Chapter 2091 The Master Of North Hampton

Henry's style was horrifying, and he stunned everyone there.

He was like a vengeful god at that moment.

Everyone stared with their eyes bulging.

When did Henry become so powerful? That strength will likely overwhelm the entire North Hampton! What exactly did he go through? Wasn't he abandoned? How did he come so scary?

It was a time and age where most had already seen all kinds of fighters.

However, Henry was on another level.

The strength he held could topple all the fighters in every part of North Hampton.

Everyone rushed over.

It seemed that time truly had changed.

Erudia had fighters stationed around their borders so that they could deal with sudden issues that arise.

Those fighters were sent by The Cardinal Hall and the Dragonites.

Their team, as a whole, was regarded as the Protectors.

After learning about the sudden change in North Hampton, the Protectors stationed there hurried over.

"What's going on? Who's making a scene here in North Hampton?"

A Protector came to reprimand the criminal.

“They’re here. Gah, those two are the most useless of the bunch.”

“Get them over quickly!” instructed Harry unhappily.

It didn’t take long before Aaron and his wife were brought to Henry.

The two of them actually knew all about what had happened, and they were aware of how Henry had become a skilled fighter.

That was why they had been hiding away to avoid any conflict with him.

To their dismay, Henry thought about them despite all that.

“Do you still recognize me, Aaron?” asked Henry with a smile.

“That’s a funny joke. How could we not recognize you when you’re my brother?”

Aaron didn’t even dare to look at Henry when the former replied.

“Hah, your brother? Have you ever seen me as your brother at all? Where were you when we were cast out and when our parents tried to get us back to Erudia?”

“And where were you when they begged your son-in-law to lift the restraining order that he imposed on us?”

“What happened to him? How did an ordinary guy like him suddenly become so strong?”

That was the question in everybody’s mind.

“Investigate the matter now! While you’re at it, figure out where he is heading next.”

“He’s going to South Hampton, and it looks like he is after Levi’s mother.”

“What the hell is he trying to do? This behavior is out of the norm!”

The Dragonites and The Cardinal Hall had started working on the matter.

They even sent their specialists to North Hampton to figure things out.

In all that time, they never knew that Henry was only there to test their capabilities.

The Lab of Gods’ experiments were so dangerous that they were alarming.

However, no one knew just how powerful its trump card was.

It was likely that even Bruce had no idea the extent of that organization’s power.

That was why Levi was slowly but surely investigating the matter.

Similarly, Eragon and The Cardinal Hall, which were protecting Erudia, were equally mysterious. No one knew exactly how powerful they were.

Hence, they were also being testing.

The truth was that The Cardinal Hall had already fallen into their enemy’s trap when they took action.

Henry never hid away. He marched down the street and practically made it a public affair as he went to go after Levi’s mother.

That news spread like wildfire.

"Are you sure? Things are not set in stone though," replied Wynona before she attacked immediately after.

Wynona was ridiculously strong at that moment.

She was able to draw out her strength with extreme ease and precision at the time.

Boom! Bang! Crash!

It seemed that Henry had finally met his match.

He couldn't kill Wynona easily and within seconds unlike he did with everyone else.

For a moment there, Wynona had him stuck in one place.

She landed punch after punch on Henry, but his distorted and injured body healed itself immediately after.

Hence, he remained unaffected.

The speed at which he healed himself was different from the way everyone else healed themselves.

He was a pure energy being, so he no longer had a physical body to begin with.

In a way, he was just energized atoms.

Wynona's attacks were as aggressive as the most terrifying tsunami and the scariest tornado.

However, she still couldn't hurt Henry.

He was unstoppable!

Henry had shown just how terrifying pure energy beings could be.

Erudia was in dead silence the second the Robbed Slayer fell.

"What kind of a monster is that?"

"He defeated the Robbed Slayer? Is there anyone out there who is a match against him?"

Bruce was delighted.

Seeing how Henry had defeated the Robbed Slayer made Bruce feel immensely proud.

The Robbed Slayer was worshipped as a deity after that one battle where he annihilated The Dark Sun.

That made him an extremely important figure in Erudia... maybe even in the entire world.

Hence, defeating the Robbed Slayer was basically equivalent to destroying the holiest part of everybody's heart.

The council members of the Lab of Gods called right away to praise Bruce.

They also promoted him and gave him more power.

That got Bruce even more excited.

He was tempted to create more pure energy beings and send them over to Erudia.

At that moment, he was already picturing how the Lopez and Black families would all be converted into pure energy beings.

They will wreak havoc in all of Erudia...

“Keep pushing. Threaten Levi Garrison’s mother and force The Cardinal Hall to attack!” instructed Bruce to Henry.

“N-no!”

Wynona and the others screamed with a broken heart, but there was nothing else they could do.
They watched in agony and despair.

