Chapter 1861

Suddenly there was a huge explosion, ripping apart the ward and the supposedly indestructible isolation installation Zoey was in.

Wynona used her power to block off the radiating energy, saving the hospital from being razed to the ground, and at the same time, giving all the people a chance to survive.

Bruce looked on with disbelief. He had not expected Zoey would be able to break apart an installation that even a Rank Seven could not.

Her strength was beyond his imagination.

So what happened?

Was it a success or failure?

“Zoey!” Wynona yelled as she made her way through the thick smoke to check on Zoey.

“Huh?” The next moment, she froze in her track, and her expression changed. She could sense a menacing aura around her, and it gave her the shudders.

It was an extremely horrible atmosphere. One could imagine hell to feel that way.

As the smoke faded, she vaguely saw a pair of bloodshot beast-like eyes.

Wynona was not the only one who sensed the suffocating dread in the air. Bruce and his team also felt that. It felt eerily similar to the highly secretive laboratory where they were experimenting on mutants.

Zoey was on a killing spree at the hospital, and almost all of Bruce's men were down.

Bruce was almost certain the person they were looking at was neither Zoey nor Jared. She had turned into an unstoppable demon, a monster!

"Retreat! Get out quickly!" he shouted.

With the protection of his invisible protective armor, he managed to escape with two of his key men.

Although the outcome was regretful, Bruce had achieved his mission. Making a monster out of Zoey would mean creating a disaster for Levi and Erudia.

Wynona finally saw the true intention of Bruce, but she could not leave Zoey alone. She had to stop her!

Boom! Boom! Boom!

Zoey was like a crazed beast, destroying everything in her path, and soon, the hospital resembled a war zone.

Wynona did her utmost best to stop Zoey, getting badly injured in the process. Her body was full of bloodied wounds, but thanks to her new superpowers, she had amazing healing abilities, and could speedily recover from her injuries.

That was the only reason why she could keep up her resistance against Zoey.

Levi arrived at the hospital, with Okano in tow, and he was “Stay calm, Levi!” Wynona rushed over and pushed him aside, away from Zoey’s path.

Boom!

Where Zoey landed, there was a huge crater the size of a basketball court.

“She is not rational now! All she wanted is to kill you, so you have to come to your senses! We have to try to restrain her first! Don’t worry about hurting her. She is way too strong. We may not be her match so we have to execute our full power to fight with her!” Wynona urged.

“All right!” Levi composed himself just in time, as Zoey had charged toward him again.

And he took her blow head-on.

Bang!

Two of them staggered backward by almost a hundred feet, and the ground where they passed cracked under the force.

Impressive! So this is how powerful the number two of the Gem List is! He can actually take her on!

Wynona was astounded!

“What is wrong with you, Zoey? Look at me! I am Levi!” Levi shouted out to Zoey, hoping to make her recall who he was.

Sadly, Zoey got more agitated upon hearing his name and after taking a good look at him.

Plonk!

Levi's limp body landed heavily on the ground.

Wynona froze in shock!

Levi, who was ranked second on the Gem List, was defeated? How did Zoey come up with that last mighty burst of energy to knock him down?

“You held back and did not use your full force, did you?” she asked.

Levi did not answer her. He was shocked beyond words, as he knew he had not held himself back. He lost, simply because Zoey was too powerful!

The unimaginable had happened. He had lost to Zoey!

He could have managed to escape unhurt by using Shadow Clone and counting on his unmatched speed. He could also execute a skill he had never used before to maintain his invincible status. However, that was a skill his mentor had taught him but sternly reminded him to try his best not to use ever if possible, as the execution of the Forbidden Technique would create havoc to the world.

For the longest time, Levi had remained invincible. He had always managed to crush his opponents, so he had long forgotten about Forbidden Technique.

During the intense battle with Zoey, he recalled that skill. However, he felt he had not gone down to such a desperate state that justified its execution.

In the end, he did not use the Forbidden Technique and decided to take Zoey on with brute force.

Chapter 1865

Who was that? Who was the one who injured Levi? Who was the one who defeated Fiery Demon's heir?

The whole world was buzzing with speculations.

Levi was left lying injured on the battleground, and he was alone. That meant the victor had left the place, not wanting to boast about the victory nor be in the limelight. That further piqued everyone's interest in the victor's identity.

After much speculations, they narrowed it down to one person, Robed Slayer, the one who was previously ranked second on the Gem List.

Previously, there were rumors abound that Robed Slayer was prepared to duel with Levi, although no one had any further news on Robed Slayer.

The public suspected it was probably Robed Slayer who challenged Levi to a fight, won and left.

After all, he was rumored to be a low-profile person who shunned the limelight. The only reason he would want to defeat Levi would be to crush the ego of Levi and his followers, so they could not go on creating trouble for Erudia's martial artists.

The public was convinced Robed Slayer was the one who defeated Levi, and he became the new idol.

The youth warriors of The Cardinal Hall who were imprisoned by Fiery Demon's followers were elated when they heard of Levi's defeat.

The reason Levi lost to Zoey was that he wanted to see how powerful she was.

