Chapter 1751

A few men and women in suits arrived at the scene and stopped Levi.

“From now on. Jared Schmidt is ours! No one lays a finger on him!”

The woman in the front glared at Levi.

Levi was stunned for a brief moment.

He was surprised that those normal people thought they could stop him.

“Who are you people?”

Floyd’s expression changed as he explained, “Master, they are from the Dragon Science and Technology Alliance! They’re in charge of the lab that specializes in advanced technology for Erudia. They’re the strongest in Erudia! They just revealed themselves after what happened.”

He paused. “This is Wynona from the Dragon Science and Technology Alliance. The youngest female scientist in Erudia. She and her team just develop a terrifying superweapon!”

Then, Floyd got closer to Levi and whispered into his ears, “She’s not just an average Jane. She’s actually very capable.”

Hearing that, Levi froze for an instance.

Levi's tone was extraordinarily calm.

Everyone there knew that he was going to kill Jared.

Even Jared himself understood that.

"Save me!" he pleaded.

"I know I was wrong! I'll do everything I can to make up for all the sins I've committed!" Jared quickly hid behind Wynona before she stretched out her arms to block Levi's advance.

"If you want to kill him, kill me first!" Wynona declared and closed her eyes.

Her whole body was trembling as she waited.

"Calm down! Jared Schmidt is too valuable for you to just kill him!"

"Why don't you let us utilize his worth first? We'll bring him to you once we are done with him!"

"Please don't do this."

The Eragons were going to eliminate everyone that once joined the Ruling Union.

Everything was decided a long time ago but was postponed because of what Levi did at Zarain.

Now that things had settled down, they resumed the plan.

And their targets included those men who bowed down to Levi at Oakland City.

That said, Levi knew nothing about it as he was on his way to Wildefield.

On the way there, Levi could that there were more fighters.

No matter how good they were at hiding it, Levi could still sense their extraordinary presence.

In Levi's eyes, they were all shining brilliantly, so it was easy to identify.

Soon enough, he arrived at Wildefield.

At Wildefield, they were still training Zoey and Forlevia as though they were the future of Wildefield, not knowing that Levi had already slain several Rank Seven fighters at that point.

"That's right! Don't even think about taking anyone out of here! You have no place to make decisions here in Wildefield."

Everyone in Wildefield was both hardheaded and stubborn.

Why would they fear Levi when they had plenty more strong people?

Levi just chuckled.

He had killed off plenty of small fry like the ones in Wildefield.

They were as weak as any regular human being.

They were so weak that Levi could smash them as if they were ants.

"Let's go, Evie. We're going home."

Levi picked Forlevia up and was about to leave with Zoey and Mia.

"Move aside! I want to see if he actually dares to step out of Wildefield," Avery bellowed.

The crowd parted like the Red Sea at the sound of Avery's command.

Levi continued walking forward with the three people behind him in tow.

"If any of you dare to step out of this door, then you won't ever be allowed back in Wildefield!" Avery yelled angrily.

Levi was about to speak when a crowd suddenly started running toward them.

Avery was at the head of them all.

He was leading the huge crowd of people as they frantically ran toward Levi.

He frowned and started to doubt Floyd's capabilities. Why couldn't he deal with even this crowd of people?

Zoey and the others were terrified at the sight of the crowd thundering toward them.

The moment the girls were about to scream, Avery and the others yelled first.

They stared at Levi as if he were a ghost.

Avery immediately ran in the other direction as the people behind him followed tight on his heels.

They weren't here to chase after Levi after all. They were actually heading to the old Governor's grave to check something.

They wanted to double check who truly was the one who saved Forlevia from the Shadow Order.

"How strange. Weren't they chasing after us?" Zoey asked in suspicion.

Avery immediately commanded the others to open up the grave once they arrived.

The moment they saw the dried-up corpse in the grave, everyone came to the same realization.

The others were surprised at the Lopez's request.