It seemed that only the fighters from The Cardinal Hall could defeat Henry at that point.

“Kill her! We don’t need to threaten her or hold her hostage. Killing her will be sufficient, and The Cardinal hall will be forced to retaliate,” ordered Bruce, whose voice came running into Henry’s ears.

“Understood!”

“Kill her!”

Henry threw a punch at Emma.

That single punch could kill her instantly.

Mia, Wynona, and the others teared up. No one wanted to see it happen.

In the end, we can’t keep her safe.

Just before the punch reached Emma, a silhouette zipped over at a speed that even Henry couldn’t detect.

Bang!

The opponent threw a punch as well, and that forced Henry to back away.

The mysterious man grabbed Emma and left immediately after. He moved like lightning and disappeared without a trace.

The guy grinned and replied, "Yeah, they call me the Fiery Demon."

That's right.

The person who rescued Emma in a nick of time was none other than Cyrus.

He had been eager to serve Levi ever since he saw the seal on him.

First, he let Levi go, and then he went to rescue Levi's mother.

Cyrus even rescued the woman from his own partner.

If Bruce were to learn about everything Cyrus had done, it was likely that the former would get so angry that he would die of high blood pressure.

After Cyrus shared his reasons with Bruce, the latter trusted the former completely and allowed the former to cooperate with the Lab of Gods for free.

Even after everything that had happened, Bruce still wouldn't think that Cyrus was the traitor.

Who would've thought that the guy would betray everyone after seeing the seal?

Heck, he even went against his words twice in a row.

"You're the Fiery Demon?"

It was obvious that Emma knew all about who the Fiery Demon was.

Levi being the Fiery Demon's heir to drive a wedge between Levi and his comrade. That made Levi the target of countless assassins,

Chapter 2098 The Cardinal Hall Finally Got Their Fighters Over

There were a total of three people there, and all three were middle-aged individuals.

Two of them were men, whereas one was a woman.

They wore long-sleeved shirts and old-fashioned shoes like they were from Progressive Era.

That wasn't strange because they actually were from that period.

What was strange was that all three of them looked ordinary, but they were the people that The Cardinal Hall had sent to defeat Henry.

Bruce got the scanned images from Henry and quickly had his team investigate everything there was to know about all three experts.

Only the Cardinal Hall had what it took to send fighters over at a time like that.

Hence, Bruce knew that he had to pay attention.

It was undeniable that the intelligence unit of the Lab of Gods was incredible. Not only had they gathered the information for hundreds of years, they even had access to information from all around the world.

It only took them a few seconds to figure out who all three fighters were.

All three of them went missing... or rather, they were declared dead ages ago during the war.

All three of them barely showed up on the records and there were only a few entries of them.

Moreover, they didn't appear in any significant events and were only seen in random, unknown places.

Time should've erased all traces of their existence, and their names should've been lost like the thousands of people who had starved during that period.

He was unkillable, so who could stop him?
The Cardinal Hall could send out its best fighters, but they still couldn't eradicate Henry.
That was why they were focused on learning how Henry suddenly became that strong.
All of Erudia was troubled.
They worried about Henry and wondered what they could do if he ever came after them.
No one was aware of the fact that Henry's strength came from the Lab of Gods.
If they knew, they would probably die of worry.

Henry was all irritated about how he couldn't kill Emma, but Bruce didn't actually care. Levi was already dead, so Bruce thought that Emma's survival was of no importance.

However, he was concerned about how someone was able to rescue her from right under Henry's nose.

Who could it be? It's certainly not someone from The Cardinal Hall...

Bruce couldn't think of anyone.

Chapter 2100 Negotiation

The way everyone had gathered meant that a disaster was about to happen.

Henry was able to turn Erudia upside down all on his own.

Even the experts that The Cardinal Hall sent over couldn't do anything about it. Henry fled on his own accord.

At that moment, a bunch of pure energy beings had gathered, and each was stronger than the one before.

No one had any idea what disaster they would bring about when they work in unison.

Shaun and the others were eager to show off their strength after they received their "gifts".

They were more ambitious than ordinary people and craved control above all else.

"According to Mr. Johnston, we are to spread out across Erudia and become the ruler of all the regions!

"How about this? We will form groups of two and travel to every region to conquer it

"If any of us encounters fighters we cannot defeat, we will send out the signals, and the ones closest to the signal shall rush over to help. "If our opponent is simply too strong, we will all gather to take our opponent down."

Shaun was the strongest pure energy being there, and he was quick to create a plan.

With that, everyone formed groups of two and traveled to different regions.

It only took a few days for a single phenomenon to show up in every corner of Erudia. Mysterious fighters had shown up and gone on a murder spree. They had killed dozens of skilled fighters.
