Chapter 1121

Almost everyone was discussing the God of War's victory in North Hampton.

Even Zoey and Emma were gossiping about it.

They would never have thought that this battle to have taken place where they lived.

"I wonder what kind of person the God of War is. Is he a good husband? A good son? A good father?" Zoey chuckled.

Levi immediately answered, "Of course he is."

In the beginning, Zoey had found out about his identity.

Yet, Damien appeared.

The next few days, everything returned to normal.

Forces from all over the world were now silent.

They had paid a tremendous price for their last attack by having their army wiped out.

Moreover, none of the hundred elite fighters of the Saga Leaderboard came back alive.

"He's too powerful. Even when we know his weakness, we can't do anything about it."

Levi's prowess instilled despair in others.

Zoey's firm stance delighted Levi.

She's standing on my side.

"Alright, that settles it then. My child can only be a Garrison. I won't let anyone change my child's last name."

Levi cast an icy gaze at the others.

"Levi, it's not as if you have a choice. Besides, your bet with the Garrison clan will be soon. You don't even know if you'll survive it, so why should you care about your child's last name?"

"We're changing the baby's last name for their sake!"

They were uncompromising.

"Zoey, pack up. We're going overseas. Logan has made all the necessary arrangements," Caitlyn urged.

To make sure Zoey would give birth to the child safely, they would bring her out of the country.

"No. I won't let Zoey leave the country. My mother and I can take good care of her."

Levi was resolute.

For starters, he wanted the child to be born in Erudia.

Worry was written all over Zoey's face. What is Levi going to do next?

How will he go up against the Garrison clan?

A year had almost gone by, but Levi had done nothing in preparation.

Instead, it seemed like Morris Group's situation was worsening.

Staring at Levi, Meredith and Robert inquired, "When it's time for the day of the bet, you won't escape, will you?"

"That sounds possible. You might ditch your wife and child. You look like that kind of person to me!" Harry added.

Levi smiled. "How is that possible?"

He said before that he would protect Zoey for the rest of his life.

He was unmoved, even when he saw the most beautiful woman in Oakland City.

AS such, it was simply impossible for him to abandon Zoey.

"All right. We'll see whether you'll resolve the matter or try to run away when the time comes," the few people sneered.

"Damien, you'll come with me. I'll let you meet with the God of War so that you'll be motivated. You'll benefit from this in the long run."

"I have high hopes for you. Even though you're not as good as the God of War, you're still better than everyone else when he's excluded," Tyrone reassured.

"All right, Father."

Passion burned in Damien's eyes.

All this while, the God of War had been his aim.

He collected every information about the God of War and analyzed everything about the man.

In other words, he was a fanatic of the God of War.

In his eyes, the God of War was like a hurdle that he had to cross in order for him to achieve greatness.

Therefore, when he heard he would be able to get a glimpse of the God of War, Damien was beyond ecstatic.

He was sure that he would be even more motivated after meeting him.

He looked forward to the meeting.

In the afternoon, the father and son duo headed to North Hampton.

This time, Tyrone did not hide the news of his journey. Instead, he traveled like the head of the top ancient family in Erudia that he was.

At that moment, the entire place fell silent.

Everyone gasped.

The color drained from Zoey and Emma's faces.

Levi had not done any preparations in the past six months.

It's impossible for him to win the challenge.

They could only pray that Tyrone would forget about this matter.

However, it seemed like not only did Tyrone remember it, but he even came to check up on him.

We're doomed.

I guess the saying was true, that those targeted by the Garrison clan would not have any good ending.

Levi looked at Tyrone calmly and smiled. "You don't need to worry about that. I can still deal with a small fry like the Garrison clan. This is just a trivial matter; it's incomparable to the birth of my child."

Tyrone, Damien, Meredith, Robert, and the others shared similar beliefs that Levi will take the cowardly route at the very last minute.

In their minds, they were sure that he was going to abandon his family when the time came.

