

Pinnacle 1201

Chapter 1201

Levi had a really long dream.

It was as if he had relived all twenty over years of his life in his dream.

Things were starting to get blurry as he was about to die, but he couldn't afford to just yet.

Zoey... My family and friends... Erudia... C'mon! Wake up! I have to live on! I can't just die like this! I still haven't found out who Mr. Finch is!

"Dad..."

Levi heard a faint voice shouting in his ear.

He slowly opened his eyes and saw a chubby little face next to his.

"Dad's awake!" Forlevia shouted.

"Evie..."

Levi wanted to hug Forlevia, but realized he couldn't move his body.

trying his hardest, all he could

Levi was dumbstruck.

entire body had been paralyzed by the poison from corroded his muscle tissue, and severely

his continuous combat

this was a lot worse.

had regained consciousness,

a miracle! This is definitely going down in history as one of the most miraculous events in under such circumstances!

played a

so Winsor fired him on the spot and imposed tons of

worked with Benny to treat Levi

Quinton, how is my husband doing?"

at

Quinton. I

you're right... The God of War has become completely paralyzed and will be bedridden for the rest of his life. He can't even be sat on a wheelchair, and will need someone to take care of his basic disabled. The God of War will no longer be able to

Chapter 1202

2-2 minutes

---

That incident became the biggest joke of the century as well as the disgrace of Erudia.

The God of War feared by every country had now been reduced to a bedridden cripple who couldn't even use a wheelchair.

Although it was a much greater form of humiliation than death, Levi being alive still posed a threat to some.

Levi had caused a huge scene after killing off hundreds of elites in his final battle, so assassinating him in Erudia would be impossible.

Winsor and the Dragonites were on high alert after the individuals and organizations exposed themselves during their attempt at assassinating Levi.

Ironically, Levi was actually safest now that he was crippled as the assassins would not risk exposing themselves again.

Of course, that was if he remained in Erudia.

Fredrick called out to Levi after having everyone else leave the room, "God of War..."

Levi cut him off, "I've already given up that position, so don't call me that anymore."

God of War to me and all of your men! Boss, you don't actually have to give up your position. You could just tell everyone about you being poisoned! I'm sure know about Levi being poisoned, and that he's only in this state because of it. Had he told them about his condition sooner, he could've kept his position as God of War and save himself

Besides, I'm tired of being the God of War. I want to spend some time was taking

let out a huge

undefeatable God of War would someday

plans for their return to North Hampton as that was

return to his family

relief when they

family is

least, Levi wouldn't suddenly go missing again like he did him in his arms while Zoey and Emma were cooking in was a heartwarming sight to
as he experienced a feeling of relaxation

Chapter 1203

2-2 minutes

---

Logan burst out in laughter. "See? This poor b*stard can't even move a muscle! Even a dog would be a lot more useful than him!"

Jennie laughed as well. "Yeah! At least a dog would be able to watch the door or something! What can he do?"

Forlevia cried when she heard all the nasty things they said about her dad. "Don't you bully my dad!" She shouted while standing in front of Levi with her arms outstretched.

Emma was crying too.

I can't believe this is happening to my son... None of these people would dare say any of that if he were still fit and healthy...

Levi frowned and kept his eyes shut as he lay on the bed.

"That's enough!" Zoey shouted.

"Don't you dare talk about my husband like that! He is and always will be my hero, regardless of his physical condition! Evie and I will always take pride in his glory, even if it was only temporary!"

this is how they repay

no, Morris

"He's..."

identity, but changed her mind at the last about it won't do him any good. Heck, they'll probably just mock him even more it! He's lesser than a dog if you ask me!"

I have decided to look after Levi for to mother attends her school's parent-teacher conferences? Do you know how traumatic it will be for her? She'll forever be humiliated by her friends for having a

other kids have their fathers to take them out godfather would also have to endure the ridicule and others lashed head. "No! I wanna be with Dad, and no one's gonna lost your mind like these two have. Look at the state your son is in! Do you really want to ruin Zoey's

Chapter 1204

2-2 minutes

---

Boom!

There was a sudden burst of energy in the room which sent a chill down everyone's spine.

All eyes were on Levi.

It's Levi... He's mad... I can't believe he's still capable of instilling fear in his current state...

"What are you doing?" Logan asked with a shudder.

"I'm gonna knock the teeth out of that big mouth of yours!" Levi shouted furiously.

However, despite struggling with all his might, he found himself unable to move a muscle.

"Get up, damn it!" Levi roared as he forced his body to its limits, only to roll off the bed and fall to the floor with a loud thud.

"Levi!" Zoey and Emma rushed over to his aid.

