Chapter 1921

The Twin Meteorites chased after Levi.

"Huh? What's up?" asked Levi.

"We heard about what happened to your wife. You must be troubled by it," replied one guy.

Levi nodded.

"Master, we have some news, and it might be able to help you."

"What is that?"

"According to our sources, Goldenport Island had always been the place where masters of magical techniques gathered. "The most powerful master of magical techniques on the Gem List, Xenotoph, lives there!

"There are many other masters of magical techniques who could use geomancy to change a person's luck. "Some are malicious beings who could control others' minds and kill them from miles away, though.

"Still, we got to know a master, and his skills are incredible! He might be able to help with your wife's illness!"

Levi's entire body trembled upon hearing that.

He was desperate and would not let go of any glimmer of hope.

After that growl, a few dozen people showed up in the corridor.

A few youngsters stood in the front while a bunch of bodyguards followed closely behind.

Some were Erudians, while others were foreigners.

The thing every bodyguard had in common, however, was that they were all terrifying martial artists and men with superpowers.

The fact that they were willing to be the youngsters' bodyguards showed just how powerful those youngsters were.

Their leader was a woman who was about six feet tall and had curves that were as sexy as a model's figure.

She had a beautiful face that could take anyone's breath away.

A ponytail hung proudly on the back of her head and made her look down-to-earth.

Yet, her aura was undeniably regal and unapproachable.

That was the God of Gamblers' granddaughter and the heir to the Hilton family. Her name was Sherrie Hilton.

The three other members of her gang were Ronald, whose family was the second richest family on Goldenport Island; Priscilla, who was from the third richest family; and Freddie, who was from the fourth richest family.

Every single one of them exuded an incredible aura, and it was obvious that they were from powerful families.

The company Levi and Zoey founded was growing exponentially, but their wealth was still a short distance away from the Goldenport Island's families.

The heirs looked icily at Levi before they left.

They behaved like they were heavenly deities who were looking down on mere mortals.

For people whose family was almost as wealthy as the God of Gamblers, commoners were nothing more than just maggots.

Levi, however, never gave a sh*t about the spoiled brat's threats.

Plenty had threatened him over the years, but how many of them actually succeeded in hurting him?

None!

Even Bruce and the entire country of Zarain couldn't do anything to him.

Hence, what could those punks really do to him?

Sherrie was quick to leave.

She didn't want to deal with annoying issues, so she allowed Levi to stay on board.

However, she wouldn't care if Levi died after he got off the ship.

That was why she wouldn't stop Freddie from doing anything to Levi afterward.

Sherrie and the others left beforehand because they didn’t care about Levi at all.

To them, he was nothing more than an ant on the ground.

Freddie was young, so it was understandable that he was upset after Levi told him off.

That was why he waited for Levi.

“My family has always reminded me not to make a mess in any other regions of Erudia because it would be troublesome to deal with the aftermath. However, we’re on Goldenport Island now, and this is my turf! Just watch as I bring you to your knees,” murmured Freddie before he sneered.

It only took him a second before he came up with tons of ideas to hurt Levi.

Those thoughts were so cruel that Freddie almost laughed aloud.

“Why hasn’t that punk left?” asked one bodyguard, who couldn’t help getting impatient. It had been minutes, but there were still no signs of Levi.

“Let’s wait a little longer. The economic cabin is probably too far away,” replied Freddie.

Five minutes passed...

Ten minutes went...

Time trickled by.

They waited for twenty whole minutes, but Freddie and his men never saw Levi around.

“What is going on? Did that punk get off beforehand?” blurted Freddie, who was starting to get

It wasn't like Levi was afraid of that pretentious punk. The former just thought that it was troublesome.

Moreover, he was too lazy to fight.

Those punks aren't worthy of me fighting back, anyway.

Levi went straight to look for the master of magical techniques that his disciples told him about.

Freddie joined Sherrie and the others soon after.

“You look terrible, Freddie. Did something happen?” asked Sherrie when she sensed that something was off.

Ronald teased, “Dude, that punk didn’t beat you up, didn’t he?”

“No,” replied Freddie sourly, “He knew that I would go after him, so he actually jumped into the sea to escape!”

“Well, it’s fine so long as you’re not hurt.”

Levi was just an ordinary dude to Sherrie and the others, so they weren’t interested in him.

They certainly weren’t going to keep asking about him.

It didn’t take long before they reached a manor so luxurious that it looked like a palace.

There were thousands of bodyguards, and covert sentries were everywhere.

Every single bodyguard was also armed with advanced weaponry.

“Who do you think Levi Garrison is? He is the Fiery Demon’s heir and a unique force of evil! That man is ranked number one on the Gem List, and even Bruce from the Lab of Gods couldn’t defeat him. Hell, the guy was so powerful that he turned down the invitation from the Sacred Organization.

“How will the Hilton family, ever be equal to a powerful being like that?

“Never make any comment like this again! It will not do well for us if others overhear you. Even if Levi doesn’t mind or come after us, his subordinates, the Seven Fiends, can still cause a huge problem for us!” roared Johannes angrily.

“Dad, is Levi truly that terrifying?” asked Sherrie’s uncle, Terrell Hilton.

