Chapter 1831

The Seven Fiends immediately knelt down before him the moment they saw that he was angry.

“We’re sorry for complaining! We should obey your commands unconditionally!”

All seven of them kept their heads down as they knew the consequences of defying the Fiery Demon.

Although they were the infamous Seven Fiends, the man standing before them was the Fiery Demon’s heir and the only one worthy of the title.

“It’s fine. Just do as I say. All right, on your feet! It’s time to go make your final preparations!” Levi ordered, and the Seven Fiends quickly ran off to carry out their tasks.

Standing at the top of the hill, Levi had his hands behind his back as he stared into the distance.

A huge battle was about to take place, and things were abnormally quiet in Terragon Hill.

Not a single animal could be heard, and even the winds had stopped blowing in the area.

The outside of Terragon Hill, however, was the complete opposite as all the warriors from The Cardinal Hall and Eragon had taken their positions.

Even the international forces led by Jared and Bruce were present and had the entire Terragon Hill surrounded, including the sky above.

“Charge!”

Countless warriors began making their way up Terragon Hill, each of them fueled by an intense bloodlust.

They charged forward with a determination to kill all followers of the Fiery Demon, only to pause in their tracks a few minutes later out of confusion.

Why haven’t we encountered any of the Fiery Demon’s forces? Given their numbers, they should be all over the place! There’s no way that many people could hide in a tiny little hill like this! Where the hell are they?

“Be careful, men! We’re up against a very cunning enemy! They’re most probably lying in wait for the perfect moment to ambush us!”

“Keep your eyes peeled, everyone!”

The warriors then went on high alert and slowed down their ascent, but every step they took only made them increasingly anxious.

The entire Terragon Hill was enveloped in an eerie silence, and not a single soul could be seen.

In fact, even the animals in the area seemed to have vanished completely.

It's impossible for an army that huge to just vanish into thin air and disappear from under The Cardinal Hall's nose! The only logical explanation would be that they have hidden themselves in the environment like the Silhouettes of Zarain or the samurais of Raysonia! But, even so, only a few are capable of pulling that off! There's no way that many of them could do such a thing! Damn it, where are they? What cunning trick does Levi have up his sleeve this time?

"What the hell are you playing at, Levi? Where is everyone?" Jabez asked out of curiosity.

"Yeah! Your puny tricks are useless in the face of true power!"

"That's right, Levi! You'd better surrender yourself and your men right now, and we'll consider keeping your corpse in one piece!"

They hurled threats at him while scanning their surroundings cautiously.

No one dared make any sudden moves, not even the powerful Gem List warriors.

Levi was delighted when he saw that they were still afraid of him and said with a chuckle, "Don't worry! I'm the only one here on Terragon Hill!"

"Bullsh*t! We've all seen the Fiery Demon's forces enter Terragon Hill! There's no way you're the only one here!"

Chapter 1834

That was when everyone from The Cardinal Hall realized how the troops had vanished without a trace.

Wait... What? Levi actually dug a freaking tunnel through the mountain? That's how everyone disappeared? Unbelievable! How could any of us see this coming? If the higher-ups decide to pursue this matter, we would all be guilty of severe negligence and held responsible for it! Good thing Levi is still here, or we'd be in big trouble! Still, the fact that he's here leads us to a few more questions...

Why would he have the Seven Fiends leave like that? Why would he stay behind all by himself? Isn't this practically suicide? Why wouldn't he escape when he had the chance?

If he's not planning on running, he should at least have kept his entire army with him! The Fiends are formidable warriors, so why would he have them leave?

This doesn't make any sense no matter how you look at it! In fact, his act of summoning all of the Fiery Demon's forces and having them gather here was illogical, to begin with! He's basically presenting us with an opportunity to wipe them all out in one fell swoop!

Everyone racked their brains, but no one was able to comprehend the logic behind Levi's actions.

Little did they know, everything Levi did was to minimize Erudia's losses so its enemies wouldn't benefit from the infighting.

He had never truly abandoned his duties as the God of War and Crown King, so trusting him fully and unconditionally would have been the best option.

Chapter 1835

That was something Levi did not expect as he had been searching for Jared ever since The Cardinal Hall’s forces had arrived, only to have Jared leave the moment he saw through his plans.

Kaiden and the others soon received word of Jared leaving the battle.

“It’s fine. We can handle Levi by ourselves! Also, inform The Cardinal Hall that we’re having half of our men searching for the Fiends! This is an insanely rare opportunity, so we mustn’t let them escape!”

With that, half of The Cardinal Hall and Eragon’s warriors left the scene in search of the Fiends and their troops.

Despite having their forces reduced by half, a majority of the major forces in the martial arts world as well as Bruce and his team of international forces were still there.

All Bruce’s men wanted was to kill Levi, and they couldn’t care less about the lives of the other Erudian forces.

With the top ten warriors on the Gem List present, they saw Levi as nothing more than a trapped beast making a desperate struggle before death.

Three of the Seven Fiends sighed as they glanced at Terragon Hill from afar.

“Do you think Levi can handle that many people on his own?”

“This is probably a good thing for him, though. It will be the strongest form of training he has ever had! He’d be ranked third on the Gem List if he succeeds!”

