Levi's words sounded like the Grim Reaper's calling to Melissa and her friends.

Thud!

...

Melissa and 38 other members of the senior management knelt on the floor.

Thump, thump, thump...

They slammed their foreheads against the ground frantically.

All of them did not seem to care, even as their foreheads were bleeding. That was the least of their concerns because they sensed death closing in on them.

William Hanks and Melissa Floyd were feeling the most fear out of everyone who knelt on the ground because William was the one that suggested the gathering, while Melissa orchestrated the rest.

Levi's voice rang beside William's ears all of a sudden. 'I am still your boss'. He was telling the truth!

Levi waved his hand. "The rest of you stand behind me."

The ceremony to change the company’s name was held after all preparations were in place.

All the reporters from every major media and newspaper gathered to witness the ceremony.

A stage and various equipment were installed on the spacious plaza in front of Levi Group’s building.

Levi remained hidden as usual. He sat inside his office, casting his gaze outside the window with the entire North Hampton’s view spanned before him.

He could observe the happenings at the plaza clearly from where he sat.

Kirin would be the person to attend the ceremony this time. But he wore sunglasses to cover up his face as usual.

“Should I attend the ceremony now, Sir?”

“Go ahead.”

At that moment, Levi could see a few mysterious and unwelcome guests lurking around the venue as his eyes swept through the crowd. They are probably men from the North Hampton Chamber of Commerce or other business competitors. I suppose they are here to investigate Niel Atkinson’s identity.

The men had only one goal. They wanted to disrupt the name-changing ceremony and thoroughly discredit Neil Atkinson as well as Levi Group.

All of them raised the baseball bats in their hands and rushed forward.

They were merely fifty meter away from the venue...

Levi witnessed everything from the president's office.

A voice was heard through the earpiece Levi was wearing. "Sir, all thirty snipers have locked on to the targets. Please provide us with further instruction."

No one knew that a few teams of snipers had surrounded Levi Group's building by positioning themselves in the skyscrapers nearby. The snipers aimed their rifles at the incoming mob.

They had been waiting for those men in black to show up.

Levi gave the order as the mob moved closer to the crowd. "Shoot."

Azure Dragon relayed Levi's order as he commanded. "Attention to all sniper teams. Shoot. I repeat. Shoot."

Wallace Henderson was caught in perplexity. "That's right. Most of the men recruited by Whirlwind Security Company are ex-policemen and ex-soldiers. They are well-known for their efficiency and skills. I heard the team leaders were even mercenaries in the past. So why did they fell flat on their face all of a sudden?"

Eric took a deep breath. "This must be Neil Atkinson's doing. He made the preparations in advance. But I do not understand how all of them fell at the same time. Even those men who experienced that bizarre fall did not know what happened to them."

Baldwin stroked his chin. "Perhaps we underestimated Neil Atkinson! By the way, have you figured out his identity yet?"

The rest of them shook their heads. "We've utilized all our connections to investigate his identity, but nothing came up. His information seems to be classified."

At that moment, the heir to the Anderson family, Virgil Anderson, walked hastily toward the elderlies. "Father, Uncles, the vice commander-in-chief, Mr. Hoyles, from the warzone has updated me with the latest news. He told me he is somewhat familiar with Neil Atkinson, and he is still investigating this matter. He wanted me to reassure all of you to be patient because he will find out Neil's identity sooner or later."

Eric Robinson's son, Sheldon Robinson, brought news as well. "Mr. Cooke told me Neil came from the Northwest region. He is still trying to look into other aspects of his background."

Grover's information was accurate. Kirin was indeed serving the army in the Northwest warzone.

Chapter 215

Iris is a very competent person. She obtained two Master's Degrees from two of the top universities in the country, then she studied abroad and stayed there to develop her career in the finance industry. Zoey was curious. She's doing so well abroad at the moment. So why is she returning to the country all of a sudden?

Levi was puzzled too. It's best to not try to figure out a woman's thought process. They are complicated beings after all.

"What did she say to you?" Levi asked.

Zoey answered joyfully. "She told me she's returning to North Hampton to develop her career. She has even bought a house here!"

However, Zoey frowned slightly as confusion glinted in her mesmerizing eyes. I wonder which company in North Hampton is capable of attracting Iris's attention?

The next day, Levi drove Zoey's car to the airport early in the morning.

Levi waited for a short while at the airport's exit before Iris Anabelle showed up.

Levi put on a wry smile. "You have got to be kidding me! I'm not married to you anyway."

"Zoey is my best friend. I cannot allow her to ruin her life!" Iris said coldly. "Unless..."