Johannes scoffed and replied, “He is even more dangerous than what you can imagine. Let me put it this way. If he ever comes to Goldenport Island, no one will be a match against him. We certainly cannot afford to offend the guy.”

Terrell sighed and replied, “That’s true. The most powerful being on Goldenport Island is Xenotoph, but he is ranked behind Levi on the Gem List. Hence, there is no way he’d be a match against Levi. If Levi ever comes to Goldenport Island, the place will be turned upside down, and there will be nothing anyone can do about it.”

Freddie blurted and asked, “If Sherrie is engaged to Levi, does that mean she would no longer need to marry the heir of the Cryptic Stream Corporation?”

Johannes was slightly taken aback, but he eventually replied, “That is possible, but I heard that Levi is already married with a kid. Moreover, the heir of the Cryptic Stream Corporation has a better future.”

Sherrie’s gaze slowly became dimmer.

“Sherrie, don’t fantasize about anything else anymore. Remember that the heir of the Cryptic Stream Corporation will be here tomorrow and interact well with him.

“Joining forces with the Cryptic Stream Corporation via a marriage, then getting affiliated with the Lab of Gods. That is what our family should aim for!”

“Understood,” replied everyone else while nodding.

The cab driver had never met anyone who was brave enough to walk right to the Hilton family's home.

Levi's outfit also suggested that he was just a regular dude, so it felt like there was no way he'd be connected to the Hilton family.

If he is actually a powerful man, why would he need to get a cab?

All those points made it so that the cab driver was certain that Levi wouldn't leave the place in one piece.

He will likely die from this trip.

Levi saw the manor some distance away and started making his way toward it.

Unfortunately, he had already caught many people's eyes by then.

They watched as he slowly approached the manor's front door.

That was just how strict the security guards stationed there were.

They had to be sure that danger would remain far away from the manor.

Hence, they wouldn't even let a poisonous spider get through.

Someone like Levi was, therefore, definitely out of the question!

"Hold it right there! What are you doing?"

Someone shouted, and over ten bodyguards zipped over. They had Levi surrounded.

"Who's the head of this place?" asked Levi, who didn't bother answering the guy's question.

Sherrie definitely didn't expect to see the guy there at her front gate.

That's the guy I ignored on the ship!

At that moment, Sherrie couldn't help but feel intrigued.

It didn't matter how ordinary the guy was. The fact that he had the guts to make a scene at the God of Gamblers' place meant that he was different.

This is shocking!

I can't believe that the guy is coming after the Hilton family! I guess that means he is not like the others?

That was the first time Sherrie got curious about Levi.

If Freddie and the others knew how she felt, they would probably be so surprised that their jaws would drop.

"Huh? Do you know him, Ms. Sherrie?"

A security guard noticed something off, and he couldn't help asking about it.

"Yeah, we met once," answered Sherrie before she shifted her gaze to Levi and asked, "What are you doing here?"

Levi didn't answer her question. Instead, he asked, "Who is the God of Gamblers to you?"

"He is my grandpa."

"Then everything is much easier now. Get your grandpa over. I have a question for him!"

Levi's tone got everyone to feel extremely unpleasant, including Sherrie.

As suspected, Johannes showed up with a number of his bodyguards.

Thousands of skilled fighters under the Hilton family's paycheck gathered around as well.

That was the first time something like that happened since the Hilton family was founded.

Someone actually went after the Hilton family in their own home!

That was unheard of!

The alarm hadn't been raised in decades, and the fact that it was going off at that moment had put the entire Hilton family on high alert.

Every modern weapon had been fired up.

Ninety-nine percent of all skilled fighters hired by the Hilton family had gathered right away.

Even the God of Gamblers' forces, which had been assigned all over Goldenport Island, sent their men over immediately.

The other powerful families on Goldenport Island offered to help as well.

In short, the entire Goldenport Island was in chaos right away.

It seemed that Levi's punches had turned Goldenport Island upside down.

Thousands of people gathered around the front door of the Manor of Ultimate Dragonite in a blink of an eye.

So many people surrounded the place that there was hardly any space to even move.

Everyone stared at Levi, and they couldn't help feeling surprised when they saw that he was alone.

Chapter 1930

The younger generation felt nothing when they heard about the name.

However, the elder generation shifted their expression sharply because Levi mentioned the topic that had since been forbidden on Goldenport Island.

There was a reason he was known as the “half” phantom, and it was because he was neither kind nor evil. See, the guy was incredible at geomancy.

Hence, many rich and famous on Goldenport Island used to consult him whenever they planned anything major event, such as starting a business or throwing a wedding.

Anyone who consulted him would end up having a fruitful adventure.

Even powerful figures such as the God of Gamblers had turned to the Half Phantom for a consultation.

It would not be an exaggeration to say that almost everyone on the island went to him, and it was accurate to claim that every powerful figure on the island owed their power to the Half Phantom.

That was why Levi was shocked when he looked through the guy’s folder.

It was incredible! The guy was practically responsible for the glorious growth on Goldenport Island, and his influence lasted decades.

Everything grew from him, and he was the root of all that success.

Unfortunately, his sins were just as terrifying and as long-lasting as his achievements.

At first, everyone called him the Half Phantom because he was born with physical defects and was not aesthetically pleasing.

That had since change.