He could have used his skills and speed to avoid her blows and escaped unharmed. Moreover, if he had executed Forbidden Technique, Zoey would be doomed.

Although Wynona had urged him to unleash his full power, he had held back. After all, Zoey was his wife, so how could he bear to hit her with his full force?

Anyone who truly knew his abilities would know he could not have lost unless he did it on purpose.

Indeed, he was injured, but the reason for the injuries was different.

Huh?

The crowd gathered was puzzled by his words and attitude. They could not comprehend how someone so gravely injured could be so arrogant as to belittle all of them.

"Drop this arrogant act! You are a loser and had lost to Robed Slayer! You are a nobody now!"

"That's right! Don't forget you are injured. Even if you are not injured, Robed Slayer could easily crush you again. You will still have to bow."

"Let me give you a piece of advice. Come with us to The Cardinal Hall. Don't make a fuss, and you will be spared from more sufferings."

Pfft!

One question was enough to make a confident Levi feel despondent instantly, his body trembling uncontrollably.

He did not know how Zoey’s condition was. His mother, daughter, and Mia were all in the hands of The Cardinal Hall.

It was a really challenging time for him.

“Don’t worry, Levi. Your family is doing very well at The Cardinal Hall. Although you are Fiery Demon’s heir, that doesn’t mean they will be seen in the same light! Your child and sister are exceptionally talented and have been accepted as our disciples. Forlevia, with her rare talent, will be groomed as a future leader. Nevertheless, I feel you should pay them a visit,” The Dark Lord slyly commented.

All those present were full of respect for The Cardinal Hall, praising them for being magnanimous toward the family of an infamous demon. His family should have been eliminated as well.

However, if one read between the lines, especially his last sentence, one would understand it was quite the opposite.

Urging Levi to visit his child and mother could have a double meaning. If taken literally, he was telling Levi The Cardinal Hall was taking good care of his family. The hidden meaning was that his family was in their hands and he had better do as he was told. It was in fact blackmail in disguise.

Your mother and your child are in our hands. Don’t you dare go against us! That was the real message they were trying to send across.

Levi could only helplessly reply, “Sure! I would like to see my mother and my child.”

"Zoey!" Wynona warily stepped away from Zoey.

She intuitively tensed up and got into a combat-ready mode. Obviously, after witnessing Zoey's shocking abilities, she had become scared and wary of her. She knew if Zoey were to go into that crazy mode again, she would not be able to stop her.

Okano, who was with them, had fear written all over his face, worried Zoey would freak out and kill him with a single blow.

Wynona's reaction puzzled Zoey, so she asked, "What... what is wrong, Ms. Wilcox?" There was a look of bewilderment in her eyes.

She seemed to be back to her gentle self, with no hint of the earlier hostile beast in her.

Wynona was genuinely confused and even began to wonder if she was having a hallucination earlier, and that the monster Zoey did not exist at all.

"Are... are you feeling okay, Zoey?" she anxiously asked.

"I feel fine. What's wrong? I think I had a dream, and I was fighting with someone in the dream." Zoey was massaging her head, and trying hard to recall. She had a very vague impression but no recollection of what had happened.

Chapter 1869

The Dark Lord did not bring Levi back to The Cardinal Hall. Instead, he was taken to a villa in the outskirt of Oakland City.

The place looked like a vacation house, but in actual fact, it was one of the secret bases of The Cardinal Hall.

Housed in the basement of the villa was their intelligence section, staffed by many highly skilled warriors. There was also a prison in there.

Levi was blindfolded when they transported him, and when the blindfold was removed, he found himself in a prison.

It was a carefully designed, highly secured prison that was almost impossible to get out of.

He could forget about jail breaking.

"I thought you are bringing me to my family. Where are they?" he asked.

"Don't forget you are now the most wanted prisoner in The Cardinal Hall. Do you think you can make demands and give orders?"

"If you stay good, we will not only let you meet your daughter and mother, but we will also ensure they have a bright future and a comfortable life."

Levi was not so gullible as to think they would honor their promise. However, he had to play along with them as he did not know where The Cardinal Hall was, so even if he managed to fight his way out, he would not be able to find his family. More likely, he would place them in greater danger.

The only thing he could do was to humor them until he had a chance to meet his family.

With Levi out of the picture, it was the best time for them to act. And a largescale mission had started on quietly.

Levi knew The Inferno's intention was to restrain him, but he played along as his aim was to get to meet Forlevia, Emma, and Mia.

There were many worries on his mind.

First of all, he was very worried about Zoey. She was too formidable, and he knew other than him with his Forbidden Technique, no one else could stop her.

In addition, there was this second stage of action that Okano mentioned.

He knew he had to act fast, and time was running out.

"You said you will let me meet my mother and daughter. The Cardinal Hall would honor its words, right?" he pressed on.

Kaiden and his team walked over and smilingly cajoled him, saying "They are on their way! But before that, you have to answer a few questions!"

"Huh?"

"Firstly, do you acknowledge you are the heir to Fiery Demon?" Zelda asked.
