Chapter 2001

"The founder of The Dark Sun? Are you talking crap or what?"

Bruce was dumbstruck and rebutted right away.

The Dark Sun had been uprooted by Robed Slayer, and all their members were dead.

How could he still show up?

"No, something's not quite right. What did he call himself? The founder of The Dark Sun?"

Bruce realized that something did not add up right then.

"Yes, the founder of The Dark Sun!"

"All right then, let him in right now!"

Soon, a man donning a black robe entered the room.

If Levi was here, he would have recognized that this person was the one who impersonated him and fought him back at Terragon Hill.

"You're the founder of The Dark Sun?" Bruce asked with a perplexed face.

"No, that's my master. He requested that I look for you here," the man answered.

"Who's your Master? Why are you guys claiming to be the founder of The Dark Sun?"

Bruce did not see the point of beating around the bush and asked bluntly.

One thing was for sure, though. Levi knew that he did not yet possess the ability to stand up to the Lab of Gods.

Dealing with Bruce alone would exhaust his forces, not to mention the Lab of Gods which helmed much greater power.

Hence, there was no way Levi could contend the Lab of Gods head-to-head as he did with The Dark Sun.

One had to know thyself and thy enemies before striking a move.

Levi planned to find out more about Bruce and then wipe out his influences before tackling the Lab of Gods.

“Mr. Garrison, I’ll go back to Erudia then. Where are you heading next?” Robed Slayer asked.

“I will gather some of my old comrades for a discussion first,” Levi said with a smile.

“Good to know. Just let me know if you require any assistance, Mr. Garrison.”

Robed Slayer then headed back to Erudia.

This time, there was no need for him to play hide and seek.

Thousands of people from his home country, Erudia, were welcoming Robed Slayer home with open arms.

He was touted as the hero of the era.

Robed Slayer gladly accepted the honor and veneration from his own people.

Even The Cardinal Hall and Eragon were there to welcome him home.

Not long after, a few shadows flashed before his eyes. They were Azure Dragon, Kirin, White Tiger, Black Tortoise, Phoenix, Cavalry Regiment, Dragon Warriors, Specter Army, as well as the Ruby, Emerald, Sapphire, and Topaz Armies!

These were all regiments that fought alongside Levi on the battlefields, and all of them were invincible back in the golden era.

They were so fearsome that armies from other countries would shudder upon hearing their names and abandon the battle altogether.

However, times were different now.

It was already the golden era for martial artists and men with superpowers, accentuated by advancements in technology as well as gene-modifying techniques.

In the olden days, they only had a physical advantage over ordinary men.

However, ordinary men would only be cannon fodders going up against them now.

In the golden era of martial artists, Levi's most devoted followers like Azure Dragon all disappeared.

However, it was not because Levi no longer favored them.

The truth was, he did not wish for them to die.

After all, he regarded them as his brothers and sisters.

Azure Dragon and the others had gone through a lot just for today.
Their iron will to make it through the hurdle was inspiring as they practiced day in and day out.
Some of them even nearly died or were on the verge of madness throughout the practice just so they could finally fight alongside Levi again, just like they used to.
The day that they had been waiting for finally arrived.
“This is the time when I’m gathering forces. So, do expect heavy missions from hereon in. Please exercise caution in all your moves!”
“Don’t worry, we will complete all missions given to us!”
“We can finally fight alongside you!”
Azure Dragon and the others were beaming with delight.
Levi did not beat around the bush further as he hurriedly assigned missions for them in order to complete the next step of his plan.
Meanwhile, Levi was headed somewhere...
On the other side of things.
After welcoming Robed Slayer back to Erudia, Zoey and the others headed to another place.
They encountered a mysterious old man on their way.
Wynona was about to chase the man away when the old man proclaimed himself to be the Half

The Annihilator was outrageous.

The fact that he killed Levis, disintegrated his body, and made it vanish into the thin air was nothing new.

As such, everyone in Zarain treated him like a hero.

The Annihilator was always filled with excitement when someone brought this topic up again.

He seemed to be reminiscing about what happened that day.

As for the other nine fighters, they shared the same expression of impudence and abusiveness too.

They felt proud of The Annihilator for the demise of Levi.

“It’s him! It’s him who killed Mr. Garrison. I saw it with my naked eyes,” the Half Phantom roared.

Both Wynona and Mia were shocked to see the appearance of the ten fighters in front of them.

They had no idea at all of what they wanted to do.

Worse still, they even called themselves the killer of Levi.

At the next instant, the atmosphere started to grow increasingly tense.

“Why are you here?” Wynona asked promptly as she was worried that something bad could happen to Zoey.

As for Mia, she was immediately on the alert seeing how the opponents came well-prepared.