"Unless what?" Her words piqued Levi's interest.

"Unless you become successful again. You have to be as accomplished as Zoey to deserve her. Otherwise, I will never agree for you to stay by her side!"

Levi laughed. "I am the one who aided Zoey to achieve her current success, you know?"

Iris grimaced. She questioned Levi in an icy tone. "Are you telling me that you regained control of Levi Group and proposed to change the company's name to Morris Group?"

Levi grinned. "You're a smart lass all right! You're absolutely correct!"

"Can you be a little more grounded, Levi Garrison? You're ridiculous! I've researched everything about Morris Group. The Chairman of the company, Neil Atkinson, has got nothing to do with you!"

No wonder she asked me to send her here. This is all Iris's fault. I would've grasped the situation earlier if she did not bash me with all those insults just now.

Iris's interview started before Levi could recollect his thoughts.

She was indeed a highly competent candidate as she wasted no time to impress the interviewers with her performance.

Levi recomposed himself and began questioning her through Kirin.

Levi's inquiries were all in point and reflected his professionalism.

Iris was amazed whenever Kirin asked her the questions. This Neil Atkinson is a remarkable man! The way he tackles a situation from a unique point of view is simply astounding! He's a business prodigy. My career can only flourish under the leadership of a brilliant man like him. This will be a great opportunity to polish and further enhance my talents.

However, what Iris didn't know was that it was Levi who was coming up with the questions.

She resolved all the queries one after the other in a calm and collected manner.

She'd prepared herself thoroughly before attending this interview. She has considered Morris Group's future and laid out detailed plans to further advance the company in this industry. Levi thought Iris was indeed a capable person for the job. This is the type of talent I need in my company!

Levi took the cash and stashed the money into his wallet.

Iris shook her head and sighed at that sight. He’s willing to accept the money without any complaint. He really doesn’t deserve Zoey anymore.

Levi added. “You’re even tipping me? Did you strike gold earlier?”

Iris pointed at Morris Group. “Do you know this place?”

Levi nodded. “Of course. This place used to be Levi Group.”

“Yes. Morris Group had acquired Garrison Group. This company’s assets are worth more than ten billion now, so the prospect is something to behold. I am the newly-hired vice-president of Morris Group. I do not prioritize the salary, but they are paying me seventy million annually.” Iris explained to Levi as if that was an insignificant matter. I can earn this much money while I was abroad anyway. I applied for this job in Morris Group mainly to fulfill my dreams.

“Congratulations then!” Levi grinned. He added to himself internally. I’m afraid you will never know this. But I am your boss, I will be the one that get to decide the amount of your annual salary.

A Porsche 911, worth over a million, was parked outside the house when they arrived at the entrance.

"My car is here!" Iris opened the car door and entered the driver seat.

She had purchased everything she needed before her return to the country. One of the cars she bought was this Porsche 911, while the house she acquired was next to Levi and Zoey in Bayview Garden.

"Get in, Zoey!" Iris shouted.

Zoey hesitated. There are only two seats available in this sports car. What about Levi?

"Hmph! Let him take a cab. Do not drive there, Levi Garrison! The place we are going to does not allow any car below one million to enter." Iris reminded Levi sternly. I am going to show him the difference between our standards right here and now. He should just take a cab there instead of sticking out like a sore thumb at that high-end restaurant for driving a cheap car.

In the end, Zoey joined Iris in her car while Levi took a cab to their destination.

“Are you satisfied with our services, Mr. Garrison and esteemed guests?” Alger sought out their opinions while looking at Levi, naturally.

Levi replied with a smile. “It’s acceptable.”

Zoey was anxious while Iris said coldly. “What are you talking about, Levi Garrison? You’re not qualified to voice out your opinion in a place like this.”

Clarity washed over Alger Palmer instantaneously. These two ladies must not be aware of Levi Garrison’s identity. He quickly smoothed things over. “Please calm down, Ms. Anabelle. We accept every feedback given by our patrons. You can even give us suggestions as to how we can improve our services. We will try our best to please Mr. Garrison!” Leo Rogers’s words rang beside Alger’s ears as he shuddered fearfully. You will suffer greatly if anyone inside the restaurant displeases Levi Garrison.

Maintaining Levi’s good mood was the utmost priority for every staff in Royale Club Restaurant at that moment.

Alger bowed deeply while asking for Levi’s opinion. “Do you have any suggestion for us, Mr. Garrison?”

“I do have one suggestion. Hurry up and serve the dishes. I am famished!” Levi said impatiently.
