She then continued shouting, "These souvenirs are definitely fake! How does it feel to be exposed by me, Levi? Doesn't feel good, does it?"

Subsequently, she looked at him coldly while feeling very satisfied.

After a while, she then changed her focus and said, "Besides, how are you going to prove to me that the souvenirs are real?"

He smiled and replied, "If you say it's fake, then so be it. It doesn't matter!"

Zoey immediately echoed, "Yeah, we can keep them for ourselves if they're fake. It's not like we're selling them anyway!"

"You..."

Jennie was furious and stormed out.

Soon after she left, she then called Meredith and Robert to tell them about the situation.

Since they both used to be soldiers, when they heard about the souvenirs from the coronation ceremony, their eyes lit up.

For others, it had collection value.

However, for them, there was an additional layer of feelings attached to it.

Once they heard that the souvenirs were real, the pair immediately wanted them for themselves.

After all, such a thing was hard to come by.

It was something that could not be bought for even a billion.

Thus, they would not be able to sleep well if they did not have it for themselves.

"Do you need me to bring it here for you?" asked Jennie.

"You? Stop pulling our legs. How could you possibly take it from them?" Meredith replied.

After pondering about it, Jennie then realized Meredith's words made sense.

Although she had been pushing Levi and his family around, she still had not been able to take any advantage of them.

Therefore, if the couple depended on her, they would never get the souvenirs.

"We'll handle this ourselves! I'm itching to get it!"

As Meredith and Robert were both very excited and could not wait, they soon hurried from South City to North Hampton.

They also bought a huge pile of children's clothes, toys, and snacks.

Jennie and the elderly couple tried their best to persuade Levi and Zoey.
Their purpose was simple—they wanted all three sets of souvenirs.
Meredith said, “Yes, that’s right! We’re the best people who can reflect the value of the souvenirs!”
Afterward, Robert continued, “Let us have it. We’ll exchange it for money or some other stuff!”
The pair spoke in a forceful manner.
Jennie then stared coldly at Levi and said, “Levi, you clearly knew Grandpa and Grandma would love something like this. Why can’t you bring back some more? You don’t even think about them!”
“No,” Levi replied straightforwardly.
After a pause, he continued, “I gave them this gift. No matter what you bring, we won’t exchange it, so don’t even think about it.”
No one had expected his attitude.
They did not expect that a disabled person in a wheelchair dared to have such confidence.

At that, the three then began scolding him. “What did you just say? Take a look at your pathetic sight! What right do you have?”

Forlevia was already crying by then.

She felt aggrieved because the two elderly had taken away her things.

In reality, Levi could have stopped them on the spot.

However, his orders were that he could not expose himself.

Thus, unless it was his last resort, he could not reveal himself to ordinary folks.

For example, he could expose himself to the Garrison clan in Oakland City because they could keep his secret well.

On the other hand, that may not be the case for ordinary folks like Meredith.

Once they found out, the secret would easily leak out and also bring danger to themselves.

Therefore, it was better for people like them to know less.

After all, the more they knew, the closer they would be to death.

Besides, it was top secret, so others should not know about it.

That was the reason why Levi could only turn a blind eye to the situation just now and let them do as they pleased.

Even if Zoey was the kindest person in the world, there was no way that she could remain calm after witnessing that.

Her expression turned stern, and she glared at Minka.

Then, she turned to Levi and sought his explanation. "She is..."

Before Levi could speak, Minka said, "Hello, I'm Minka Fisker. Levi and I are comrade-in-arms! I'm also a military doctor, so I've come to heal his injuries and will be staying here for some time!"

Then, Minka proceeded to ignore Zoey completely and ordered people to move her luggage in.

As she was here to heal Levi, Zoey did not mind.

However, she found her overbearing attitude rather annoying.

Even Emma felt that something was wrong with her.

After moving in her luggage, Minka chose her own room in the manor.

It was Zoey's study, but Minka moved out many of her things.

Emma saw that Zoey was upset and said, "Levi, can you ask her to leave? We can let her stay in a five-star hotel."

