Chapter 1221

“Greetings, Master!” a thousand cloaked men and women chorused, shaking every rock and ruffling every blade of grass around them.

“Please give your orders, Master! We will kill whoever dares to lay their hands on you!” the man who killed the Harbinger of Death said as he stepped forward.

They had known what Levi went through over the past few months, but they were just as helpless as he was.

Without Levi’s orders, they could not do anything but stay in the shadows.

These cloaked people were none other than Levi’s own secret troops.

They had no connections to Erudia whatsoever on the surface, for they have been hidden overseas ever since Levi established the organization, known as “The Calamity.”

The purpose of their existence was to provide aid in times of crisis and protect Erudia from any threats.

Thus, they spend most of their time in hiding, only emerging from the shadows when an emergency occurred.

Once The Calamity was mobilized, they would come out of hiding, which would change the world drastically.

Unless the situation was dire, Levi never mobilized them.

However, now was the time to summon them into the light.

Every member of The Calamity beamed brightly at Levi's order.

We can finally emerge from the shadows and see the light of day...

"The Calamity has officially been mobilized, Master! We await your orders!" The Four Lords chorused out loud.

"Alright. I'll follow up with you soon," Levi said, nodding.

"Master...I've heard that the Blood King Palace had poisoned you with the product of one of their decade-long projects... is that true?" the West Sky Lord asked tentatively.

As the only female Lord, she was the most attentive to detail, and that was why she was in charge of their intelligence networks.

"Yes, but it's gone now," Levi said.

“What is it? Just say it!” Tenichi ordered impatiently.

“It’s about Levi Garrison! His entire army fell in the battle against the Harbinger, and he’s dead as well!”
the person reported. “We’ve suffered a great loss as well... the only person who survived was the Harbinger himself!”

“Where’s the Harbinger of Death now?” Tenichi asked.

“He’s... gone!”

“Looks like he’s just a feral beast that can’t be tamed!” Tenichi said, smirking. “Whatever. We’ll just capture him again when we need him.”

After a while, he gathered enough evidence to prove that Levi was dead, and so was his entire party.

“Hahaha! You’re finally dead, Levi Garrison! Don’t you know how much of an annoying gnat you were when you were alive?” Tenichi scoffed. “You there! Announce to the world that Levi Garrison is dead!”

“As for us... let’s have a three-day-long party!”

When news got out that the former God of War of Erudia had met his end in Northgale, it created a huge shock across the world.

What no one knew was that the East Sky Lord of The Calamity had been the one fabricating the news of Levi's untimely "death."

The East Sky Lord had covered it up so thoroughly that even someone like Watanabe Tenichi overlooked it.

That night, the North and South Sky Lord silently began their operation.

The dozens of corporations that the South Sky Lord had acquired over the past, as well as the enormous business empire that he had built, emerged from the shadows. Under his management, organizations were pouring millions upon millions into The Calamity's bank account.

As for the North Sky Lord, he singlehandedly destroyed a dozen underground forces and ruled over the entirety of The Dark World with an iron fist.

Not only that, countless families, conglomerates, and organizations have pledged their loyalty to The Calamity, giving them all the resources they needed to emerge from the shadows and begin their operations as the most powerful organization in the world.

In fact, they were several times stronger than the Blood King Palace at their peak.

The Calamity spent years building up their power behind the scenes, and the effort they put in was immeasurable.

Their last fight had proved to Winsor that Levi's strength came from his subordinates, not Levi alone.
Levi had highly capable fighters like White Tiger by his side, and it made Winsor jealous.
Previously, Winsor had wanted to convince those fighters to join his ranks, but he knew that their loyalty to Levi was no laughing matter.
Although he hated it, there was nothing he could do to change it.
He even suggested merging the Iron Brigade and Levi's other armies into the Asura Army, only to be rejected on the spot.
"It's going to be pretty difficult to convince White Tiger and the others to join you, Master," Zar said.
"Just like how we'll refuse to join Levi's army no matter what happens," Bolgun added.
Winsor shook his head. "I don't care. They'll know just how powerful I am once they joined the Asura Army!"
Hearing that, Talon grinned. "Master's right. Levi's nothing compared to Master. He's just the son of a great Erudian family!"

Zar and Bolgun chuckled, and Talon raised

"How dare you act so rashly before me? Are you out of your mind?" Winsor crossed his hands behind his back and stared intensely at Azure Dragon and the others.

