Chapter 1971

Although he initially planned on going alone, he did not mind bringing Robed Slayer along.

Firstly, Robed Slayer was very powerful.

Secondly, he had already faded from everyone's attention.

"Right, when we fought earlier, I realized that your technique is slightly wrong..."

Levi had inherited a lot of knowledge from his master, which was all-encompassing and comprehensive.

In fact, it was the most foundational knowledge of any martial arts in the world.

As all techniques were related in some ways, Levi could notice some flaws and mistakes in Robed Slayer's techniques.

When faced with Levi's guidance, Robed Slayer did not dare to be arrogant at all. Instead, he listened attentively.

"I see! No wonder... I get it now."

"What? I can do that?"

"Oh my God? This is possible?"

"I'm going mad!"

Robed Slayer's exclamations resounded through the house for the entire night.

After receiving Levi's guidance, Robed Slayer was able to resolve many of the doubts he had regarding martial arts.

His abilities soared rapidly, reaching a new level that surpassed his past self, even when he had the Divine Sword.

If he fought with the experts whom Levi battled a few days ago, he might defeat all of them.

When Levi spoke, he spoke in fluent Raysonian.

Robed Slayer was an experienced man and had fought with a swordmaster in the past. Hence, he understood some Raysonian.

However, he was still stunned when he heard Levi speaking it.

It was as if Levi had grown up in Raysonia.

Even Delano was shocked.

As someone from Raysonia, he knew how fluent Levi was.

Including his tone and accent, Levi was like a native of Raysonia.

On the other hand, this was not actually tough for Levi.

When he was training with the special forces in the past, learning the languages and customs of other countries had already become a foundational skill.

The more knowledgeable one was about it, the lower the chances of dying.

Hence, every one put in a lot of effort in mastering that.

Usually, Levi could not be bothered to learn about foreign cultures, but his missions left him with no choice.

While Delano and the forces in Raysonia thought that they were a step ahead of Robed Slayer, the reality was that Levi and he were actually miles ahead of them already.

Never would they expect Levi to be alive, and even heading to Raysonia to take revenge.

In fact, Delano was the one who offered to bring them there.

Soon, Levi and the rest made their preparations and followed Delano to Raysonia.

During the journey, the Raysonian forces contacted Delano and said that they had prepared everything.

Upon thinking that Robed Slayer would soon die in his hands, Delano became extremely excited.

His position in the organization would be higher!

Meanwhile, Levi and Robed Slayer had already fabricated a flawless story about his old friend in Raysonia.

Even if Delano were to investigate it, he would not find anything.

Yet, they did not know that news about Robed Slayer going to Raysonia had already spread far and wide there.

Many forces in Raysonia were getting restless, wishing to witness the downfall of the Erudian legend.

After landing at Ulmrich in Raysonia, Delano had prepared some cars to transport them around.

The cars drove out of the bustling city center and toward a more remote area.

Naturally, Levi and Robed Slayer knew what he was up to.

Delano then turned around gracefully as he knew it would be a one-sided massacre without even having to look.

Hundreds of warriors came charging forward, but Levi simply stood there with his hands behind his back.

Robed Slayer, on the other hand, struck at his foes without any hesitation.

Boom!

Putting what he learned last night into use, his punch packed such immense power that the enemy instantly exploded in a bloody mist.

“Argh!”

“Gah!”

“Aaah!”

Blood splattered everywhere, and ear-piercing screams could be heard as every single punch he delivered turned the enemy into a bloody pulp.

None of the warriors expected Robed Slayer to come out of their encounter completely unscathed and show no signs of poisoning whatsoever.

Levi began going through the names on the list.

Let's see... We've got Raysonia's first and second largest business conglomerates, the Yamaguchi Corporation and Matsugami Corporation...

A local tyrant in the Raysonian underworld named Shin Yoshikawa...

The Watanabe family which serves as the military strategist of Raysonia (Former family of the military strategist, Tenichi Watanabe)...

The six ancient martial arts clans of Raysonia, namely the Kitajima family, the Hattori family, the Nogawa family, the Kameda family, the Kuno family, and the Yagyuu family...

And lastly, the Taiin Shrine which houses a huge number of priests (similar to Erudia's master of magical techniques)...

