Chapter 1651

No one, not even Zoey and Levi, could have guessed that the nerdy mad scientist they knew had developed a weapon capable of killing Supreme class warriors.

How could it even be possible?

The information about Supreme class warriors was all kept in Dragonites' most secretive archives room.

How did an ordinary person like Jared gain access to classified information to develop such a formidable weapon?

Alas, that was just how crazy the world was!

Prodigies did exist, after all.

The more something seemed impossible, the more there would be someone trying to achieve the impossible.

That was the reality of life.

There were still many people capable of doing the most unbelievable things.

An ordinary person would only scoff at the power of a Supreme class fighter when he had a Trump card in his hand.

After leaving Deity Lab, Nedley immediately placed a call to Triple Group's headquarters.

"I'm afraid things aren't going our way. Jared's a smart guy, and he knows we need him. I can tell he already has other plans," Nedley said nervously.

"I hope you can come up with a proposal. If this weapon falls into the hands of others, especially Erudia's, it's going to spell disaster for us!"

Sensing the urgency in Nedley's tone, the voice on the other end replied, "Okay, we'll call for a meeting immediately!"

Back at the Deity Lab, Jared's assistant was equally curious about what he had in mind.

"Mr. Schmidt, I see you haven't agreed to their proposal. Does that mean you have other plans?"

Jared had a twinkle in his eye as he sneered, "Of course. I know better than anyone just how highly valued I am now. That's why I'm not going to limit myself to only Triple Group!"

His assistant nodded in excitement before chiming in, "That's right! If news of our weapon gets out into the public, the whole world would be in an uproar! When that time comes, you're going to be the man that everyone wants to work with!"

"Exactly! The sky's the limit when it comes to my options. I'll work with the party who can offer me the best benefits. But more than anything else, I wish to work with Erudia!"

A look of eager anticipation crossed Jared's face as he continued, "I hope they can satisfy all my terms and conditions so I can become the most prominent person in Erudia. When that happens, I'm sure that woman would stop looking down on me!"

"What?" Levi gasped.

He was so startled by the news that he hurriedly stepped on the brakes.

Levi stared at Abigail in disbelief, still unable to process the news about her getting married.

He had always seen her as a little girl, yet now she was talking about marriages.

Not wanting to probe further, Levi pulled himself together and continued driving.

After all, Abigail had every right to pursue love and happiness, and he shouldn't be interfering with it.

The next day, as promised, Levi took Abigail to Wildefield.

When the sisters finally met, there was naturally a lot to catch up on.

With Forlevia nowhere to be seen, Levi could only wait around while Zoey and Abigail chatted away.

Just then, a familiar figure caught his attention.

Jared was striding haughtily while being flanked by a group of people fawning over him.

The venue might be full of Supreme class warriors, but Jared was undoubtedly the center of attention.

Even Avery, the Governor of Wildefield, was beside him like a puppy following its owner.

One by one, the Supreme class warriors with Jared chimed in, “Not only that, but every other country would also be putting you on a pedestal! If you wish to, you could even become coronated in any of those countries!”

“Once you give your orders, all the Supreme class warriors will pledge allegiance to you, and that includes Rank Six warriors!”

“You’re now the world’s biggest and brightest star! You’re king of the world!”

Shocking!

This is just too shocking!

If Zoey and the others had heard Jared's speech before that day, they'd have brushed him off as a total nutjob.

Alas, with how things had unfolded, they had no choice but to believe his words.

They had to believe that even Wildefield was beneath him because there was no way he could have faked the eight Rank Five Supreme class warriors by his side.

The power he wielded was even more frightening than what Levi had when he was at his peak.

"I know you'd never be interested in someone inferior to you. But I'm now at least a hundred times or even a thousand times stronger than Levi when he was at his peak! I'm now fully capable of changing the entire world! I may be an ordinary man, but I, Jared Schmidt, have made it to the pinnacle! Am I worthy of you now?"

With that said, Jared marched away with his entourage in tow.

Burning with anger, Jared ordered, "Contact Triple Group immediately! Tell them I've agreed to their request and have their boss discuss the terms and conditions with me!"

