Chapter 1611

The person who announced the news hesitated for a moment and said, "However, they have conditions."

"It doesn't matter what's the conditions are as long they can heal Levi's martial vein!"

"Yes, we should spare no expenses for his recovery!"

The other Dragonites shouted out fervently.

"Good. If that is the case, there may be a good chance of recovery! What we found is a Medical Elite ancient family in Erudia. They possess god-like ancient medical skills that are unimaginable to ordinary people. I heard they turned an ordinary martial artist into a Supreme class martial artist using only medicine and ancient medical skills!"

Everyone gasped upon hearing that.

They created a Supreme class martial artist with only ancient medical skills and magical medicine. That's incredible!

The Dragonites had another idea.

They thought of getting this Medical Elite ancient family to create Supreme class fighters for Erudia.

Therefore, the Dragonites contacted them immediately.

The Medical Elite ancient family then sent an experienced 11th Elder, Sonny Washington, to meet Levi with the Dragonites.

“Furthermore, we can keep delaying our stay. Just tell the Dragonites that Levi’s condition is very rare, and he needed a long time to recover!” Sonny stroked his beard and smiled cunningly.

Meanwhile, Levi heard everything clearly.

This guy can’t even find where my martial vein is.

That’s because when the old man in prison repaired my martial vein and made it invisible.

Thus, no one can find out where it is.

However, it still exist.

Yet, these people can’t find it and still plan to lie to the Dragonites for personal gain.

They are really shameful!

Soon, the Dragonites arrived and asked, “How’s his condition?”

Sonny’s expression turned solemn. He frowned deeply and asked, “May I know how important he is to you?”

The Dragonites were surprised by his question and said quickly, “He’s tremendously important to us and Erudia’s future!”

Levi's words rubbed Sonny and company the wrong way.

"Fine then. Have it your way! But remember, I'm here only by their invitation, and not because I've nothing better to do. Come, let's go. This rascal can come begging should he ever change his mind!"

The group then left in a huff.

As the Dragonites were desperate to restore Levi's martial vein, Sonny's group knew they had them on the hook and would not be let go of so easily.

Indeed, they were proven right almost immediately when someone from the Dragonites came out after them.

"Please calm down, Mr. Washington! He means no harm as that's just the way he is!"

"Please help mend his martial vein, Mr. Washington!" the few Dragonites implored obsequiously.

"No. Never before had anyone spoken so disrespectfully to Master!"

"If you want to have the little bastard's martial vein restored, he'll have to get on his knees and beg for it himself!" the disciples sneered.

In Levi's esteem, these disciples of Wildefield were just brats who were still wet behind the ears.

Daring to hit on Zoey?

The gall of them!

To him, Wildefield was a place that he could level in a heartbeat, so he had no regard for these little punks whatsoever.

Levi's outburst took everyone, including Zoey and Mia, by surprise.

Trouble usually followed the temperamental Levi everywhere, but this was a place filled with powerful warriors who were all capable of killing within a blink of an eye, which meant that there was absolutely nothing to gain for a now regular person like Levi by behaving so maddeningly here.

"What?"

“Are we going to stand for such antics from someone like him in Wildefield?”

A few individuals then started to move in toward Levi.

“Did you not say that you’re going to tear my lips? Bring it on then!” said the one who mocked him earlier.

“Alright!”

And Levi took off after her as he was quite curious about the ruler of Wildefield, and judging from Forlevia’s demeanor, it was easy to see how well she has settled in here so far.

Levi was led by Forlevia to an antiquated building deep into the forbidden grounds within the city, the place where Governor, the Eminent Four, and the other council members operated.

“Mr. Fairclough, Mr. Fairclough. This is my Daddy!” Forlevia exclaimed.

Before them stood a towering silhouette of a charismatic man in his thirties, shrouded in an all-white ensemble.

