. "Nothing."

"Okay." Huo Yao touched her nose. Then, she got into the car, hurriedly put the seatbelt on, and closed the door herself.

Min Yu stayed quiet.

Min Yu shook his head and laughed uncontrollably. He walked around the car, sat in the driver's seat and drove out of the hospital before long.

'The car arrived at the estate 20 minutes later. Min Yu glanced into the rearview mirror before taking her to his place.

'When the car pulled up in the garage, Huo Yao opened her eyes sleepily and looked out of the car window only to find it was not her house.

"Your things are at my place." Min Yu's voice came from beside her as he undid his seatbelt and got off the car.

Huo Yao finally recalled the Chinese herbs from the Apothecaries' Association. She paused before getting out of the car.

Zhuo Yun had already been waiting there for over ten minutes. The moment he saw Min Yu and Huo Yao, he nodded. "Hi, Yu, Miss Huo."

Huo Yao had not seen Zhuo Yun for some time. She nodded. "Have you been busy?"

Zhuo Yun felt flattered when she asked and glanced at his boss smugly. His boss did not react, so he hurriedly replied. "Yes... a little."

"Go in first. It's cold outside," said Min Yu as he walked into the house holding Huo Yao's hand.

Zhuo Yun noticed how natural Min Yu looked holding her hand and his eyes opened wide. He was sent to go mining after saying that they were not officially dating yet. During this time, they had suddenly become an item.

Zhuo Yun rubbed his eyes in disbelief.

'When he blurted they were not officially dating yet, he got himself in trouble.

Zhuo Yun entered the villa holding the box. After changing his shoes, he saw Min Yu going to the kitchen. Huo Yao had already gone to the living room to watch television.

Everything was completely uncontrived and they seemed very accustomed to such interactions.

Zhuo Yun suddenly lowered his eyes and looked at his badly calloused hands. He really had the urge to slap his mouth.

Served him right for being nosy.

Zhuo Yun pondered for a couple of seconds before entering the living room. He placed the box on the coffee table. "Miss Huo, here are your things."

Huo Yao thanked him.

"Oh yes. He said your ID isn't ready. Once it is, he will have it sent over." Zhuo Yun passed on the message from Assistant Wang...

"Uh huh. Got it." Huo Yao did not take it to heart.

The ID was not important to her.

She opened the box and glanced at the Chinese herbs to check that everything was there before closing the lid.

From the moment Zhuo Yun had taken the box, he did not touch it. Now that Huo Yao had opened it, he realized it was filled with Chinese herbs.

He raised his head and glanced at Huo Yao. He recalled Assistant Wang mentioning a deputy chairman. He promptly muttered in his heart. Was he talking about the Apothecaries' Association?

Zhuo Yun pondered briefly before he asked. "Miss Huo, have you been to the Apothecaries' Association?"

Huo Yao placed the box on the coffee table and shook her head. "Nope."

Zhuo Yun did not continue probing. If Miss Huo had become the Apothecaries' Association's Deputy chairman, it was impossible for him not to know. After all, the association was highly revered in the capital.

It was unlikely for him not to get wind of this already.

Zhuo Yun raised his head and saw his boss working in the kitchen and said, "Now that I am done delivering this, I'm leaving."

Gooseberries were fragile, so he did not want to get beaten up by Min Yu.

Zhuo Yun quickly took off.

Huo Yao went to the bathroom after dinner. When she came back, she checked the time and wanted to take her things and go home.

Min Yu was sitting on the couch and looking at something on his phone. Huo Yao walked over and was about to tell him she was leaving when she heard a sound coming from his phone. Her temples throbbed promptly.

Min Yu had finally found the time to look at the surveillance footage sent by Yang Yi. The moment he saw the red car going past the first bend, he was slightly intrigued.

This driving resembled someone he knew.

Huo Yao could not bear listening to the video, so she cleared her throat. She quickly collected her box from the coffee table, and said particularly calmly, "I am going back."

If she did not leave now, she would blow her cover.

o/s Yo

Min Yu pressed pause and looked at Huo Yao before standing up. "Okay. Let me send you."

Huo Yao smiled guiltily and waved her hand. "Huh? It's fine. Keep watching. I can go back on my own."

Min Yu glanced at her. He could tell that something was off about her. He put the phone down and took his coat from the side. "Let's go."

Huo Yao glanced at the phone on the coffee table. She pondered if she should hack his phone.

After taking a couple of steps, Min Yu noticed Huo Yao did not keep up, so he turned. "Huo Yao?"

Huo Yao gathered her thoughts. There was nothing unusual on her face. She followed quickly behind him. "Let's go."

Min Yu raised his brow.

Min Yu went back home after sending Huo Yao back. He sat on the couch, raised his head, and rubbed his brow. Before long, he straightened himself and picked up his phone. He tapped on the surveillance footage and continued watching it.

Min Yu quickly finished watching the video of the first race. He narrowed his eyes and tapped on the one for the second one.

'When he saw the 360 degree turn, he was certain that it was Liu Yu who had disappeared for two years.

Min Yu rubbed the phone screen as he contemplated. He tapped on the footage and blew up the image. Unfortunately, the drones suffered from certain filming constraints. Also, that woman was wearing a helmet, so it was impossible to see her face at all.

He tried looking at it from a few other angles, but it was useless.

Min Yu thought about some things from the past before he called Yang Yi.

Before long, the call got through.

"Give me all the racecourse surveillance footage," said Min Yu somewhat deeply as he leaned against the couch.