The Annihilator sneered as he said, “Of course, we’re here to bring all of you back. Don’t you ever struggle! Otherwise, you would end up like Levi.”

“Yes! Whoever struggles will end up like Levi. We’ll make sure that your body vanishes into the air as well.”

During the days at The Cardinal Hall, Zoey was trained by a lot of capable grandmasters.
She could now master the immense power within her.
Unlike before, she needed a raging emotion as a supplement to reinforce the release of her inner power.
Although the power triggered by fury was still potent, it could not be fully utilized on the opponents, which usually ended up with the dispersion and wastage of such energy.
However, Zoey could now control her power and thus use it appropriately.
Focusing all of her power into a single channel, she released it all in one go.
Boom!

In her opponent's team, there was also one who was familiar with the use of energy.

His power was so strong that it could capsize a sailing vessel easily.

As they fought, his fist was crashed against Zoey's, seemingly reenacting the clash of the titans.

In a split of a second, veins were seen surfacing all over his arms to his shoulders before spreading to other parts of his body, which eventually blasted to smithereens.

Indeed, Zoey's punch seemed to be a fatal one. He was dead!

Stunning! This is too shocking!

Even the Half Phantom was dumbfounded.

Zoey's combat level is damn scary! She's invincible! It's too great to be true! She's even more powerful than Robed Slayer!

Zoey looked for The Annihilator after she was done handling those cannon foddors but found no trace of him.

"I will definitely avenge you, Levi! I will destroy every single one of them!" Zoey roared angrily.

Wynona caught up with her at this time.

"Are you okay, Zoey? Calm down! You were so scary just now!"

"Don't worry, I'm fine. I'm back to normal now," Zoey said after calming down.

"That's good, then. My condolences, but no one can come back to life after they died."

Zoey seemed calm, but her mind was fiery, like a volcano that had just exploded.

From now on, she would inherit Levi's will and walk on his path! She had the capabilities to do so now.

Moreover, she had to take revenge for Levi!

No matter how powerful the enemies were, she must annihilate them.

She had to reassure Wynona and the others first or they would definitely not let her go if they knew what she was planning.

Meanwhile, The Annihilator was forced to escape in the opposite direction by Zoey and he had no other choice but to go down south.

His speed was as quick as lightning as he charged through the mountains.

But another figure quickly approached when he arrived at a three-way intersection and caused them to almost crash into one another.

They both immediately halted and looked at each other.

Something's wrong!

Levi's punch was really harmless to The Annihilator.

But another terrifying power appeared after the punch connected to The Annihilator and wreak havoc in his body.

He didn't expect that Levi's weak punch concealed another attack, and it was affecting his body!

This is bad! The Annihilator frowned as he found that there was not only another punch.

It turned out that there was a third punch.

Boom!

Crack!

A cracking sound was heard from within The Annihilator's body followed by his painful scream.

Although he was the only survivor from the Lab of Gods, he was still a human after all. Naturally, he could still feel pain.

Boom!

Crack!

No, there's actually a fourth punch and it's packed with a strong force!

The fourth punch exploded inside The Annihilator's body and destroyed his organs and tissues wildly.

After receiving damage on both inner and outer, The Annihilator at that moment could no longer withstand Levi's attack.
As a result, he was completely at his opponent's mercy.
Boom! Boom! Boom!
One by one, Levi landed his punches on his opponent's face mercilessly.
At that instant, all Levi could think of was to redeem himself.
Even though he was faking death at that time, he could still remember how The Annihilator punched him.
So, today, I'll make him pay double for what he did to me!

Dong! Dong! Dong!

Levi's punches rained down on him like the sustained rapid fire of a machine gun. In a flash, thousands of blows landed on his face.

Thereby, The Annihilator couldn't heal fast enough to recover from such damages.

Instantly, his face turned into a mass of bleeding flesh, nearly shredded into pieces.

The power from the punch even spread to his body to form visible cracks.

That day, Levi had finally let him have a taste of his own medicine.

On the brink of death, The Annihilator looked at Levi weakly. With a trembling voice, he asked, "W-Who a-are you?"

Bruce instantly remarked excitedly, "What? Is there news? Quick! Say it!"

At the same time, he felt relieved.

"It's good! I thought something had happened to him."

In the meantime, everyone on the scene also heaved a relieved sigh.

Finally, we receive news from The Annihilator!

"But..."

After hesitating for a moment, that person continued, "But it's a piece of bad news. I checked his chip just now and found that he had no sign of life anymore, meaning that he's dead."

Almost everyone in Lab of Gods had a chip planted in their bodies.

It could determine whether that person was alive or dead, locate that person, detect dangers, and many more.

Now that there was no life fluctuation signal from the chip in The Annihilator, that could only mean one thing.
