Chapter 2311 Everyone Got Hurt

They never took Levi seriously and refused to admit to being ungrateful assh*les.

So what if we don't repay him? Nothing will happen to us, anyway.

Forlevia had been hiding in the dark and was fuming with anger.

These j*rks are so shameless.

She was going to make a move and get her hands on the new material herself.

Several Elders were also monitoring the situation from behind the scenes.

"F*ck them! How can the citizens of Archulea be so shameless? I'll freaking kill all of them myself!"

Elder Celia, who had always had a bad temper, almost lost control and attacked.

"Hold on, we're not in a position to attack."

The others were quick to stop the Elders from attacking.

"It seems Evie is adamant about getting the new material. I am so worried about her," murmured one Elder.

"That's true. Her training has given her incredible skills, and no one is a match against her. However, Archulea has tons of skilled fighters, and even we will have difficulty defeating them. If Evie attacks on her own..."

The Elders were all worried.

"We have been guarding Evie in the dark and had never taken part in her battles before. However, it seems that we'll have to do that now," said Celia.

On the other side.

Levi and the others never left.

Chapter 2312 Murder Is What He Would Do

At first, Levi planned on waiting a little longer.

But those assh*les hurt my men!

It would be strange if Levi wasn't mad.

I will freaking turn Archulea upside down today.

Kill! Murder! Massacre!

These f*cking assh*le! How dare they repay my kindness with heartlessness? Do they see me as a pushover? I rescued your a*s*es from hell, and I can put you back to the same sh*t I rescued you from!

"Where are you going, boss?"

Phoenix, who was injured, tried to stop Levi, but he still walked away with a grouchy expression on. He never replied.

“Just let him go. Evie and the Elders from The Cardinal Hall are there, so I’m sure he’ll be fine,” said Floyd.

“That’s true. Boss will be fine. Just let him be.”

Everyone thought that those words made sense.

Forlevia and the Elders were there, so it was likely that Levi would be safe.

They were all wounded and were in need of medical attention, so there was not much they could do, anyway.

What they didn’t know was that Forlevia tried to break through the Doomsday Seed Vault immediately after they left.

Shocking!

Horrifying!

The bloody mist spread out in front of everyone.

Aristole, Niel, and the others were affected the most because they were standing closest to the guy.

His blood splattered all over their faces.

Hence, they could all feel the warm blood sitting on their faces.

Silence ensued.

The entire place had turned eerily quiet.

No one thought that Levi would suddenly attack like that.

The man Levi slapped to death was relatively weak and was practically ranked last on the Provisional Leaderboard.

Still, it was rather terrifying that he was turned into a bloody mist in a matter of seconds.

"Kill him!" commanded Aristole right away after he regained his footing.

How dare he commit murder in front of us? He must die!

"Yeah, kill him!"

Niel and the others shouted as well.

Almost a hundred fighters attacked simultaneously.

Chapter 2314 The Price Of Being Ungrateful

A single man was taunting the entire nation...

No one would be able to hold their anger in.

"Archulea's pride hangs in the balance, so we must take him down! We will not endure this kind of humiliation."

"Kill him. We have to kill him."

Archulea's fighters were rather prideful.

Every single one of them attacked Levi.

A hundred thousand fighters ended up zipping over together.

It was simply too shocking.

"Hah!" scoffed Levi.

They may have more men with them, but none of those fighters are worth anything! They are nothing but cannon fodder.

The battle lasted for about half an hour.

In the end, only one person remained standing in front of the Doomsday Seed Vault.

Corpses filled the spacious field.

Everyone was moaning in pain and was groaning on the ground.

A hundred thousand fighters... Yet, not a single one was on their feet.

Levi had squashed all hundred thousand of them on his own.

Chapter 2315 Did You Do This

Azure Dragon, Floyd, Sword Fiend, and the others were all flabbergasted to hear that.

Just the night before, they had to risk their lives to get their hands on the material. They fought us then but are delivering the material to us this morning... What is going on?

Everyone saw just how powerful the fighters in Archulea were.

The country even assigned a ridiculous number of fighters over to protect the Doomsday Seed Vault, and that showed how determined they were to keep the materials to themselves.

They were going all out and would sacrifice anything to ensure that no one got their hands on those new materials!

Who would've thought that someone would deliver the very item over on the next morning?

Azure Dragon and the others felt like it might be a con.

However, Elliot was the new ruler of Archulea, and his political position was something that neither Aristole nor Niel could compare.

No one can fake being him, so he has to be the real deal! Also, he definitely has the authority to open the Doomsday Seed Vault.

Phoenix examined the materials as well and learned that the item delivered was authentic.

They actually deliver the material over? But why? What happened last night? How did things change so drastically?

"Is this for real?"

Everyone looked flabbergasted.

Black Tortoise tested the waters and asked cautiously.
Everyone else was curious about it as well.
Levi gave them a cliff's note version of how he squashed the entire nation.
They believed what Levi said about what had happened.
Just then, Azure Dragon and the others suddenly recalled something.
Everyone turned to one another and suddenly understood something.
It's Forlevia and her mentors! They rescued us the night before, and there is only one reason they would show up there in the first place.
They wanted to get the new material for boss!
That means they must've attacked!
The Elders from The Cardinal Hall aren't in the position to show up in public, so they secretly pressured the country and forced them to deliver the item. Okay, everything makes sense now.
This is all Evie and her mentors' doing. Evie might not have what it takes to bring the entire nation to its knees, but her mentors do. They are on the Divine Leaderboard, but no one would dare go against them, anyway. They can certainly accomplish all that if they join forces.

It didn't take long before Elliot got a press conference together to apologize to Levi publicly. The former also admitted to being indebted to Levi because the latter rescued the country three years ago.

Additionally, Elliot claimed that the country had given Levi every last bit of its material to thank Levi for his kindness.

Everyone was surprised to hear that.

They were most curious about why Archulea had changed stance so drastically in one day.

Just the day before, the citizens were arrogant and didn't give a sh*t about anyone.

Yet, they were apologizing on the day after.

It was unbelievable.

What the hell happened last night?

Everyone was sure that something had happened, but they didn't know the specifics.

It seems that someone has sealed up all records, and there is no way to even begin an investigation.

Everyone had their attention on the dark web at the time.

“In a way, Levi should thank The Cardinal Hall for everything. We only did it for his daughter’s sake, but it was undeniable that it was our Elders who got him the cure,” added Edmund with a smile.

“That’s true. We thank you on behalf of our boss,” said the others.

“Since The Cardinal Hall is the one responsible for getting it, I should hold on to it.”

Edmund snatched the new material from Phoenix.

“But...”

Everyone thought that something seemed off, but they couldn’t quite put their finger on it.

In the end, Edmund left with the new material.

He took it to do some research, but he was working for Erudia anyway, so the others let it go.

That being said, Azure Dragon and the others soon noticed that the people working for Garrison Industry seemed to be avoiding them.

It's like they're singling us out and are trying to take our power away until, little by little, our positions become nothing but empty shells.

Aside from that, life had been peaceful.

“Boss, just listen to us. You need to increase your ability as soon as possible, so we will stop worrying about you.”

Everyone joined in to persuade Levi.

He merely snorted. “What do you know?”
