Chapter 2271 How Is He Still Alive

Everyone made a run for it, leaving Levi behind, afraid that he would drag them down with him.

A short while later, the horde of monsters swallowed Levi up, much to the members of Triple Group's delight. They laughed joyously, thinking that Levi was surely dead after being swallowed up by those monsters.

Haha... not even a shred of him will be left.

In the end, they didn't care about Levi anymore. All they wanted was to see his mangled remains. Of course, they wouldn't know anything that happened within the fortress once its doors closed. They could only see the monsters' exact locations through the chips on their bodies.

All the fighters who went in to train would have chips and cameras installed on them so the people outside could see what was happening inside.

Levi had those gadgets installed as well, but he tore them off almost as soon as he went in, so nobody knew what happened to him. But they thought he met certain death since they knew he was swallowed up by those monsters.

Mace and the other fighters started their training, and time swiftly went by. When the fourth hour had passed, the south door opened, and the fighters who managed to hold on for four hours hurried toward it.

"Or maybe he didn't use the serums. Levi's one cunning b*stard. He might be surviving with some cheap trick, like hiding behind a ranked fighter."

"Why don't we tell everyone to leave? Then we'll close all the gates and never open them again," someone suggested.

Everyone's eyes gleamed, and they approved of that suggestion.

"Good idea. We'll lock him up for a whole day. I am sure he won't survive."

"Alright, let's do that."

They spared no time in contacting Mace and the others. Once the fighters got the message, they came to the east gate and exited the fortress.

After they were gone, all the gates were shut.

Chapter 2273 Kill All Of Them

Levi grabbed one of the monsters and dragged it over. Before the monster could react, Levi punched it and blew it into smithereens, splattering blood everywhere.

Everyone said the monsters were invincible, and nothing could even scratch their skin. However, Levi's power was beyond what the monsters could take, and they were blown apart with a single punch.

If Mace and the other fighters were around, they'd worship Levi as their new god. After all, they had trained in the fortress a few times, but the most they could do was inflict some minor injuries against the monsters. Most of the time, they couldn't do a thing against these monsters.

And that was because the monsters were restrained. Now that they were at full power, they should be invincible, but even so, Levi crushed them with a single punch.

If they were here, they'd say it was impossible.

A moment later, Levi caught another one and tore it apart. The monsters were still in shock, but when Levi killed a second one, the realization sank in, and they stared at him in awe.

It was the first time they encountered anyone like Levi, but his power only served to excite them, and they started pouncing on him.

Levi couldn't survive being locked in there for a whole twenty-four hours, or so everyone thought.

Sammy didn't say anything, since she thought so as well. When the unkempt person in the cage heard the news, the light in his eyes was snuffed out, as if Levi's death came as a shocker to him.

"Who is he?" Sammy asked. She noticed the change in the man after hearing that Levi was dead.

"Peter the traitor," Sammy's father answered.

"Huh? That's him?" Sammy gasped.

So that's Peter. He's Bruce's lackey!

After Bruce was killed, Peter stayed with the Lab of Gods. But when even the Lab of Gods went missing, Peter was left without anywhere to go, so he came back to Triple Group.

Triple Group was already working with Maya Industries then. They saw him as a traitor and locked him up to torture him.

Peter remained silent for a long time, but he suddenly went into a frenzy when he saw Levi, so they had to zap him to take him out.

Yes. It was a mountain of corpses. Limbs protruded everywhere, and corpses piled upon one another. Blood splattered everywhere, and its stench wafted across the air, nauseating those who caught a whiff of it.

Wait, when the guy said the monsters were together at the west gate, is this what he meant?

But that wasn't the most surprising thing. The most surprising thing was the man who was standing before them.

Yes, it was Levi!

Everyone could not believe what they were seeing. It should have been impossible for Levi to survive, but he did.

"Warning! Warning! Danger!"