Those are the key forces of The Dark Sun, and they all have very specific responsibilities. Some contribute financially, some provide firepower, and some are in charge of strategizing. However, the organization is highly secretive, and practically no one in Raysonia knows of its existence. The Dark Sun had devised many plans in secret, but Delano's actions had exposed every single one of them. He's currently hiding in Edojo, the capital city of Raysonia. So, his loyalty is with the Watanabe clan, I see...

Levi was fully aware of Delano's whereabouts at all times.

His extreme confidence was backed by the fact that his family was indeed involved in killing Levi by sending the dwarf samurai.

Despite his arrogance, most of the women at the party were looking at him in admiration.

In fact, even Sakurako was starting to change the way she viewed him.

The Matsugami Corporation had also contributed to killing Levi, so she knew how strong martial artists were as well as the importance of power in this world.

“Don’t worry, Ms. Matsugami! With me around, no one will dare cause trouble at your birthday party! Those who do will become my enemy! Besides, we’ve already sent lots of warriors to kill Robed Slayer!” Ichido said with a smile.

“Really? That’s great! Those who dare mess with us in Raysonia shall die!”

“Erudia’s martial arts world sure is done for! First, they lose their number one warrior on the Gem List, and now the second one is going to die as well! Man, the mere thought of it gets me all excited!”

Ichido’s confidence had rubbed off on the people around him, and they all began laughing along with him.

Like the people of Zarain, Raysonians have always hated Erudia, especially individuals like Levi.

They were all frozen in shock, including Ichido and his men who were standing beside him.

Levi's sudden slap had caught them completely off guard and opened up a bloody wound on Ichido's cheek.

"Have you lost your mind? He's the freaking heir to the Kameda family!" one of the guests exclaimed in shock.

Levi simply chuckled in response when he heard that.

I came here for the Matsugami family, and now I'm getting a member of the Kameda family as a bonus!

"Die!" Ichido shouted while charging at Levi after snapping out of his daze.

I'm one of the top ten in Raysonia and used to attend the Elites Conference! No one has ever dared humiliate me like this!

Smack!

"Guh!" Ichido was then sent flying with another slap from Levi and died on the spot.

Considering the fact that he wasn't even able to defeat Levi's disciple in the past, it was only natural that he lost to Levi.

Levi didn’t mind it one bit, though.

It was a perfect opportunity for him as everyone would be focused on Robed Slayer instead.

The elimination of the Matsugami Corporation and Kameda family had caused a huge uproar within Raysonia.

Although the Kameda family was the weakest of the Ancient Warrior Families, they were still a force to be reckoned with.

That meant Robed Slayer was a lot more threatening than they had thought, and The Dark Sun couldn’t help but feel that something was amiss about everything that had happened.

Why are our members the ones being eliminated? We could easily assume it was a coincidence with the first one, but two in a row? Hmm... Seems kind of odd... Of course, we still can’t rule out the possibility of it being a coincidence unless proven otherwise...

Levi and Robed Slayer were about to leave when they bumped into the warriors sent by The Dark Sun.

Those men were much stronger than the ones Delano hired, and even so, none of them walked out of that encounter alive.

That was when The Dark Sun fully realized the seriousness of the situation.

"We should pick up the pace so they won't have time to respond, Mr. Garrison!" Robed Slayer urged him anxiously.

"No, it's too late for that now. They've already found out about us coming after them for revenge!" Levi replied with a smile.

The Dark Sun was a complex and highly professional organization, to begin with, so it wasn't surprising that they could respond to threats quickly.

"What shall we do, then? They've probably set up their defenses by now, so we're at a disadvantage!" Robed Slayer asked with a hint of concern on his face.

"It's fine! They may know about you regaining your strength, but they still don't perceive you as a threat and will continue to underestimate you! We have nothing to worry about for now!"

Robed Slayer nodded in agreement with Levi's words.

"But they will soon realize how dangerous you are and will definitely gather their strongest forces to take us out!" Levi added.

"Of course! They'll be on their guard once we take out another one or two of their key forces!" Robed Slayer said with a nod.

The Yamaguchi Corporation's defense system and Kamikaze team were indeed very strong and had kept tons of intruders out over the years.

That was the main reason behind their source of confidence in their defenses.

Even the Watanabe family was certain that Robed Slayer would die at their hands.

However, that one sentence shocked them so much that everyone jumped in their seats.

"What the..."

"W-Who are you?"

They then quickly glanced around the conference room and nearly had a heart attack when they saw two outsiders in the room with them.