With a handsome face and an affable smile, he had the air of a sage amongst the common person, but no one could have imagined how this seemingly ordinary man could possibly survive even nuclear weaponry.

“Evie!”

Avery Fairclough patted Forlevia on her diminutive head before he regarded Levi with sternness and authoritativeness akin to a world-domineering immortal looming over a mere bug.

That much was true!

Avery was a Rank Five fighter of the Supreme class who was impervious to bullets and even nuclear weaponry, making him literally god-like to the average person.

The temperature in the surrounding air took such a nosedive that it left everyone shuddering.

They looked distraughtly at Levi, concerned for his fate, and to their horror, Levi continued to be snarky.

“Yeah, that’s exactly what I said.”

“That I’m unfit to teach?”

Avery’s inflection elevated until it sounded like a peal of rolling thunder that threatened to rip the sky wide open.

Rumble...

The ground began to tremor and the whole of Wildefield trembled alongside it, leaving everyone in a state of disorientation.

Rustle...

More terrifying was the formless energy which emanated from Avery’s body, which diffused in every direction and ripped the visibly dense vegetation of the bamboo forest around Wildefield to shreds.

Its sphere of influence kept expanding until ten miles of the forest all around became leveled out.

Not only that, the skies of Wildefield were blackened by the rolling dark clouds and a storm stirred on the brink.

There was a dangerous and murderous flash in Helios' eyes.

Forlevia's arrival seriously affected his stature in Wildefield.

"Helios! Come on!"

A few of his fellow disciples helped him up.

"I can't believe that Master would beat you over some ordinary person!"

Everyone was puzzled.

Ever since Forlevia had come, they all fell out of favor.

Avery would not even guide them.

"Helios, this brat cannot stay in Wildefield! Otherwise, we will lose everything!" exclaimed one of them.

"Exactly! She cannot stay!"

Everyone was in agreement.

"All right! Let's get rid of her then!"

Helios inhaled sharply.

The Dragonites were also deep in discussions with the Medical Elite ancient family. They talked about reviving Levi's bloodline, as well as getting the family to help Erudia in grooming Supreme class fighters.

No one could escape the temptation of such seemingly amazing benefits.

Many would willingly sacrifice their lives as long as the conditions were attractive enough.

Even the Supreme class fighters were willing to do so.

Not only so, but the soldiers in Erudia were also gearing up with new weapons.

These weapons were more technologically advanced and could defeat extremely strong martial artists.

While martial artists had their strengths, the prowess of such weapons should not be underestimated either.

The world seemed peaceful, and there were not many affairs that seemed to require the intervention of the Supreme class.

In reality, judgement day was coming.

Everything would erupt into chaos one day.

The Supreme class would never allow ordinary humans to control the world.

They wanted to turn the world into a ruthless place where only the strongest would survive.

The people who created Gods' Promise could not care less either. They were only eager to see the new world.

Dragonites soon realized this and began to prepare for

"They are from Shadow Order!"

Avery was very frustrated.

He knew this organization well.

They were one of the organizations located near Westford and specialized in wicked martial arts techniques.

Furthermore, most fighters in the organization were powerful.

Before God's Promise, Avery had fought with the head of the Shadow Order, The Dark Lord, and was utterly defeated.

Hence, the man felt that all hope was lost when he learned that it was them who took Forlevia away.

Their overall prowess was much stronger in Wildefield.

Avery would have been able to get Forlevia back if this was somebody else.

However, this was the Shadow Order!

Avery's previous defeat had given him sufficient trauma.

There was a lot of hesitation on his end.

"Who leaked this information? I thought I told everyone to keep it a secret!" yelled Avery.

Otherwise, he would still be unaware of what happened!

According to the pinged location, she was about three hundred miles from Wildefield.

Levi immediately headed for Shadow Order's location.

Meanwhile, Wildefield was still in despair over Forlevia's disappearance.

Nobody had the courage to go save her.

Helios and the rest were gloating secretly.