So they had come to ask Levi to bring the others back and also return their names as a citizen of Erudia.

No matter how much the older family members scolded them, or how much they had betrayed their ancestors.

After all, how could they bear to let their children suffer out in the unknown?

Despite that, it was still hard to save them.

For one, at such a crucial time, none of them were supposed to leave Erudia.

Apart from that, Henry and Fabian didn't have any identification. They couldn't enter Erudia either way.

Not even martial artists were exempted to this rule.

After Eragon had emerged and defeated the Ruling Union, martial artists could no longer do whatever they wanted.

They had to listen to the Dragonites.

So even though they badly wanted to bring Henry and Fabian back, they couldn't do anything about it.

Levi was determined and unshaken. He wasn’t going to give anyone a chance to persuade him.

He couldn’t care less about their deaths.

On top of that, he even released a statement announcing that every single person who had left Erudia was banned from coming back. Furthermore, they would not even have the chance to regain their status as an Erudian.

Levi announced it personally and emphasized that no one was exempt from this rule.

This announcement was frowned upon by many.

As of today, Erudia had grown and was now one of the strongest countries in the world.

Whatmore, a lot of people who had moved out and were living overseas weren’t having a great time, either.

After all, the important connections they had were in Erudia, not forgetting the job opportunities.

Those who were overseas could only live off of savings, but that would finish one day.

To make things worse, they had also found out that the other countries were just taking advantage of them and didn’t truly welcome them as a citizen.

They would get chased out the moment they lost their worth.

Zarain’s recent procedures had truly wakened up a lot of people.

"What a poor bunch of fans. They have no idea they're just being used," Levi muttered to himself as he looked at the crowds of fans below the helicopter.

What a bunch of simpletons.

"They're so wrong for using their fans against us! They know that if we do anything to get rid of them, it'll affect us terribly," Floyd said urgently after seeing Levi.

Floyd was also extremely smart, but he was helpless when it came to things like this.

It wasn't like he could beat them up.

There were almost a hundred thousand fans filling up the port by the time Levi arrived.

Almost every inch of the port was filled with eager fans.

The moment Levi arrived, so did the cruise carrying the celebrities and influencers.

The passengers on the cruise looked down upon the port as they arrived.

The moment their eyes landed upon the crowds of fans, they smiled knowingly.

Xion and Sadie, who were leading the pack of celebrities, were even more ecstatic.

"See? Our plan worked, right?"

The idea for their fans to come and greet them had been Xion and Sadie's idea.

The more fans arrived, the less Erudia could penalize them.

The voice that bellowed out was almost as loud as a landmine going off.

Everyone in the port was taken aback by the sheer volume and power of the shout.

The ‘elites’ who had just stepped off the cruise were especially stunned as they stared off into the distance.

Levi slowly walked into view.

It was his yell that had stopped every single person in place.

It had shocked even Floyd and the others.

To Floyd and the rest, they had to take care of things carefully and gently.

If they could use words to fix things, then they wouldn’t have to resort to using force.

After all, the more forceful one was, the more likely things were to escalate.

It could even be said that to them, using force to settle such a situation was the most stupid thing one could do.

However, the moment that thought crossed their minds, Levi had yelled with the force of a thunderstrike.

Floyd and the others were just as surprised.

"Welcome back! Welcome back!" the fans erupted in cheers.
Some fans had even broken free from the pack and had somehow pushed their way to the front to be

Xion and the other celebrities started walking off the cruise.
As long as they entered Erudia, then getting their identity back would no longer be a problem.
They had already passed the hardest part!

The elites stepped onto Erudian land proudly as they stared mockingly at Levi.

Floyd and his men were starting to look annoyed.

Things had escalated to a level none of them wanted to see.

Now, there was no way to properly settle the situation.

All they could do was watch on.

The soft approach wasn't working, and yet they couldn't even attempt to try the hard way.