Back then, he was able to get through many obstacles due to great timing and luck.

However, this time, his opponent is Erudia's top ancient family.

Even the secret that Emma has was useless.

"Father, I'm quite sure Levi will run away. He must have thought that everything was fine, so he must be surprised that you've come to monitor him," Damien chortled.

He, too, felt that Levi would escape.

"We'll see."

"Let's go. We're meeting with the God of War next."

With that, Tyrone left with Damien.

Caitlyn and Aaron glared at Levi. "I'm warning you. You'd better not leave Zoey and your baby behind."

"That's right. Even if death awaits you, you have to face it yourself. You can't leave this mess behind for Zoey," they ordered.

"That's great!" Damien was enraptured.

He was finally going to meet his idol, the God of War.

This would definitely help him a lot in the future.

On the flipside, Tyrone was as calm as the sea.

In his mind, it was only natural that the God of War would come and personally meet someone of his status.

Everyone else is negligible!

I'm the only one that matters!

"Mr. Garrison, please give me a moment! I'll bring you to meet the God of War shortly!" Percy assured.

"Thank you, Commander-in-Chief Covington." Damien politely replied.

The duo waited patiently in the room.

"We're finally able to find out which bloodline of the Garrison family does the God of War belong to."
Tyrone was filled with excitement.

In any case, he was determined to recruit the God of War into the Garrison clan.

This way, the status of Garrison clan as Erudia's most powerful ancient family would be fortified.

Levi stood up straight and saluted.

He gazed at the two Dragonites, “What’s the order?”

“The God of War is to lead your warriors, including the Five Great Wars Regiment, Calvary Regiment, Specter Army, Beasts, and Dragon Legion, and head to North Base One! This order is extremely urgent and requires immediate action. Any form of disobedience will entail military punishment!” the Dragonites enunciated the order clearly.

The Dragonites had issued an irrevocable order.

Levi retrieved the order and glanced through it. As expected, it was an order of the highest level.

Even someone of his status must comply with the order.

“What happened?” Levi asked calmly.

“God of War, do you remember the Blood King Palace?” the Dragonites asked.

“Of course. I eradicated them three years ago! They are a formidable force to be reckoned with. I wouldn’t be exaggerating if I say that the threat of the Blood King Palace is even greater than a whole country!” Levi replied.

The order from Erudia was to be prioritized immediately.

Levi had no time to dilly dally.

After he gave the order, the Five Great Wars Regiment and the others grouped up within a short period of time.

“We head out, now!” Levi ordered without hesitation.

“God of War, please wait a moment!” Azure Dragon said.

The others also had a hesitant look on their faces.

“Speak!” Levi impatiently demanded.

“God of War, what about Ms. Lopez? She’s about to go into labor soon. This is clearly the enemy’s scheme to lure you away so that they would have the chance to capture them!” Azure calmly postulated.

“He’s right! At the very least, please allow some of us to stay here and protect Ms. Lopez.” White Tiger proposed.

Although White Tiger loved to battle, Zoey’s safety was his primary concern.

Levi shook his head, “That’s not possible. The order was clear that all of us must head north! No one gets to stay behind.”

“But what about Ms. Lopez? What about your child? Don’t you want to witness the birth of your child?”

According to them, Levi was scared away by the Garrison clan.

For the sake of survival, Levi abandoned his family and escaped.

The silence was deafening.

Everyone's facial expression was icy cold.

Especially Azure Dragon and the few men that sat beside Levi, their frustration was evident.

The sudden order caught everyone off guard.

Levi didn't even have time to make arrangements for Zoey and the others.

However, they dared not question further about Levi's command.

Everyone understood that Levi's only goal now was to eradicate the Blood King Palace.

Nonetheless, Azure Dragon was concerned about the safety of Zoey and others.

At the hall, Tyrone and Damien were still waiting.

As they heard some commotion outside, the duo walked out to have a look.

What greeted their sights were fleets of armored vehicles leaving swiftly.