"Hahaha!"

how pathetic Levi looked as he was sprawled

that all you got? So much are you even going to protect your mother and child like this? I could hit them now, and you'd only

Logan laughed as gone too far!" Zoey

what's gonna happen in the future, Zoey. You're all fine now because we're family, but what if you are up against his enemies, huh? Do you think that cripple can protect you?

a point... What if it were someone else that came today? What could Levi possibly do to protect us in his current state? He'd only be able to lie there and watch us

Let's go!" Russell urged the angry crowd to and Emma, they didn't dare do anything as Zoey had

Zoey's

Emma and Zoey were in tears after carrying Levi back onto the could do about it... None of this would've happened if Levi wasn't poisoned and sure Dad will get better!" Forlevia said as she took a deep breath. "Evie is

Chapter 1205

2-2 minutes

---

"If even Benny couldn't treat him, I doubt anyone else can!" Ben sneered.

"Maybe prison is where he truly belongs!" Winnie said with a chuckle.

They were all so busy taunting Levi that none of them noticed the grin on his face.

"Don't worry, Levi, we're not here to hurt you. We just want to tell you that you should never push your luck, as you could fall from grace anytime! Your condition right now is a good example of that!"

"Yeah! Given that pathetic state you're in, even we can't bring ourselves to bully you right now!"

"He's right! There's no point in bullying someone who can't even fight back at all!"

"Hahahaha..."

With that, the members of the Garrison family laughed as they made their way out of the house.

showing up one after all former victims of Levi's wrath when he was in power, and had all come to mock him take it to heart, darling. These guys are just trying to pick a fight with you. With my godfather

Dale around, or Levi would've received

Bang!

dozens of men rushed into the room with Lucas taking this is what's left of the great Levi Garrison, huh? I never thought I'd live to see been holding a grudge against Levi ever since he had him castrated back then, but he was powerless

at revenge, he had been

Guess you can only watch helplessly as I

Clomp! Clomp! Clomp!

bodyguards stepped

I dare

stayed by Levi's

Chapter 1206

2-2 minutes

---

They turned around and saw a figure clad in a black hood that covered the face.

Levi chuckled at the sight of that.

He didn't expect that the person coming to his aid was his former enemy, Hades.

Hades was wounded once, and Levi had his men tend to his injuries. However, he disappeared after he was fully healed.

Bam! Bam! Bam!

Despite L Nation being a small country, Hades was still a formidable fighter and dispatched all of Lucas's men in less than a minute.

"Thank you so much..."

Zoey and the others thanked him profusely.

"I've always respected the strong, and the God of War is the one I respect the most! From now on, I will protect him with my life!" Hades said with a determined look on his face.

stared at him

out

must really suck for Levi! I mean, having to rely on Hades were a lot fewer troublemakers dropping by now that everyone knew Hades was had eliminated dozens of criminal organizations within just one week after being the new God

was doing so in order to establish his dominance

a violent person in nature, he was determined to prove effective, and even Tenichi found him of the picture, Winsor soon built up a solid reputation for himself who used to support Levi had gravitated towards Winsor as they only did they practically forget about Levi, but they were also criticizing of War was simply too conservative! That's why is! He took the initiative, and now our enemies are cowering in position sooner... Erudia would probably be several fault! Winsor is the

Chapter 1207

2-2 minutes

---

Zar glanced at Levi, and hesitated when he saw Zoey and the others.

"It's okay, they can hear whatever you have to say. What is it, Zar?" Levi said.

After everything that has happened, I'm sure Zoey should be able to handle anything that comes our way.

Zar had a stern look on his face as he spoke, "There are two reasons for my visit today, first being to retrieve the Paragon Seal of Honor which you should've handed over a long time ago."

Zar glared at Levi coldly.

Winsor may be the new God of War, but the Paragon Seal of Honor is still in Levi's possession. That seal is the symbol of the God of War, and only those who carry it are worthy of commanding the Iron Brigade!

Levi nodded. "No problem, I'll hand the seal over later. Now, what's the second reason?"

A huge wave of energy surged through Zar's body, filling the entire room with his murderous intent.

"Levi Garrison, do you admit to your crimes?" Zar shouted, frightening Zoey and the others with his sudden outburst.

What's going on here?

stare. "And what crimes would I

"Treason!" Zar yelled angrily.

"What? Treason?"

Sylas were such a thing! He would rather die than betray

"That's impossible..."

"Y-Yeah, that's definitely impossible..."

but Levi shushed them and signaled treason?" Levi looked at him

Palace completely five years killed off

how would you explain the sudden revival of the Blood King Palace

sharp gaze fixated on

“I...”

unable to come up with an explanation as even he didn’t know the answer to that returned, and they were

Chapter 1208

2-3 minutes

---

This is obviously a set-up! A conspiracy with the sole purpose of driving Levi out of Erudia so he would be vulnerable to assassinations!

Zoey smiled wryly at the thought of that.

