Chapter 1521

Levi shook his head in resignation. "I could bear with living in the shadows while doing all the backbreaking work. However, the only thing I can't tolerate is not being trusted. Since all of you don't trust me, please look for someone else to save you."

Everyone began to panic at Levi's reaction.

If Levi didn't go, there was no one else who could take on the Northern Demon.

"It... it was our dereliction of duty!"

"More importantly, we have been tricked by the Four Basilisks. Our failure to realize the truth resulted in the current predicament."

"Crown King, please don't worry. Once all this is over, we will demand justice on your behalf and let the world know the truth."

"For the time being, please put this aside and focus on the Northern Demon."

"I'm sure you're aware of how strong he is. And now, he is causing devastation everywhere..."

Levi scoffed in response. "Of course I know. Haven't I warned you about it? I even offered to fight him. However, all of you thought that I was just b*llshitting and unrepentant. You assumed that I was trying to claim undue credit. After that, you imprisoned me here and refused to let me out until I have reflected on my crimes!"

When everyone turned to look, they saw that it was Eastern Beast who spoke.

How dare they make snide comments at this point in time!

“Shut up. It’s not your place to speak!” the crowd barked at them.

No one had the right to say such a thing, especially not Eastern Beast and his men.

“I don’t think he is wrong! Under such desperate circumstances, he should set aside his personal grievances!”

“Levi is a really petty person!”

“That’s right. Give how high his position is, the more reason he should sacrifice himself for his country. How can he refuse to help just because he is upset?”

“Does he know how much losses Erudia will suffer if he is late?”

The Eastern Hellhound and his people criticized Levi.

“Exactly. We admit our mistake. But what’s the point of being petty now?” Heracles added.

“He claims that he is now a civilian and has nothing to do with the Crown King title.”

"Given how strong the Northern Demon is, we won't be able to stop him no matter how many people we throw at him."

"That's true. It will only cause more casualties."

"We need someone who can stop him. But where do we find someone like that?"

Everyone's expression was filled with desperation.

"The Northern Demon doesn't kill his foes at the moment. But, who knows what he is going to do next? Once he starts killing, it will be the end of Erudia!"

As of now, the Northern Demon was enjoying the fact that no one could lay a finger on him.

"Is there really no one who can defeat him?" Severus shouted

"Levi Garrison!"

One by one, they called out his name.

"No, choose someone else. I don't believe that he is the only one capable."

"I suggest we deploy the Dragonites' Ten Elites. I'm sure they can defeat him," Severus said with his teeth gritted.

"Are you asking me to bow to Levi? Impossible! I just can't stand the look on his face!"

"But, we don't have any other choice!"

Severus looked extremely reluctant.

Everyone gradually turned to him. "Under the current circumstances, do you have an alternative to Levi?"

"I..."

Severus and Rico both fell silent.

"Either both of you go and get Levi to fight now, or we will send you to the frontlines to face the Northern Demon!"

The moment the Dragonites leaders spoke, Severus and the others were stunned.

After all, to fight Northern Demon was a fate worse than death.

“We... We’ll go... right away.”

Everyone wiped the sweat off their brow in relief.

Soon, they arrived at Levi’s cell.

“Crown King, please help us!”

"What?"

The crowd gaped in shock at his words.

No one expected Levi to propose his own retirement.

His absence would deal Erudia a devastating blow.

It was a sad decision for Erudia and no one could accept it.

However, they were well aware that they were the cause of his decision.

"Crown King, please reconsider. We will agree to whatever demands you have, including revealing your identity to the world."

"Please continue as the Crown King because Erudia needs you. Given how young you are, you still have a long way to go before retirement!"

No one wanted to see Levi step down.

Levi remained expressionless. "I'm tired. After all, I've done everything that I could. But, don't worry. Before I retire, I will make sure Erudia is in good hands."

Just when the crowd wanted to remonstrate further, someone reminded, "The Northern Demon still remains a threat. Why don't we deal with him first."

Only then did they remember their priorities.

"Mmm-hmm. I'll deal with him right away."

"The three of you, follow me!"

Everyone celebrated the death of the Northern Demon while the Crown King’s fame spread far and wide.

The entire world speculated about his identity again.

However, Erudia knew that she had lost a son.

Although the world wasn’t aware of the Crown King’s retirement, they would find out about it sooner or later.

When that happened, trouble would come knocking again.

Back at the Dragonites’ base, everyone looked somber.

Levi was holding a folded flag in his hand.

The flag was torn and drenched in blood to the extent one could still smell its stench.

It was the same flag Levi brought back from Mount Drago.

Placed on top of it was the Dragon Ring.

“From today onwards, I, Levi Garrison, relinquish the position of the Crown King!” Levi declared.

The crowd sighed. “Why don’t you reconsider?”

“I have given it careful thought!”

Finally, Levi returned the two items.

That person was Levi.

One year ago when Levi retired, he had promised to make sure Erudia would be well protected.

Hence, he trained the Nine Lords so that they could protect the nation.

Over the past year, he had gathered many techniques from both hidden and ancient factions, including those of the Four Great Families. These techniques included martial arts, medical knowledge, etc.

After that, he integrated them with his own techniques and those of the Erudian Army.

Amalgamating them, he invented a new set of powerful techniques and picked a select few to learn them.

After spending one year on it, the Nine Lords were the fruits of his labor.

They weren't just strong warriors, but were also equipped with medical skills and other special techniques.

Hence, they were able to fill the hole that Levi had left.

Furthermore, they had an added advantage.

Levi and Albus had devised a powerful formation where all of them could use when fighting together.

This attacking combination was strong enough to defeat the Northern Demon at the peak of his powers.

Hence, it would serve as a powerful deterrent to any of their enemies.

Everyone was stunned.

What is Lance doing?

I know! He is Malcolm's younger brother and Malcolm was killed because of Levi!

Lance must be furious with Levi.

That was what went through everyone's mind.

Concerned, Zoey grabbed onto Levi's sleeve subconsciously.

What are we going to do if Lance holds Levi accountable?

Walking up to Levi, Lance was just about to say something when Levi pre-empted him, "I'm a civilian now!"

Lance understood immediately.

"Oh. However, I will always remember you for the rest of my life!"

Lance meant that he would forever be in Levi's debt given that Levi was his master.

However, everyone else assumed that Lance was holding a grudge over Malcolm's death instead.

"If not for Lance's special position now, I think he would have killed Levi."

Prince William was about to leave in a huff.

“Wait!”

Prince William stopped in his tracks upon hearing that.

“Prince William, please stay and watch us take our revenge on Erudia! With you watching us, it’ll boost our efficiency!” Kuro Dragon smiled.

Everyone stared at him with surprise.

They didn’t understand why he made Prince William stay.

This meant that there would always be someone supervising them.

“Sure, let’s go with that.” Prince William agreed to stay on the island.

The Black Phoenix pulled Kuro Dragon aside.

“Won’t our movements be restricted since Prince William will be watching over us?” The Black Phoenix let out her concerns.

Prince William had always wanted to control them.

But the next second, Prince William felt a shiver down his spine.

A chill ran through his body, from his bottom to his head.

He turned his head subconsciously, only to be met with the vicious eyes of Kuro Dragon.

Kuro Dragon curled his lips into a smirk, and a blood-thirsty smile appeared on his face.

Prince William's mind was whirling. He immediately understood what Kuro Dragon and the others meant by having a 'crazy show'.

"Kill him!" Kuro Dragon ordered.

The Avengers quickly ran into action.