Chapter 1836

Everyone had assumed the four of them would end the fight in an instant, especially since the Swordmaster was not only a martial artist but also a master of magical techniques.

Martial arts combined with magical techniques was terrifying on its own, and he was joined by three other powerful warriors.

The Thunder Lord was the one leading the attack, and he didn't gain his title because he could control thunder or lightning.

Instead, he was called the Thunder Lord because he was so strong that he survived being struck by lightning, which was a clear indicator of his strength.

The Blade King launched his scimitar at lightning speed, and the swift rotation of the blade itself was enough to stir up a storm around it.

His swordsmanship was the fastest in the world, and few were capable of blocking his attacks.

The Spear King hurled his spear toward Levi, and it tore through the night sky like a lightning bolt.

The Swordmaster too launched the two swords he carried on his back out of their sheaths.

All four of their attacks came raining down on Levi from above, and everyone quickly moved out of the vicinity when they felt the terrifying energy spread through the air.

It wasn't often that four Gem List warriors would launch a combined assault like that, and nobody in their right mind would want to get caught in the crossfire.

Since it was the Fiery Demon's heir that they were up against, no one was bothered by them ganging up on Levi.

Chapter 1837

Levi had crushed the four warriors who ranked lower than he did on the Gem List and proved that The Manifest Court was right about his rank.

“I’ll fight you!” A woman’s voice was heard, and it sounded so cold that everyone shuddered upon hearing it.

The woman ranked five on the Gem List and was known as Madam Ice.

She and her forces had always been residing in the snowy plains in the North, and it was rumored that she could freeze everything within hundreds of miles.

Given her ridiculously powerful ability, it made perfect sense that she was ranked five on the Gem List.

Everyone fell silent the moment she entered the scene as she was the first challenger that was supposedly stronger than Levi, and everyone firmly believed in The Manifest Court’s authority.

Madam Ice then began her attack without saying another word, her every move covering their surroundings with a frosty mist.

“Frost Blast! Frost Blast! Frost Blast!”

All of Terragon Hill was continuously shrouded by a freezing mist which coated the trees and cliffs with a layer of ice and snow.

It looked almost like they were at the icy plains in the North end of Erudia, and everyone around them scrambled out of the area to avoid frostbite.

The freezing mist from a Rank Eight warrior was capable of instantly freezing anything it came into contact with.

Madam Ice quickly hit him with a blast of freezing mist, and he was completely

Chapter 1838

Everyone was trembling with fear as they wondered how Levi was so insanely powerful.

How is Levi so powerful? Even though the four warriors of lower ranks had ganged up on him, their defeat was still understandable and acceptable. But... Madam Ice and the Warrior Monk are ranked higher than him, so how did they lose to him? This is unbelievable!

For the first time ever, people were beginning to doubt the authority of The Manifest Court and the Gem&Stone List.

Even they make mistakes in judgment, huh? Given Levi's display of strength, it's obvious that he's perfectly capable of challenging the top three on the Gem List! Outsiders may not be aware of this, but every martial artist knows that's the maximum level one could possibly achieve in life! Like the top three on the Stone List, the top three on the Gem List are in a completely different league compared to the others. There is a huge gap between the third and fourth rank on the Gem List, and those on the top three are practically a different kind of existence!

Coming in third on the Gem List was a master of magical techniques from an ancient clan. He was given the nickname Xenotoph, and his sorcery was considered the strongest in the world of magic.

It wouldn't even be an exaggeration to say that countless practitioners of magic revered and worshipped him like a god.

The one ranked second on the Gem List was a man nicknamed Robed Slayer. He dominated the martial arts world in Bayview years ago, and the mere sight of his robe was able to terrorize thousands of people.

According to the rumors, he was the one who dominated the era that came after the Fiery Demon.

The Cardinal Hall had invited him over to grant him the title "The Dragon Of Erudia", but he rejected the invitation and went into hiding in the city.

Meanwhile, Venom Fiend, Blood Fiend, and Ghost Fiend had sneakily made their way to the outside of Gamma Tech training base.

As Levi had entrusted them with the mission of rescuing Zoey, the Seven Fiends treated it with high priority and sent three of its members for the job.

Naturally, Venom Fiend specialized in the use of poison and killed many without even being seen.

Blood Fiend was incredibly powerful thanks to the use of Blood Arts in training.

Ghost Fiend, on the other hand, was incredibly charming and had top-notch illusion magic.

With the three of them on the task, Levi was certain that they would be successful in rescuing Zoey.

"Come on, let's get her out of here!"

Given how powerful they were, the three of them had no need to sneak around and simply waltzed into the building like they owned the place.

Jared simply grinned at them like a predator eyeing its prey.

Venom Fiend then channeled his poison magic and began counting down silently for the moment that Jared would bleed from all orifices and die a horrible death.

The looks on the faces of all three Fiends changed a moment later when they saw Jared being perfectly fine even after the poison had taken effect.

In fact, he still had that gleeful smile on his face as he stood before them.

"That's impossible! No one could possibly survive a poisoning of this degree!" Venom Fiend exclaimed in shock.

Even the top three warriors on the Gem List would die or at least suffer from the poisons' effects, but Jared looked absolutely peachy.

"Poisons don't work on me!"

Jared said with a smirk as he channeled his energy and excreted the poisons from his body.

Hiss...