“My husband is a magnanimous man who has dedicated his life to the protection of the country and its people, and yet this is how they repay his deeds? Destroying his reputation with a false accusation and banishing him from the very country he protected? What a joke! Hahahaha...”

Zoey burst out into a sad and bitter laughter.

So this is how it will end for the God of War, huh? How tragic...

Zar sneered. “How is it a false accusation if we have solid evidence to prove it? The Blood King Palace is the most powerful criminal organization in the world guilty of practically every heinous crime in history! Anyone caught working with them is to be executed, and Levi is no exception! You should be thankful that Winsor took pity in him and decided to only banish him instead!”

Winsor was actually aware of the dangers Levi would face if he left Erudia, but he didn’t find Levi worthy of his concern.

“I’m not here to seek your opinion on the matter, Levi. I’m simply here to inform you of the decision that’s been made! Now, where’s the seal?” Zar asked coldly.

“Give him the seal, Zoey.”

handed Zar the Paragon Seal of days to leave the country or I’ll conspiracy with the Blood King Palace, and the

at Levi for being the biggest traitor

of the people took matters into their own hands and found gathered outside the house and shouted

no room for

out of here,
of breaking down when she heard the angry mob going to just let them have their way? Is leaving Erudia really shook her head. "There's nothing else we can do is right. Given how determined they are to get rid of me, I'd say resistance is rather calm
just gonna leave,

Chapter 1209

2-2 minutes

---

All his enemies from overseas took great pleasure in hearing that, especially those who were dying to get their revenge on him.

Tenichi and a group of men were gathered on an island.

"Levi Garrison... You're finally being banished from Erudia, eh?" Tenichi smiled gleefully.

He was the one behind everything that had happened.

Levi remained a threat to all of his enemies overseas for as long as he was alive, and they wouldn't be able to rest until they got rid of him completely.

Winsor saw an opportunity when he discovered the "evidence" of Levi conspiring with the Blood King Palace, and he seized that opportunity immediately.

"Levi is going to leave Erudia tomorrow. We can make our move as soon as he steps out of the country's borders, and we wouldn't even have to be sneaky about it!" Tenichi sneered.

"You're right, sir! Mr. Finch will send us the route that Levi takes on his way out of the country soon!"

great help in getting rid broke into a preparations are complete! We must kill Levi as soon was truly dead was soon the next

get us over there once you've settled down, okay?" Zoey not to as she would arranged for someone to receive you upon arrival, so everything will

she helped Levi
over there with I'll be back soon! Take good care of Evie
"You're never coming back here, Levi!
spend the rest of our Zoey broke down in

Chapter 1210

3-3 minutes

---

It was a day of desolation and grief.

The time had finally come for Erudia's God of War to be exiled.

Levi smirked. "Tell Winsor Campbell to watch his back. He'd better work hard to fulfill his duties to Erudia. If he proves to be unworthy of that seal, I'll be back to pull him off his throne!"

Zar broke into laughter. "You? Of all people?"

"Look who's blabbering. Nothing more than a mere loser defeated in the hands of my Master, just like every other opponent... Just hurry up and get your ass out of here!"

Zar thought what he had just heard must have been the world's biggest joke ever.

You're barely even a worthy opponent for Master even in your prime.

How dare you even speak of bringing him down now that you're crippled?

That's just impossible!

Levi retained his smile. He signaled for the fleet to carry on.

"Hold it right there!"

A loud voice hollered from above. A few jets were descending from the sky in an enormous roar.

Those private jets were recognizable. Just as they landed in a piercing screech, all the airstairs were pulled out in a simultaneous beat. A handful of men descended onto the ground in swift but almost unison steps.

One of them was seated in a wheelchair pushed by another man.

It was none other than Tyrone Garrison.

A few men followed closely behind as he approached closer and stopped in front of the troop escorting Levi.

you!

Tyrone bellowed with laughter.

you – bedridden for the rest of your life! Or should I say... You probably won't even have much time to lay crippled in bed like this! The moment you land a foot outside the border, there'll be

Garrison clan laughed along. "It's retribution saw the Lehman family's elite fighters behind Levi. He family? Here to accompany him on obey the orders of one of you gets lured at men from the Lehman family. They glanced at each other with a hint of hesitation. One by one, they began to

"Hahaha..."

clan

elites weren't as steadfast and loyal as expected. Levi

Hades who remained unshaken by with the rest? What's the point of sticking together with a cripple who's being banished from Erudia?"

Tyrone looked at

well, I'll reward you

to resist a tenfold of Hades remained silent.

billion!" He

"Three billion!"

"Five billion!"

to offer any price just to force Levi into Hades was unmoved.

Vrooom!

answered by nothing but a

the blink of an eye, the car already vowed to protect Levi even at the cost of his life. At this

