Chapter 2191 The Weapon That Killed The Progenitor

He actually fears someone? That's why he won't go to Erudia?

Death Fiend was quite shocked, for he knew how powerful Dark Emperor was. No matter how much the times have changed over the last three years, Dark Emperor maintained his place on top of everyone, just like the king of the world.

After all, he managed to train Zoey into a fearsome killing machine. Even so, Dark Emperor feared that nemesis of his. Obviously, his enemy must be more terrifying than Dark Emperor.

No wonder he wants the Skyward Sword that much. He wants to defeat his nemesis.

"Everyone knows the Skyward Sword is powerful, but none know that I have the Terra Blade. Of course, barely anyone know that the two are a pair. If a single person can wield both of them at the same time, the weapons will be a deathly combination!"

He let them in so he could record their details. In other words, The Cardinal Hall could get all the details on the world's strongest fighters.

That would make it easier for The Cardinal Hall to control the situation, as the information was ammo for them.

“What? Even Zoey is here? Keep an eye on her, but don’t alert her! What a surprise. We can take the sword and take out a lot of our enemies.” Edmund smiled.

At the same time, Forlevia was in North Hampton with her grandparents. She was staying with them for the last few days, but after finding out about the sword, Forlevia wanted to take a look as well.

She came out to gain exposure after all, and it was a good chance for her to track her parents down.

Because of that, she too went to the site where the sword would make its appearance. However, she didn’t bring anyone of her grandparents with her, for it was a dangerous mission. She couldn’t take care of everyone, so she could only go alone.

Cyrus could feel himself melting from the heat since he couldn’t handle it. He’d soon disappear like a puff of smoke in a moment if he didn’t defend himself.

Thanks to the tremendous heat, Cyrus finally healed and did his best to defend against the energy coming off from Levi.

What’s going on? What happened?

Over the last two years, Levi’s life force got weaker and weaker, until it finally disappeared. It was as if he reached nirvana and wouldn’t wake up no matter what Cyrus did.

He thought Levi was dead, but now he felt great energy coming from him.

This is unbelievable. Is this it? Has he completed his training?

But before he could finish his thought, a wave of energy slammed into him and made him spew blood, much to his surprise.

Finally, Cyrus got a reply.

Levi opened his eyes fully and stood up. "Two years, huh?" he lamented.

Cyrus's hope was rekindled, so he gazed at Levi, his excitement barely contained. He was confident in Levi, for the strength he showed earlier was out of this world.

"Maestro, can you break out of this prison now?" Cyrus' voice was trembling.

Levi smiled. "I can try. But please stand behind me."

Cyrus quickly stood behind Levi. After he did, Levi smiled and hurled a punch. It seemed like an ordinary punch, but its strength transcended time and space.

The greatest power was often manifested in the form of mundanity. That was the result of Levi's solitary training. He desired nothing more than absolute speed and power.

It was a simple punch, but it consisted of the fruits of Levi's two years of training.

It was the first time Levi was locked in for such a long time.

Three goddamn years! F*ck, it's so good to be free!

Cyrus was also laughing as well, but he had to ask, "How powerful are you now?"

He knew the Prison of Darkness was hard to break, but he didn't know how hard it could be.

Levi shook his head. "I have no idea, but I know I'm really strong. I have a feeling this world will become a donut if I punch it in the center."

"Not even that prison can hold you. I seriously have no idea how powerful you are now," Cyrus praised.

But then he and Levi locked gazes, for they realized something serious.

Where the hell is Dark Emperor and the Sacred Organization? There's no news about them.

A lot of people nodded. “Yeah. If that madman gets the sword, he’s going to be the biggest threat.”
“True. The top ten organizations in Erudia might be working with us, but they have their own plans as well. If they get their hands on the sword, it’ll spell doom for a lot of people. We might not even be able to stop them.”
DG Libra said, “The sword is power itself. It’ll be the protector of the people if it ended in the right hands. On the contrary, it’ll turn into the Grim Reaper’s scythe in the wrong hands.
The other divine generals retorted, “But that’s just your brand of justice. We don’t know if Donald will be a threat if he gets the sword. He might just be the one who can make the country prosper.” “Even so, that doesn’t dismiss the fact that he’s dangerous. We don’t know what he’ll do, so we’re gonna prevent it by keeping the sword away from him.”
Edmund looked at them and agreed, “That’s right. We have to get the sword. That’s the best way.”

The rest of the men smiled. "I'm afraid we might even need to get in line to kill Zoey."

Edmund nodded.

He knew that Donald and the Garrison clan were definitely out for Zoey's blood.

Hence, they wouldn't even get the chance.

Since Zoey was Erudia's public enemy, all the most powerful forces within the nation were looking to eradicate her in order to elevate their reputation.

Everyone wanted a piece of the glory.

Consequently, there was a queue just to kill her.

Edmund had put everything in place for him to control the entire situation later.

That night, everyone could visibly feel the Solaris Energy of the Skyward Sword emanate through the entire place.

Even though they were covered deep in snow, no one felt a sliver of cold at all, making for a strange sensation.

That very evening, innumerable factions had gathered for a bloody showdown.

The next day, it was time for the Skyward Sword to emerge from the ground.

However, the Sacred Organization didn't appear together with Zoey as they were hiding in the shadows. After all, they had stayed out of sight over the last three years.

All this while, they had kept a low profile. Other than the Lab of Gods and Levi, no one else took notice of them.

Hence, their existence remained unknown.

Therefore, they were using Zoey as a decoy so that their fighters could attack later.

Zoey's presence had ruffled the feathers of many who were present as there was a lot of bad blood between them.

Therefore, the sight of her gave them the urge to tear her apart.

Over the last three years, the Dark Emperor had used Zoey to kill a huge number of people. Therefore, she had made innumerable enemies everywhere.

In other words, Zoey was the person with the most enemies in this era.

Everyone who saw her wanted to kill her.

“Look, Zoey is here!”

Meanwhile, Levi and Cyrus were traveling on a route the Eighteen Dark Angels had led them through before.

Throughout the journey, they didn’t see a soul while the route barely changed from three years ago.

However, when they got nearer to Archulea, Levi and Cyrus noticed that the world had changed significantly over the last three years.

The number of formidable fighters had increased significantly.

Originally oppressed by the Progenitors, Archulea was now filled with more fighters.

Levi's senses were now so strong that he could sense everything single thing around him.

Closing his eyes, he extended his senses to cover the entire nation of Archulea.

No energy wave could escape his senses.

Every human and living thing would emit a small amount of energy.

Therefore, Levi would use the energy they emanated to judge their strength.

Just by using his senses alone, he knew that the entire era had changed.

There were just too many powerful fighters everywhere.

His strength from three years ago would be considered inconsequential in this era, rendering him powerless to do anything.