Furthermore, Minka was assertive and caused Zoey to feel even more pressured.
Zoey thought that if she were a man, she would choose Minka over herself too.
"Mommy, I'm scared of that woman," said Forlevia softly in Zoey's arms.
"Don't worry, she will be leaving soon," said Zoey while she patted Forlevia's head.
Minka heard her and chuckled. "I won't be leaving so soon and will be staying here for a few months!"
Zoey was rendered speechless.
How very blunt of her!
Minka was an iron lady on the battlefield. Therefore, she carried out everything swiftly the moment she moved in.
She even placed strict control on Levi's schedule and reorganized the manor's security.
On top of that, she replaced all the security personnel with her people.
In short, everyone had to follow her orders.
Furthermore, she restricted Forlevia from visiting Levi with the excuse of not wanting her to disturb his recuperation.

"Minka has been treating you for a month, but your condition has not improved! If you don't make her leave, I'll move out!" Then, Zoey packed her bags and left with Forlevia.

However, Levi had expected things to turn out that way.

After all, that whole month was really unbearable for Zoey.

Meanwhile, Minka pretended not to notice Zoey leaving.

"I don't get it. I've used the medicine formulated by the Great Family of Frostford and the Great Family of Southford. I even used ancient medical skills. You should be able to recover in a month, but there is no sign of improvement," said Minka who was puzzled.

The truth was, Levi had caused this to happen deliberately.

He planned to let her treat him for a month and believed that she would leave on her own if he showed no signs of improvement.

Her presence restricted him from doing a lot of things and damaged his relationship with Zoey too.

Aaron and Caitlyn left with fury and threw things to the floor.

Levi did not expect things to turn out this way.

He feared that everyone would see him as a high achiever who abandoned his wife and daughter for wealth and power.

Initially, he thought he had an excuse, but now, he had to face the reality.

Minka had been staying in the manor for a month. Everyone could see that it was not right, but Levi did not do anything about it.

The fact that he was indifferent about the whole thing made others suspicious.

That was why Zoey and Emma were furious.

All they wanted was for Levi to stand on their side, but Levi remained on the fence. That made them resentful.

“God of War, I honestly feel that she is not worthy of you,” Minka said frankly.

Although she hated patriarchy, she was born into the Great Family of Southford, so she had a strong belief in the supremacy of the great families.

The next day, Zoey brought Forlevia and followed her parents to the Lopez family residence.

They felt that something was strange but did not know why.

“Aaron, Zoey, you will be meeting someone you have always wanted to meet! It’s going to be a surprise!” Harry said excitedly the moment he saw them.

“Huh?” Aaron and Zoey were stunned.

Someone I always wanted to meet?

If it is someone in the Lopez family, it can only be my mother.

“Are you talking about my mother?” Aaron asked excitedly.

Unlike his father, Aaron’s mother, Cora, doted on Zoey, and she was her favorite grandchild.

Aaron too was her favorite son.

Therefore, Aaron grew to be an honest man and was not cunning like his brothers.

The Lopez family was in a hurrah because of Cora.

Thanks to her, the Lopez family had become the protagonist of the classic rags to riches story. They had accelerated their social status from being a third-rate family to one of the most powerful families in North Hampton, even surpassing the Garrison clan in Oakland City.

It was a great cause for celebration.

Zoey looked at Cora and asked, "Grandma, I have a question!"

Cora glanced at her granddaughter. She knew what was on the latter's mind. "I suppose you're curious as to why I'd kept myself under the radar all these years?"

"Yes." Zoey nodded.

"The Four Great Families had signed a secret agreement, stipulating that any members of the Four Great Families shall not live among the commoners. I broke the rule on my own accord, and I was actually seized by those people the year I vanished.

"The Great Family of Westford was afraid that I might be forgoing the agreement and seized me. However, there was nothing they could do to me because of my status," Cora explained.

Hit by a pang of realization, Zoey exclaimed, "Grandma, since you're back, does that mean that the agreement is technically void?"

"Precisely. The agreement between the Four Great Families has been voided. That means we are free, and nothing will happen to us even if we come out of the shadows." Cora confirmed Zoey's guess.

Even though Zoey did not know the reasons behind the broken agreement, she had an inkling that something major was about to happen.