Warning alarms started blaring across the base, but Levi shut them down with a single punch. Obviously, all the alarms and facilities were destroyed with that attack.

"Don't run," Levi warned.

But someone a few hundred meters away wouldn't listen. He kept running, thinking he could escape, but Levi clenched the air and pulverized the person who was escaping.

A few other staff members tried to run, but Levi pulverized them too. After that show of power, everyone stopped trying to escape and was as quiet as a graveyard.

A while later, Triple Group's top brass and fighters finally processed their shock.

"Where is he?"

They went into the fortress to look for him, but what awaited them was a hell on earth. What they saw almost gave them nightmares for years to come.

Levi huddled closer to listen. "What? What happened to them?"

Peter whispered something to Levi, while everyone looked on curiously. They wondered what Peter was Levi kept listening and didn't ask anything. He looked calm and cold, and he nodded occasionally.

"I see." Levi nodded. "You've been waiting for me so you can tell me about that, haven't you?" he asked.

"Yes, I have. I mean, not like anyone else can help me."

Levi looked at him. "I'll handle the rest. You stay here and help Sammy, get it?"

Peter nodded.

Levi was speechless.

My stuff won't be of use? Hey, it helped me kill the top fighter on the Divine Leaderboard.

My stuff killed ten thousand monsters of which ranked fighters can't even make a scratch on.

Did she just say it's useless? Well, I broke out of the Prison of Darkness. See if your technique can do the same. My stuff broke Skyward Sword and Terra Blade. Let's see if your technique can do that.

But Levi wouldn't argue with her, so he said, "Fine, it's your choice. But I'd still recommend your husband's technique if you want to heal up."

"I understand, Master. But I'll do it my own way. I still don't think the old stuff would work. It's already outdated, so there's no point practicing the old stuff."

In the end, Zoey gave up on using Levi's technique. Instead, she wanted to use the modern way to heal up, even if it was a bit extreme.

Levi nodded. "Fine. I respect your choice."

Nobody thought his technique was useful. Nobody but Cyrus. But still, Levi said nothing and respected their choices.

Edmund trembled. "Impossible. He can't be Levi." Edmund didn't believe that the mysterious man was Levi.

"We didn't say he's Levi. We only said he's similar. After all, Levi's the only person who paid so much attention to the Lab of Gods," the old man said.

Edmund nodded. "So he was here for the Lab of Gods?"

"Yes."

"Then, he's not Levi. Good to hear. He's probably worried about Erudia, so he's thinking ahead. That's why he taught us a lesson back at the icy plains, isn't it?" Edmund suggested.

"We can't interfere with The Cardinal Hall's business, but now that you're here, we have to remind you that a disaster is coming. And it's coming for everyone, so be prepared," the old man reminded him.

Edmund answered confidently, "Don't worry. As long as I'm here, everything will be fine. I've proven myself, haven't I? Garrison Industry's an A+ answer. I can keep the situation under control.

"And I won't antagonize people like Donald. Now I'm working with them. Once disaster strikes, I can call the top ten organizations in Erudia to help out."

Edmund started talking about his plans, but everyone in The Manifest Court was silent. Perhaps they were gone, or perhaps they were just listening silently.

Everyone looked at him curiously.

"Garrison Industry's tech can watch most of the world, right?" Levi asked.

The tech department's leader nodded. "Yes. Our tech can see seventy-three percent of the world, and we can see every detail in ninety percent of that area. What are you trying to do?"

Levi went up to control the cameras himself. "Leave it to me."

His goal was simple—to see if anything out of ordinary was happening around the world. He wanted to see if the Lab of Gods was up to anything. They might be gone, but that didn't mean they weren't up to something.

If they're up to something, they must have left some clues. There's no way there's no clue left behind.

"Um..." The top brass was in a dilemma.

"He can deal with it. Let's go out." Robed Slayer told everyone to leave Levi alone, and then he left the room as well. A moment later, Levi was alone in the control room.