White Tiger returned his glance and said, "Winsor Campbell, we are here for only one thing. We want to rectify my boss's name!"

"Indeed! Our boss didn't betray Erudia!"

"Clear his name!" The crowd shouted in unison.

"These are pieces of evidence to prove his innocence!" Phoenix handed Winsor a copy of the audio and visual recordings.

It was a video recording of the battle against the Blood King Palace – a solid proof that Levi Garrison was innocent.

When they were at Oakland City, Levi had ordered Azure Dragon to wait for his further instructions. Hence, both Azure Dragon and White Tiger were patiently waiting for Levi's command.

However, they received the shocking news of his death instead. Thus, they could no longer remain calm.

Earlier, when Levi was still alive, they could not do much for him. Unfortunately, he was gone before they could serve him wholeheartedly. Hence, the least they could do now was to help rectify his name.

"Master, how does it feel to witness your own funeral?" North Sky King asked with a smile.

The person next to him was none other than Levi Garrison.

In fact, Levi was standing. He looked relaxed, with his hands on his back.

He was in a healthy state as his body had recovered completely.

It would cause many jaw-drops if the others knew about it.

That was because the poison from the Blood King Palace he had in his body was cured by the Octa-Medic.

Surprisingly, his body had fully recovered despite the poison.

Outsiders aside, even the Four Lords of The Calamity were shocked to see Levi walking around after a month of recovery.

This is unbelievable...

It's a miracle! It can only be a miracle! How could I have recovered so fast?

The only reason Jerry had approached Zoey was simple.

He desired the business empire that Zoey had owned as well as the power of the Lehman family.

Unfortunately, Jerry could no longer count on the Lehman family anymore.

He had received news that The Dark World had sent out an assassination order to eliminate Levi Garrison's child – Forlevia Lopez.

After all, Levi was dead. So, his offspring couldn't live either, and Zoey would be in danger next.

Because of that, Dale Lehman was forced to give up his god-daughter, Zoey.

It was no surprise that he took the approach of giving up Zoey to protect the Lehman family. Ultimately, he knew the enemies were extremely powerful, and the Lehmans wouldn't stand a chance against them.

However, Zoey would have to face huge challenges ahead of her.

The business empire she had built on her own would be divided sooner or later. Hence, Jerry took the initiative to get to it first.

In reality, Jerry was nothing like a gentleman. He was a scheming man who would do whatever it takes to achieve his motives.

He merely put on a gentleman act to fool others.

It's great to know

Danger is slowly approaching. Therefore, Evie's safety depends on me.

However, there's not much I can do.

Even an honorable man like my godfather had also given in in exchange to protect his family.

It further proves how powerful the mysterious force is!

And it won't be a force that I can't handle on my own...

It seems like Jerry's right – he's probably my only hope now.

Looking at her perplexed expression, Jerry smiled, "I'll allow you some time to think about it, but don't take too long! Actions will be taken soon enough once the assassination order has been announced. I have a flight at 11 p.m. tomorrow, and I'll leave if you don't give me an answer by then!"

Zoey and Emma's heart sank as Jerry left.

It was all part of his plan, by asking Zoey not to give him an answer on the spot.

Instead, he gave her a time limit to consider his offer, which would defeat her psychological barrier even more.

It had indeed made Zoey even more nervous.

On the other hand, Levin was on his way back to Erudia when he received news from The Calamity.

Jerry knew that both Zoey and Emma were eager to keep Evie safe. Hence, he leveraged that and put on a good show to convince them to go with his plan.

Besides, he was their last hope. Therefore, Zoey had no choice but to believe him.

She had her speculations that Jerry might be a liar, however, it was a risk she had to take.

Even if there was a slightest hope.

Yet, the reality was cruel.

Once Jerry had the Morris Group to himself, he immediately fired Iris and the other council members. The reason behind his actions was to gain complete control of the company in the shortest amount of time.

In the meantime, Zoey was left in a miserable state...

The Lehman family had publicly broken off their relationship with her, the business empire she built on her own was taken away from her, and her child was facing grave danger.

She felt hopeless.

The news of Jerry deceiving Zoey soon spread like wildfire.

Even so, the Lehman family could only watch as they were no longer related.

Everyone merely reprimanded Jerry regarding his actions but did nothing else.