He was now even more determined to do something earth-shattering to show Zoey and everyone else.

He was going to prove to everyone that he wasn't just a nerd. He wanted them to witness his rise to power and to see him eventually becoming the ruler of the world.

The only way he could do that was to sell his weapons to Triple Group and prepare for a battle with Erudia.

His name would then be on a global stage, feared and respected by all.

Very soon, Jared had established contact with Triple Group.

The allied army had requested for all senior management to gather for the meeting, Bruce included.

Jared listed many terms and conditions, even going to the extent of saying he wanted to rule Erudia.

He was deadset on letting Zoey see what he was truly capable of.

True to their words, the allied army agreed to all his terms.

After that, the Ruling Union contacted all major areas surrounding Erudia once again with Raysonia as the key, and the ancient factions within Raysonia surfaced one after another.

Erudia and Raysonia have been enemies for ages, and that was especially the case for their warriors.

As such, they all joined in the movement when they heard it was going against Erudia.

The Crimson Troopers, the Black Dragon Clan, and even the Phantom Warriors were in participation.

The situation grew increasingly tense as all the forces of the Ruling Union were gathered in one place. All preparations were in place for the first official meeting between the four Rulers.

They then decided on the exact time of their assault, and the countless soldiers looked forward to the moment of that earth-shattering battle.

Upon the return of Levi and the gang to North Hampton, Abigail summoned everyone from the Rogers family, including Aaron, and announced the news of her marriage.

Pamela and Bailey were shocked beyond belief when they heard the news.

Unbeknownst to Levi, Abigail had asked Benny to not tell him the truth behind it all.

Abigail was a genius in medicine and had become a huge sensation in the world of ancient medicine.

As a result, the Medical Elite ancient family set their sights on her.

Carter came up with all sorts of ways to win her over, but Abigail rejected all of his advances.

One day, she heard rumors about Sonny from the Medical Elite ancient family planning to kill Levi.

Abigail begged Carter to not let that happen, and he agreed to her request under the condition that she married him.

That was also the true reason why the Medical Elite ancient family had left Levi alone.

“My friend, if only you knew that you’re also the reason she took up medicine in the first place... You’re fighting on the battlefield, and she’s learning to become a military doctor! She’s basically following in your footsteps!”

As Carter was one of the four National Guardians, practically all of Erudia knew about it and had rushed over to give their blessings.

Erudia was filled with a festive atmosphere, completely unaware that the Ruling Union had chosen to launch their assault on that very day at seven in the morning.

The four Rulers and their respective armies took up their positions in Erudia and waited for the order to strike.

On top of that, all the evil forces within Erudia were also in the position to assist the enemy forces from the inside so as to catch the country completely off guard.

The Ruling Union was prepared to launch a blitzkrieg and take over Erudia within a week.

Among the enemy was Jared with an excited look on his face as he mumbled gleefully to himself, “You’ll soon find out just how powerful I am, Zoey!”

Even Benny and the other medical practitioners were in attendance at Abigail’s wedding.

According to Erudian customs, everyone in the country had to get up early to prepare for it.

Some of them even stayed up all night for that exact reason, and Levi was one of them.

He furrowed his brows as he looked up at the sky during the wee hours.

Everything seemed calm on the south of Erudian waters where the martial artists in charge of border security were patrolling the area.

Suddenly, one of the martial artists yelled in shock, “Hey, something doesn’t seem right! Look, up ahead!”

There was a huge fluctuation in the waves, and it seemed like something huge was speeding toward them beneath the surface.

“Alert! Alert! Danger approaching!” shouted the martial artists.

Boom!

The next thing they knew, their patrol boat was overturned, and the water around them was soon stained red.

“Quickly! We mustn’t let the Erudian forces have time to react!”

They were simply too fast and overwhelming that the Erudia’s entire first line of defense was crushed in less than an hour.

The Erudian forces didn’t even have the chance to warn their people of the enemy’s invasion.

They only managed to get an SOS message out about half an hour later.

Suddenly, alarms began blaring at the Dragonites training base.
